26 Wherefore they spake to the King of of Asshur, saying, The nacions which thou hast remoued, and placed in the cities of Samaria, knowe not the maner of the God of the land: therefore he hathe sent lyons among them, and behold, they slay them, because they knowe not the maner of the God of the land.

27 Then the King of Asshur commanded, saying, Cary thether one of the priests, whome ye broght thence, and let him go and dwel there & teache them the maner of the God[p] of the countrey.

28 So one of the priests, which they had caryed from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught thē how thei shulde feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit euerie nacion made their gods, and put them in the houses of the hie places, which the Samaritans had made, euerie naciō in their cities, wherein thei dwelt.

31 And the Auims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fyre to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharuaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, and appointed out priests out of them selues for the hie places, who prepared for them sacrifices in the houses of the hie places.

33 They[r] feared ỹ Lord, but serued their gods after ỹ maner of the naciōs whome they caryed thence.

Ezekiah King of Iudah putteth downe the brasen serpẽt, & destroyeth the idoles, 7 And prospereth 10 Israel is caried away captiue. 30 The blasphemie of Samherib.

1 NOw in * the third yere of Hoshea, sonne of Elah King of Israel, Hezekiah ỹ sonne of Ahaz King of Iudah began to reigne.

2 He was fiue and twẽtie yere olde when he begã to reigne, and reigned nine and twentie yere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Abi the daughter of Zachariah,

3 And he did [a] vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Dauid his father had done.

4 He toke away ỹ hie places, and brake the images, and cut downe the groues, & brake in pieces the * brasen serpent that Moses had made: for vnto those dayes the children of Israel did burne incense to it, and he called it [b] Nehushtan.

5 He trusted in the Lord God of Israel: so that after him was none like him among all ỹ Kings of Iudah, nether were there anie suche before him.

6 For he claue to the Lord & departed not from him, but kept his commandements, which the Lord had commãded Moses.

7 So ỹ Lord was with him, and he prospered in all things, which he toke in hand: also he rebelled against the King of Asshur, and serued him not.

8 He smote the Philistims vnto Azzah, & the coastes thereof, [c] from the watche towre vnto the defensed citie.

9 ¶ * And in the fourthe yere of King Hezekiah, (which was the seuenth yere of Hoshea sonne of Elah King of Israel) Shalmaneser King of Asshur came vp against Samaria, and besieged it.

10 And after thre yeres they toke it, euen in the sixt yere of Hezekiah: ỹ is, * the ninth yere of Hoshea King of Israel was Samaria taken.

11 Then the King of Asshur did cary away Israel vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah and in Habor, by the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

12 Because they wolde not obey the voyce of the Lord their God, but trãsgressed his couenant: that is, all that Moses the seruant of the Lord had commanded, and wolde nether obey nor do them.

13 ¶ * Moreouer, in the fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah Sancherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and toke them.

14 Then Hezekiah King of Iudah sent vnto the King of Asshur to Lachish, saying, [d] I haue offended: departe from me, & what thou layest vpon me, I wil beare it. And the King of Asshur appointed vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah thre hũdreth talẽts of siluer, and thirty talents of golde.

20 Thou thinkest, Surely I haue "eloquence, f but counsel and strength are for the warre. On whome then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

21 Lo, thou trustest now in this broken staffe of rede, to wit, on g Egypt, on ẅ if a mã leane, it wil go into his hand, & pearce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt vnto all that trust on him.

22 But if ye say vnto me, We trust in ỹ Lord our God, is not that he whose hie places, and whose altars Hezekiah hathe h take away, and hathe said to Iudah and Ieruſalem, Ye shal worship before this altar in Ieruſalem?

23 Now therefore giue i hostages to my Lord the King of Asshur, and I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if ỹ be able to set riders vpon them.

24 For how canst thou despise anie captaine of the least of my masters seruãts, & put thy trust on Egypt for charets and horsemen?

25 Am I now come vp without the k lord to this place, to destroye it? the lord said to me, Go vp against this lãd, and destroy it.

26 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah & Shebnah, & Ioah said vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the [n] Aramites lãguage, for we vnderstand it, & talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in ỹ audience of ỹ people ỹ are on the wall.

27 But Rabshakeh said vnto them, Hathe my master sent me to thy master & to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men which sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne doung, & drinke "their owne pisse with you?

28 So Rabshakeh stode and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and spake, saying, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur.

29 Thus sayth the King, Let not Hezekiah disceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you "out of mine hand.

30 Nether let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs, and this citie shal not be giuen ouer into the hand of ỹ King of Asshur.

31 Hearken not vnto Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make "appointement with me, and come out to me, that euerie man may eat of his owne vine, and euerie man of his owne figtre, and drinke euerie man of the water of his owne well, 32 Til I come, and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread & vineyardes, a land of oliues oyle, & hony, that ye may liue and not dye: & obey not Hezekiah, for he disceiueth you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs.

36 But the people held their peace, and answered not him a worde: for ỹ Kings commandement was, saying, Answer ye him not.

9 And Isaiah answered, This signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord wil do that he hathe spoken, Wilt thou that the shadowe go forwarde ten degrees, or go backe ten degrees?
10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for ỹ shadowe to passe forwarde ten degrees: not so then, but let the shadowe [g] go backe ten degrees.
11 And Isaiah the Prophet called vnto ỹ Lord, and he brought againe the shadowe ten degrees backe by the degrees whereby it had gone downe in the [h] dial of Ahaz.

14 Then Isaiah the Prophet came vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They be come from a farre countrey, euen from Babel.
15 Then said he, What haue they sene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they sene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.
16 And Isaiah said vnto Hezekiah, Here the worde of the Lord.
17 Beholde, the dayes come, that all ỹ is in thine house, and whatsoeuer thy fathers haue laied vp in store vnto this day, * shal be caried into Babel: Nothing shalbe left, saith the Lord.

Kyng Manaſſeh reſtoreth idolatrie, 16 And vſeth great crueltie. 18 He dyeth, and Amon his ſonne ſuccedeth, 23 Who is killed of his owne ſeruants. 26 After him reigneth Ioſiah.

2. Chro. 33, 1

1 MAnaſſeh * was twelue yere olde when he began to reigne, and reigned fiftie and fiue yere in Ieruſalem: his mothers name alſo was Hephzi-bah.

2 And he did euil in the ſight of ỹ Lord after the abominacion of the heathē, whome the * Lord had caſt out before ỹ children of Iſrael.

Deut. 18, 9

3 For he went backe and buylt ỹ hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had deſtroied: and he erected vp altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab King of Iſrael, & worſhiped all ỹ hoſte of heauen and ſerued them.

2. Sam. 7, 10

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoſte of the heauen in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

6 And he cauſed his ſonnes [a] to paſſe through the fyre, and gaue himſelfe to witcheraft and ſorcerie, and he vſed them that had familiar ſpirits and were ſothe ſayers, and did muche euil in the ſight of the Lord to angre him.

a Read Chap. 16, 3.

7 And he ſet the image of the groue, that he had made, in the houſe, whereof the Lord had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomon his ſonne, * In this houſe, and in Ieruſalem, which I haue choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, wil I put my Name for euer.

2. King. 7, 10

8 Nether wil I make the feete of Iſrael moue anie more out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: ſo that they wil [b] obſerue and do all that I haue commanded them, & according to all the Lawe that my ſeruant Moſes commanded them.

b Therefore ſeing they obeyed not ỹ commandement of God, they were iuſtly caſt forthe of ỹ land wherin they had but on condicion.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manaſſeh led them out of the way, to do more wickedly then did the heathen people, whome the Lord deſtroyed before the children of Iſrael.

10 Therefore the Lord ſpake by his ſeruants the Prophetes, ſaying,

Iere. 15, 4

11 *Becauſe that Manaſſeh King of Iudah hathe done ſuche abominacions & hathe wroght more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, & hathe made Iudah ſinne alſo with his idoles, 12 Therefore Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Beholde, I wil bring an euil vpon Ieruſalem and Iudah, that whoſo heareth of it, bothe his eares ſhal [c] tingle.

c Meaning, that whoſoeuer ſhal heare of this great plague, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed.

13 And I wil ſtretch ouer Ieruſalem the line [d] of Samaria, and the plommet of ỹ houſe of Ahab: and I wil wipe Ieruſalem, as a man wipeth a diſh, which he wipeth, and turneth it vpſide downe.

d As I haue deſtroyed Samaria & ỹ houſe of Ahab, ſo wil I deſtroye Iudah.

14 And I wil forſake the [e] remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of their enemies, & they ſhalbe robbed & ſpoiled of all their aduerſaries, e Meaning Iudah & Beniamin, which were onely left of the reſt of the tribes.

15 Becauſe they haue done euil in my ſight, and haue prouoked me to angre, ſince the time their fathes came out of Egypt vntil this day.

16 Moreouer Manaſſeh ſhed [f] innocent blood exceding muche, til he repleniſhed Ieruſalem from corner to corner, beſide his ſinne wherewith he made Iudah to ſinne, and to do euil in the ſight of the Lord.

f The Ebrewes write ỹ he ſlewe Iſaiah ỹ prophe who was his father in Lawe.

17 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Manaſſeh, and all that he did, and his ſinne that he ſinned, are they not writē in the boke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manaſſeh ſlept with his fathers, and was buryed in the garden of his owne houſe, euen in the garden of Vzza: & Amon his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

19 ¶ * Amon was two and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned two yere in Ieruſalem: his mothers name alſo was Meſhullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

2. Chro. 33, 20

20 And he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, as his father Manaſſeh did.

21 For he walked in all the waie, that his father walked in, and ſerued the idoles that his father ſerued, and worſhiped them.

22 And he forſoke the Lord God of his fathers, & walked not in the [g] way of the Lord.

g That is according to his cōmandements.

23 And the ſeruants of Amon conſpired againſt him, and ſlewe the King in his owne houſe.

24 And the people of the land ſlewe all them that had conſpired againſt King Amon, & the people made Ioſiah his ſonne King in his ſteade.

25 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Amon, which he did, are they not writen in the boke of the Chronicles of ỹ Kings of Iudah?

[h] Or, he buryed him, to wit, Ioſiah his ſonne.

26 And [h] they buryed him in his ſepulchre in the garden of Vzza: and Ioſiah his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

CHAP. XXII.

Iosiah repareth the Temple. 8 Helkiah findeth the boke of the Lawe, and causeth it to be presented to Iosiah. 12 Who sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse to inquire the Lords will.

2.Chro.34,1

1 IOsiah was * eight yere olde when he began to reigne, & he reigned one & thirtie yere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozcath.

a His zeale was prophecied of, & his name mencioned by Iaddo the prophet, more then thre hundreth yeres before, 1.King. 13,2: & beig but eight yere olde, he soght ỹ God of his father Dauid. 2.Chr.34,3 2 And he did vprightly in the sight of ỹ Lord, & [a] walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, & bowed nether to ỹ right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yere of King Iosiah, the King sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chanceller to the house of the Lord, saying.

* Or, come, as ver. 9

4 Go vp to Hilkiah the hie Priest, that he may * summe the siluer ẅ is broght into the house of ỹ Lord, which the kepers of the [b] dore haue gathered of ỹ people.

b Certeine of ỹ priests were appointed to this office, as chap. 12,9 5 And let them [c] deliuer it into the hand of them that do the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord: let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decaied places of the house:

c Frō ỹ time of Ioash for ỹ space of 234 yeare ỹ Teple remained without reparatiō through ỹ negligence of ỹ priests. This declareth ỹ thei ỹ haue a charge & execute it not ought to haue it taken frō them. d So god prouided hī of faithful seruāts seing he wēt about so zealously to set for the ỹ worke of God.

6 To wit, vnto the artificers & carpenters & masons, & to bie tymber, & hewed stone to repaire the house.

7 Howbeit let no rekening be made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hād: for they deale [d] faithfully.

8 And Hilkiah the hie Priest said vnto Shaphā the chāceller, I haue founde ỹ [e] boke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: & Hilkiah gaue ỹ boke to Shaphan, & he red it.

e This was the copie ỹ Moses left them as appeareth. 2. Chr. 34,14. Wether by ỹ negligence of ỹ priests had bene lost, or els by ỹ wickednes of idolatrous Kings had bene abolished.

9 So Shaphan the chāceller came to the King, and broght him worde againe, and said, Thy seruants haue [*] gathered the money, that was founde in the house, and haue deliuered it vnto the hands of them that do the worke, & haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

* Ebr. melted.

10 Also Shaphan the chanceller shewed the King, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hathe deliuered me a boke. And Shaphan red it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard ỹ wordes of the boke of the Lawe, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the King commanded Hilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Achbor the sonne of Michaiah, & Shaphan the chanceller, and Asahiah the Kings seruant, saying,

13 Go ye & [f] inquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Iudah, concerning the wordes of this boke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this boke, to do according vnto all that which is writen therein for vs.

f Meaning to some Prophete to whome God reueleth ỹ knowledge of things vnto, as Ier. 21, & though at other times they inquired ỹ Lord by Vrim & Thummim.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest & Ahikam, & Achbor and Shaphan, and Asahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Harhas keper of the wardrobe: (and she dwelt in Ierusalem in the [g] colledge) and they cōmuned with her.

g Or, ỹ house of doctrine ẅ was nere to ỹ Teple, & where ỹ learned assembled to intreat the Scriptures, & ỹ doctrine of ỹ prophetes.

15 And she answered them, Thus saith ỹ Lord God of Israel, Tel the man ỹ sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring euil vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the boke which the King of Iudah hathe red,

17 Because they haue forsakē me, & haue burnt incēse vnto other gods, to anger me with all the [h] workes of their hands: my wrath also shalbe kindled against this place, and shal not be quenched.

h The worke of mās hād here signifie all ỹ mā inuenteth beside ỹ worde of God, ẅ are abominable in Gos seruice.

18 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes that thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

19 But because thine heart did [i] melt, & thou hast humbled thy selfe before the Lord, when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants of the same, to wit, that it shulde be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

i Meaning ỹ he did repent, as they, that do not repent, are said, to harden their heart, Psal. 95,8.

20 Beholde therefore, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in [k] peace, & thine eyes shal not se all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this place. Thus they broght the King worde againe.

k Whereupon we may gather ỹ ỹ angreo God is ready against the wicked, whē God taketh his seruants out of this worlde.

CHAP. XXIII.

Iosiah readeth the Lawe before the people. 3 He maketh a couenant with the Lord. 4 He putteth downe the idoles, after he had killed their priests. 22 He kepeth Passeouer. 24 He destroyeth the coniurers. 29 He was killed in Megiddo. 30 And his sonne Iehoahaz reigneth in his steade. 33 After he was taken, his sonne Iehoiakim was made King.

2.Chro.34,30. a Because he sawe the great plagues of God ỹ were threatned, he knewe no more spedie waye to auoyde them, then to turne to God by repētance, wca not come but of faith, & faith by hearing of the worde of God

1 THen * the King [a] sent, & there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah Iudah & of Ierusalem.

2 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah, & all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with him, & the Priests & Prophetes, & all the people bothe small & great: and he red in their eares all the wordes of the boke of the couenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.
3 And the King stode by [b] the piller, & made a [c] couenāt before the Lord, that they shulde walke after the Lord, & kepe his commandements, & his testimonies, & his statutes with all their heart, & with all their soule, ẏ they might accomplish the wordes of this couenant writen in this boke. And all the people stode to the couenant.
4 Then the King cōmanded Hilkiah ẏ hie Priest & the [d] Priests of the second ordre, & the kepers of the dore, to brīg out of the Temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, & for the groue, & for all the hoste of heauen, & he burnt them without Ierusalem in the fields of Kedron, & caryed [e] ẏ powdre of them into Beth-el.
5 And he put downe ẏ [f] Chemerim, whome the Kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the hie places, & in ẏ cities of Iudah, & about Ierusalē, & also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to ẏ sunne & to the moone, & to the planets & to all the hoste of heauen.
6 And he broght out the [g] groue frō the Temple of the Lord without Ierusalem vnto the valley Kedron, & burnt it in the valley Kedron, & stampt it to powdre, & cast the dust thereof vpon the [h] graues of the children of the people.
7 And he brake downe the houses of the sodomites, that were in the house of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.
8 Also he broght all the priestes out of the cities of Iudah, & defiled ẏ hie places where the priests had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, and destroied the hie places of the gates, that were in ẏ entring in of ẏ gate of Iosiua the gouernour of the citie ẅ was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.
9 Neuertheles the priests of the hie places [i] came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely thei did eat of ẏ vnleauened bread among their brethren.
10 He defiled also [k] Topheth, ẅ was in ẏ valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man shulde make his sonne or his daughter passe through the fyre to Molech.
11 He put downe also the [l] horses that ẏ Kings of Iudah had giuē to ẏ sunne at ẏ entring in of the house of the Lord by the chamber of Nethan-melech ẏ eunuche, ẅ was ruler of the suburbes, and burnt the charets of the sunne ẅ fyre.
12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the Kings of Iudah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lord, did the King breake downe, & hasted thence, & cast the dust of them in the [n] brooke Kedron.
13 Moreouer the King defiled ẏ hie places that were before Ierusalem & on ẏ right hand of the [m] mount of corruption (which * Salomon the King of Israel had buylt for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, & for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon,) 14 And he brake the images in pieces & cut downe the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.
15 Furthermore [n] the altar that was at Bethel, & the hie place made by Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, bothe this altar & also ẏ hie place brake he downe, & burnt the hie place, and stampt it to powder and burnt the groue.
16 And as Iosiah turned him selfe, he spied the graues, that were in the moūt, and sent and toke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lord that the [o] man of God proclaimed which cryed the same wordes.
17 Then he said, What title is that which I se? And the men of the citie said vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, & tolde these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.
18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the [p] Prophet that came from Samaria.
19 Iosiah also toke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which ẏ Kings of Israel had made to angre the Lord, & did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-el.
20 And he sacrificed all the priests of ẏ hie places, that were there vpon the altars, & burnt mens bones vpon them, & returned to Ierusalem.
21 ¶ Then the King commanded all the people, saying, * Kepe the Passeouer vn to the Lord your God, ⁎ as it it writen in the boke of this couenant.
22 And there was no Passeouer holden ¶ like ẏ from the daies of the Iudges ẏ iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of ẏ Kings of Israel, & of ẏ Kings of Iudah.

Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ierusalem.

24 Iosiah also toke away them that had familiar spirits, and ȳ sothe sayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominacions that were espied in the land of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to performe the wordes of the * Lawe, which were writen in the boke that Hilkiah the Priest founde in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no King before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soule, & w all his might according to all the Lawe of Moses, nether after him arose there anie like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the [r] fearcenes of his great wrath wherewith he was angrie against Iudah, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasseh had prouoked him.

r Because of the wicked heart of ȳ people, w wolde not turne vnto him by repẽtance.

29 ¶* In his dayes Pharaoh Nechoh Kīg of Egypt went vp against the King of Asshur to ȳ riuer Perath. And King Iosiah [s] went against him, whome whe Pharaoh sawe, he slewe him at Megiddo.

s Because he passed through his countrey, he feared lest he wolde haue done him harme, and therefore, wolde haue staied him, yet he consulted not with ȳ Lord, & therefore was slain.

30 Then his seruants caried him dead frō Megiddo, & broght him to Ierusalem, & buryed him in his owne sepulchre. And the people of the land toke Iehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and annointed him, and made him King in his fathers steade.

2. Chron. 36, 1.

31 *Iehoahaz was thre and twentie yere olde when he begā to reigne, & reigned thre moneths in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

32 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his [t] fathers had done.

t Meaning, the wicked Kings before.

33 And Pharaoh Nechoh put him in bōds [v] at Riblah in ȳ land of Hamath, [w] while he reigned in Ierusalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundreth talents of siluer, & a talent of golde.

v Which was Antiochia in Syria, called also Hamith.

w Or, that he shulde not reigne.

34 ¶ And Pharaoh Nechoh made Eliakīm the sonne of Iosiah King in steade of Iosiah his father, & turned his name to Iehoiakim, & toke Iehoahaz away, which when he came to Egypt, dyed there.

35 And Iehoiakim gaue the siluer & the golde to Pharaoh, & taxed the land to giue the money, according to the commandement of Pharaoh: he leuyed of euerie man of the people of the land, according to his value, siluer and golde to giue vnto Pharaoh Nechoh.

36 Iehoiakim was fiue & twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & he reigned eleuē yeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Zebudah ȳ daughter of Pediaah of Rumah.

37 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

2 And the Lord sent against him bandes of the Chaldees, & bandes of the Aramites, and bandes of the Moabites, and bandes of the Ammonites, and he sent them against Iudah, to destroye it, * according to the worde of the Lord, which he spake by his seruants ȳ Prophetes.

Chap. 20, 17. & 23. 27.

3 Surely by the [b] commandement of the Lord came this vpon Iudah, ȳ he might put them out of his sight for the sinnes of Manasseh, according to all that he did,

8 ¶ Iehoiachin was eightene yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned in Ierusalem thre moneths. His mothers name also was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem.

9 And he did euil in the sight of ȳ Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

Dan. 1, 1.

10 * In that time came the seruants of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vp against against Ierusalem: so the citie was besieged.

11 And Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came against the citie, & his seruats did besiege it.

12 Then Iehoiachin the King of Iudah [d] came out against the King of Babel, he, & his mother, & his seruants, & his princes, & his eunuches: & the King of Babel toke him in the eight yere [e] of his reigne.

13 * And he caryed out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house, & brake all the vessels of golde, which Salomon King of Israel had made in the Temple of the Lord, as the Lord had said.

14 And he caryed away all Ierusalem, & all the princes, & all the strong men of warre, euen ten thousand into captiuitie, & all the workemen, & conning men: so none remained sauing the poore people of the land.

15 * And he caryed away Iehoiachin into Babel, and the Kings mother, and the Kings wiues, and his eunuches, and the mightie of the land caryed he away into captiuitie from Ierusalem to Babel, 16 And all the men of warre, euen seuen thousand, & carpenters, & lockesmithes a thousand: all that were strong and apt for warre, did the King of Babel bring to Babel captiues.

17 ¶ * And [f] the King of Babel made Mattaniah his vncle King in his steade, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was one & twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & he reigned eleuē yeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal [f] daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

19 And he did euil in the sight of [f] Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

20 Therefore certeinly the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah vntil he cast them out of his [f] sight. And Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.

CHAP. XXV.

Ierusalem is besieged of Nebuchadnezzar, & taken. The sonnes of Zedekiah are slaine before his eyes, & after ar his owne eyes put out. 21 Iudah is broght to Babylon. 25 Gedoliah is slayne. 27 Iehoiachin is exalted.

1 AND * in the [a] ninthe yere of his reigne, the [b] tenth moneth & tēth day of the moneth Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came, he, & all his hoste against Ierusalem, & pitched against it, & they buylt [#] fortes against it rounde about it.

2 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of King Zedekiah.

3 And the ninthe day of the moneth the famine was [c] sore in the citie, so that there was no bread for the people of [f] land.

4 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled by night, by the waye of the [d] gate, which is betwene two walles that was by the Kings gardē: now the Caldees were by the citie roūde about: & the King went by the way of the wildernes.

5 But the armie of the Caldees pursued after the King, & toke him in the deserts of Iericho, & all his hoste was scatred from him.

6 Then they toke the King, and caryed him vp to the King of Babel to Riblah, where they [e] gaue iudgement vpon him.

7 And they slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes, & put out the eyes of Zedekiah, & bounde him in chaines, & caryed him to Babel.

8 ¶ And in the fift moneth, & [f] seuenth day of the moneth, which was the nintenth yere of King Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan [#] chief steward & seruant of the King of Babel, to Ierusalem, 9 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, & all the houses of Ierusalem, & all the great houses burnt he with fyre.

10 And all the armie of the Caldees that were with the chief stewarde, brake downe the walles of Ierusalem rounde about.

11 And the rest of the people that were left in the citie, and those that were fled and [g] fallen to the King of Babel, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan chief stewarde carye away captiue.

12 But the chief stewarde left of the poore of the land to dresse the vines, & to til the land.

13 * Also the pillers of brasse that were in the house of the Lord & the bases, & the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and caryed the brasse of them to Babel.

14 The pottes [h] also & the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, & the incēsse asshes, & all the vessels of brasse that they ministred in, toke they away.

15 And the asshe pannes, & the basens, & all that was of golde, & that was of siluer, toke the chief stewarde away,

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend bothe these bokes in one, which he Greecians because of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adám to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylón. But these are not those bokes of Chronicles, which are so oft moncioned in the bokes of Kings of Iudáh and Israél, which did at large set forthe the storie of bothe the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Esra as the Iewes write, after their returne from Babylón. This fyrst boke conteineth a brief rehearsal of the children of Adám vnto Abraham, Izhák, Iaakób, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudáh and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forthe more amply his actes, bothe concerning ciuil gouernement, and also the administracion, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thankes to the Lord.

a Meaning, they came of Iudah, as neuewes & kinsmen: for onely Pharez was his natural sonne. Gen.38,29.& 46,12. chap.2,4.

2 And Reaiah the sonne of Shobal begate Iahath, and Iahath begate Ahumai, and Lahad: these are the families of the Zoreathites.

3 And these were of the father of Etam, Izreel, and Ishma and Idbash: and the name of their sister was Hazleleponi.

4 And Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah: these are the sonnes of Hur the [b] eldest sonne of Ephratah, the father of Bethlehem.

b The first borne of his mother, & not the eldest sonne of his father.

5 But Ashur the father of Tekoa had two wiues, Heleah, and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, & Hepher, and Temeni, and Haashtari: these were the sonnes of Naarah.

7 And ý sonnes of Heleah were Zereth, Iezohar and Ethnan.

8 Also Coz begate Anub, and Zobebah, & the families of Aharhel the sonne of Harum.

9 But Iabez was more honorable then his brethren: and his mother called his name [c] Iabez, saying, Because I bare him in sorowe.

c Otherwise called Othniel, Iudg.1,13.

10 And Iabez called on the God of Israel, saying, If thou wilt blesse me in dede, and enlarge my coastes, and [d] if thine hand be with me, and thou wilt cause me to be deliuered from euil, that I be not hurt. And God granted the thing that he asked.

d It is to be vnderstand, that then he wolde accomplish his vowe which he made.

11 ¶ And Chelub the brother of Shuah begate Mehir, which was the father of Eshton.

12 And Eshton begate Beth-rapha, & Paseah, & Tehinnah the father of the citie of Nahash: these are the men of Rechah.

13 ¶ And the sonnes of Kenaz were Othniel & Zeraiah, & ý sonne of Othniel, Hathath.

14 And Meonothai begate Ophrah. And Seraiah begate Ioab the [e] father of the valley of craftesmen: for they were craftesmen.

e The Lord of ý valley where the artificers did worke.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of Caleb the sonne of [f] Iephunneh were Iru, Elah, and Naam. And the sonne of Elah was Kenaz.

f Called also Esron.

16 And ý sonnes of Iehaleel were Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Asareel.

17 And the sonnes of Ezrah were Iether & Mered, and Epher, and Ialon, and he begate Miriam, and Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.

18 Also his [g] wife Iehudiiah bare Iered the father of Gedor, and Heber ý father of Socho, and Iekuthiel the father of Zanoah: and these are the sonnes of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh [h] which Mered toke.

g Or, she bare, meaning the seconde wife of Ezrah.

h Or of whome he had Mered.

19 And ý sonnes of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham ý father of Keilah were the Garmites, & Eshtemoa the Maachathite.

20 And the sonne of Shimon were Amnon and Rinnah, Ben-hanam and Tilō. And ý sonnes of Ishi were Zoheth, and Benzoheth.

21 ¶ * The sonnes of Shelah, the sonne of Iudah were Er the father of Lecah, & Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the housholdes of them that wroght fine linen in the house of Ashbea.

Gen.38,1.

22 And Iokim and the men of Chozeba & Ioash, and Saraph, which had the dominion in Moab, and Iashubi Lehem. These also are ancient things.

Or, of the inhabitants of Lehem.

23 These were potters, and dwelt among plants & hedges: [g] there thei dwelt with the King for his worke.

g They were Kings Dauids gardiners and serued him in his workes.

24 * The sonnes of Simeō were Nemuel, and Iamin, Iarib, Zerah, & [h] Shaul.

Gen.46,10. exod.6,15.

h His sonne Ohad is here omitted.

25 Whose sonne was Shallum, & his sonne, Mibsam, & his sonne Mishma.

26 And the sonnes of Mishma, Hamuel was his sonne, Zacchur his sōne, & Shimei his sonne.

27 And Shimei had sixtene sonnes, and six daughters, but his brethren had not many children, nether was all their familie like to the children of Iudah in multitude.

28 And they dwelt at [i] Beer-sheba, & at Moladah, and at Hazar Shual, 29 And at Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and at Hazar Susim, at Beth-birei, & at Shaaraim: these were their cities vnto the reigne of [k] Dauid.

i These cities belonged to the tribe of Iudah Iosh.19,1. and were giuen to the tribe of Simeon.

k Then Dauid restored them to the tribe of Iudah.

32 And their townes were Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, & Ashan, fiue cities.

33 And all their townes that were round about these cities vnto Baal. These are their habitacions and the declaration of their genealogie, 34 And Meshobab and Iamlech, & Ioshah the sonne of Amashiah, 35 And Ioel and Iehu the sonne of Ioshibiah, the sonne of Sheraiah, the sonne of Asiel, 36 And Elionai, and Iaakobah, & Ieshohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel and Iesimiel & Benaiah, 37 And Ziza the sonne of Shiphei, the sonne of Allon, the sonne of Iedaiah, the sonne of Shimri, the sonne of Shemaiah.

38 These were famous princes in their families, and increased greatly their fathers houses.
l For the tribe of Simeon was so great in nōber that in the time of Ezekiah they soght newe dwellings vnto Gedor, w is in the tribe of Ban.
39 And they l went to the entring in of Gedor, euen vnto the East side of the valley, to seke pasture for their shepe.
40 And they found fat pasture & good, & a wide lād, bothe quiet and fruteful: for they of Ham had dwelt there before.
41 And these described by name, came in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, & smote their tents, and the inhabitants that were founde there, and destroyed them vtterly vnto this day, and dwelt in their rowme, because there was pasture there for their shepe.
42 And besides these, fiue hundreth men of the sonnes of Simeon went to mount Seir, and Pelatiah, & Neariah, and Rophaiah, and Vzziel the sonnes of Ishi were their captaines, m And were not slaine by Saul & Dauid.
43 And the rest of Amalek that had m escaped, and they dwelt there vnto this day.

CHAP. V.

1 The birthright taken from Reuben and giuen to the sonnes of Ioseph. 3 The genealogie of Reuben, 11 And Gad, 23 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh.

1 THe sonnes also of Reubē the eldest sonne of Israel (for he was ý eldest, *but had defiled his fathers bed, therefore his birthright was giuen vnto the a sonnes of Ioseph the sonne of Israel, so that the genealogie is not rekened after his birthright.
Gen 35,22. & 49,4.
a Because they were made two tribes, they had a double portion.
2 For Iudah preuailed aboue his brethren, & of him came b the prince, but ý birthright was Iosephs)
b That is, he was ý chiefest of all the tribes according to Iaakobs prophecie, Gen. 49, 8. & because Christ shulde come of him.
3 *The sonnes of Reuben the eldest sonne of Israel were Hanoch & Pallu, Hezron and Carmi.
4 The sonne, of Ioel, Shemaiah his sonne, Gog his sonne, and Shimei his sonne, 5 Michah his sonne, Reaiah his sonne, and Baal his sonne, 6 Beerah his sonne: whome Tilgath Pilneeser King of Asshur c caryed away: he was a prince of the Reubenites.
c To wit, in ý time of Vzziah King of Israel, 2. Kings 15, 29.
7 And when his brethren in their families rekened the genealogie of their generacions, Ieiel and Zechariah were the chief,
8 And Bela the sonne of Azaz, the sonne of Shema, the sonne of Ioel, which dwelt in d Aroer, euen vnto Nebo & Baal-meon.
d These places were beyonde Iorden toward the East in the land giuen to ý Reubenites.
9 Also Eastwarde he inhabited vnto the entring in of the wildernes from the riuer n Perath: for they had muche cattel in the land of Gilead.
n Or, Euphrates.
10 And in the dayes of Saul they warred with the e Hagarims, which fell by their hands: and they dwelt in their tents in all the East partes of Gilead.
e The Ishmaelites that came of Hagar Abrahams concubine.
11 ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the land of Bashan, vnto Salchah.
12 Ioel was the chiefest, and Shapham the seconde, but Iaanai & Shaphat were in Baashan.
13 And their brethren of the house of their fathers were Michael, & Meshulli, & Sheba, & Sorai, and Iacan & Zia, & Eber, seuen.
14 These are the children of Abihail, ý sonne of Huri, the sonne of Iaroah, the sonne of Gilead, the sonne of Michael, the sonne of Ieshishai, the sonne of Iahdo, the sonne of Buz.
15 Ahi the sonne of Abdiel, the sonne of Guni was chief of the housholde of their fathers.
16 And they dwelt in Gilead in f Bashan, & in the townes thereof, and in all the suburbes of Sharon, by their borders.
f Bothe ý whole countrey & one peculiar citie were called by this name Bashan.
17 All these were rekened by genealogies in the dayes of Iotham King of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboam King of Israel.
18 ¶ The sonnes of Reuben and of Gad, & of halfe ý tribe of Manasseh of those that were valiant men, able to beare shield, & sworde, and to draw a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure & fourtie thousand, seuen hundreth and threscore, that went out to the warre:
19 And they made warre with the Hagarims, with g Ietur, & Naphish and Nodab.
g These twaine were ý sonnes of Ishmael, Gene. 25, 13 20 And they were h holpen against them, & the Hagarims were deliuered into their hand, and all ý were with them: for they cryed to God in the battel, and he heard them, because they trusted in him.
h To wit, by ý Lord that gaue them ý victorie.
21 And they led away their cattel, euen their camels fiftie thousand, and two hundreth, & fiftie thousand shepe, and two thousand asses, and of "persones an hundreth thousand.
"Ebr soules of men.
22 For many fel downe wounded, because the warre was of God. And they dwelt in their steades vntil the i captiuitie.
i Meaning the captiuitie of ý tē tribes vnder Talgath pilneeser.
23 And the children of the halfe tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land, from Bashan vnto k Baal Hermon, and Shir, and vnto mount Hermon: for they increased.
k Other wise called, Baalgad.
24 And these were the heades of ý housholdes of their fathers, euen Epher and Ishi, and Eliel and Azriel, and Ieremiah, and Hodauiah, and Iahdiel, strōg men, valiant & famous, heades of the housholdes of their fathers.

25 But

25 But they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the Gods of the people of the land, whome God had destroyed before thē.

26 And God of Israel [1]stirred vp the spirit of Pul King of Asshur, and the spirit of Tilgath Pilneeser King of Assihur, and he daried them awaye: euen ỹ Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh, and broght them vnto *Halah and Habor, and Hara, and to the riuer Gozan, vnto this day.

1 Thus God stirred vp the wicked and vsed them, as instruments to execute his iuste iudgement against sinners, although they were led w malice & ambicion, 2. King. 18, 11.

CHAP. VI.

9 And Ahimaaz begate Azariah, and Azariah begate Iohanan,

10 And Iohanan begate Azariah (it was he that was [b]Priest in the house that Salomon buylt in Ierusalem, 11 And Azariah begate Amariah, and Amariah begate Ahitub, 12 And Ahitub begate Zadok, and Zadok begate Shallum, 13 And Shallum begate Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begate Azariah, 14 And Azariah begate Seraiah, and Seraiah begate Iehozadak, 15 And [c]Iehozadak departed when the Lord caried away into captiuitie Iudah and Ierusalē by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

16 ¶ The sonnes of Leui were Gershom, Kohath and Merari.

17 And these be the names of the sonnes of Gershom, Libni, and Shimei.

18 And the sonnes of Kohath were Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron and Vzziel.

19 The sonnes of Merari, Mahli and Mushi: and these are the families of Leui concerning their fathers.

20 Of Gershom, Libni his sonne, Iahath his sonne, Zimmah his sonne, 21 Ioah his sonne, Iddo his sonne, Zerah his sonne, Ieaterai his sonne.

22 The sonnes of Kohath, [d] Aminadab his sonne, * Korah his sonne, Assir his sonne, 23 Elkanah his sonne, and Ebiasaph his sonne, and Assir his sonne, 24 Tahath his sonne, Vriel his sonne, Vzziah his sonne, and Shaul his sonne, 25 And the sonnes of Elkanah, Amasai, and Ahimoth.

26 Elkanah, the sonnes of Elkanah, Zophai his sonne, and Nahath his sonne, 27 Eliab his sonne, Ieroham his sonne, Elkanah his sonne, 28 And the sonnes of Samuel, the eldest [e]Vashni, then Abiah.

29 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli, Libni his sonne, Shimei his sonne, Vzzah his sonne, 30 Shimea his sonne, Haggiah his sonne, Asaiah his sonne.

31 And these be they whome Dauid set for to sing in the house of the Lord, after that the Arke had [f]rest.

32 And they ministred before the Tabernacle, euen ỹ Tabernacle of the Cōgregacion with [g]singing, vntil Salomon had buylt the house of the Lord in Ierusalem: then they continued in their office, according to their custome.

33 And these ministred with their children: of the sonnes of Kohath, Heman a singer, the sonne of Ioel, the sonne of Shemuel, 34 The sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Eliel, the sonne of Toah, 35 The sonne of Zuph, the sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Mahath, the sonne of Amasai, 36 The sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Ioel, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Zephaniah, Amaziah, the sonne of Hilkiah,

46 The sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Shamer, 47 The sonne of Mahli, the sonne of Mushi, the sonne of Merari, the sonne of Leui.
48 ¶ And their [i] brethren the Leuites were [k] appointed vnto all the seruice of the Tabernacle of the house of God, 49 But Aaron and his sonnes burnt incense vpon the altar of burnt offring, and on the altar of incense, for all that was to do in the moste holy place, and to make an atonemēt for Israel according to all that Moses the seruant of God had commanded.
50 These are also the sonnes of Aaron, Eleazar his sonne, Phinehas his sonne, Abishua his sonne, 51 Bukki his sonne, Vzzi his sonne, Zerahiah his sonne, 52 Meraioth his sonne, Amariah his sonne, Ahitub his sonne, 53 Zadok his sonne, & Ahimaaz his sonne.
54 ¶ And these are the [l] dwelling places of them throughout their townes & coastes, euen of the sonnes of Aaron for the familie of ỹ Kohathithes, for the [m] lot was theirs.
55 So they gaue them [n] Hebron in ỹ land of Iudah and ỹ suburbes thereof rounde about it.
56 But the field of the citie, and the villages thereof they gaue to Caleb the sonne of Iephunneh.
57 And to the sonnes of Aaron they gaue the cities of Iudah for [o] refuge, euen Hebron and Libna with their suburbes, and Iattir, and Eshtemoa with their suburbes, 58 And [p] Hilen with her suburbes, & Debir with her suburbes, 59 And Ashan and her suburbes, and Beth-shemesh and her suburbes:
60 ¶ And of the tribe of Beniamin, Geba and her suburbes, and [q] Alemeth with her suburbes, & Anathoth with her suburbes: all their cities were thirteene cities by their families.
61 And vnto the sonnes of [r] Kohath the remnant of the familie of the tribe, euen of the halfe tribe of the halfe of Manasseh, by lot ten cities.
62 And to the sonnes of Gershom according to their families out of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, & out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirtene cities.
63 Vnto the sonnes of Merari according to their families out of ỹ tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulū, by lot twelue cities.
64 Thus the children of Israel gaue to the Leuites cities with their suburbes.
65 And they gaue by lot out of the tribe of the children of Iudah, & out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, & out of the tribe of the childrē of Beniamin, these cities which they called by their names.
66 And they of the families of the sonnes of Kohath, had cities and their coastes out of the tribe of Ephraim.
67 * And they gaue vnto them cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim, & her suburbes, and Gezer and her suburbes, 68 Iokmeam also and her suburbes, & Beth-horon with her suburbes, 69 And Aialon and her suburbes, and Gath Rimmon and her suburbes, 70 And out of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, [t] Aner and her suburbes, and [u] Bileam and her suburbes, for the families of ỹ remnant of the sonnes of Kohath.
71 Vnto the sonnes of [x] Gershom out of the familie of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan, & her suburbes, & [y] Ashtaroth with her suburbes.
72 And out of the tribe of Issachar, [z] Kedesh and her suburbes, Daberath and her suburbes, 73 [a] Ramoth also and her suburbes, and [b] Anem with her suburbes, 74 And out of the tribe of Asher, Mashal and her suburbes, and Abdō and her suburbes, 75 And Hukok and her suburbes, and Rehob and her suburbes, 76 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilea & her suburbes, & Hammon and her suburbes, and [c] Kiriathaim and her suburbes.
77 Vnto the rest of the children of Merari were giuen out of the tribe of Zebulun, [d] Rimmon and her suburbes, [e] Tabor and her suburbes, 78 And on the other side Iorden by Iericho, euen on the Eastside of Iorden, out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wildernes with her suburbes, and Iahzah with her suburbes, 79 And Kedemoth with her suburbes, and Mephaath with her suburbes, 80 And out of the tribe of Gad Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbes, and Mahanaim with her suburbes,

2 And

2 And the ſonnes of Tola, Vzzi, and Rephaiah, and Ieriel, and Iahmai, & Ibſã, and Shemuel, heades in ỹ houſholdes of their fathers. Of Tola were valiant men of warre in their generaciõs, [b] whoſe nomber was in the daies of Dauid two & twentie thouſand, and ſix hundreth.

3 And the ſonne of Vzzi was Izrahaiah, & the ſonnes of Izrahaiah, Michael, & Obadiah, and Ioel, & Iſhiah, [c] fiue men all princes.

4 And with them in their generaciõs after the houſholde of their fathers were bands of men of warre for battel, ſix & thirtie thouſand: for they had many wiues and children.

5 And their [a] brethren among all the families of Iſſachar were valiant men of warre, rekened in all by their genealogies foure ſcore and ſeuen thouſand.

6 ¶ The ſonnes of Beniamin were Bela, & Becher, and [d] Iediael, [e] thre.

7 And the ſonnes of Bela, Ezbon, & Vzzi, and Vzziel, and Ierimoth, & Iri, fiue heads of ỹ houſholdes of their fathers, valiant men of warre, and were rekened by their genealogies, two and twentie thouſand & thirtie and foure.

8 And the ſonnes of Becher, Zemirah, and Ioaſh, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, & Omri, & Ieremoth, & Abiah, & Anathoth, & Alameth: all theſe were the ſonnes of Becher.

9 And they were nombred by their genealogies according to their generaciõs, and the chief of the houſes of their fathers, valiant men of warre, twentie thouſand & two hundreth.

10 And the ſonne of Iediael was Bilhan, and the ſonnes of Bilhan, Ieuſh, and Beniamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tharſhiſh, and Ahiſhahar.

11 All theſe were the ſonnes of Iediael, chief of the fathers, valiãt men of warre, ſeuentene thouſand & two hũdreth, marching in battel aray to the warre.

12 And Shuppim, & Huppim were the ſonnes of [h] Ir, but Huſhim was ỹ ſonne of [i] another.

13 ¶ The ſonnes of Naphtali, Iahziel, and Guni, and Iezer, and [k] Shallum [g] of the ſonnes of Bilhah.

14 The ſonne of Manaſſeh was Aſhriel whome ſhe bare vnto him, but his concubine of Arã bare Machir the *father of Gilead.

15 And Machir toke to wife the ſiſter of Huppim & Shuppim, and the name of their ſiſter was Maachah. And the name of the ſecõde ſonne was Zelophehad, and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maachah the wife of Machir bare a ſonne, and called his name [l] Pereſh, and the name of his brother was Shereſh: and his ſonnes were Vlam and Rakem.

17 And the ſonne of Vlam was Bedan. Theſe were the ſonnes of Gilead the ſonne of Machir, ỹ ſonne of Manaſſeh.

18 And [h] his ſiſter Molecheth bare Iſhod, & Abiezer, and Mahalah.

19 And the ſonnes of Shemida were Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi and Aniã.

27 ¶ The ſonnes alſo of Ephraim were Shuthelah, & Bered his ſõne, & Tahath his ſonne, and his ſonne Eladah, & Tahath his ſonne, 21 And Zabad his ſonne, and Shuthelah his ſonne, and Ezer, and Elead: and the men of [i] Gath that were borne in ỹ lãd, ſlewe them, becauſe thei came downe to take away their cattel.

22 Therefore Ephraim their father mourned many dayes, and his [a] brethren came to comforte him.

23 And when he went in to his wife, ſhe conceiued, and bare him a ſonne, & he called his name Beriah, becauſe affliction was in his houſe.

g He is also named Ishbosheth, 2. Samuel. 2, 9.

h He is likewise called Mephibosheth, 2. Sam. 9, 6.

a Hitherto he hathe described their genealogies before they went into captiuitie, and now he describeth their historie after their returne.

b Meaning the Gabionites, ẅ serued in the Temple, read Iosh. 9, 23.

of Omri, the sonne of Imri, the sonne of Bani: of the children of Pharez, the sonne of Iudah.

5 And of Shiloni, Asaiah the eldest, and his sonnes.

6 And of the sonnes of Zerah, Ieuel, and their brethren six hundreth and ninetie.

7 And of the sonnes of Beniamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Hodauiah, the sonne of Hasenuah, 8 And Ibneiah the sonne of Ieroham, and Elah the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Michri, & Meshullam the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Reuel, the sonne of Ibniiah.

9 And their brethren according to their generacions nine hundreth, fiftie and six: all these men were "chief fathers in the housholdes of their fathers.

"Or, chief, of the families.

10 ¶And of the Priests, Iedaiah, and Iehoiarib, and Iachin.

11 And Azariah ý sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahitub the [c] chief of the house of God, c That is, he was ý hie Priest.

12 And Adaiah the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Pashhur, the sonne of Malchiiah, and Maasai the sonne of Adiel, the sonne of Iahzerah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Meshillemith, the sonne of Immer.

13 And their brethren the chief of the housholdes of their fathers a thousand, seuen hundreth and thre score valiant men, for the [d] worke of the seruice of the house of God.

d To serue in ý Temple, euerie one according to his office.

14 ¶And of the Leuites, Shemaiah the sonne of Hashub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Hashabiah of ý sonnes of Merari,

15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh and Galal, and Mattaniah the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zichri, the sonne of Asaph, 16 And Obadiah the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Ieduthun, and Berechiah, the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 ¶And the porters were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren: Shallum was the chief.

18 For they were porters to this time by companies of the children of Leui vnto the [e] Kings gate Eastwarde.

e So called because the King came into the Temple thereby, & not ý cõmune people.

19 And Shallum the sonne of Kore the sonne of Ebiasaph ý sonne of Korah, & his brethrẽ the Korathites (of the house of their father) were ouer ý worke, and office to kepe the gates of the [f] Tabernacle: so their families were ouer the hoste of the Lord, keping the entrie.

f Their charge was, that none shulde entre into those places, ẅ were onely appointed for ý Priests to minister in.

20 And Phinehas ý sonne of Eleazar was their guide, and ý Lord was with him.

21 Zechariah the sonne of Meshelemiah was the porter of the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregacion.

22 All these were chosen for porters of the gates, two hundreth and twelue, which were nombred according to their genealogies by their townes. Dauid e-stablished these and Samuel the Seer in their perpetual office.

'Or, for their fidelitie.

23 So they and their children had the ouersight of the gates of the house of the Lord, euen of the house of the Tabernacle by wardes.

24 The porters were in foure quarters Eastward, Westward, Northward and Southward.

25 And their brethren, which were in their townes, came at [g] seuen dayes from time to time with them.

g They serued wekely, as Ezek. 4, 10.

26 For these foure chief porters were in perpetual office, and were of the Leuites and had charge of the chambers, & of the treasures in the house of God.

"Or, opening of the dores.

27 And they laye rounde about ý house of God, because the charge was theirs, & they caused it to be opened euerie morning.

28 And certeine of them had the rule of the ministring vessels: for they broght them in by tale, and broght them out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed ouer the instruments, and ouer all ý vessels of the Sanctuarie, and of the [h] floure, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incense, and the swete odours.

h Whereof the meat offring was made, Leuit. 2. 1.

30 And certeine of the sonnes of the Priests made ointments of swete odours.

31 And Mattithiah one of the Leuites ẅ was the eldest sonne of Shallum ý Korhite, had the charge of ý things that were made in the fryingpan.

32 And other of their brethren the sonnes of Kohath had the ouersight of the *shewbread to prepare it euerie Sabbath.

Exod. 25, 30.

33 And these are the singers, the chief fathers of the Leuites, which dwelt in the chãbers, [i] and had none other charge: for they had to do in that busines day and night.

i But were cõtinually occupied in singing praises to God.

34 These were the chief fathers of the Leuites according to their generacions, and the principal which dwelt at Ierusalem.

35 *And in Gibeon dwelt "the father of Gibeon, Ieiel, and the name of his wife was Maachah.

Chap. 8, 29.
"Or, Abigibeon.

36 And his eldest sonne was Abdon, then Zur, & Kish, & Baal, and Ner, & Nadab, 37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begate Shimeam: they also dwelt with their brethren at Ierusalem, euen by their brethren.

39 And *Ner begate Kish, & Kish begate Saul, and Saul begate Ionathã and Malchishua, and Abinadab and Eshbaal.

1. Sam. 14, 51. chap. 8, 33.

40 And the sonne of Ionathan was Meribbaal: and Merib-baal begate Micah.
41 And the sonnes of Micah were Pithon, & Melech and Tahrea.
42 And Ahaz begate [k] Iarah, and Iarah begate Alemeth, and Azmaueth & Zimri, and Zimri begate Moza.
43 And Moza begate Binea, whose sonne was Rephaiah, and his sonne was Eleasah, and his sonne Azel.
44 And Azel had six sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, & Ismael, & Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: these are the sonnes of Azel.

CHAP. X.

1 The battel of Saul against the Philistims, 4 In which he dyetho, 5 And his sonnes also. 13 The cause of Sauls death.

1. Sam. 31, 1. 1 THen * the Philistims foght against Israel: and ỹ men of Israel fled before the Philistims, and fel downe slaine in mount Gilboa.
2 And ỹ Philistims pursued after Saul & after his sonnes, and ỹ Philistims smote Ionathan, and Abinadab, & Malchishua the sonnes of Saul.
"Ebr. founde. 3 And the battel was sore against Saul, and the archers hit him, and he was " wounded of the archers.
4 Then said Saul to his armour bearer, Drawe out thy sworde, and thrust me through therewith, lest these vncircuncised come & moke at me: but his armour bearer wolde not, for he was fore afraid: therefore Saul toke the sworde & fel vpon it.
5 And when his armour bearer sawe that Saul was dead, he fel likewise vpon the sworde, and dyed.
6 So Saul dyed and his thre sonnes, and all his house, they dyed together.
7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley, sawe how they fled, and that Saul and his sonnes were dead, they forsoke their cities, & fled away, and the Philistims came, and dwelt in them.
"Ebr. fallen. 8 And on the morowe when the Philistims came to spoile thē that were slaine, they found Saul & his sonnes "lying in mount Gilboa.
9 And when they had stript him, they toke his head and his armour, and sent them into ỹ land of the Philistims round about, to publish it vnto their idoles, and to the people.
a Which was ỹ idole of the philistims, & from ỹ belly downeward had the forme of a fish & vpwarde of a man. 10 And they laied vp his armour in the house of their god, and set vp his head in the house of [a] Dagon.
11 ¶ When all they of Iabesh Gilead heard all that the Philistims had done to Saul, 12 Then they arose (all the valiant men) and toke the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sonnes, and broght them to Iabesh, and buryed the bones of them vnder an oke in Iabesh, and fasted seuen dayes.
13 So Saul dyed for his transgression that he committed against the Lord, * euen against the worde of the Lord, which he kept not, and in that he soght and asked counsel of a ' * familiar spirit, 14 And asked not of the Lord: therefore he slewe him, and turned the kingdome vnto Dauid the sonne of Ishai.

CHAP. XI.

3 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebron. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid, from whome he taketh the towre of Zion. 6 Ioab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

2. Sam. 5, 1.
1 THen * all Israel [a] gathered thē selues to Dauid vnto Hebron, saying, Beholde, we are thy bones and thy flesh.
2 And in time past, euen when Saul was King, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt fede my people Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israel.
a This was after the death of Ishbosheth Sauls sonne, whē Dauid had reigned ouer Iudah seuen yeres and six moneths in Hebron, 2. Sam. 5, 5.
3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, & Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid King ouer Israel, *according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Samuel.
1. Sam. 16, 13.
4 ¶ And Dauid & all Israel went to Ierusalem, which is Iebus, where were ỹ Iebusites, the inhabitants of the land.
5 And ỹ inhabitāts of Iebus said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuertheles Dauid toke the towre of Zion, which is the citie of Dauid.
2. Sam. 5, 8.
6 And Dauid said, *) Whosoeuer smiteth the Iebusites first, shal be the chief & captaine. So Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah went first vp, and was captaine.
7 And Dauid dwelt in the towre: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.
2. Sam. 5, 9.
8 *And he buylt the citie on euerie side, from Millo euen round about: & Ioab repaired the rest of the citie.
9 And Dauid prospered, & grewe: for the Lord of hostes was with him.
2. Sam. 23, 8.
10 ¶ * These also are the chief of the valiant men that were with Dauid & ioyned their force with him in his kingdome w all Israel, to make him King ouer Israel, according to the worde of the Lord.
b Meaning the moste excellent & best estemed for his valiantnes: some read, the chief of the princes.
11 And this is the nomber of the valiant men whome Dauid had, Iashobeam the sonne of Hachmoni, the [b] chief among thirty: he lift vp his speare against thre hundreth, whome he slewe at one time.
12 And

12 And after him was Eleazár the ſonne of [n]Dódo the Ahohite, which was one of the thre valiant men.

13 He was with Dauid at Paſ-dammím, & there the Philiſtims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcel of ground ful of barly, and the people fled before the Philiſtims.

14 And thei ſtode in ſ middes of the field, [c] and ſaued it, and ſlewe the Philiſtims: ſo the Lord gaue a great victorie.

15 ¶ And thre of the [d] thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullám. And the armie of the Philiſtims camped in the valley of Rephaím.

16 And when Dauid was in the holde, the Philiſtims gariſon was at Beth-léhem.

17 And Dauid lõged, and ſaid, *Oh, that one wolde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-léhem that is at the gate.

18 Then theſe thre brake thorowe the hoſte of the Philiſtims, and drewe water out of the well of Beth-léhem that was by the gate, and toke it and broght it to Dauid: but Dauid wolde not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblacion to the Lord,

19 And ſaid, Let not my God ſuffer me to do this: ſhulde I drinke the [e] blood of theſe mens liues: for they haue broght it with the ieopardye of their liues: therefore he wolde not drinke it: theſe things did theſe thre mightie men.

20 ¶ And Abſhái the brother of Ioáb, he was chief of the thre, and he lift vp his ſpeare againſt thre hundreth, and ſlewe them, and had the name amõg the thre.

21 Among the thre he was more honorable then the two, & he was their captaine: * but he attained not vnto the firſt thre.

22 Benaiáh the ſonne of Iehoiadá (the ſonne of a valiant man) which had done manie actes, and was of Kabzeél, he ſlewe two [n] ſtrong men of Moab: he went downe alſo and ſlewe a lion in the middes of a pit in time of ſnow, 23 And he ſlewe an Egyptian, a man of great ſtature, euen fiue cubites long, and in the Egyptians hand was a ſpeare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a ſtaffe, and plucked the ſpeare out of the Egyptians hand, and ſlewe him with his owne ſpeare.

24 Theſe things did Benaiah the ſonne of Iehoiadá, & had the name among the thre worthies.

25 Boholde, he was honorable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto the [f] firſt thre, * And Dauid made him of his counſel.

15 These are they that went ouer Iordén in the [d] first moneth when he had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, towarde the East and the West.
16 And there came of the children of Beniamín, and Iudáh to the holde vnto Dauid, 17 And Dauid went out to mete them, and answered and said vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto me to helpe me, mine heart shalbe knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seing there is no wickednes in mine handes, the God of our fathers behold it, and rebuke it.
18 And the [e] spirit came vpon Amasái, which was ỹ chief of thirtie, and he said, Thine are we, Dauid, & with thee, ô sonne of Ishái. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Thẽ Dauid receiued them, & made them captaines of the garison.
19 ¶ And of Manasséh some fel to Dauid, whẽ he came with the Philistims against Saúl to battel, but they [f] helped them not: for the princes of the Philistims by aduisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saúl [p] for our heades.
20 As he wẽt to Ziklág, there fel to him of Manasséh, Adnáh, and Iozabád, and Iediaél, and Michaél, and Iozabád, and Elihú, & Zilthái, heades of the thousands that were of Manasséh.
21 And thei helped Dauid against [g] that bande: for thei were all valiant men and were captaines in the hoste.
22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntil it was a great hoste, like the hoste of [h] God.
23 And these are the nombers of the captaines that were armed to battel, & came to Dauid to Hebrón to turne the kingdome of Saúl to him, according to the worde of the Lord.
24 The children of Iudah that bare shield & [q] speare, were six thousand & eight hundreth armed to the warre.
25 Of the children of Simeõn valiant men of warre, seuen thousand and an hundreth.
26 Of the children of Leui foure thousand and six hundreth.
27 And Iehoiadá was the chief of them of [i] Aarõn: and with him thre thousand and seuen hundreth.
28 And Zadók a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers housholde, came two and twentie captaines.
29 And of the children of Beniamin the brethren of Saúl thre thousand: for a great parte of thẽ vnto that time [k] kept the warde of the house of Saúl.
30 And of the children of Ephráim twentie thousand, & eight hundreth valiant men & famous men in the housholde of their fathers.
31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasséh eightene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.
32 And of the children of Issáchár which were mẽ that had vnderstanding of the [l] times, to knowe what Israél ought to do: the heades of them were two hundreth, and all their brethrẽ were at their commandement.
33 Of Zebulún that wẽt out to battel, expert in warre, & in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand which colde set the battel in aray: they were not of [r] a double heart.
34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seuen & thirtie thousand.
35 And of Dan expert in battel, eight and twentie thousand, and six hundreth.
36 And of Asher that went out to the battel and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.
37 And of the other side of Iordén of the Reubenites and of the Gaddites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasséh with all instrumẽts of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twentie thousand.

7 The Arke is broght againe frō Kiriathiearim to Ierusalem. 9 Vzza dyeth becausse he touched it.

1 AND Dauid counseled with the captaines of thousands & of hundreths, & with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid said to all the Cōgregacion of Israel, If it seme good to you, and that it procedeth of the Lord our God, we wil send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in ỹ cities and their suburbes) that thei may assemble them selues vnto vs.

3 And we wil bring againe the [a] Arke of our God to vs: for we soght not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregacion answered, Let vs do so: for the thing semed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ *So Dauid gathered all Israel together from [n] Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamáth, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp & all Israel to [n] Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, ỹ was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Vzza and Ahio [c] guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel plaied before [d] God with all their might, bothe ẅ songs & with harpes, and with violes, and with timbrels and with cimbales and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing floore of [e] Chidón, Vzzá put forthe his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzza, and he smote him, becausse he laied his hand vpon ỹ Arke: so he dyed there [f] before God.

11 And Dauid was angrie, becausse the Lord had made a breache in Vzza, and he called the name of that place Perezvzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shal I bring in to me the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid broght not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caussed it to turne into the house of [g] Obed Edom the Gittite.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, euen in his house thre moneths: and the Lord blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that he had.

2 [l] Therefore Dauid knewe that the Lord had confirmed him King ouer Israel, & that his kingdome was lift vp on hie, becausse of his [a] people Israel.

3 ¶ Also Dauid toke mo wiues at Ierusalem, & Dauid begate mo sonnes, & daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Ierusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, & Salomon.

5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and [b] Elpalet.

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg and Iaphia,

7 And Elishama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anointed King ouer Israel, all ỹ Philistims came vp to seke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came, and spred them selues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsel at God, saying, Shal I go vp against ỹ Philistims, & wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp: for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim & Dauid smote thē there: and Dauid saied, God hathe deuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are deuided: therefore thei called the name of that place, [c] Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fyre.

1 AND Dauid made him houses in the [a] cite of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then Dauid said, *None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hathe chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 ¶And Dauid gathered all Israél together to Ierusalém to bring vp the [b] Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aarón, and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath Vriél the chief, and his [*] brethren six score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiáh the chief, and his brethren two hundred & twentie.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershóm, Ioél the chief, and his brethren an hundreth and thirtie.

8 Of the sonnes of [c] Elizaphán, Shemaiáh the chief, and his brethrē two hundreth.

9 Of the sonnes of [d] Hebrón, Eliél the chief, and his brethren foure score.

10 Of the sonnes of Vzziél, Amminadáb the chief, and his brethren an hundreth & twelue.

11 ¶And Dauid called Zadók & Abiathár the Priests, and of the Leuites, Vriél, Asaiáh and Ioél, Shemaiáh, and Eliél, and Amminadáb:

12 And he said vnto thē, Ye are the chief fathers of the Leuites: [e] sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israél vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 For * because ye were not there at [f] first, the Lord our God made a breache among vs: for we soght him not after due [f] ordre.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified thē selues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israél.

15 ¶And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, * according to the worde of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chief of the Leuites, that they shulde appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with [g] instrumēts of musike, with violes and harpes, & cymbales, that thei might make a sounde, and lift vp their voyce with ioye.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Joél, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merarí their brethren, Ethán the sonne of Kushaiah.

18 And with them their brethren in the [h] seconde degre, Zechariah, Ben, and Iaaziél, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiél, and Vnni, Eliáb, and Benaiah, and Maasiáh, & Mattithiah, and Eliphelēh, and Mikneah, and Obéd Edóm, and Ieiél the porters.

19 So Heman, Asaph & Ethán were singers to make a sounde with cymbales of brasse,

20 And Zechariáh, and Aziél, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiél, and Vnni, and Eliab, and Maasiáh, and Benaiáh with violes on [i] Alamóth, 21 And Mattithiah, & Elipheléh, and Mikneáh, and Obed Edóm, and Ieiél, and Azaziáh, with harpes [k] vpon Sheminith le nazzéah.

22 But Chenaniáh the chief of the Leuites had [l] the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiáh & Elkanáh were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniáh and Iehoshaphát and Nethaneél and Amashái, and Zachariáh, and Benaiah, and Eliézer the Priests did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obéd Edóm and Ieiiáh were porters [m] for the Arke.

25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israél and the captaines of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obéd Edóm with ioye.

26 And because that God [n] helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, thei offred [o] seuen bullockes and seuen rams.

27 And Dauid had on him a linen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers and Chenaniáh that

2 Then Nathan said to Dauid, Do [c] all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same [d] night euen the worde of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go, and tel Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not buylde me an house to dwel in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day ỳ I broght out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene frō [e] tent to tent, and from habitacion to habitacion.

6 Where soeuer I haue [f] walked with all Israel, spake I one worde to anie of the iudges of Israel (whome I commanded to fede my people) saying, Why haue ye not buylt me an house of cedre trees?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I toke thee frō the shepecoate [g] & from following the shepe, that thou shuldest be a prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene [h] with thee whether soeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue [i] made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I wil appoint a place for my people Israel, & [k] wil plant it, that they may dwel in their place, and moue no more: nether shal the [l] wicked people [m] vexe them anie more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commaded iudges ouer my people Israel) And I wil subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord wil [n] buylde thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shalbe fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then wil I raise vp thy sede after thee, which shal be of thy sonnes, and wil stablish his kingdome.

12 He shal buylde me an house, and I wil stablish his throne for [k] euer.

The battel of Dauid against the Philistims. 2 And against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12. And Edom.

1 AND after this Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and toke [a] Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistums.

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants: and ["] broght giftes.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote ["] Hadarezer King of Zobah vnto Hamath, as he went to stablish his border by the riuer [n] Perath.

4 And Dauid toke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, & twentie thousand fotemen, and * destroyed all the charets, but he reserued of them an hundreth charets.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer King of Zobah, but Dauid slewe of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of ["] Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and broght giftes: and the Lord [b] preserued Dauid where soeuer he went.

7 And Dauid toke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and broght them to Ierusalem.

8 And from [c] Tibhath, and from Chum (cities of Hadarezer) broght Dauid exceding muche brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen * Sea, and the pillers and the vessels of brasse.

9 ¶ Then Tou King of Hamath heard how Dauid had smiten all the hoste of Hadarezer King of Zobah.

10 Therefore he sent [d] Hadoram his sonne to King Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because he had foght against Hadarezer, & beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who broght all vessels of golde, and siluer and brasse.

11 And King Dauid did dedicate thē vnto the Lord, with the siluer and golde that he broght from all the nacions, from [e] Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salte vallay [f] eightene thousand, 13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: & the Lord preserued Dauid where soeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgemēt and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud recorder,

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitúb, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and [h] Shausha the scribe, 17 * And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the [i] Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chief about the King.

Hanun King of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 He prepareth an armie against Dauid. 15 And is ouercome.

1 AFter this also * Nahash the King of the children of Ammon dyed, & his sonne reigned in his steade. 2. Sam. 10.2.

2 And Dauid said, I wil shewe kindnes vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his [a] father shewed kindenes vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to comforte him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comforte him.

3 And the princes of the childrē of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hathe sent cōforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to [b] searche, to seke and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun toke Dauids seruāts and [c] shaued them, and cut of [d] their garmēts by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and he sent to mete them) for the men were exceedingly ashamed) & the King said, Tary at Iericho, vntil your beardes be growen: then returne.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon sawe that [e] Which were fiue in all.

[f] Which was a citie of the tribe of Reuben beyõde Iorden.

that they [a] stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanũ and the childrẽ of Ammõ a thousand talents of siluer to hyre them charets & horsemen out of Aram Naharaim, and out of Aram Maachah, and out of [e] Zobah.

7 And they hyred them two and thirtie thousand charets, & the King of Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before [f] Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered them selues together from their cities, and came to the battel.

8 ¶ And when Dauid heard, he sent Ioab & all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the childrẽ of Ammon came out, and set their battel in araye at the gate of the citie. And the Kings that were come, were by them selues in the field.

10 When Ioab sawe that the fronte of the battel was against him before & behinde, then he chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set him selfe in araye to mete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hãd of Abishai his brother, and they put them selues in araye against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If Aram be to strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: & if the childrẽ of Ammon preuaile against the, then I wil succour thee.

13 Be strong, and let vs shewe our selues valiãt for our [g] people, and for the cities of our God, & let the Lord do that which is good in his owne sight.

14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came nere before the Aramites vnto the battel, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammõ sawe that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discõfited before Israel, they sent messengers and caused the Aramites to come forthe that were beyonde the [h] riuer: & Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, he gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, & came vnto them, and put him selfe in araye against them: and whẽ Dauid had put him selfe in battel araye to mete the Aramites, they foght with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seuẽ thousand charets, and fortie thousand fotemen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fel before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites wolde nomore succour the children of Ammon.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise ouercome, with their gyants.

1 AND *when the yere was expired, in the time that Kings go out a warre-fare, Ioab caried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countray of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged [a] Rabbah (but Dauid taryed at Ierusalem) and Ioab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

7 And when he reuiled Israel, Iehonathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slea him.

8 These were borne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fel by the hand of Dauid: and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be nõbred. 14 And there dye seuentie thousand mẽ of the pestilẽce.

1 AND [a] Satan stode vp against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to nomber Israel.

[a] He tempted Dauid in setting before his eyes his excellencie & glorie, his power & victories, read 2. Sam. 24.1.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Go & nomber Israel from [b] Beer-sheba euẽ to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the nomber of them.

[b] That is, from Southe to North.

3 And Ioab answered, The Lord increase his people an hũdreth times so many as they they be, ô my lord ý King: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why shulde he be a cause of [c] tresspasse to Israel.

4 Neuertheles the Kings worde preuailed against Ioab. And Ioab departed and wēt through all Israel, and returned to Ierusalem.

5 And Ioab gaue the nomber & summe of the people vnto Dauid: & all Israel were [d] eleuen hundreth thousand men ý drewe sworde: and Iudah was [e] foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drewe sworde.

6 But the Lewites and Beniamin counted he not among them: for the Kings worde was abominable to Ioab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseche thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids [f] Seer, saying,

10 Go and tel Dauid, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offre thee thre things: chose thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Take to thee,

12 Ether thre yeres famine, or thre moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sworde of thine enemies [g] to take thee, or els the sworde of the Lord and pestilēce in the land thre dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israel: now therefore aduise thee, what worde I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderful strait. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceding great, & let me not fal into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroye it. And [f] as he was destroying, the Lord behelde, and [g] repented of the euil and said to ý Angel that destroyed, It is now inough let thine hād cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stode by the thresshing floore of [h] Ornan the Iebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lord stand betwene the earth and the heauen whith his sworde drawen in his hād, and stretched out towarde Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commāded to nomber the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euil, but these shepe what haue they done? ô Lord my God, I beseche thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on [h] thy people for their destruction.

18 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid shulde go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the thresshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and sawe ý Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, [i] hid them selues, and Ornan thresshed wheat.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan loked and sawe Dauid and went out of the thresshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid said to Ornan, Giue me the place of thy thresshing floore, that I may buylde an [k] altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord ý King do that which semeth him good: lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offrigs, & thresshing instruments for wood, & wheat for meat offring, I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid said to Ornan, Not so; but I wil bye it for sufficient [l] money: for I wil not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offrings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m] six hundreth shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid buylt there an altar vnto the Lord, and offred burnt offrings, and peace offrings, and called vpon the Lord, and he [n] answered him by fyre from heauē vpō the altar of burnt offring:

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, he put vp his sworde againe into his shethe.

28 At that time whē Dauid sawe that the Lord had heard him in the thresshing floore of Ornā the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord ŵ Moses had made in the wildernes, and the altar of burnt offring were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid colde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraied of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord.)

c It was a thing indifferent & vsual to nōber the people, but because he did it of an ambitious minde, as though his strēgth stode in his people. God punished him.

d Ioab partely for grief and partly through negligence gathered not the whole summe as it is here declared.

e In Samuel is mention of thirtie thousand more: ŵ was ether by ioyning to them some of the Benjamites, which were mixed ŵ Iudah, or as the Ebrewes write, here the chief & princes are left out.

i If man hide him selfe at the sight of an Angel which is a creature, how muche lesse is a sinner able to appeare before ý face of God?

k Thus he did by the cōmādement of God, as vers. 18. for els it had bene abominable except he had ether Gods worde, or reuelacion.

l That is, as muche as it is worthe: for hauing ynough of his owne & yet to haue taken of as nother mans goods to offre vnto the Lord, it had bene theft and not acceptable to God.

CHAP. XXII.

Dauid prepareth things necessarie for the buylding of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to buylde the Temple of the Lord, which thing he him selfe was forbidden to do. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

1 AND Dauid said, This is the [a] house of the Lord God, & this is the altar for the burnt offring of Israel.

2 And Dauid cōmanded to gather together the [b] strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he set masons to hewe and polish stones to buylde the house of God.

3 Dauid also prepared [c] muche yron for the nailes of the dores & of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight,

4 And cedre trees without nomber: for the Zidoniās and they of Tyrus broght muche cedre wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must buylde an house for the Lord, magnifical, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all contreis. I wil therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to buylde an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid said to Salomon, *My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to buyld an house to the Name of the Lord my God:

8 But the worde of the Lord came to me, saying, *[d] Thou hast shed muche blood & hast made great battels: thou shalt not buylde an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed muche blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9 Behoide, a sonne is borne to thee, ẅ shalbe a man of rest, for I wil giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I wil send peace and quietnes vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 *He shal buylde an house for my Name, and he shal be my sonne and I wil be his father, and I wil establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shalbe with thee, and thou shalt [e] prosper, and thou shalt buylde an house to the Lord thy God, as he hathe spoken of thee.

12 Onely the Lord giue thee [f] wisdome & vnderstanding, and giue thee charge ouer Israel, euen to kepe the Law of the Lord thy God.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take hede to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lord commanded Moses for Israel: be strong and of good courage: feare not, nether be afraied,

14 For beholde, according to my [g] pouertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundreth thousand talents of golde, and a thousand thousand talents of siluer, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timbre and stone, and thou maiest prouide more thereto

15 Moreouer thou hast workmen ẅ thee ynough, [h] hewers of stone, and workemen for timbre, and all men expert in euerie worke, 16 Of golde, of siluer, and of brasse, and of yron there is no nomber. [i] Vp therefore, & be doing, & the Lord wil be whith thee.

17 Dauid also commāded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, & hathe giuen you rest on euerie side? for he hathe giuen the [k] inhabitants of the land into mine hand, & the land is subdued before the Lord & before his people.

19 Now set [l] your hearts and your soules to seke the Lord your God, and arise, and buylde the Sanctuaire of the Lord God to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and ẏ holy vessels of God into the house buylt for the Name of the Lord.

22 And Eleazar dyed, and had no sonnes but daughters, and their [d] brethren the sonnes of Kish toke them.

d Meaning their cousins.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Ierimoth, three.

e Dauid did chose the Leuits twise, first at ỹ age of thirtie, as ver. 3, & againe afterwarde at twentie, as ỹ necessitie of ỹ office did require: at the beginning they had no charge in the Temple, before they were fiue and twentie yere olde. and had none after fiftie, Nub. 10, 24.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen the chief fathers according to their offices, according to the nomber of names & their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of [e] twenty yeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hathe giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwel in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shal nomore beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last wordes of Dauid, the Leuites were nõbred from twentie yere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courtes, and chambers, and in the [f] purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God, f In washing and cleansing all the holy vessels.

29 Bothe for the shewebread, and for the fine floure, for the meat offring, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fryed things, and for that ỹ was rosted, and for all measures and ẽise,

30 And for to stand euerie morning, to giue thankes and to praise the Lord, & likewise at euen,

31 And to offer all burnt offrings vnto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the moneths, and at the appointed times according to the nomber & according to their custome continually before the Lord,

32 And that they shulde kepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregacion, and the charge of the holie place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aaron their brethrẽ in the seruice of the house of the Lord.

Dauid assigneth offices vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

Leui. 10, 1. nnmb. 3, 4. & 26, 6.

1 THese are also the * diuisions of the sonnes of Aaron, The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu dyed [a] before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priests office.

a Whiles their father yet liued.

3 And Dauid distributed them euen Zadok of the || sonnes of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar according to their offices in their ministration.

4 And there were found mo of the sonnes of Eleazar by the "nomber of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar. and they diuided them, to wit, amõg the sonnes of Eleazar, sixtene heades, according to the housholde of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar according to the housholde of their fathers, eight.

" Or, heades.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so the rulers of the Sanctuaire and the rulers of the house of God were of the sonnes of Eleazar and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the sonne of Nethaneel the scribe of the Leuites, wrote them before the King and the princes, and Zadok the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chief fathers of the Priests and of the Leuites, one familie being reserued for Eleazar, & another reserued for Ithamar.

7 And the first [b] lot fel to Iehoiarib, and the second to Iedaiah, 8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim.

9 The fift to Malchiiah the sixt to Miiamin,

10 The seuenth to Hakkoz, the eight to [c] Abiiah,

17 The one and twetie to Iachin, the two and twentie to Gamul, 18 The thre and twentie to Deliah, the foure ond twentie to Maaziah.

19 These were their ordres according to their offices, when they entred into the house of the Lord according to their custome vnder [d] the hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

20 ¶ And of the sonnes of Leui that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael, of the sonnes of Shubael, Iedeiah, 21 Of Rehabiah, euen of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Isshiiah, 22 Of Izhari, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Iahath, 23 And his sonnes Ieriah the first, Amariah the seconde, Iahaziel the thirde, and Iekameam the fourth,

24 The sonne of Vzziel was Michah, the sonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah was Isshiiah, the sonne of Isshiiah, Zechariah, 26 The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi, the sonne of Iaaziiah was Beno, 27 The sonnes of Merari of Iahaziah were Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur and Ibri.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish, the sonne of Kish was Ierahmeel,

30 And the sonnes of [e] Mushi were Mahli and Eder, and Ierimoth: these were sonnes of the Leuites after the houshold of their fathers.

31 And these also cast [f] lottes with their brethren the sonnes of Aaron before King Dauid, and Zadok and Ahimelech and y chief fathers of the Priests, and of the Leuites, euen the chief of the families against their yonger brethren.

b This lot was ordained to take away all occasion of enuie or grudging of one against another.

c Zacharie the father of Iohn Baptist, was of this course or lot of Abia, Luk 1,5.

d By the dignitie that God gaue to Aaron.

e Which was the seconde sonne of Merari.

f That is, euerie one had y dignitie, w fel vnto him by lot.

15 The weight also of golde for the [b] candlestickes, and golde for their lampes, with the weight for euerie candlesticke, & for the lampes thereof, & for the candlestckes of siluer by the weight of the candlesticke, and the lampes thereof, according to the vse of euerie candlesticke,

16 And the weight of the golde for the tables of shewbread, for euerie table, & siluer for the tables of siluer,

17 And pure golde for the fleshhokes, & the boules, and [c] plates, & for basens, golde in weight for euerie basen and for siluer basens by weight for euerie basen,

18 And for the altar of incense, pure golde by weight, and golde for the paterne of [d] the charet of the Cherubs that spred them selues, and couered the arke of the couenante of the Lord:

[d] Meaning, of the merciseat ẅ couered ỹ Arke which was called the charet because the Lord declared him selfe there.

19 All, said he, by writing sent to me [e] by the hand of the Lord, which made me vnderstand all the workemanship of the paterne.

20 And Dauid said to Salomon his sonne, Be strong and of a valiant courage and do it: feare not, nor be afraied: for the Lord God, euen my God is with thee: he wil not leaue thee nor forsake thee til thou hast finished all the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord.

21 Beholde also, the companies of the Priests and the Leuites for all the seruice of the house of God, euen they shalbe with thee for the whole worke, [f] wich euerie fre heart that is skilful in anie maner of seruice. The princes also and all the people wil be [g] wholly at thy commandement.

[f] That is, euerie one wil be ready to helpe thee ẅ those gifts that God hathe giuen him.

[g] Ebr. at all thy wordes.

CHAP. XXIX.

The offring of Dauid and of the princes for the buylding of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thankes to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomon is created King. 28 Dauid dyeth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his steade.

1 MOreouer Dauid the King said vnto all the Congregacion, God hathe chosen Salomon mine onelie sonne yong and tendre, & the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the [a] Lord God.

[a] And therefore it ought to be excellent in all pointes.

2 Now I haue prepared ẅ all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and siluer for them of siluer, and brasse for things of brasse, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, & onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones and of diuers colour, and all precious stones, & marble stones in abundance.

[b] His great zeale toward the furtherance of the Temple made him to spare no expenses, but to bestowe his owne peculiar treasure.

3 Moreouer because I haue [b] delite in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and siluer, which I haue giuen to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie, [c] He sheweth what he had of his owne store for ỹ Lords hous so.

4 Euen [c] thre thousand talents of golde of the golde of Ophir, and seuen thousand talents of fined siluer to ouerlay the walles of the houses.

5 The golde for the things of golde, and the siluer for things of siluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is [d] willing [e] to fil his hand to day vnto the Lord?

[d] He was not onely liberal him selfe, but prouoked others to set forthe the worke of God.

6 So the Princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, & the captaines of thousands & of hundreths, ẅ the rulers of the Kings worke offred willingly,

7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God fiue thousand talents of golde, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talens of siluer, and eightene thousand talents of brasse, and one hundreth thousand talents of yron.

8 And they with whome precious stones were [f] founde, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Iehiel the Gershunnite.

[f] Meaning, the that had anie.

9 And the people reioyced when they offred willingly: for they offred willingly vnto the Lord, with a [g] perfite heart. And Dauid the King also reioyced with great ioye.

[g] That is, with a good courage & without hypocrisie.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before al the Congregacion & Dauid saied, Blessed be thou, ô Lord God, of [h] Israel our father, for euer and euer.

[h] Which did reuerence thy selfe to our father Iaakob.

11 Thine, ô Lord, is greatnes and power, and glorie, and victorie and praise: for all that is in heauen & in earth is thine: thine is ỹ kingdome, ô Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, & ỹ reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.

13 Now therefore our God, we thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.
14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we shulde be able to offer willingly after this sorte? for all things h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.
15 For we are i strangers before thee, and soiourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none " abiding.
16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to buylde thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand and all is thine.
17 I knowe also, my God, ý thou * tryest ý heart, and hast pleasure in righteousnes: I haue offred willingly in the vprightnes of mine heart all these things: now also haue I sene thy people which are founde here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioye, 18 O Lord God of Abrahā, Izhak and Israel our fathers, kepe this for euer in the k purpose, and the thoghts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.
19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfit heart to kepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all things, and to buylde the house which I haue prepared.
20 ¶ And Dauid said to all the Congregacion, Now blesse ý Lord your God. And all the Congregacion blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heades, & worshipped the Lord and the l King.
21 And they offred sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morowe after that day, they offred burnt offrings vnto ý Lord, euen a thousand yong bullokes, a thousand rāmes, & a thousand sheepe, with their m drinke offrings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.
22 And they did eat and drinke before the Lord the same day with greate ioye, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid King the seconde time, and anointed him prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the hie Priest.
23 So Salomon sate on the n throne of ý Lord, as King in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.
24 And all ý princes and men of power, and all ý sonnes of King Dauid " submitted them selues vnder King Salomon.
25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no King had before him in Israel.
26 ¶ * Thus Dauid the sonne of Ishai reigned ouer all Israel.
27 And the space that he reigned ouer Israel, was fourtie yere: seuen yere reigned he in Hebron, and thre & thirtie yere reigned he in Ierusalem:
28 And he dyed in a good age, ful of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomon his sonne reigned in his steade, 29 Concerning the actes of Dauid the King first and last, beholde, they are writen in the boke of Samuel the Seer, and in the boke of ° Nathan the Prophete, and in the boke of Gad the Seer, 30 With all his reigne and his power, and P times that went ouer him, and ouer Israel and ouer all the kingdomes of the earth.

h We gaue thee nothing of our owne, but that which we haue receiued of thee: for whether the gifts be corporal or spiritual, we receiue them all of God, and therefore must giue him ý glorie.
i And therefore haue this life but lent to vs for a time.
" Ebr. waiting for thē to returne. 1. Sam. 16, 7. chap. 28, 9.
k Continue thē in this good minde, ý they may serue thee willingly.
l That is, did reuerence to ý King.
m Meaning, all kinde of licour ẅ they mingled with their sacrifices, as wine, oyle &c.
n This declareth that the Kings of Iudah were figures of Christ, who was the true anoinged, & to whome God gaue the chief gouernment of all things.
" Ebr. gaue the hand.
1. King. 2, 12.
° The bokes of Nathan & Gad are thoght to haue bene lost in the captiuitie.
P Meaning, the troubles and griefs.

THE SECONDE BOKE of the Chronicles.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis seconde boke conteineth briefely in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bokes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certeine things declared and set forthe more copiously then in the bokes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophetes. But thre things are here chiefly to be considered. First that recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remoued. The seconde how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that suche as feare him and professe his religion, shulde ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdely how the good rulers euer loued the Prophetes of God, and were very zealous to set forthe his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrarie wise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and worde of God set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chief actes from the beginning of the world to the buylding againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darius, and conteine in the whole, thre thousand, foure hundred foure score and eight yeres, and six monethes.

CHAP. I.

The offring of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 He prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdome. 11 Which hegiueth him and more. 14 The nomber of his charets and horses. 15 And of his riches.

1 THen Salomō the sonne of Dauid was ‖ confirmed in his kingdome: & ý * Lord his God was with him, & magnified him highlie.

‖ Or, established, and strong. 1. King. 3, 12.

2 And Salomon [a] spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreths, and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in al Israel, euen ý chief fathers.

That is, he proclaimed a solemne sacrifice, and cōmanded ý all shulde be at the same.

3 So Salomon and all the congregacion with him went to the hye place ý was at [b] Gibeon: for there was the tabernacle [c] of the Congregacion of God ŵ Moses the seruāt of the Lord had made in the wildernes.

b Read 1. King. 3. 4.

c So called, because that God thereby shewed certeine figues to the congregacion of his presence.

4 But ý Arke of God had Dauid broght vp from Kiriath-iearim, when Dauid had made preparacion for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreouer ý [d] brasen altar * that Bezaleel the sonne of Vri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before thee Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomō and the Congregacion soght it.

d Which was for ý burnt offrings, Exod. 27, 1. Exod 38, 1.

6 And Salomon offred there before the Lord vpon the brasen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the congregacion: * euen a thousand burnt offrings offred he vpon it.

1. King. 3, 4.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shal giue thee.

8 And Salomon said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father and hast made me to reigne in his steade.

9 Now therefore, ô Lord God, let thy promes vnto Dauid my father be [e] true: for thou hast made me King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

e Performe thy promes made to my father cōcerning me.

10 Giue me now wisdome and knowledge, that I may [f] go out & go in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

f That I may gouerne this people, read, 2. Chro. 27, 2.

11 And God said to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, & thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, nether yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdome & knowledge that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whome I haue made thee King, g That is, to be reuenged on thine enemies.

12 Wisdome & knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I wil giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so ý there hathe not bene the like among the Kings ŵ were before thee, nether after thee shal there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the hie place, that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Cōgregacion, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 * And Salomon gathered the charets & horsmen: and he had a thousand and foure hūdreth charets, & twelue thousand horsmen, whome he placed in the [h] charet cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

2. King. 10, 28.

h which were cities appointed to kepe & maintene the charets,

15 And the King gaue siluer and golde at Ierusalem as [i] stones, & gaue cedre trees as the wilde fig trees, ý are abundantly in the plaine.

i He caused so great plentie ý it was no more esteemed then stones, Isai. 10, 9. ezek. 27, 7.

16 Also Salomon had horses broght out of Egypt, and * fine linen: [k] the Kings marchants receiued the fine linen for a price.

k Read 1. King. 10, 28.

17 They came vp also and broght out of Egypt some charet, worthe six hundreth shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundreth and fiftie: thus they broght horses to all the Kings of the Hittites, and to the Kings of Aram by their ‖ meanes.

‖ Ebr. hands.

CHAP. II.

The nombre of Salomōs workemē to buylde the Temple. 3. Salomon sendeth to Hiram the King of Tyrus for wood and workemē.

1 THē Salomon determined to buyld an house for the Name of the Lord, & an ‖ house for his kingdome.

‖ Or, palace.

2 And Salomon tolde out seuētie thousand that bare burdens, and foure score thousand mē to hewe stones in the moūtaine, and thre thousand and [a] six hundreth to ouersee them.

a Which is to be vnderstād of all sorte of officers & ouerseers: for els the chief officers were but 550. as 1. King. 5, 16.

3 And Salomon sent to ‖ Huram the King of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, & * didest send him cedre trees to buyld him an house to dwel in, so do to me.

‖ Or. Hiram. 2. Sam. 5, 12.

4 Beholde, I buyld an house vnto the name of ý Lord my God, to sanctifie it vnto him, & to burne swete incense before him, and for the continual shewbread, & for the burnt offrings of the morning & euening, on the Sabbath daies, & in the newe moneths, and in the solemne feastes of the Lord our God: this is a perpetual thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I buyld, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is he then that can be able to buyld him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens can not conteine him? who am I then that I shulde buyld him an house? but I do it to burne [b] incense before him.

b That is, to do that seruice which he hathe cōmāded, signifying that none is able to honour & serue God in that perfectiō as his maiestie deserueth.

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde in siluer, and in brasse, and in yrō, and in purple, and and [f] crimosin and blewe silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with ỹ cunning men that are whith me in Iudah and in Ierusalē, whome Dauid my father hathe prepared.

c Some take it for brasil, or ỹ wood called Ebenum, others for coral.

8 Send me also cedre trees, firre trees and [c] Algummim trees from Lebanō: for I knowe that thy seruants can skill to hewe timbre in Lebanon: and beholde, my seruants shalbe with thine.

[a] Or, Almuggim.

9 That they may prepare me timbre in abundance: for the house which I do buyld, is great and wonderful.

10 And beholde, I wil giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timbre twētie thousand [b] measures of beaten wheat, and twentie thousand measures of barly, and twentie thousand baths of wine, and twentie [d] thousand baths of oyle.

d Of Bath read 1. King. 7. 26 it is called also Ephra. but Ephra is to measure drye things, as bath is as measure for lyquours.

11 Then Huram King of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hathe loued his people, he hathe made thee King ouer them.

12 Huram said moreouer, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel which made ỹ heauen and the earth, and that hathe giuē vnto Dauid the King a [e] wise sonne, that hathe discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to buylde an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

e The very heathen confessed that it was a singular gift of God, when he gaue to any nation a King ỹ was wise & of vnderstanding, albeit it appeareth ỹ this Hiram had ỹ true knowledge of God.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, & of vnderstanding of my father Hurams, 14 * The sonne of a womā of ỹ [f] daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, & he can skill to worke in golde, in siluer, in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timbre, in purple, in blewe silke, and in fine linen and in crimosin, and can graue in all grauen worke, and broder in all broydred worke ỹ shalbe giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

f It is also written, that she was of the tribe of Neaphtali, 1. King. 7. 14. which may be vnderstand ỹ by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they maried in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphtale.

15 Now therefore the wheat and ỹ barly, the oyle & the wine, which my lord hathe spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we wil cut wood in Lebanon as muche as thou shalt nede, and wil bring it to thee in [g] rafts by ỹ sea to [h] Iapho, so thou maiest cary thē to Ierusalem.

[g] Or, Shippes.

[h] Or, Ioppe.

17 ¶ And Salomon nombred all the strāgers that were in the land of Israel, after the nombring that his father Dauid had nombred them: and they were founde an hundreth and thre and fiftie thousand, and six hundreth.

18 And he set seuentie thousand of thē to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hewe stones in the mountaine, & thre thousand and six hundreth ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

The Temple of the Lord, and the porche are buylded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 SO * Salomon began to buylde the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount [a] Moriah which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in ỹ place that Dauid prepared in ỹ threshing floore of * Ornan the Iebusite. 1. King. 7. 23.

a Which is the mountaine where Abraham thoght to haue sacrificed his sonne, Gen. 22. 2

2 And he began to buyld in the seconde moneth & the seconde day, in the fourth yere of his reigne. 2. Sam. 24. 16

3 And these are the Measures, whereon Salomon grounded to buyld the house of God: the length of cubites after ỹ first [b] measure was threscore cubites, & the breadth twenty cubites:

b According to ỹ whole length of the Temple, comprehending the most holy place with the rest.

4 And the porche, that was before the length in the fronte [c] of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an [d] hundreth and twentie, & he ouerlaied it within with pure golde.

c It conteined as muche as did the breadth of the Temple. 2. King. 6. 3.

5 And the greater house he syled with firre tree which he ouerlaied with good golde, & graued thereon palmetrees & chaines, d Frō the fundacion to the top: for in the boke of Kings mencion is made, from the fundation to the first stage.

6 And he ouerlaied the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of [e] Paruaim.

e Some thinke it is that place wher called Peruc

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlaied he with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ He made also the house of the moste holy place: the length thereof was in the fronte of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaied it with the best golde, of six hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of ỹ nailes was fiftie shekels of golde, and he ouerlaied the chambers with golde.

10 ¶ And in the house of the moste holy place he made two Cherubims wroght like children, and ouerlaied them with golde.

11 * And ỹ wings of the Cherubims were twentie cubites long: the one wing was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub. 1. King 6. 39.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubites, reaching to the wal of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spred abroad twentie cubites: they stode on their fete and their faces were toward the house.

14 ¶ He made also [f] the vaile of blewe silke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linen, & wroght Cherubims thereon.

f Which separated the Temple from the moste holy place.

15 ¶ And

15 ¶And he made before the house two pillers [g] of fiue and thirtie cubites hie: and the chapiter that was vpon the top of eche of them, was, fiue cubites.
16 He made also chaines for the oracle, and put them on the heades of the pillers, and made an [h] hundreth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.
17 And he set vp the pillers before the Temple, one on the right hand & the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Iachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

g Euerie one was eighte cubites long, but the halfe cubite colde not be seene: for it was hid in the roundenes of ỹ chapiter, & therefore he glueth to euerie one but 17, and an halfe.
h For euerie piller an hundreth, read. 1. King. 7, 20

CHAP. IIII.

1 The altar of brasse. 2 The molten Sea. 6 The caldrons. 8 The candlestickes, &c.

Deut. 6, 9.

1 AND * he made an altar of brasse twentie cubites long, and twentie cubites broade, and ten cubites hie.
2 And the made a molten [a] Sea of ten cubites from brim to brim, rounde in compasse, and fiue cubites hie: and a line of thirtie cubites did compasse it about.
3 And vnder [b] it was the facion of oxē which did compasse it round about, [c] ten in a cubite compasing the Sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast whē it was molten.
4 It stode vpon twelue oxen: thre loked toward the North, and thre loked toward the West, & thre loked toward the South, and thre loked toward the East, and the Sea stode about vpon thē, and all their hinder partes were inwarde.
5 And the thickenes thereof was an hand breadth, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cup, with floures of [d] lilies: it conteined [d] thre thousand baths,
6 ¶He made also ten caldrons, and put fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left, to wash in them & to clense in thē that which apperteined to the burnt offrings: but the Sea was for the Priestes to wash in.
7 ¶And he made ten candlestickes of golde (according to [e] their forme) and put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left.
8 ¶And he made ten tables, & put thē in the Temple, fiue on the right hand, & fiue on the left: and he made an hundreth basens of golde.
9 And he made the court of the Priestes, & the great [f] court and dores for the court, and ouerlayed the dores thereof with brasse.
10 And he set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.
11 And Huram made [g] pottes and besomes and basens: and Huram finished a A great vessel of brasse, so called because of ỹ great quātitie of water, which it conteined, 1. King. 7, 23.

b Meaning, vnder the brim of the vessel, as. 1. King. 7, 24.
c In the length of euery cubite were te heades or knoppes ẅ in all are 300.

ẅ Or, floure deuices.
d In the first boke of Kings. chap. 7, 26 mencioned is onely made of two thousand: but ỹ lesse nomber was taken there & here according as the measures proued afterward is declared.

g Or, caldren.

the worke ỹ he shulde make for King Salomon for the house of God, 12 To wit, two pillers, & the bowles & the chapiters on the toppe of the two pillers, and two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapiters ẅ were vpon the toppe of the pillers:
13 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euerie grate to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, that were vpon the pillers.
14 He made also bases, and made caldrons vpon the bases:
15 And a Sea, and twelue bulles vnder it:
16 Pottes also and besomes and fleshookes, and all these vessels made Huram [g] his father, to King Salomon for the house of the Lord of shining brasse.
17 In the plaine of Iorden did the King cast them in claye betwene Succoth and Zeredathah.
18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse colde not be rekened.
19 And Salomon made all the vessels ỹ were for the house of God: the golden altar also & the tables, whereon the [h] shewbread stode.
20 Moreouer the candlestickes, with their lampes to burne them after the maner, before ỹ oracle, of pure golde.
21 And the floures and the lampes, and the snoffers of golde, which was fine golde.
22 And the [i] hookes and the basens, and the spones, and the ashepans of pure golde: the entrie also of ỹ house & dores thereof within, euen of the moste holy place: and the dores of the house, to wit, of the Temple were [i] of golde.

g Whome Salomon reuerenced for the giftes ỹ God had giue him, as a father: he had the same name also that Huram ỹ King of Tyrus had, his mother was a Iewesh &, his father a Tyrian. Some read for his father, the autor of this worke.

CHAP. V.

1 The things dedicated by Dauid, are put in the Temple. 2 The Arke is brought into the Temple. 10 What was within it. 11 They sing praise to the Lord.

1 SO * was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lord, and Salomon brought in ỹ things ỹ Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the golde, and all the vessels, & put them among the treasures of the house of God.
2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heades of ỹ tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.
3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the King at the [b] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, & the Leuites toke vp the Arke.
5 And thei caryed vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregacion: and all the holy vessels that were in ý Tabernacle, those did the Preists & Leuites bring vp.
6 And King Salomon and all the Congregaciõ of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke offring shepe & bullokes, which colde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.
7 So the Priests broght the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the moste Holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.
8 For ý Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered ý Arke and the barres thereof aboue.
9 And they drewe out the barres, that the ends of ý barres might be sene out of the Arke before ý Oracle, but they were not sene [a] without: and there they are vnto this day.
10 Nothing was in the Arke, saue [d] the two Tables, which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.
11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuaire (for all the Priests that were present, were [e] sanctified and did not waite by course.

13 And thei were [f] as one, blowing trũpets, and singing, and made one sounde to be heard in praising and thanking ý Lord, and when they lift vp their voyce with trũpets and with cymbales, and with instruments of musike, and when they praised the Lord singing, [g] For he is good, because his mercie lasteth for euer) then the house, euen the house of the Lord was filled with a cloude, 14 So that the Priests colde not stand to ministre, because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had filled the house of God.

Salomon blesseth the people. 4 He praiseth the Lord. 14 He praieth vnto God for those that shal pray in the Temple.

1 THen * Salomon [a] said, The Lord hathe said that he wolde dwel in ý darke cloude.
2 And I haue buylt thee an house to dwel in, an habitacion for thee to dwel in for euer.
3 And ý King turned his face, & blessed all the Congregacion of Israel (for all the Congregacion of Israel stoode there.)
4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouthe vnto Dauid my father, & hathe with his [b] hand fulfilled it, saying,
5 Since the day that I broght my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all ý tribes of Israel to buylde an [c] house, that my Name might be there, nether chose I anie man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:
6 But I haue chosen Ierusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.
7 * And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to buylde an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel,
8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, Where as it was in thine heart to buylde an house vnto my Name, thou didest wel, that " thou wast so minded.
9 Notwithstãding thou shalt not buylde the house, but thy sonne which shal come out of thy loynes, he shal buylde an house vnto my Name.
10 And the Lord hathe performed his worde that he spake: and I am risen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, and am set on ý throne of Israel as the Lord promised, and haue buylt an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.
11 And I haue set the Arke there, where in is the [b] couenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.
12 ¶ And the King [c] stode before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all ý Congregacion of Israel, and stretched out his hands,
13 (For Salomon had made a brasen skaffolde & set it in the middes of the courte of fiue cubites long, & fiue cubites broade, and thre cubites of height, and vpon it he stode, and kneled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregacion of Israel, & [d] stretched out his hands towarde heauen.)
14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, * there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which kepest couenant, and mercie vnto thy seruants, ý walke before thee with all their heart.
15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouthe, & hast fulfilled it with thine [e] hand, as appeareth this day.

CHAP. VII.

1 The fyre consumeth the sacrifice. 2 The glorie of the Lord filleth the Temple. 12 He heareth his prayer, 17 And promiseth to exalt him and his throne.

1 AND *when Salomō had made an end of praying, [a] fyre came downe from heauen and consumed the burnt offring & the sacrifices: and the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

2 So that the Priests colde not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord had filled the Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel sawe the fyre and the glorie of ỹ Lord come downe vpon the house, they bowed them selues with their faces to the earth vpon the pauement, and worshiped and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good, because his mercie lasteth for euer.

4 *Then the King and all the people offred sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And King Salomon offred a sacrifice of two and twētie thousand bullockes, and an hundreth and twētie thousand shepe. so the King and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, & the Leuites ẅ the instruments of musike of the Lord, ẅ King Dauid had made to praise ỹ Lord, Because his mercy lasteth for euer: when Dauid praised God [o] by them, the Priests also blewe trumpets ouer against them: and all they of Israel stode by.

7 Moreouer Salomō halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offrings, and the fat of the peace offrings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue the burnt offring, and the meat offring, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made [b] a feast at that time of seuē dayes, & all Israel with him, a very great Congregacion, from the entring in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they [c] made a solēne assemble: for they had made the dedicacion of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

10 And the [d] thre and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, he sent the people away into their tents, ioyous & with glad heart, because of the godnes that the Lord had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of thē Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord * appeared to Salomon by night and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I commande the grashopper to deuore the land, or if I send pestilence among my people, 14 If my people, amōg whome my Name is called vpon, do humble thē selues, & praye, and seke my presence, and turne fro their wicked wayes, then wil I heare in heauē, and be merciful to their sinne, and wil [e] heale their land.

15 Then mine eyes shalbe open and mine eares attent vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to do according vnto all that I haue comanded thee, and shalt obserue my statuts & my iudgements, 18 Then wil I stablish the throne of thy kingdome according as I made ỹ couenant ẅ Dauid thy father, saying, *Thou shalt not want a mā to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my cōmandements ẅ I haue set before you, and shal go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then wil I plucke them vp out of my land, which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue [f] sanctified for my Name, wil I cast out of my sight, and wil make it to be a prouerbe and a cōmun talke among all people.

21 And this house which is moste hie, shal be an astonishment to euerie one that passeth by it so that he shal say, Why hathe the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

2 Then Salomon buylt the cities that Huram [b] gaue to Salomon, and caused the children of Israél to dwel there.
3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and ouercame it.
4 And he buylt Tadmor in the wilderness, & repaired all [c] the cities of store which he buylt in Hamath.
5 And he buylt [d] Beth-horon the vpper, & Beth-horon ẏ nether, cities defensed with walles, gates and barres:
6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charet cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and euerie pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to buylde in Ierusalem, & in [e] Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion, 9 But of the childrē of Israél did Salomón make no seruants for his worke: fos they were mē of warre, and his chief princes, & the captaines of his charets & of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chief of the officers which Salomon had, euen [f] two hundreth and fiftie that bare rule ouer the people.
11 ¶ Thē Salomō broght vp the daughter of Pharaoh out of the citie of Dauid, into the house that he had buylt for her: for he said, My wife shal not dwel in the house of Dauid King of Israél: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.
12 ¶ Thē Salomon offred burnt offrings vnto the Lord, on the * altar of the Lord, which he had buylt before the porche, 13 To * offer according to the commandement of Moses [g] euerie day, in the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones, and in the solemne feastes, [g] thre times in the yere, that is, in the feast of ẏ Vnleauened bread, and in the feast of the Wekes, and in the feast of the Tabernacles.
14 And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to ẏ ordre of Dauid his father, & the Leuites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests euerie day, & the porters by * their courses, at euerie gate: for so was the commandement of Dauid the man of God.
15 And they declined not from the commandement of the King, concerning the Priests & the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.
16 ¶ Now Salomon had made prouision for all the [h] worke, from the day of the fundaciō of the house of the Lord, vntil it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfite.
17 Then went Salomon to Ezion géber, & to Eloth by ẏ [i] seaside in ẏ land of Edom.
18 And Huram sent him by the hands of his seruants, shippes, and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with ẏ seruants of Salomon to Ophir, & broght thence [k] four hundreth and fiftie talents of golde, and broght them to King Salomon.

1 THen * Rehoboam [a] went to Shechem: for to Shechem came all Israel to to make him King.

* 1. King 12. 1.

[a] After the death of Salomon.

2 And when Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whether he had fled frō the presence of Salomō the King) he returned out of Egypt

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying.

4 Thy father [b] made our yoke grieuous: now therefore make ý grieuous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we wil serue thee.

[b] That is, handeled vs rudely. It semeth that God hardened their hearres, so that they thus murmured without cause: which declareth also the inconstancie of the people.

5 And he said to them, Departe yet thre dayes, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboam toke coũsel with the olde men that had stand before Salomon his father, while ye yet liued. saying, What counsel giue ye that I may answer this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them and speke louing wordes to them, they wil be thy seruants for euer.

8 But he left the counsel of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and toke counsel of the yong mẽ that were broght vp with him, and [c] waited on him.

c Or, that stode by him, that is, which were of his counsel and secretes.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsel giue ye, that we may answer this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were broght vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauy, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My [d] least parte shal be bigger then my fathers loynes.

d Or, litle finger: meaning that he was of farre greater power then was his father:

11 Now where as my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I wil yet increase your yoke: my father hathe chastised you with roddes, but I wil correct you with [h] scourges.

h Or, scorpions.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the King had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the King answered them sharpely and King Rehoboam left the counsel of the ancient men, 14 And spake to them after the counsel of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I wil increase it: my father chastised you with roddes, but I wil correct you with scourges.

15 So the King hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the [e] ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken [*] by Ahiiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

17 Howbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the childrẽ of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadorám that was [] ouer the tribute, & the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he dyed: thẽ King Rehoboam [] made spede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

1 AND [*] when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, he gathered of the house of Iudah and [a] Beniamin nine score thousand chosen mẽ of warre to fight against [b] Israel, & to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam.

a That is, the halfe tribe of Beniamin: for the other halfe was gone after Ieroboam.

b Meaning the ten tribes which rebelled.

2 But the worde of the Lord came to hemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboam, the sonne of Salomõ King of Iudah, and to all Israel, that are in Iudah, and Beniamin, saying.

4 Thus sayth the Lord, Ye shal not go vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euerie man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeied therefore the worde of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalẽ, and [c] buylt strong cities in Iudah.

c Or, repaired them & made them strong, to be more able to resist Ieroboam.

6 He buylt also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, & Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Maresha, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah,

11 And he [*] repaired the strõg holdes and put captaines in them, and store of vitaile, and oyle and wine.

[*] Or, strengthened.

12 And in all cities he put shields & speares, & made them exceding strong: so Iudah and Beniamin were his.

13 ¶ And the Priests and the Leuites that were in all Israel, [*] resorted vnto him out of all their coastes.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbes and their possession, and came to Iudah and to Ierusalem: [*] for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priests office vnto the Lord.

e Which were zealous of true religion, & feared God.

17 So

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudáh, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mightie, thre yere long: for thre yere they [f] walked in the way of Dauid & Salomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam toke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, & Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes Ieush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her he toke Maakah ỹ daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiiah, and Atthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboā loued Maakah ỹ daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues & his concubines: for he toke eightene wiues, & thre score concubines, and begate eight and twentie sonnes, & threscore daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made [g] Abiiah the sonne of Maakah the cheef ruler among his brethren: for he thoght to make him King.

23 And he taughthim: hand dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the coūtreis of Iudah and Beniamin vnto euerie strong citie and he gaue them abundance of vitaile, and [h] desired many wiues.

1 AND when [a] Rehoboam had established the kingdome & made it strōg, he forsoke the Lawe of the Lord, and [a] all Israel with him.

2 Therefore in the fift yere of King Rehoboam, Shishak the King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord).

3 With twelue hundreth charets, and threscore thousand horsmen, & the people were without nōber, that came with him frō Egypt, euen the Lebims, [b] Sukkiims, & the [n] Ethiopians.

4 And he toke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, [c] therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled thē selues, and said, The Lord is [d] iuste.

7 And when the Lord sawe that they humbled them selues, the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue hūbled them selues, therefore I wil not destroye them, but I wil send them deliuerance shortely, & my wrath shal not "be powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.

8 Neuertheles they shalbe his seruants: so shal thei know my [e] seruice, & the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

9 ¶ Then Shishak King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, and toke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house: he toke euē all, and he caryed away the shields of golde, which Salomon had made.

10 In stead whereof King Rehoboam made shields of brasse, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the garde, that waited at the dore of the Kings house.

11 And when the King entred into the house of the Lord, the garde came and bare them and broght them againe vnto the garde chamber.

12 And because he [f] humbled him selfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he wolde not destroye all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered

13 So King Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one & fourtie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & reigned [g] seuentene yeres in Ierusalem, the citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. And his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonitesse.

14 And he did euil: for he prepared not his heart to seke the Lord.

15 The actes also of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not writen in the "boke of Shemaiah the Prophet, and Iddo ỹ Seer, in rehearsing the genealogie? & there was warre alway betwene Rehoboam & Ieroboam.

16 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buryed in the citie of Dauid, and Abiiah his "sonne reigned in his stead.

And Abiiah set the battel in aray with the armie of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundreth thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battel in aray against him with eight hũdreth thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.

And Abiiah stode vp vpõ mount [d] Zemeraim, which is in mout Ephraim, and said, O Ieroboam, & all Israel, heare you me, Ought you not to knowe that the Lord God of Israel hathe giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to [e] Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant [f] of salt?

And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hathe *rebelled against his lord.

And there are gathered to him [g] vaine men & [*] wicked, and made them selues strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was [h] but a childe and [h*] tender hearted, & colde not resist them.

Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist against the kingdome of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, & the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

*Haue ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you Priests like the people of other countreis? whosoeuer commeth to [*] consecrate with a [i] yong bullocke and seuen rams, the same may be a Priest of them that are no gods.

But we belong vnto the Lord our God, & haue not forsaken him, & the Priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

And they burne vnto the Lord euerie [k] morning and euerie euening burnt offrings and swete incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, & the candlesticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euerie euening: for we kepe the watche of the Lord our God: but ye haue for saken him,

And beholde, this God [l] is with vs, as a captaine, & his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to crye an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shal not prosper.

¶ But Ieroboam caused an ambushment [m] to compasse, & come behinde them, when thei were before Iudah, and the ambushement behinde them,

Then Iudah loked, and beholde, the battel was before and behinde thẽ, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and ý Priests blewe with the trumpets,

And the men of Iudah gaue a shoute: & euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God [n] smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abiiah and Iudah.

And the children of Israel fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

And Abiiah and his people slewe a great slaughter of them, so that there fel downe wounded of Israel fiue hundreth thousand chosen men.

So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, [o] because they staied vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

And Abiiah pursued after Ieroboam, & toke cities from him, euen Bethel, and the, [p] villages thereof, and Iesnanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

And Ieroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abiiah, but ý Lord plaged him, and he dyed.

So Abiiah waxed mightie, and maried fourtene wiues, and begate two and twentie sonnes, and sixtene daughters.

The rest of the actes of Abiiah and his maners and his sayings are writen in the storie of the Prophet Iddo.

And he toke away out of all the cities of Iudah the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was [b] quiet before him.

He buylt also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his coūtrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 Thei sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

1 THen the Spirit of God came vpon [a] Azariáh the sonne of Oded.

2 And he went out to mete Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Iudah, and Bēiamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seke him, he wil be founde of you, but if ye forsake him, he wil forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hathe bene without the [b] true God, & without Priest to teache and without Lawe.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and soght him, he [c] was founde of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did go out and go in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of naciō, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strōg therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your [d] worke shal haue a rewarde.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these wordes, and the prophetie of Oded the Prophet, he was encouraged, and toke away the abominacions out of all the land of Iudah, & Beniamin, and out of the cities which he had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renued the altar of the Lord, that was before the porche of the Lord.

9 And he gathered all Iudah & Beniamin, & the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh & out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they sawe that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the [e] third moneth, in the fiftenth yere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offred vnto the Lord the same time of the [f] spoyle, which thei had broght, euen seuen hundreth bullockes, and seuen thousand shepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And [g] whosoeuer wil not seke the Lord God of Israel, shal be slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loude voyce, and with shouting and with trumpers, and with cornets.

15 And all Iudah reioyced at the othe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and soght him with a whole desire, and he was [h] founde of them. And the Lord gaue them rest rounde about.

16 ¶ And King Asa deposed Maachah his [i] mother from her regencie, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa brake downe her idole, & stamped it, and burnt it at the broke Kidron.

17 But the hie places were not [k] take away out of [l] Israel: yet the heart of Asa was [m] perfite all his dayes.

3 There is a couenit betwene me & thee, and betwene my father and thy father: beholde, I haue sent thee siluer and golde: come, c breake thy league with Baasha King of Israel that he may departe from me.
4 And Benhadad harkened vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which he had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and the store cities of Naphtali.
5 And when Baasha heard it, he left buylding of Ramah, and let his worke cease.
6 Then Asa the King toke all Iudah, and caryed away the stones of Ramah and the tymbre thereof, wherewith Baasha did buyld, and he buylt therewith Geba and Mizpah.

Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He aboliseth idolatrie. 7 And causeth the people to be taught. 11 He receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions and men of warre.

1 AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.
2 And he put garisons in all the strōg cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.
3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the a first waies of his father Dauid, and soght not b Baalim, 4 But soght the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the "trade of Israel.
5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdome in his hand, and all Iudah broght presents to Iehoshaphat, so that he had of riches and honour in abundāce.
6 And he c lift vp his heart vnto the waies of the Lord, and he toke away moreouer the hie places & the groues out of Iudah.
7 ¶ And in the third yere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, & Zechariah, and Nethaneel, and Michaiah, that they shulde d teache in the cities of Iudah.
8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, & Shemiramoth, and Iehonathan, and Adoniiah, and Tobiiah, and Tob-adoniiah, Leuites, and with them Elishama and Iehoram Priests.
9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the boke of the Lawe of the Lord with thē, & wēt about throughout al the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.
10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands ý were rounde about Iudah, and they e soght not against Iehoshaphat.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Iehoshaphat maketh affinitie with Ahab. 10 Foure hundreth Prophetes counsel Ahab to go to warre. 16 Michaiah is against thē. 23 Zidkiah smiteth him. 25 The King putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of his prophecie.

1 AND *Iehoshaphat had riches & honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in [a]affinitie with Ahab.
2 And after certaine [b]yeres he wēt downe to Ahab to Samaria: & Ahab slewe shepe and oxen for him in great nomber, & for the people that he had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto [c]Ramoth Gilead.
3 And Ahab King of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat King of Iudah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, & my people as thy people, & we wil ioyne [w] thee in ý warre.
4 And Iehoshaphat said vnto the King of Israel, Aske coūsel, I pray thee, at the [d]worde of the Lord this day.
5 Therefore the King of Israel gathered of [e]Prophetes foure hundreth men, and said vnto them, Shal we go to Ramoth Gilead to battel, or shal I cease? And they said, Go vp: for God shal deliuer it into the Kings hand.
6 But Iehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord ý we might inquire of him?
7 And ý King of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whome we may aske counsel of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto me, but alway euil: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Iehoshaphat said, Let not the King say so.
8 And the King of Israel called an eunuche, and said, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.
9 ¶ And the King of Israel, and Iehoshaphat King of Iudah sate ether of them on his throne clothed in their [h]apparel: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: & all the Prophetes prophecied before thē.
10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [i]hornes of yron, & said, Thus saith ý Lord, With these shalt thou push ý Aramites vntil thou hast cōsumed thē.
11 And all the Prophetes prophecied so, saying, Go vp to Ramoth Gilead, & prosper: for the Lord shal deliuer it into the hand of the King.
12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophetes declare good to ý King with one [k]accorde: let thy worde therfore, I pray thee, be lyke one of theirs, and speake thou good.
13 And Michaiah said, As the Lord liueth, what soeuer my God saith, ý wil I speake.
14 ¶ So he came to the King, and the King said vnto him, Michaiah, shal we go to Ramoth Gilead to battel, or shal I leaue of? And he said, [l]Go ye vp, and prosper, and they shal be deliuered into your hand.
15 And the King said to him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the trueth in the Name of the Lord?
16 Then he said, I sawe all Israel scatered in the mountaines, as shepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord said, [m] These haue no master: let them returne euerie man to his house in peace.
17 And the King of Israel said to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tel thee, that he wolde not prophecie good vnto me, but euil?
18 Againe he said, Therefore heare ye the [n]worde of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the [n]hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.
19 And the Lord said, Who shal [o]persuade Ahab King of Israel, that he may go vp and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.
20 Then there came forthe a spirit, and stode before the Lord, and said, I wil persuade him. And the Lord said vnto him, [w] herein?
21 And he said, I wil go out, and be a false spirit in the mouthe of all his Prophetes. And [o]he said, Thou shalt persuade, and shalt also preuaile: go forthe and do so.

27 And Michaiah said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hathe not spoken by me. And he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israel and Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the King of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, I wil [s] change my selfe, and entre into the battel: but put thou on thine apparel. So the King of Israel changed him selfe, and they went into the battel.

30 And the King of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against ỹ King of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets sawe Iehoshaphat, they said, It is the King of Israel: and they cōpassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphat, [t] cryed, & ỹ Lord helped him & moued them to depart from him.

CHAP. XIX.

1 After Iehoshaphat was rebuked by the Prophet, he called againe the people to the honoring of the Lord. 5 He appointeth iudges and ministers, 9 And exhorteth thē to feare God.

1 AND Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah returned "safe to his house in Ieruſalem.

2 And Iehu ỹ sonne of Hanani the Seer went out to mete him, and said to King Iehoshaphat, [a] Woldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lord? therefore for this thing ỹ wrath "of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuertheles good things are founde in thee, because thou hast takē away the groues out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seke God.

4 ¶ So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ieruſalem, & returned and went [b] through the people frō Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them againe vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he set iugdes in the land throughout all the strong cities of Iudah, citie by citie.

6 And said to the Iudges, Take hede what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgements of man, but of the Lord, & he wilbe [c] with you in the cause and iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of ỹ Lord be vpon you: take hede, & do it: for there is no [d] iniquitie with the Lord our God, nether *respect of persones, nor receiuing of reward.

8 Moreouer in Ieruſalem did Iehoshaphat set of the Leuites, and of the Priests and of the chief of the families of Israel, for the iudgement and cause of the Lord: and they [e] returned to Ieruſalem.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shal ye do in the feare of the Lord faithfully and with a perfit heart.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set him selfe [c] to seke the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Iudah.

4 And Iudah gathered them selues together to aske counsel of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Iuduh to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stode in the Congregacion of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before ỹ new court,

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauē? and reigneſt not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hād is power and might, & none is able to withstād thee.

7 Dideſt not thou our God caſt out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and [d] gaueſt it to the sede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue buylt thee a Sanctuarie therein for thy Name, saying,

9 * If euil come vpon vs, as the [e] sworde of iudgement, or peſtilence, or famine, we wil stād before this house and in thy presence (for thy Name is in this house) & wil crye vnto thee in our tribulacion, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now beholde, the children of *Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whome thou woldeſt not let Israel go, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from thē, and destroyed them not:

11 Beholde, I say, they rewarde vs, in cōming to caſt vs out of thine inheritance, which thou haſt caused vs to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge thē? for there is no strēgth in vs to stand before this great multitude that cōmeth against vs, nether do we know what to do: but our eyes [g] are towarde thee.

13 And all Iudah stode [h] before ỹ Lord with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

14 And Iahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiah, the sonne of Ieiel, the sonne of Mattaniah a Leuite of the sonnes of Asaph was there, vpon whome came [i] the Spirit of the Lord, in the middes of the Congregacion.

15 And he said, Hearken ye, all Iudah, & ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lord vnto you, Feare you not, nether be afraied for this great multitude: for the [k] battel is not yours, but Gods.

16 Tomorowe go ye downe against them: beholde, they come vp by the cleft of Ziz, and ye shal finde them at the end of the broke before the wildernes of Ieruel.

17 Ye shal not nede to fight in this battel: * stād stil, moue not, and beholde the [l] saluacion of the Lord towarde you: ô Iudah, and Ierusalē, feare ye not, nether be afraied: tomorowe go out against thē, and the Lord wilbe with you.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat [l] bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah & the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell downe before the Lord, worshiping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Corhites stode vp to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loude voice on hie.

20 And when they arose early in ỹ morning, they went forthe to the wildernes of Tekoa: & as they departed, Iehoshaphat stode and said, Heare ye me, ô Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your truſt in the Lord your God, and ye shalbe assured: beleue his [m] Prophetes, and ye shal prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lord, & them that shulde praise him that is in the beautiful Sanctuarie, in going forthe before ỹ men of armes, & saying, [n] Praise ye the Lord, for his mercie laſteth for euer, 22 And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord laied ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and [o] mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slewe one another.

23 For ỹ children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slea & to destroye them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, euerie one helped to [p] destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernes, they loked vnto the multitude: and beholde, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoyle of them, they found among them in abundance bothe of substance & also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they toke for them selues, til they colde cary nomore they were thre dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was muche.

26 And in the fourth day they [q] assembled them selues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The vallei of Berachah vnto this day.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, & Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, & Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat King of [a] Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great giftes of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

4 *And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdome of his father, and made him selfe strong, & [b] slewe all his brethren with the sworde, and also of the princes of [c] Israel.

5 Iehoram was two and thirtie yere olde, whē he began to reigne, and he reigned eight yere in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the waye of the Kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for he had the daughter of Ahab to [d] wife, and he wroght euil in the eies of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 3 Iehu King of Israel killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the Kings linage. 11 Ioash escapeth.

AND * the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne King in his stead: for the armie ỹ came a with the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram King of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and b fourty yere olde was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, & he reigned c one yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah ỹ daughter d of Omri.

3 He walked also in the waies of the house of Ahab: for his mother counseled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euil in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his c counselers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab King of Israel to fight against Hazael King of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Izreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when he soght with Hazael King of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehorã King of Iudah went downe to se Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah: f came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forthe with Iehoram against Iehu ỹ sonne of Nimshi, * whome the Lord had anointed to destroye the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpõ the house of Ahab, and founde the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slewe them also.

9 And he soght Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, & brought him to Iehu, and slewe him, and buryed him because, sayd they, he is ỹ sonne of g Iehoshap'at, which soght the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to reteine the kingdome.

10 ¶ * Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and h destroyed all the Kings sede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the King, toke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stale him from among the Kings sonnes, that shulde be slaine, and put him and his nurce in the bed chamber so Iehoshabeath the daughter of King Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada ỹ Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slewe him not.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stād (euerie man with his weapon in his hād) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by ỹ altar and by the [f] house rounde about the King.

11 Then they broght out the Kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne and gaue him the [g] testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue ỹ King.

12 ¶ But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the King she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when [h] she loked, behold, the King stode by his piller at ỹ entring in, & the princes & the trumpets [i] by the King, & all the people of the land reioyced, and blewe the trūpets, and the singers were with instruments of musike, and they that colde sing praise: then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, [k] Treason, treason.

14 Then Iehoiada the Priest broght out the captaines of hundreths that were gouerners of the hoste, and said vnto them, Haue her forthe of the ranges, & he that [l] followeth her, let him dye by the sworde: for the Priest had said, slea her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they layed hands on her: and when she was come to the entring of the horsegate by the Kings house they slewe her there.

4 Ioash repaireth ỹ house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie. 21 He stoneth to death Zechariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruāts. 27 After him reigneth Amazias.

1 IOash * was seuen yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Ioash did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, all the dayes of [a] Iehoiada the Priest.

3 And Iehoiada [p] toke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 ¶ And afterward it came into Ioash minde, to renue the house of the Lord.

5 And he assembled the Priestes and the Leuites, & said to them, Go out vnto the cities of Iudah, and gather of all [b] Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yere to yere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the King called Iehoiada, the [c] chief, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of ỹ Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalē * the taxe of Moses the seruant of ỹ Lord: and of the Congregacion of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the testimonie?

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Iudah ād Ierusalē, because of this their trespas.

19 And God sent Prophetes among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and they [k] made protestatiō among thē, but they wolde not heare.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at the [m] cōmandement of the King, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the King remembred not the kindenes which Iehoiada his father had done to him, but slewe his sonne. And when he dyed, he said, The Lord [n] loke vpon it, & require it.

23 ¶ And when the yere was out, the hoste of Aram came vp against him, and they came against Iudah and Ierusalem, & destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoile of them vnto the King of Damascus.

24 Thogh the armie of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lord deliuered a very great armie into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers: and they [o] gaue sentence against Ioash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruants conspired against him for the blood of the [p] children of Iehoiada the Priest, and slewe him on his bed, and he dyed, and they buryed him in the citie of Dauid: but they buryed him not in ỹ sepulchres of ỹ Kings.

8 If f nor go thou on, do it, Make thy selfe strong to the battel, but God shal make thee fall before ẏ enemie: for God hathe power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, Ẅ hat shal we do then for the hundreth talents, ẅ I haue giuē to the hoste of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to g giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great angre.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forthe his people, & went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of h Seir, ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caryed them to the toppe of a i rocke, and cast them downe from the toppe of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the k armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they shulde not go with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote thre thousand of them, and toke muche spoyle.

14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, he broght the gods of the childrē of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and l worshiped them, and burned incēse vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou soght the gods of the people, which were not able to m deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

3 *Sixtene yere olde was Vzziah, when he began to reigne, and he reigned two and fiftie yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iecoliah of Ierusalem.

4 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And he soght God in the dayes of c Zechariah (which vnderstode the visions of God) and when as d he soght the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forthe and foght against the Philistims and brake doẅne ỹ wall of Gath, and the wal of Iabneh, and the wal of Ashdod, and buylt cities in Ashdod, and among the Philistims.

7 And God helped him against ỹ Philistims, and against the Arabians that dẅelt in Gur-baal and Hammeunim.

8 And the Amonites gaue e giftes to Vzziah, and his name spred to the entring in of Egypt: for he did moste valiantly.

9 Moreouer Vzziah built towres in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, & at the *f turning, and made them strong.

10 And he buylt towres in the wildernes, and digged many "cisternes: for he had muche cattel bothe in the valleis and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in g Carmel: for he loued housbandrie.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to warre by bandes, according to the counte of their nomber vnder the hand of Ieiel the scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, & vnder ỹ hand of Hananiah one of ỹ Kings captaines.

12 The whole h nomber of the chief of the families of the valiãt men were two thousand and six hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, thre hundreth and seuẽ thousand, and fiue hũdreth ỹ foght valiãtly to helpe the King against the enemie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also verie "artificial engins in Ierusalem, to be vpon the towres and vpon the corners, to shote arowes and great stones: and his name spred far re abroade, because God did helpe him meruelously, til he was mightie.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart i was lift vp to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, & went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him foure score Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstode Vzziah ỹ King, & said vnto him, *It perteineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: k go forthe of the Sanctuarie: for thou hast trãsgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: & while he was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah the chief Priest with all the Priests loked vpõ him, beholde, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastely to departe thence: and he was euen compelled to go out, because the Lord had smitẽ him.

21 *And Vzziah the King was a lepre vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a lepre in an l house aparte, because he was cut of from the house of the Lord: & Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the Kings house, and iudged the people of ỹ land.

22 Concerning the rest of the actes of Vzziah, first and last, did Isaiah ỹ Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

23 So Vzziah slept with his fathers, and they burved him with his fathers in the field of the buryal, which perteined to the Kings: for they said, He m is a lepre. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

8 And the children of Israel toke prisoners of their brethren, d two hundreth thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and caryed away muche spoile of them, and broght ỹ spoile to Samaria.

d Thus by ỹ iuste iudgemēt of God Israel destroyed Iudah.

9 But there was a Prophet of ỹ Lords, (whose name was Oded) and he wēt out before the hoste that came to Samaria, & said vnto them, Beholde, e because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hathe deliuered them into your hand and ye haue slaine them in a rage, , that reacheth vp to heauen.

e For they thoght they had ouercome them by their owne valiātnes, & did not consider ỹ God had deliuered them into their hāds, because Iudah had offended him.

f May not God aswel punish you for your sinnes, as he hathe done these men for theirs, seing yours are greater?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captaines againe, which ye haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fearce wrath of the Lord is to ward you.

12 Wherefore certeine of the chief of the children of g Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Iehizkiah the sonne of Shallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadlay, stode vp against them that came from the warre, 14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Iehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Iedithun, Shemaiah and Vzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethrē, and sanctified them selues & came according to the cōmandement of the King, and[s] by the wordes of the Lord, for to clense the house of the Lord.
16 And the Priests wēt into the inner partes of the house of the Lord, to [f] clense it, & broght out all the vnclēnes that they founde in the Temple of the Lord, into the courte of ỹ house of the Lord: and the Leuites toke it, to carie it out vnto the broke Kidron.

1. 13 The keping of the Passeouer by the Kings cōmandement. 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 18 He praieth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites blesse the people.

1 AND Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Iudah, and also wrote letters to [a] Ephraim and Manasseh, that thei shulde come to the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, to kepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

a Meaning all Israel whome Tilgath Pilneser hat not taken away into the captiuitie, 2. King. 15, 29.

2 And the King and his princes and all ỹ Congregacion had taken counsel in Ierusalem to kepe the Passeouer in the [b] seconde moneth.

b Thogh thei ought to haue done it in the first moneth, as Exod. 12. 18. nom 9, 2. yet if any were not cleane, or elis had a long iornei, thei might differ it vnto ỹ secounde moneth, as Nom. 9, 10.

3 For thei colde not kepe it at this time, because there were not Priests ynow sanctified, nether was the people gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregacion.

5 And they decreed to make proclamacion throughout all Israel from [c] Beersheba euen to Dan, that they shulde come to kepe the Passeouer vnto ỹ Lord God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, [d] as it was writen.

c From one end of the land to ỹ other, North and South.

d In suche sort and perfection, as God had appointed.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commissiō of the King, and his princes, throughout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commandement of the King, saying, Ye childrē of Israel, turne againe vnto ỹ Lord God of Abrahā, Izhak, and Israel, and [e] he wil returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the Kings of Ashur.

e He wil haue compassion on them, and preserue them.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as ye se.

8 Be not ye now stifnecked like your fathers, but [f] giue the hand to the Lord & come into his Sanctuarie, which he hag God wil not onely preserue you, but through your repentance restore your brethren, which for their sinnes he gaue into the handes of the enemies.

9 For if ye returne vnto ȳ Lord, your brethren and your children shal finde mercie before them that led thē captiues, and they shal[g] returne vnto this lād: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and wil not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

h Thogh the wicked mocke at the seruants of God, by whome he calleth thē to repentance, as Gen. 19,14, yet the worde ceaseth not to fructifie in the hearts of Gods elect.

10 ¶So the postes went from citie to citie through the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they [h] laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one [i] heart to do the commandement of the King, and of the rulers, according to the worde of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem muche people, to kepe the feast of ȳ vnleauened bread in the seconde moneth, a very great assemblie.

k which declareth that we must put away those things wherewith God is offended, before we can serue him aright.

14 ¶And they arose, & toke away ȳ [k] altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense toke they away, and cast thē into the broke Kidron.

l Seing their owne negligence (who shulde haue bene moste prompt) & the readines of the people, Chap. 29,36.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passeouer ȳ fourtenthe day of the seconde moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were [l] ashamed, and sanctified them selues, and broght the burnt offrings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stode in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the [m] blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

m To wit, of the lambe of the Passeoues.

17 Because there were manie in the Congregacion that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

n He knewe, ȳ faith and sincerite of heart was more agreable to God, then the obseruation of these ceremonies, & therefore he praied vnto God to pardon this faute vnto the people, which did not offend of malice but of ignorance.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, & Manasseh, Issachar & Zebulun had not clensed them selues, yet did eat the Passeouer, but not as it was writen: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The [n] good Lord be merciful toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, thogh he be not clensed, according to the purificacion of the Sanctuarie.

o That is, did accept thē as purified.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, & [o] healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Ierusalem, kept ȳ feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes w great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priests praised the Lord, day by day, singing with lowde instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah [p] spake comfortably vnto all ȳ Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: & they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, & offred peace offrings, & praised the Lord God of their fathers.

p Ebr. spake to the hears.

23 And the whole assemblie toke counsel to kepe it other seuen dayes. So thei kept it seuen dayes with ioye.

24 For Hezekiah King of Iudah had giuen to the Congregacion a [p] thousand bullockes, and seuen thousand shepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregacion a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand shepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

p This great liberalitie declareth how Kings, princes & all they, to whome God hathe giuen wherewith, ought to be moste reardy to bestowe it in setting forthe of Gods glorie.

25 And all the Congregacion of Iudah reoyced with the Priests and the Leuites, & all the Congregacion that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of ȳ land of Israel, & that dwelt in Iudah.

26 So there was great ioye in Ierusalē: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and [q] blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitacion.

q According to that which is writen Nō. 6,23, when thei shulde dimisse the people.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroye idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests & Leuites, 4 And prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euerie one his portion.

1 AND when all these things were finished, all Israel that were founde in ȳ cities of Iudah, went out & [a] brake the images, & cut downe the groues, & brake downe the hie places, and the altars through out all Iudah & Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntil they had made an end: afterward all the [b] children of Israel returned euerie mā to his possession, into their owne cities.

a According to the commandement of the Lord, Deut. 7, 25. Iosh. 7, 1. 2. mac. 12, 40.

b That is, all they which came to the passeouer.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Leuites by their turnes, euerie man according to his office, both Priests & Leuites, for the burnt offring & peace offrings, to minister & to giue thankes, and to praise in the gates of the [c] tents of the Lord.

c That is, in ȳ Temple where thei assembled as in a tent.

3 ¶ And the Kings porcion was of his owne substance for the burnt offrings, euen for the burnt offrings of the morning & of the euening, and the burnt offrings for the Sabbaths, and for the newe moones, & for the solemne feastes, * as it is writen in the Law of the Lord)

4 He commanded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue a [d] parte to the Priests, and Leuites, that they might be [e] encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

d The thithes & first frutes for ỹ maintenãce of ỹ Priests and Leuites.

e That their mindes might not be intangled with prouision of wordely things, but ỹ they might wholy & cherefully serue the Lord.

5 ¶ And when the commandement was [f] spred, the children of Israel broght abundance of first frutes, of corne, wine, & olye, & honie, & of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things broght they abundantly.

[f] Or, published.

6 And the childrẽ of Israel & Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, thei also broght the tithes of bullockes and shepe, and the holy tithes [g] ẅ were consecrate vnto ỹ Lord their God, & laid thẽ on [g] many heapes.

f Which they had dedicate to the Lord by a vowe.

g For the relief of the Priests, Leuites, widowes, pupilles, fatherlesse, strangers & suche as were in necessite.

7 In the third moneth they begã to laye the fundacion of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah & the princes came, and sawe the heapes, thei [h] blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

h Thei praised the Lord, and praied for all prosperitie to his people.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes

10 And Azariah ỹ chief Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, & said, since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lord, we haue [i] eaten & haue bene satisfied, & there is left in abundance: for the Lord hathe blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

i He sheweth that this plenteous liberalitie is expedient for ỹ maintenance of the ministers, and that God therefore prospereth his people, & increaseth by his blessing that which is giuen.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah cõmanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caryed in the first frutes, and the tithes, & the dedicate things faithfully: & ouer thẽ was Conaniah the Leuite, ỹ chief, and Shimei his brother the seconde.

13 And Iehiel, and Azaziah, & Nahath, & Asahel, & Ierimoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah were ouerseers "by the appointement of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, & by the cõmandement of Hezekiah ỹ King, and of Azariah the chief of the house of God.

"Ebr by the hand.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite porter toward the East, was ouer ỹ things ỹ were willingly offred vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, & the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, & Miniamin, & Iesshua, & Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in ỹ cities of ỹ Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, bothe to the great and small,

16 Their daily porciõ: beside their generacion being males [k] from thre yere olde and aboue, euen to all that entred into ỹ house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

k Who had also a portion & alowance in this distribution.

17 Bothe to the generacion of the Priests after the house of their fathers, & to ỹ Leuites from twentie yere olde & aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generaciõ of all their childrẽ, their wiues, & their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregacion: for by their [l] fidelitie are thei partakers of the holy things.

l Meaning, that ether by the faithful distributions of the officers, euerie one had their parte in the things that were offred, or ela that their wiues & children were relieued, becawse the Leuites were faithful in their office, and so depended on them.

19 Also to ỹ sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, which were in ỹ fields & sububes of their cities, in euerie citie the men that were appointed by names, shulde giue porcions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generacion of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throghout all Iudah, and did wel, and vprightly, & truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that he began for ỹ seruice of the house of God, bothe in the Law and in the commandements, to seke his God, he did it with all his heart, & prospered.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and "spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, nether be afraied for the King of Asshur, nether for all the multitude that is with him: for there be mo with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an [d] arme of flesh, but with vs is the[e] Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah King of Iudah.

9 * After this, did Sanneherib King of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was [f] against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Sanncherib the King of Asshur, Where in do ye trust, that ye wil remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue oner your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shal deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

12 Hathe not ‡ same Hezekiah taken awaie his hie places and his [g] altars and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shal worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreies? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is he of all the [h] gods of those nacios (that my fathers haue destroied) that colde deliuer his people out of mine hand? that your God shulde be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sorte, nether beleue ye him: for none of all ‡ gods of any nacion or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of [i] mine hand and out of ‡ hand of my fathers: how muche lesse shal your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruats spake yet more against the Lord God, & against his [k] seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nacios of other countreis colde not deliuer their people out of mine had, so shal not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they [l] cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speache vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare the and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the [m] workes of mans hands, 20 But Hezekiah the King, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz [n] praied against this and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroied all the valiant men, and the princes and [o] captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so he returned "with shame to his owne lande. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forthe of his [p] owne bowels, slewe him there with the sworde.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Sanneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and [q] maintained the on euerie side.

23 And many broght offrings vnto ‡ Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah King of Iudah, so that he was [q] magnified in the sight of all nacions fro thence forthe.

24 *In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and praied vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him [r] a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not rendre according to the rewarde bestowed vpon him: for his heart [s] was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the daies of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceding muche riches & honour, & he gate him treasures of siluer, & of golde, and of precious stones, & of swete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheat, and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beastes, and [u] rowes for the [t] stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of shepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceding muche.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of [t] Gihon, and led the streight vnderneth toward ‡ citie of Dauid Westward. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

33 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buryed him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death: and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasseh an idolater. 9 He causeth Iudah to erre. 11 He is led away prisoner into Babylon. 12 He praieth to the Lord, and is deliuered. 14 He abolisheth idolatrie. 16 And setteth vp true religion. 20 He dyeth and Amon his sonne succedeth. 24 Whome his owne seruants slay.

1 MAnasseh was twelue yere olde, * whē he began to reigne, and he reigned fiue and fiftie yere in Ierusalē:

2 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, like the abominacions of the heathen, * whome the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he went backe and buylt the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had broken downe: * and he set vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worshiped all the hoste of the heauen, and serued them.

4 Also he buylt altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had said, * In Ierusalem shal my Name be for euer.

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoste of the heaue in the two courtes of the house of the Lord.

6 [a] And he caused his sonnes to passe throgh ȳ fyre in the valley of Ben-hinnom: he gaue him selfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sorcerie, and he vsed them that had familiar spirits, and sothesayers: he did verie muche euil in the sight of the Lord to angre him.

7 He put also the karued image, which he had made, in the house of God: whereof God had said to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, * In this house & in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, wil I put my Name for euer,

8 Nether wil * I make the foote of Israel to remoue any more out of ȳ land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take hede, & do all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and statutes and iudgements by ȳ [b] hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, & to do worse then the heathen, whome ȳ Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake [c] to Manasseh & to his people, but they wolde not regarde.

11 Wherefore the Lord broght vpon thē the captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur, which toke Manasseh & put him in fetters, and bounde him in chaines, and caryed him to Babel.

12 And when he was in tribulacion, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled him selfe greatly before ȳ God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was [d] entrated of him, and heard his prayer, and broght him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: thē Manasseh knewe that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this he buylt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Westside of [e] Gihon in the valley, euē at the entrie of the fish gate, & compassed about Ophel, and raised it very hie, and put captaines of warre in all ȳ strong cities of Iudah.

15 And he toke away ȳ strange gods and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that he had buylt in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also he prepared the [g] altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offrings, and of thankes, and commanded Iudah to serue ȳ Lord God of Israel.

17 Neuertheles the people did sacrifice stil in the hie places, but vnto ȳ [h] Lord their God.

18 ¶ Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and his [i] prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that spake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, beholde, thei are writen in the boke of the Kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer and how God was intreated of him, and all his sinne, and his trespasse, and the places where in he buylt hie places, and set groues and images (before he was humbled) beholde, they are writen in the boke of [*] the Seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buryed him in his owne [k] house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

1 Iosiah destroyeth the idoles, 8 And restoreth the Temple. 14 The boke of the Lawe is founde. 21 He sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse for counsel. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a couenant with God.

2.King.22,1. 1 IOsiah * was eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yere,
2 And he did vprightly in the sight of ỹ Lord, and walked in the wayes of [a] Dauid his father, and bowed nether to the right hand nor to the left.
3 And in the eight yere of his reigne (when he was yet a [b] childe) he began to seke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the kerued images, and moltē images:
4 And they brake downe [c] in his sight ỹ altars of Baalim, and he caused to cut downe ỹ images that were on hie vpon them: he brake also the groues, & the kerued images, and the molten images, and stampt thē to pouldre, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.
5 Also he burnt the [d] bones of ỹ Priests vpō their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.
6 And in ỹ cities of Manasseh, & Ephraim, and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their maules they brake all rounde about.
7 And when he had [e] destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to pouldre the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.
8 ¶* Then in ỹ eightene yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and ỹ Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maaseah the gouernour of the citie, and Ioah ỹ sonne of Ioahaz ỹ recorder, to repare the house of ỹ Lord his God.
9 And when they came to Hilkiah ỹ hie Priest, they deliuered ỹ money that was broght into ỹ house of God, which the Leuites that kept the dore, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, & of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Beniamin, and [g] of the inhabitans of Ierusalem.
10 And they put it in the hands of them that shulde do the worke & had ỹ ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wroght in the house of the Lord, to repare & amēde the house.
11 Euen to the workemen & to ỹ buylders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone and timber for couples & for beames of the [f] houses, which the Kings of Iudah had destroyed.
12 And the men did the worke [g] faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forwarde: and of ỹ Leuites all that colde skil of instruments of musike.
13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdēs, and thē that set forwarde all ỹ workemen in euerie worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, & officers and porters.
14 ¶ And when they broght out the money that was broght into the house of ỹ Lord, Hilkiah the Priest founde the [h] boke of the Law of the Lord giuen by ỹ hand of Moses.
15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the chanceler, I haue founde the boke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the boke to Shaphan.
16 And Shaphan caryed ỹ boke to [i] the King, and broght the King worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.
17 For they haue gathered ỹ money that was foūde in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.
18 Also Shaphan the chanceler declared to the King, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hathe giuen me a boke. & Shaphan red it before the King.
19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Lawe, he [k] tare his clothes.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the King had appointed, went to Huldah the prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of [n] Tokhath, the sonne of [n] Hasrah keper of the [m] wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the [n] colledge) and they communed hereof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tel ye [o] the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are writen in the boke which they haue red before the King of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken me, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to angre me with all the workes of their [p] hands, therefore shal my wrath fall vpon this place, & shal not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of ỹ Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did [q] melt, and thou dideſt hũble thy self before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before me and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shal not se all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this [r] place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they broght the King worde againe.

29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the [s] smallest, and he red in their eares all the wordes of the boke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stode by his piller, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to kepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, & ỹ he wolde accomplish the wordes of the couenant writen in the same boke.

32 And he caused all that were founde in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: & the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah toke away all the abominacions out of all the countreis that perteined to the children of Israel, and cõpelled all [t] that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

Iosiah kepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth for the Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, & dyeth. 24 The people bewayle him.

1 MOreouer * Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, & they slewe the [a] Passeouer in the forten the day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and incouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord,

3 And he said vnto ỹ Leuites, that [b] taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto ỹ Lord, put the holy Arke in ỹ house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did buyld: it shal be no more a [c] burden vpon your shulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as * Dauid the King of Israel hathe writen, & according to the writing of Salomon his sonne.

5 And stand in the Sanctuarie according to the diuision of the families of your brethren [e] the childrẽ of the people, and after the diuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kil the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and [d] prepare your brethren that they may do according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the [f] people shepe, lãbes and kiddes, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the nomber of thirty thousand, & thre thousand bullockes: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests & to ỹ Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto ỹ Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousend and six hundreth shepe, & thre hũdreth bullockes.

and the Priests stode in their places, also the Leuites in their ordres according to the Kings commandement:

11 And thei slewe the Passeouer, & the Priests f sprinkled thee blood whith their hands, & the Leuites slayed them.

12 And they toke away from the g burnt offring to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is writen in the boke of Moses, & so of the bullockes.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer ẅ fyre, according to the custome, but ỹ sanctified things they sod in pottes, pānes, and caulderns, & distributed thē quickeli to all the people.

14 Afterwarde also they prepared for thē selues & for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offring of burnt offrings, & the fat vntil night: therefore the Leuites prepared for them selues, & for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stode in their standing * according to the cōmandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Ieduthun the Kings h Seer: and the porters at euerie gate, who might not departe from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to kepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpō the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiah:

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that, in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: nether did all the Kings of Israel kepe suche a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, & all Iudah, and Israel that were "present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

19 This Passeouer was kept in i the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ * After all this, whē Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho King of Egypt came vp to fight against k Carchemish by l Perath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, thou King of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house "of mine enemie, and God cōmanded me to make haste: leaue of to come against God, ẅ is with me, lest he destroye thee.

22 But Iosiah wolde not turne his face from him, but l changed his apparel to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the wordes of Necho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the shoters shot at King Iosiah: then the King said to his seruants, Cary me away, for I am very sicke.

24 So his seruants toke him out of that charet, & put him in the seconde charet which he had and whē they had broght him to Ierusalem, he dyed, and was buryed in ỹ sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem m mourned for Iosiah.

25 And Ieremiah lamented Iosiah and all singing men and singing women mourned for Iosiah in their lamentacions to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israel: and beholde, they be writen in the n lamentacions.

THE PRAYER OF MANASSEH King of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Ebrewe, but is tranſlated out of the Greke.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abram, Iſaac and Iacob, and of their righteous ſede, which haſt made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which haſt bound the ſea by the worde of thy commandement, & haſt ſhut vp the depe and ſealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whome all do feare & tremble before thy power: for the maieſte of thy glorie can not be borne, & thine angrie threatning toward ſinners is importable, but thy merciful promes is vnmeaſurable & vnſearcheable. For thou art the moſte high Lord, of great compaſsion, long ſuffring & moſte merciful, & repenteſt for mans miſeries. Thou, ô Lord according to thy great goodnes haſt promiſed [a] repentance & forgiuenes to them that ſinne againſt thee, & for thine infinite mercies haſt appointed repentance vnto ſinners that thei may be ſaued. Thou therefore, ô Lord, that art the God of the iuſte, haſt not appointed repentance to the iuſte, as to Abram, and Iſaac and Iacob, which haue haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the nomber of the sand of the sea. My transgresions, ô Lord are multiplied: my transgresions are exceding many: and I am not worthy to beholde & se the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yron bandes, that I can not lift vp mine head, nether haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee. I did not thy wil, nether kept I thy commandements. I haue set vp abominations & haue multiplied offenses. Now therefore I bowe the kne of mine heart beseching thee of grace. I haue sinned, ô Lord, I haue sinned, & I acknowledge my transgresions: but I humbly beseche thee, forgiue me: ô Lord, forgiue me, & destroye me not with my transgresiõs. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euil for me, nether condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent, and in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me ỹ am vnworthy, according to thy grert mercie: therefore I wil praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life. for all the power of the heauens praise thee, & thine is the glorie for euer & euer, Amen.

* He speaketh this in cõparison of him selfe & those holy fathers w haue their commendacion in the Scriptures, so ỹ in} respect of him selfe he calleth their sinnes no thing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnes.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer merciful vnto his Church, and doeth not punisse them but to the intent they shulde se their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the worlde and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes and kept them now in bondage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infideles and idolaters, he remembred his tendre mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and moued bothe the heart of the chief ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished suche, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding lest they shulde growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he kepeth them stil in exercise, and raiseth domestical enemies, which endeuour as muche as they can to hindre their moste worthie enterprises: yet by the exhortacion of the Prophetes they went forward by litle and litle til their worke was finished. The autor of this boke was Ezra, who was Priest, and scribe of the Law, as chap. 7, 6. He returned to Ierusalem the sixt yere of Darius, who succeded Cyrus, that is more then fourtie yeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, whē the Temple was buylt. He broght with him a great companie, and muche treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all suche things as shulde be necessarie for the temple: and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good ordre.

The buylding of the Temple is hindred: & how. 11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answer.

1 BVt [a] the aduersaries of Iudah and Beniamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie buylded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And thei came to Zerubbabel, & to the chief fathers, and said vnto them, We wil buylde with you, for we seke the Lord your God as ye do: & we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esar Haddon King of Asshur which broght vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Iesshua, and the rest of the chief fathers of Israel, said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to buyld the house vnto our God: [b] for we our selues together wil buyld it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hathe commanded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the lād [*] discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in buylding,

5 And they [c] hyred counselers against them, to hinder their deuice, all the daies of Cyrus King of Persia, euen vntil the reigne of Darius King of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of [d] Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote thei an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah and Ierusalem.

7 And in the dayes of [e] Artahshashte, Mithredath, Tabeel, & the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace vnto Artahshashte, King of Persia, & the writing, of the letter was the Aramites writing, & the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

1 Haggai & Zechariah do prophecie. 3 The worke of the Temple goeth forwarde contrary to the minde of Tatnai. 6 His lettres to Darius.

1 THen [n] * Haggai a Prophet & Zechariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophecied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudah, & Ierusalem, in the Name of the God of Israel, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, & Iesshua the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to buylde the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them were the Prophetes of God, which [a] helped them.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shether-boznai and their companions, & said thus vnto them, Who hathe giuen you commandement to buylde this house, and to lay the fundacions of these walles?

4 [b] Then said we vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the mē that buylde this buylding?

5 But the [c] eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they colde not cause them to cease, til the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters thereunto.

6 The copie of the lettre, that Tatnai captaine beyond ỹ Riuer, and Shether-boz-nai and his companions Apharsechaie, (which were beyonde the Riuer) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a lettre vnto him, wherein it was writen thus, VNTO DARIVS the King all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the King, that we went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is buylded with [o] great stones, and beames are layed in the walles, and this worke is wroght spedely, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hathe giuen you commandement to buyld this house, and to laye the fundacion of these walles?

10 We asked their names also that we might certifie thee, & that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But thei answered vs thus, & said, We are the seruants of the God of heauen & earth, & buyld the house that was buylt of olde & many yeres ago, which a [d] great King of Israel * buylded, & founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, * he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caryed the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the [e] first yere of Cyrus King of of Babel, King Cyrus made a decree to buyld this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde & siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar toke out of the Temple, that was in Ierusalem, and broght them into the Temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the King take out of the Temple of Babel, & they gaue thē vnto one [f] Sheshbazzar by his name, whome he had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, & put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be buylt in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar and layed the fundaciō of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euē vntil now, hathe it bene in buylding, yet is it not finished.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions come to Ierusalem. 27 He giueth thankes to God.

1 NOw after these things, in the reigne of [a] Artahshashte King of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiah,
2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Ahitub,
3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraioth, 4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Bukki,
5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, ỹ sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of [b] Aaron, the chief Priest.
6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a [c] scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God which was vpon him.
7 And there went vp certeine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalem, in the seuenth yere of King Artahshashte.
8 And he came to Ierusalem in the [d] fift moneth, which was in the seuenth yere [e] of the King.
9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to go vp from Babel, and on the first day of the fift moneth came he to Ierusalem, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.
10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seke the Law of the Lord, and to do it, & to teache the precepts & iudgements in Israel.
11 ¶And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahshashte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest & scribe, euen a writer of the wordes of the commandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.
12 ARTAHSHASHTE King of Kings to Ezra the Priest & perfite scribe of the Law of the God of heauen, and to [f] Cheeneth.

2 And the King ſaid vnto me, Why is thy countenance ſad, ſeing thou art not ſicke? this is nothing, but ſorowe of heart. Then was I ſore afrayed,

3 And I ſaid to the King, God ſaue the King for euer: why ſhulde not my countenance be ſad, when the citie & houſe of the ſepulchres of my fathers lieth waſte & the gates thereof are deuoured with fyre?

4 And the King ſaid vnto me, For what thing doeſt thou require? Then I praied [c] to the God of heauen, c I deſired God in mine heart to proſper mine entrepriſe.

5 And ſaid vnto the King, If it pleaſe ỹ King, and if thy ſeruant haue founde fauour in thy ſight, I deſire that thou woldeſt ſend me to Iudah vnto the citie of the ſepulchres of my fathers, that I may buylde it.

6 And the King ſaid vnto me, (the quene alſo ſitting by him) How lõg ſhal thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleaſed the King, and he ſent me, and I ſet him a time.

7 After I ſaid vnto the King, If it pleaſe the King, let them giue me letters to ỹ captaines beyonde the [n] Riuer, that they may conuaye me ouer, til I come into Iudah,

n Or, Euphrates.

8 And letters vnto Aſaph the keper of ỹ Kings [o] parke, that he may giue me timber to buylde the gates of the palace (which apperteined to the houſe) & for the walles of the citie, and for the houſe that I ſhal entre into. And the King gaue me according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.

o Or, paradiſe.

d As God moued me to aſke, & as he gaue me good ſucceſſe therein.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyõd the Riuer, & gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had ſent captaines of the armie and horſmen with me.

10 But [e] Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a ſeruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieued them ſore, that there was come a man which ſoght the wealth of the children of Iſrael.

e Theſe were great enemies to the Iewes & labored alwaies bothe by force & ſubtiltie to ouer come thẽ, & Tobiah, becauſe his wife was a Iewesſe, had aduertiſements euer of their affaires and ſo wroght them great trouble.

11 So I came to Ieruſalem, and was there thre dayes.

12 And I roſe in the night, I, and a few men with me: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ieruſalem, and there was not a beaſt with me, ſaue the beaſt whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before ỹ draggon wel, and to the dung porte, and veewed the walles of Ieruſalem, how they were broken downe, and ỹ portes thereof deuoured with the fyre.

14 Then I went forthe vnto the gate of the [f] fountaine, and to the Kings fiſh poole, & there was no roume for the beaſt that was vnder me to paſſe.

f Or, conduite

15 Then went I vp in the night by the broke & vewed the wall, and turned backe, and comming backe, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knewe not whether I was gone, nor what I did, nether did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Prieſts, nor to the noble men, nor to ỹ rulers, nor to the reſt that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I ſaid vnto them, Ye ſe the miſerie that we are in, how Ieruſalẽ lieth waſte, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs buylde the wall of Ieruſalem, that we be no more [f] a reproche.

f That is, contẽned of other natiõs, as though God had forſaken vs.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and alſo of the Kings wordes that he had ſpoken vnto me. And they ſaid, Let vs riſe, & buylde. So they [g] ſtrengthened their hand to good.

g They were incouraged & gaue them ſelues to do wel, & to trauel in this worthy enterpriſe.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah the ſeruant an Ammonite, and [h] Geſhem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and deſpiſed vs, and ſaid, What a thing is this that ye do? Wil ye [i] rebell againſt the King?

h Theſe were thre chief gouerners vnder the King of Perſia beyonde Euphrates.

i Thus ỹ wicked when they wil burthen the children of God, euer lay treaſon vnto their charge, bothe becauſe it maketh thẽ moſte odious to the worlde, & alſo ſtirreth the hatred of princes moſte againſt them.

20 Thẽ anſwered I them, and ſaid to thẽ, the God of heauen, he wil proſper vs, & we his ſeruants wil riſe vp and buylde: but as for you, ye haue no porcion nor right, nor [k] memorial in Ieruſalem.

k Nether ye are of the nõber of the children of God (to whome he hathe appointed this citie onely) nether did anie of your predeceſſours euer feare God.

CHAP. III.

The nomber of them that buylded the walles.

1 THen aroſe Eliaſhib the hie Prieſt with his brethren the Prieſts, & they buylt the ſhepegate: they [a] repared it, & ſet vp the dores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Meah repared they it, & vnto the towre of Hananeel.

a In Ebrewe, they ſanctified it, that is, they finiſhed it, and ſo dedicated it to the Lord by prayer, in deſiring him to maintein it.

2 And next vnto him buylded the men of Iericho, and beſide him Zaccur the ſonne of Imri.

3 But the fiſh porte did the ſonnes of Sonaah buylde, which alſo layed ỹ beames thereof, and ſet on the dores thereof, reof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Vriiah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Meshezabeel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them [b] put not their neckes to the worke of their lords.

[b] The riche & mightie wolde not obey them, which were appointed officers in this worke, nether wolde they helpe thereuto. Isa.22,11.

6 And the gate of the * olde fish poole fortified Iehoiada the sonne of Paseah, & Meshullam the sonne of Besodaiah: they layed the beames thereof, and set on the dores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, & Iadon the Meronothite, mē of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, vnto the [c] throne of the Duke, which was beyonde the Riuer.

[c] Vnto ſ place where the Duke was wonte to ſit in iudgement, who gouerned ſ countrey in their absence.

8 Next vnto him fortified Vzziel the sonne of Harhohiah [a] of the golde smithes: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne [e] of Harakkahim, and they repared Ieruſalem vnto the broad wall.

[a] Or, of Zorephim.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ieruſalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedaiah the sonne of Harumaph: euen ouer againſt his houſe: and next vnto him fortified Hattush, the sonne of Hashabniah.

11 Malchiiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the ſeconde [a] portion, & ſ towre of the fornaces.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum, the sonne of Hallohesh, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ieruſalem, he, & his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanum, & the inhabitants of Zanuah: they buylt it, and set on the dores thereof, ſ lockes thereof, & the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung porte.

14 But the dūg porte fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth parte of Beth-haccarem: he buylt it, & set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallun, the sonne of Col-hozeh, ſ ruler of the fourth parte of Mizpaz: he buylded it, and couered it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of [a] Shelah by the Kings garden, and vnto the ſteppes that go downe from the citie of Dauid.

[a] Or, Siloa.

16 After him fortified Nehemiah the sonne of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe parte of Beth-zur, vntil the otherſide ouer againſt the ſepulchres of Dauid, and to the fishpoole that was repared, and vnto the houſe of the mightie.

17 After him fortified the Leuites, Rehum the sonne of Bani, and next vnto him fortified Hashabiah the ruler of ſ halfe parte of Keilah in his quarter.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Bauai, the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe parte of Keilah:

19 And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Iehua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer againſt the going vp to the [d] corner of the armoure.

[d] Where the weapons and armour of the citie laye.

20 After him was earneſt Baruch ſ sonne of Zacchai, & fortified another portion from the corner vnto the dore of the houſe of Eliashib the hie Prieſt.

21 After him fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Vriiah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the dore of the houſe of Eliashib, euen as long as the houſe of Eliashib extended.

22 After him also fortified the Prieſts, the men of [e] the plaine.

[e] Which dwelt in ſ plaine coūtrey by Iorden & Iericho.

23 After them fortified Beniamin, & Hasshub ouer againſt their houſe: after him fortified Azariah, the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his houſe.

24 After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadad another porcion, from the houſe of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25 Palal, the sonne of Vzai, from ouer againſt the corner, and the high towre, that lyeth out from ſ Kings houſe, ẅ is beſide the courte of the priſon. After him, Pedaiah, the sonne of Parosh.

26 And the [f] Nethinims they dwelt in ſ fortereſſe vnto the place ouer againſt ſ water gate, Eaſtward, & to the towre that lyeth out.

[f] Read Ezra Chap.2,43.

27 After him fortified ſ Tekoites another portion ouer againſt the great towre, that lyeth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortereſſe.

28 From aboue the horſe gate forthe fortified the Prieſts, euerie one ouer againſt his houſe.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer againſt his houſe: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keper of the Eaſt-gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah [g], the sonne of Shelemiah, & Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, ſ ſixt, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, ouer againſt his chamber.

[g] Meaning, ſ ſixt of his ſonnes.

31 After him fortified Malchiah ſ goldesmithes sonne, vntil ỹ house of the Nethinims & of the marchats ouer against the gate h Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betwene the chamber of ỹ corner vnto the shepegate fortified ỹ goldsmithes and the marchants.

h Which was the place of iudgement, or execution.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The buylding of Ierusalem is hindred, 15 But God breaketh their entreprise. 17 The Iewes buylde with one hand, and holde theer weapons in the other.

1 BVt when Sanballat heard that we buylded the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieued, and mocked the Iewes, a Of his copanious ỹ dwelt in Samaria.

b Thus ỹ wicked, that consider not ỹ Gods power is euer in a readines for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feble.
c This is ỹ remedie that the children of God haue against the derision, & threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer d Let them be spoiled & led away captiue.
e Let thy plagues declare to the worlde that they set thẽ selues against thee, & against thy Church: thus he prayeth, onely hauing respect to Gods glorie, & not for any priuate affectiõ, or grudge.

2 And said before his a brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What do these b weake Iewes? wil they fortifie them selues? wil they sacrifice? wil they finish it in a day? wil they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they buylde, yet if a foxe go vp, he shal euen breake downe their stony wall.

4 c Heare, ô our God (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray d in the land of their captiuitie,

5 And couer not their e iniquitie, nether let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked vs before the buylders.

6 So we buylt the wal, and all the wal was ioyned vnto the "halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, & the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Asshodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repared, (for the breaches began to be stopped) then they were verie wroth,

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Ierusalem, & to "hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchemen by them, day & night, becaule of them.

10 And Iudah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is muche earth, so that we are not able to buylde the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shal not knowe, nether se, til we come into the middes of thẽ and slaye them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs f rẽ times, g From all places whence ye shal returne, they wil be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behinde the wal vpon the toppes of the stones, & placed the people by their families, with their swordes, their speares & their bowes,

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, & said vnto the princes, & to the rulers, & to the rest of the people, Be not afraied of them: h remember the great Lord, & feareful, & fight for your brethrẽ, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counsel to noght, & we turned all againe to the wall, euerie one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the yõg men did the labour, and the other halfe parte of them helde the speares, and shields, & bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stode i behinde all the house of Iudah.

17 They that buylded on the wall, and they that bare burdens & they that laded, did the worke with one hand, & w the other helde the sworde.

18 For euerie one of the buylders, had his sworde girde on his loynes, & so buylded: & he that blewe the trumpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, k resorte ye thither vnto vs: our God shal fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the speares, from the appearing of the morning, til the starres came forthe.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euerie one with his seruant lodge with in Ierusalem, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So nether, I nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put of our clothes, saue euerie one put them of l for washing, f That is, often times.

g They, which broght the tidings, said thus, When yo leaue your worke, & go ether to eat, or to rest, your enemies wil assaile you.
h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therefore seig they shulde fight for the maintenãce of Gods glorie & for the preseruation of their owne liues & of theirs, he incourageth them to play ỹ valiant men.
i To ouersee them & to incourage thẽ to their worke.
k Meaning, to resist their enemies, if nede required.
l That is, when they purified them selues, or els when they washed their clothes.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He toke not the porcion of others that had ruled before, lest he sholde grieue the people.

1 NOw there was a great crye of the people, and of their wiues a against their brethren the Iewes.

a Against the riche, ỹ oppressed them.

2 For there were that said, We, our, sonnes & our daughters are many, therefore we we take vp [b]corne, that we may eat and liue.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, & our vineyardes, & our houses and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that said, We haue borowed money for the Kings [c]tribute vpon our lands and our vineyardes.

5 And now our flesh is as [d] the flesh of our brethren, & our sonnes as their sonnes: and lo, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruāts, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power [e] in our hāds: for other men haue our lands & our vineyardes.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crye and these wordes.

7 And I thoght in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and said vnto them, You laie [f] burdens euerie one vpon his brethren: and I set a great [g] assemblie against them,

8 And I said vnto thē, We (according to our abilitie) haue redemed our brethrē the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and wil you sell your brethren againe, or shal they be solde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and colde not answere.

9 Also I said, That which ye do, is not good. Oght ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproche of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants do lend them money & corne: I pray you, let vs leaue of this [l] burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyardes, their oliues, and their houses, and remit the hundreth parte of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine, & of the oyle [l] that ye exact of them.

12 Thē said they, We wil restore it, and wil not require it of them: we wil do as thou hast said. Then I called the Priests, & caused them to sweare, that they shulde do according to this promes.

13 So I shooke my lappe, & said, So let God shake out euerie man that wil not performe this promes, from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregacion said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promes.

14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouuernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yere of King Artahshashte, that is, twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the [m] bread of ỹ gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had takē of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruāts bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we boght no lād, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and siftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daiely an oxe, & six chosen shepe, & birdes were prepared for me, and [n] within ten dayes wine for all [n] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour, for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, ô my God, in goodnes, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

Nehemiah answereth with great wisdome, and zeale to his aduersarie. 11 He is not discouraged by the false Prophetes.

1 And when Sanballat, and Tobiah, & Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had buylt ỹ wall, & that there were no [a] breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the dores vpon the gates)

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto me, saying, Come thou that we may mete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thoght to do me euil.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto thē, saying, I haue a great worke to do, & I can not come downe: [b] why shulde the worke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sorte. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sorte vnto me the fift time, with and open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was writen, It is reported among the heathen, and [o] Gashmu hathe said it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buyldest the wall and thou wilt be their King according to these [c] wordes.

7 Thou hast also ordeined the [d] Prophetes to preache of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shal come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsel together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not b This is the complaint of ỹ people, shewing to what extremitie thei were broght vnto.

c To pay our tribute to the King of the Persians, which was exacted yerely of vs.

d By nature ỹ riche is no better then the poore.

e We are not able to redeme thē, but for pouertie are constrayned to hier them to others.

f You presse thē with vsurie and seke how to bring all things into your hāds.

g Bethe beeause they shulde be moued with pitie, seing how manie were by thē oppreſt, and also heare the iudgement of others, w shulde be as it were witnesses of their dealing toward their brethren.

h Seing God hathe once deliuered thē from the bondage of the heathē, shal we make them our slaues?

i Meaning, Nehemiah.

k Who by this occasiō wil blaspheme the Name of God seing that our ades are no better thē theirs.

l Which ye take of them for the lone.

m I receiued not that porciō, and diet, which the gouernours, that were before me, exacted: wherein he declareth that he rather soght ỹ wealth of the people, then his owne commoditie.

a That is, that they were ioined together, as Chap. 4. 6.

b Meaning, ỹ if he shulde obey their requeſt, the worke, which God had appointed, shulde cease: shewing hereby that we shulde not commit our selues to the hands of the wicked.

o Or, Geshem.

c As the fame goeth.

d Thou hast brībed, and set vp false prophetes, to make thy selfe King, and so to defraude the King of persia of that subiectiō, which you ogh vnto him done according to these wordes ỹ thou sayest: for thou faineſt thē of thine owne heart.

9 For all thei afraied vs, saying, Their hands shal be weakened from ỹ worke, & it shal not be done: now therefore [o] incourage ỹ me.

10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah ỹ sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, & he was [e] shut vp: & he said, Let vs come together into ỹ house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the dores of the Temple: for they wil come to slay thee: yea, in ỹ night wil they come to kil thee.

11 Then I said, [f] Shulde suche a man a I, flee? Who is he being as I am, that wolde go into the Temple to liue? I wil not go in.

12 And lo, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that he pronounced this prophecie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hyred him.

13 Therefore was he hyred, that I might be afrayed, and do thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euil reporte that they might reproche me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their workes, and Noadiah the [g] Propheteſſe also, and the rest of the Prophetes that wolde haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fiue & twētieth day of [h] Elul, in two and [i] fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen ỹ were about vs, thei were afrayed, & their courage failed them: for they knewe, ỹ this worke was wroght by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there manie of the princes of Iudah, whose [k] letters wēt vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were manie in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in law of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: & his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, & tolde him my wordes, & Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

CHAP. VII.

After the wall once buylded, is the watche appointed 6. They that returned frō the captiuitie are nombred.

NOw * when the wall was buylded, & I had set vp the dores, and the porters, and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was doutles a faithful man, and feared God aboue manie)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntil the heat of the sunne: and while [a] they stand by, let them shut the dores, and [”] make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitāts of Ierusalem, euerie one in his warde, and euerie one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie was large and great, but the people were fewe therein, and the houses were not buylded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, & the people, to counte their genealogies: and I founde a boke of the genealogie of them, * which came vp at the first, and founde writen therein,

6 These are the [b] sonnes of ỹ prouince that came vp from the captiuitie that was carried away (whome Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had caried away) and they returned to Ierusalem & to Iudah, euerie one vnto his citie.

CHAP. VIII.

a Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the worde of God. 15 They kepe the feast of Tabernacles or boothes.

1 AND all the people assembled them selues [1] together, in ỹ streat that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the [a] scribe, that he wolde bring the boke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest broght the Law before the Congregacion bothe of men and women, and of all that [b] colde heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth,

3 And he read therein in the streat that was before the watergate (frō the morning vntil [c] the midday) before men and women, and of them that vnderstode it, and the eares of all the people harkened vnto the boke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the scribe stode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beside hī stode Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vriiah, & Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, & Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the boke before all the people: for he was [d] aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stode vp.

6 And Ezra praised ỹ Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hāds: & they bowed them selues, and worshiped the Lord with their faces toward the grounde.

7 Also Iehua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, & the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stode in their place.

8 And they red in the boke of the Law of God distinctly and gaue the sense, & caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest & scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This daye is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, nether wepe: for all the people [e] wept, when they heard the wordes of the Law.

10 He said also vnto them Go, and eat of the fat, & drinke the swete, and send parte vnto them, for whome none is [f] prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sory therefore: for the [g] ioye of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Leuites made silēce throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for ỹ day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away parte, & to make great ioye, because they had vnderstād the wordes that they had taught them.

13 And on the seconde day the chief fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that he also might instruct them in the wordes of the Law.

14 And thei founde writen in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel shulde dwell in * boothes in the feast of the seuenth moneth,

15 And that thei shulde cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Go forthe vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pinebranches, and branches of mirtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is writen.

16 So the people went forthe and broght them & made them boothes, euerie one vpon the [h] rofe of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, & in the strete by the watergate, and in the strete of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the Congregacion of them ỹ were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, & sate vnder the boothes: for since the [i] time of Iehua the sonne of Nun vnto this day: had not the children of Israel done so, & there was very great ioye.

18 And he red in the boke of the Law of God euerie day, from the first day vnto the last daye. And thei kept the feast seuen dayes, & on the eight daye a solenne assemblie, according vnto the maner.

15 *And gauest them bread from heauen for their hungre, * & broghtest forthe water for the out of the rocke for their thirst: & * promisedst thẽ that thei shulde go in, & take possession of the land: for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

16 But thei and our fathers behaued thẽ selues proudely and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements, 17 But refused to obey, and wolde not remember thy maruelous workes that thou hadest done for them, but hardened their neckes and had in their heades to returne to their bõdage by their rebellion: but thou, ô God of mercies, gracious and ful of compassion, of long suffring and of great mercie, yet forsokest them not.

18 Moreouer when they made thẽ a moltẽ calfe (and said, This is thy god ý broght thee vp out of the land of Egypt) & committed great blasphemies, 19 Yet thou 1or thy great mercies forsokest them not in the wildernes: *the piller of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, neither the piller of fyre by night, to shewe them light, & the way whereby they shulde go.

21 Thou didest also fede thẽ fourtie yeres in ý wildernes: thei lacked nothing: *their clothes waxed not olde, and their fete c swelled not.

Deut.8,4. c Thogh the way was tedious & long. d Meaning the heathen whome he droue out. Nomb. 21,16.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and d scatteredst them into corners: so thy possessed *the land of Sihon and the land of the King of Heshbon, & the land of Og King of Basan.

23 And thou didest multiplie their children, like the starres of the heauen, & broghtest them into the land, whereof thou hadest spoken vnto their fathers, that they shulde go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before thẽ the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest thẽ into their hãds, with their Kings and the people of the land, that they might do with thẽ what they wolde.

25 And they toke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyardes, & oliues, and trees for fode in abundance, and they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, & liued in pleasure through thy great goodnes.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, & cast thy Law behinde their backes & slewe thy Prophetes (which [e] protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauiours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had [f] rest, they retourned to do euil before thee: therefore lefte st thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that thei had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest thē from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued them selues proudely, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgemēts (*which a man shulde do and liue in them) and [g] pulled away the shuldre, and were stifnecked, and wolde not [h] heare.

30 Yet thou [i] didest forbeare them many yeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, euen by the hand of thy Prophetes, but they wolde not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies, thou hast not consumed them, nether forsaken thē: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore our God, *thou great God, mightie and terrible, that kepest couenant and *mercie, let not all the affliction that hathe come vnto vs, seme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our princes, & to our Priests, and to our Prophetes and to our fathers, & to all thy people since the time of the Kings of [l] Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs for thou [k] hast delt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast [l] protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou shewedst vnto thē, and in the large and fat land which thou settest before thē, and haue not conuerted from their euil workes.

36 Beholde, we are seruants this day, & the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the [m] frute thereof, and the goodnes thereof, beholde, we are seruats therein.

37 And it yeldeth muche frute vnto ỹ Kings whome thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this we make [n] a sure couenāt, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites, which came with Zerubbabel vnto Ierusalem, are nombred. 27 And the wall is dedicated.

1 THese also are the Priests & the Leuites that [a] went vp with Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua: to wit, Seraiah, Ieremiah, Ezra,
2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,
3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Merimoth,
4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abiiah,
5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, & Ioiarib, Iedaiah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiiah, Iedaiah: these were the [b] chief of the Priests, & of their brethren in the daies of Ieshua.
8 And the Leuites, Ieshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Iudah, Mattaniah [c] were ouer the thankesgiuings, he, & his brethren.
9 And Bakbukiah and Vnni, & their brethren were about them in the [d] watches.
10 And Ieshua begate Ioiakim: Ioiakim also begate Eliashib, & Eliashib begate Ioiada.
11 And Ioiada begate Ionathan, & Ionathan begate Iaddua.
12 And in the daies of Ioiakim were these, the chief fathers of the Priests, vnder [e] Seraiah was Meraiah, vnder Ieremiah, Hananiah, 13 Vnder Ezra, Meshullam, vnder Amariah, Iehohanan, 14 Vnder Melicu, Ionathai, vnder Shebaniah, Ioseph, 15 Vnder Harim, Adna, vnder Meraioth, Helkai, 16 Vnder Iddo, Zechariah, vnder Ginnithon, Meshullam, 17 Vnder [f] Abiiah, Zichri, vnder Miniamin, & vnder Moadiah, Piltai, 18 Vnder Bilgah, Shammua, vnder Shemaiah, Iehonathan, 19 Vnder Ioiarib, Mattenai, vnder Iedaiah, Vzzi, 20 Vnder Sallai, Kallai, vnder Amok, Eber
21 Vnder Hilkiah, Hashabiah, vnder Iedaiah, Nethaneel.
22 In ý daies of Eliashib, Ioiada, & Iohanan and Iaddua were the chief fathers of the Leuites writen, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.
23 The sonnes of Leui, the chief fathers were writen in the boke of the Chronicles euen vnto the daies of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib.
24 And the chief of the Leuites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, & their brethren about them to giue praise and thankes, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, of God, warde ouer [g] against warde.

[e] That is, he begā the psalme, & was the chanter.

25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub were porters keping the warde at ỹ threshol des of the gates.
26 These were in ỹ daies of Ioiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozadak, & in the daies of Nehemiah the captaine, & of Ezra the Priest and scribe.
27 And in the dedicacion of the wall at Ierusalem they soght the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to kepe the dedicacion and gladnes, bothe with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbales, violes and with harpes.
28 Then the "singers gathered them selues together bothe frō the plaine countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of [h] Netophathi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreis of Geba, and Azmaueth: for the singers had buylt them villages rounde about Ierusalem.
30 And the Priests & Leuites were purified, and clensed the people, and the gates, and the wall.
31 And [i] I broght vp ỹ princes of Iudah vpon the wall, & appointed two great companies to giue thankes, and the one went on the right hand of the wall towarde the dung gate.
32 And after them went Hoshaiah, & halfe of the princes of Iudah, 33 And Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam,
34 Iudah, Beniamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah, 35 And of the Priests sonnes ẅ trumpets, Zechariah the sonne of Ionathan, ỹ sonne, of Shemaiah, ỹ sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, ỹ sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.
36 And [k] his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, & Iudah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them.
37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by [l] the staires of the citie of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyonde the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastwarde.
38 And the seconde companie of them that gaue thākes, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broade wall.
39 And vpon ỹ gate of Ephraim, & vpō the olde gate, and vpō the fishgate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Meah, euen vnto the shepegate: and they stode in the gate of the warde.
40 So stode the two companies (of them that gaue thankes) in the house of God, & I, and the halfe of the rulers with me.
41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, & Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Iehohanā, and Malchiiah, and Elam, & Ezer: and ỹ singers "sang loude, hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerseer.
43 And the same day they offred great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioye, so that bothe the women, and the children were ioyful: and the ioye of Ierusalē was heard farre of.
44 Also at the same time were men appointed [m] ouer the chambers of the store for the offrings (for the first frutes, and for ỹ tithes) to gather into thē out of the fields of the cities, the porciōs of the Law for the Priests and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests & for the Leuites, that serued.
45 And bothe ỹ singers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, & ỹ warde of the purification according to the cōmandement of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne.
46 *For in the daies of Dauid and Asaph, of olde were chief singers, and songs of praise and thankesgiuing vnto God.
47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel giue porcions vnto the singers and porters, euerie day his porcion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites [n] gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is red. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproueth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

1 AND on ỹ day did they read in the boke of Moses, in the audience of the people, & it was founde writen therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite *shulde not enter into the Congregacion of God,
2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread & with water, * but hired Balaam against them, that he shulde curse them: & our God turned the curse into a blessing.
3 Now whē they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel [a] all those that were mixed.
4 ¶ And before [b] this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chāber of the house of our God, being [c] kinsman to Tobiah:

a That is, all suche, which had ioyned in vnlawful mariage, and also those, ẅ whome God had forbidden them to haue societe.

b That the separation was made.

c He was ioined in affinitie with Tobiah the Ammonite, and enemie of ỹ Iewes.

5 And he had made him a great chamber & there had thei a foretime laid the offrings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, & the porters) and the offrings of the priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yere of [d] Artahshashte King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and [n] after certeine dayes I obteined of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstode [e] the euil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thether broght I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offring and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the porcions of the Leuites had not bene giuē, and that euerie one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites, & singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I the rulers & said, Why is the house of God forsakē? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then broght all Iudah the tithes of corne & of wine, & of oile vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer ỹ treasures Shelemiah the Priest, & Zadok the scribe, & of the Leuites, Pedaiah, & vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, ô my God, herein, and wipe not out my [f] kindenes that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those daies saw I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, & that broght in sheaues, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges and all burdēs, and broght them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and [g] I protested to them in the day that they solde vitailes.

16 There dwelt mē of Tyrus also therein, which broght fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Iudah, & said vnto them, What euil thing is this that ye do, and breake the Sabbath daye?

18 Did not your fathers [h] thus, and our God broght all this plague vpō vs, and vpō this citie? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath?

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be [i] darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they shulde not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at ỹ gates, that there shulde no burden be broght in on the Sabbath daye.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I wil lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I said vnto ỹ Leuites that they shulde clense them selues, and that they shulde come and [k] kepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, ô my God, cōcerning this, and pardone me according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that maried wiues of [l] Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speache of Ashdod, & colde not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, & of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and [m] cursed them, and smote certeine of them, and pulled of their heere, & toke an othe of them by God, Ye shal not giue your daughters vnto there sonnes, nether shal ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 *Did not Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things? yet among manie nacions was there no King like him: for he was beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 *Shal we then obey vnto you, to do all this greate euil, and to transgresse against our God, euen to mary strange wiues?

28 And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hye Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remēber them, ô my God, that [n] defile the Priesthode, and the couenant of the Priesthode, and of the Leuites.

30 Then clensed I thē from all strangers and appointed the wardes of the Priests & of ỹ Leuites, euerie one in his office,

31 And for ỹ offring of the wood at times appointed, & for ỹ first frutes. Remember me, ô my God, [o] in goodnes,

THE ARGVMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeres, wherein the Ebrewes, and the Grecians do varie, diuers autors write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerosh, but it semeth Daniel 6, 1, and 9, 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chief, as chief head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuerfaileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of wordely helpe faileth, he euer stirreth vp some, by whome he sendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride and crueltie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sodeyn fall when they are at highest: and how God preserueth, and preferreth thē which are zealous of his glorie, and haue a care and loue to warde their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahasuerosh maketh a royal feast, 10 & herunto the Quene Vashti wil not come, 19 For which cause she is diuorced. 20 The Kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

1 IN the dayes of [a] Ahashuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh ý reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an [b] hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.)

2 In those dayes when the King Ahashuerosh [c] sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushan,

3 In the thirde yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shewe the riches & glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie manie dayes, euen an hundreth and foure score dayes.

5 And whē these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushā, bothe vnto great and smal, seuen dayes, in the courte of the garden of the Kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, grene, and blewe clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linē and purple, in siluer rings, and pillers of marble: the [d] beddes were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blewe coulour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and chāged vessel after vessel, and royal wine in abundance according to the [e] power of the King.

8 And the drinking was by an ordre, none might [f] compel: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shulde do according to euerie mans pleasure.

9 ¶ The Quene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royal house of King Ahashuerosh.

10 Vpon the [g] seuēth day when the King was mery ẏ wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuches (that serued in the presence of King Ahashuerosh.)

11 To bring Quene Vashti before ẏ King with the crowne royal, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to loke vpon.

12 But the Quene Vashti refused to come at the Kings worde," which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the King said to the wise men, [h] that knewe the times (for so was the Kings maner towardes all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, & Memucan the seuen princes of of Persia and Media, which sawe the [i] Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome.)

15 What shal we do vnto ẏ Quene Vashti according to the lawe, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the King and the princes, The Quene Vashti hathe not onely done [k] euil against the King, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh.

17 For the [l] acte of the Quene shal come abrode vnto all women, so ý they shal despise their housbands in their owne eies, and shal say, The King Ahashuerosh commanded Vashti the Quene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shal the [m] princesses of Persia & Media this day say vnto all the Kings a Called also Darius, who was now the souereine Monarch, & had ý gouernement of the Medes, Persians and Chaldeans. Some thinke he was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artagerxes.

b Daniel chap. 6, 1. maketh mencion but of six score, leauing out the nomber that is vnperfit as the Scripture in diuers places vseth.

c That is, had rest, and quietnes. Nehem. 1, 1.

d Which they vsed in those countreis in stead of tables.

e As was befeming for so magnifical a King.

f None might be compelled to drink more thē it pleased him.

g Which was ý last day of the feast that the King made for the people, as verse 5.

" Ebr. which was in the hand of the eunuches.

h That had experience of things, as thei had learned by diligent marking in continuance of time.

i Which were his chief counselers, ý might haue al waies accesse to him.

k By her disobedience she hathe giue an exāple to all womē to do the like to their housbands.

l That is, her disobedience.

m Meaning, ý thei wolde take first occasion hereof to do ý like, & that the rest of women wolde by continuance do the same.

Princes, when thei heare of the acte of the Quene: thus shal there be muche despitefulnes and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royal decree procede from him, and let it be writen among the statutes of Persia and Media (and let it not be transgressed) ỹ Vashti come [n] nomore before King Ahashuerosh, and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (thogh it be [o] great) all the women shal giue their husbands honour, bothe great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the King & the princes, & the King did according to the worde of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euerie prouince according to the writing thereof, & to euerie people after their language, that euerie man shulde [p] beare rule in his owne house, and that he shulde publish it in the language of that same people.

n Let her be diuorced & a nother made Quene.

o For he had vnder him an hundreth and twentie and seuen countreis.

p That is, that the wife shulde be subiect to the husband and at his commandement.

CHAP. II.

After the Quene is put away, certeine yong maides are broght to the King. 14 Ester pleaseth the King, & is made Quene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that wolde betray him.

1 AFter these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he [a] remembred Vashti, & what she had done, and what was decreed [b] against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seke for the King beautiful yong virgins,

3 And let ỹ King appoint officers through all ỹ prouinces of his kingdome, and let thē gather all the beautiful yōg virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into ỹ house of the women, vnder the hād of Hege the Kings eunuche, [c] keper of the women, to giue them their things [d] for purification.

4 And the maide that shal please the King, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased he King, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushā, there was a certeine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini,

6 Which had bene caryed away from Ierusalem *with the captiuitie that was caryed away with Iekoniah King of Iudah (whome Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had caryed away)

7 And he nourrished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vncles daughter: for she had nether father nor mother, and the maid was faire, and beautiful to loke on: & after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai toke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, & his decree was published, and manie maides were broght together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was broght also vnto the Kigs house vnder ỹ hand of Hege the keper of the women.

9 And the maid pleased him, and she founde fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her spedely, and her [n] state, and seuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and he gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she shulde not tel it.

11 And Mordecai walked [e] euerie day before the courte of the womens house, to knowe if Ester did wel, and what shulde be done with her.

12 And when the course of euerie maid came, to go in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, six moneths with oyle of myrrhe, & six moneths with swete odours and in the purifyng of the women:

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obteined of the King, that all the Iewes shulde be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

1 AFter these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha ȳ Agagite, & exalted him, and set his seat aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the Kings seruants that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, & reuerenced Haman: for the King had so comanded cōcerning him: but Mordecai [a] bowed not the knee, nether did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings seruants which were at the Kings gate said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the Kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake daiely vnto him, yet he wolde not heare them: therefore they [b] tolde Haman, that they might se how Mordecais matters wolde stad: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe.

5 And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was ful of wrath.

6 Now he [”] thoght it to litle to lay hāds onely on Mordecai: & because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman soght to destroye all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth [c] Nisan) in the twelft yere of King Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) [d] before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelft moneth, that is the moneth [e] Adar.

8 Then Hamā said vnto King Ahashuerosh, There is a people scatred, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they do not obserue the [f] Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to suffre them:

9 If it please the King, let it be writen that they may be destroyed, & I wil [”] paye ten thousand talents of siluer by the hands of them that haue the charge of this busines to bring it into ȳ Kings treasurie.

10 Then the King toke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And ȳ King said vnto Hamā, Let the siluer be thine, and ȳ people, to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the Kings [g] scribes called on the thirteth day of the first moneth, and there was writen (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euerie prouince, and to the rulers of euerie people & to euerie prouince, according to the writing thereof, & to euerie people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerosh was it writen, and sealed with the Kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent [”] by postes into all ȳ Kings prouinces to rote out, to kill and to destroye al the Iewes, bothe yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoile them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there shulde be giuen a commādement in all prouinces & published vnto all people, that thei shulde be ready against the same day.

CHAP. IIII.

5. Mordecai giueth the Quene knowledge of the cruel decree of the King against the Iewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

1 NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth, & ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, & cryed with a great crye, and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the Kings [a] gate, but he might not entre within the Kings gate being clothed with sackecloth.

3 And in euerie prouince, & place, whether the Kings charge & his commissiō came, there was great sorowe among the Iewes, & fasting, & weping & mourning and "many laye in sackecloth and in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esters maides & her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Quene was very heauy, and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackecloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings eunuches, whome he" had appointed to serue her, & gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to knowe what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forthe to Mordecai vnto the streat of the citie, which was before the Kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the "summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to paye vnto the Kings treasures, becausse of ý Iewes, for to destroye them.

8 Also he gaue him the "copie of the writing & commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroye thē that he might shewe it vnto Ester and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she shulde go in to the King, & make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, he tolde Ester the wordes of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, & cōmanded him, to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do knowe, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that cōmeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his, that he shal dye, except him to whome the King holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes.

13 And Mordecai said, ý thei shulde answer Ester thus, Thinke not with thy self that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time," comfort and deliuerance [b] shal appeare to ý Iewes out of another place, but thou & thy fathers house shal perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to ý kingdome for [c] such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai,

16 Go, & assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, & fast ye for me, and eat not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also & my maides wil fast likewise, and so wil I go in to the King, which is not according to the Law: & if I perish, [e] I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, & did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entreth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 11 Haman prepareth a gallous for Mordecai.

1 AND on the third [a] day Ester put on her royal apparel, and stode in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King sate vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And whē the King sawe Ester the Quene standing in the court, she found fauour in his sight: & the King [b] helde out the golden sceptre that was in his hand. so Ester drewe nere, & touched the toppe of the sceptre.

3 Then said the King vnto her, What wilt thou, Quene Ester? & what is thy requeste? it shalbe euen giuen [c] thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banket, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And ý King said, Cause Haman to make hast that he maie do as Ester hathe said. So the King & Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the King said vnto Ester at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy peticion that it may be giuen thee? & what is thy requeste? it shal euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, & said, My peticion & my requeste is,

10 Neuertheles Haman refrained him self: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his frends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorie of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had [f] promoted him, and how that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King.

1 The King turneth ouer the chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai. 10 And commandeth Haman, to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

1 THe same night [n] the King slept not & he commaded to bring the boke of the records & ỹ chronicles: and thei were red before the King.

2 Then it was founde writen ỹ Mordecai *had tolde of Bigtana & Teresh, two of the Kings eunuches, kepers of the dore, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahashuerosh.

3 Then the King said, What honour & dignitie hathe bene giuen to Mordecai [a] for this? And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the King said, Who is in ỹ court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that he might speake vnto the King to [b] hang Mordecai on the tre that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Beholde, Haman standeth in the court. And the King said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the King said vnto him, What shalbe done vnto the man, whome the King wil honour? Then Haman thoght in his heart, To whome wolde the King do honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the King, The man whome the King wolde honour,

8 Let them bring for him royal apparel, which the King [c] vseth to weare, and the [c] horse that the King rydeth vpon, and that the crowne royal may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings moste noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whome the King wil honour) & cause him to ride vpon the horse through the strete of the citie, & proclaime before him, Thus shal it be done vnto the man whome the king wil honour.)

10 Then the King said to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment & the horse as ỹ hast said, & do so vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman toke the rayment & the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and broght him on horse backe through the strete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shal it be done to the man whome the King wil honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to ỹ Kings gate, but Haman hasted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zeresh his wife, & all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wise men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the sede of the Iewes, before whome thou hast begonne to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, [d] but shalt surely fall before him.

5 Then King Ahaſhueroſh anſwered, & ſaid vnto the Quene Ester, Who is he? & where is he that " preſumeth to do thus?

6 And Ester ſaid, The aduerſarie and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraied before the King & the Quene.

7 And the King aroſe from the banket of wine in his wrath, & went into ỹ palace garden: but Haman ſtode vp, to make requeſt for his life to the Quene Ester: for he ſawe that there was a [c] miſchief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the houſe where they dranke wine, Haman was [d] fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester ſate: therefore the King ſaid, Will he force the Quene alſo before me in the houſe? As the worde went out of the Kings mouthe, they [e] couered Hamans face.

3 And Ester ſpake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his fete weping, and beſoght him ỹ he wolde put away the [c] wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his diuiſe that he had imagined againſt the Iewes.

1 At the commandement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes kepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

1 SO in the twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpõ the thirteth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drewe nere to be put in execution, in the day that ỹ enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it [a] turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered thẽ selues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, to laye hand on suche as sought their hurt, and no man colde withstande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of ỹ prouinces, & ỹ princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King [b] exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

11 On the same day came the nomber of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Quene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushan the palace and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy peticion, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please ỹ King, let it be granted also to morowe to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to do according [f] vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tre Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King charged to do so, and ỹ decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled them selues vpon the fourteth day of the moneth Adar, and slewe thre hũdreth men in Shushan, but on the spoile they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces assembled thẽ selues, and stode for [g] their liues, and had rest from their enemies, & slewe of thẽ that hated them, [h] seuentie and fyue thousand: but they laid not their had on the spoile.

17 This they did on the [i] thirteth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteth day thereof, & kept it a daye of feasting and ioye.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled them selues on the thirteth day & on the fourteth thereof, & thei rested on ỹ fiftenth of the same, & kept it a day of feasting and ioye.

19 Therefore the Iewes of ỹ villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, [k] kept ỹ fourtẽthe day of the moneth Adar with ioye and feasting, euen a ioyful day, and euerie one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote [l] these wordes, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh bothe nere and farre, 21 Inioining them that they shulde kepe the fourteth day of the moneth Adar, and the fiftenth day of the same, euerie yere.

22 According to the dayes where in ỹ Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto thẽ frõ sorowe to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyful day, to kepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioye, and [m] to send presents euerie man to his neighbour, and

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begonne, and as Mordecai had writen vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroye them, & had [n] cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroye them.

25 And when [o] he came before the King, he commanded by letters Let his wicked [p] deuice (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tre.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this lettre, and of that which they had sene besides this, & of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their sede, and for all that ioined vnto them, that they wolde not [q] faile to obserue those [r] two dayes euerie yere, according to the writing, and according to their season,

28 And that these dayes shulde be remembred, and kept throughout euerie generation and euerie familie, and euerie prouince, and euerie citie: euē these dayes of Purim shulde not faile among the Iewes, and the memorial of them shulde not perish from their sede.

29 And the Quene Ester the daughter of Abihail, & Mordecai the Iewe, wrote with all [s] autoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the seconde time.)

30 And he sent letters vnto the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with [t] wordes of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Quene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them [u] selues and for their sede with [x] fasting and prayer.

next of bloode to reigne in the absence of the king) was. Hence is it that Cambyses is not in the ordre of the succession of the kinges: and that also no mencione is made of the fraudelent reigne of ỹ two brethrẽ, Magi, (who held thesame but fewe monethes) Darius the sonne of Hystaspis being chosen King.

Xerxes the sonne of the same Darius succeded his father: but he is not here reherſed because he left thesame by the foresaide custome, to his sonne Darius Longemanus, he going in campe against the Grekes. The Greke hiſtoriographers not regarding thesame custome do nombre bo the Xerxes and Cambyses amonge thesame Kings: and here of is it that there Chronicles ar larger by 226. yeres.

As towching the names full of difficultie and confusion: this is to be noted. The doubte risethe of that we rede in the holy scripture sondrie of the Kings named by the name of Darius or Artaxerxes or of bothe together, and therefore it is vncertaine of the very persone itself. The cause herof is, for that the name Darius signifieth in the Persian language, a Dompter. And the name Xerxes signifieth to them a warrior. The name Artaxerxes (where vnto Assuerus answereth from the Ebrewes) signifieth a mightie warrior. Also the name Artaxerxes was commune to all the Kings of Persia, as Pharoh was to those of Egypt, and as Cesar was to ỹ Emperors of Rome. But the ease hereof, is either to be well exercized in the stories, or els to vse this table made to that purpose.

IOB.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular pacience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outwarde things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chief friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputations brought him almoste to dispaire: for they set forthe God as a seuere iudge, and mortal enemie vnto him, which had caste him of, therefore in vaine he shulde seke vnto him for succour. These frinds came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob mainteineth a good cause, but handeleth it euil: againe his aduersaries haue an euil matter, but they defend it craftely. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man colde not reason against God therein, but he shulde be comitted. Moreouer he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, & affliction he brasteth forthe into manie inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe as a desperate man in manie things, and as one that wolde resist God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handel wel. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine with manie goodlie arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespas grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intention is euil: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they mainteine an euil cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iuste man, Ezek. 14, 14, and Iames setteth out his pacience for an example, Iam. 5, 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holines, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hathe permission to tept him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and pacience.

1 THere was a man in ỹ land of [a] Vz called Iob, and this man [b] was an vpright and iuste man, [c] one that feared God, & eschewed euil.

2 And he had seuen sonnes, and thre daughters.

3 His [d] substance also was seuen thousand shepe, and thre thousand camels, and fyue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fyue hundreth she asses, and his familie was verie great, so that this man was the greatest of all the [e] men of [e] the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euerie one his day, and sent, & called their thre sisters to eat & to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and [f] sanctified the, and rose vp early in the morning, and [g] offred burnt offrings according to the nomber of the all. For Iob thoght, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and [h] blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob [i] euerie day.

6 ¶ Now on a day when the [k] children of God came and stode [l] before the Lord, Satan [m] came also among them.

7 Then the Lord said vnto Sata, Whece [n] commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, [o] From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and eschweth euil?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for [p] noght?

10 Hast thou not made [q] an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hathe on euerie side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is encreased in the land.

11 But stretche out now thine hand and [r] touche all that he hathe, to se if he wil not blaspheme thee to [r] thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hathe is in [s] thine hand: onely vpō him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed frō the [v] presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day, whē his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine k Meaning the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his wil.

l Because our infirmitie can not comprehēd God in his maiestie, he is fel forthe vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstād that, which is spoken of him.

m This declareth that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and do him all homage, with out whose permission, & appointement he can do nothing.

n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knewe [illegible] whēce he came. Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5, 8.

o For the commoditie that he receiueth by thee.

p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that he receiueth by thee.

q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a ramparte against all tentations.

r This signifieth that Satan is not able to touche vs, but it is God that must do it.

s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hathe no power ouer man but that which God giueth him.

v That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to do: for els he cā neuer go out of Gods presence.

15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, & toke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.
16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, & said, The [y] fyre of God is fallen from the heauē, & hathe burnt vp the shepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, & said, Thy [z] sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, & drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernes, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fel vpon the children, & they are dead, & I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.
20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garment, & shaued his head, and fel downe vpon the grounde, and worshiped, 21 And said, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, & naked shal I returne [b] thether: the Lord hathe giuen, and [c] Lord hathe taken it: [c] blessed be the Name of the Lord.
22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God [d] foolishly.

x That is, the Arabians.
y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan to tempt Iob the more grieuously, for asmuche as he might se, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.
z This last plague declareth, that when one plague is past which seemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trye his, & teache them obedience.
a Which came not of impacience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but y in their pacience they fele affliction, and grief of minde: yet they kepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do. Eccle. 5, 14. 2. tim. 6, 7.
b That is, into the belly of the earth, which is the mother of all.
c Hereby he cōfesseth that God is iuste, and good, although his hand be sore vpon him.
d But declared that God did nothing according to iustice and equitie.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hathe permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His thre friends visite him.

1 AND on a day the [a] children of God came and stode before the Lord, and [b] Satan came also among them, and stode before the Lord.
2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.
3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not cōsidered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? * an vpright and iuste man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil? for yet he cōtinueth in his vprightnes, [c] although thou mouedst me against him, to destroye [d] him without cause.
4 And Satan answered the Lord, & said, [e] Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hathe wil he giue for his life.
5 But stretche now out thine hand, and touche his [f] bones and his flesh, to se if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.
6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue [g] his life.
7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore [h] boyles, from the sole of his fote vnto his crowne.
8 And he toke a [i] potsharde to scrape him & he sate downe among the ashes.
9 Then said his [k] wife vnto him, Doest [l] I continue yet in thine vprightnes? [m] Blaspheme God, and dye.
10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shal we receiue good at the hand of God, and not [n] receiue euil? In all this did not Iob sinne with his [o] lippes.
11 Now when Iobs thre [p] friends heard of all this euil that was come vpon him, thei came euerie one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, & Bildad the Shuhite, & Zophar [q] Naamathite: for thei were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to cōfort him.
12 So when they lift vp their eyes a farre of, they knewe him not: therefore thei lift vp their voyces and wept, & euerie one of them rent his garment, & sprinkled [q] dust vpon their heades toward [r] heauen.
13 So thei sate by him vpon the grounde seuen dayes, & seuen nights, & none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the grief was very [r] great.

e Hereby he ment that a mās owne skinne is dearer vnto him then another mans.
f Meaning his owne persone.
g Thus Satan can go no further in punishing the God hathe limited vnto him.
h This sore was moste vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo. 9, 9. and threateneth to punish the rebelious people, Deut. 28, 27. so that this tentation was moste greuous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thoght y God had cast him of.
i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorowe of his disease.
k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam.
l Meaning, What gainest y to serue God, seing he thus plagueth thee as though he were thine enemie? This is y moste grieuous tentation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and whē Satan goeth about to perswade them, that thei trust in God in vayne.
m For death was appointed to the blaspheмer, & so he ment that he shulde be sone ridde out of his peine.
n That is, to be pacient in aduersitie, as we reioice, when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be bothe merciful and iuste.
o He so bridleled his affections, that his tongue through impaciencie did not murmure against God.
p which were men of auctoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceiued an euil opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustely plagued of God for his sinnes.
q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreis, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorowe &c.
r And therefore thoght that he wolde not haue harkened to their counsel.

18 The [m] prisoners rest together, & heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small & great, and the seruant is fre from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? & [n] life vnto them ỹ haue heauy hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they wolde euen search it more thẽ treasures:

22 Which ioye for gladnes and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is [o] hid, & whome God hathe hedged in?

24 For my sighing cometh before I eat, & my rorings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I [p] feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, nether had I quietnes, nether had I rest, [q] yet trouble is come.

CHAP. IIII.

Iob is reprehẽded of impaciencie, 7 And vniustice, 17 And of the presumption of his owne righteousnes.

1 THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 If we [a] assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but [a] who can withholde him self from speaking?

3 Beholde, thou hast taught manie, & [b] hast strengthened the wearie hands.

4 Thy wordes haue cõfirmed him that was falling, & thou hast strengthened ỹ weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, & thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, & thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy [c] feare, thy confidence, thy pacience, and the vprightnes of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished being an [d] innocẽt? or where were the vpright destroied?

8 As I haue sene, they that [e] plowe iniquitie, and sowe wickednes, reape the same.

9 With the [f] blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostriles are they consumed.

10 The roring of the [g] lion, and ỹ voice of the lioness, and the teeth of the lions whelpes are broken.

11 The lion perisheth for lacke of praye, and the lions whelpes are scatred abrode.

12 But a thing was broght to me [h] secretly, and mine eare hathe receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoghts of the visions of the night, when slepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpõ me, and dread which made all my bones [i] to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, & made the heeres of my flesh to stãd vp.

16 Then stode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, & in [k] silence heard I a vovce, saying,

17 Shal man be more [l] iust then God? or shal a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Beholde, he founde no stedfastnes in his Seruants, & laied folie vpon his [m] Angels.

19 How muche more in them that dwel in hou-

d Let it be put out of ỹ nomber of dayes, & let it not haue ỹ light of the sunne to separate it from the night.

e That is moste obscure darknes, w̃ maketh them afraied of death, ỹ are in it.

f Which curse ỹ day of their birth, let the lay that curse vpon this night

g Let it be alwais night, and neuer se day.

h Ebr. the eye liddes of the morning.

i This & that w̃ followeth declareth ỹ when man giueth place to his passiõs he is not able to stay nor kepe measure, but runneth headlig into all euil, except God call him backe.

k The vehemẽcie of his afflictions made him to vtter these wordes, asthogh death were the end of all miseries & as if there were no life after this, w̃h speaketh not as thogh it were so, but ỹ infirmities of his flesh caused him to braste out into this error of the wicked.

l He noteth ỹ ambitiõ of the, which for their pleasure, as it were, chage the order of nature, and buylde in moste barẽ places, because they wolde hereby make their names immortal.

m That is, by death ỹ cruelte of the tyrãs hathe ceased.

n All they ỹ fusteine ame kinde of calamitie and miserie in this worlde: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh.

o He sheweth that the benefites of God are not confortable, except the heart be ioiful, and the conscience quieted.

p That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he depẽdeth not on Gods prouidence.

q In my prosperitie I loked ouer for a fall, as is come now to passe.

q The feare of troubles that shulde insue, caused my prosperitie to seme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

a Seing this thine impacencie.

b Thou haste comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite & had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was reproued, seing that God handeled him so extremely w̃ is the argument that the carnal men make against the children of God.

e They that do euil, can not but receiue euil.

f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroye his enemies: for he cã do it with the blast of his mouthe.

g Thogh men according to their office do not punish tyrants (whome for their cruelties he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelpes) yet God bothe is able, and his iustice wil punish them.

h A thing that I knewe not before, was declared vnto me by vision: that is, that whosoeuer thinketh him selfe iuste, shal be founde a sinner, when he commeth before God.

i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certeine feare ioyned, that the autoritie thereof might be had in greater reuerence.

k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was some what aswaged, as God appeared to Eliah. 1. King. 19, 12.

l He proueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature shulde be more iuste then ỹ Creator, which were a blasphemie.

m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintined by his power, howe muche more shal he lay foly to mans charge, when he wolde iustifie him selfe against God?

in houses of [n] clay, whose fundacion is in the dust, which shalbe destroyed before the moth?

20 They be destroyed from [o] the morning vnto the euening, they perish for euer, [p] without regarde.

21 Doeth not their dignitie go away with them? do they not dye, and that without [q] wisdome.

CHAP. V.

1.2 Eliphaz sheweth the differēce betwene the childeren of God & the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power who destroieth the wicked and delivereth his.

CAll now, if anie wil [a] answer thee, & to which of ỳ Saintes wilt thou turne?

2 Douteles [b] angre killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiote.

3 I haue sene the [c] foolish wel rooted, & sodenly I [d] cursed his habitaciō, saying.

4 His [e] children shalbe farre from saluatiō, and they shalbe destroied in the [f] gate, and none shal deliuer them.

5 The hungrie shal eat vp his harueste: yea, thei shal take it from among the [g] thornes, and the thirstie shal drinke vp their substance.

6 For miserie commeth not forthe of ỳ dust, [h] nether doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto [i] trauail, as the sparkes flye vpward.

8 But I wolde inquire [k] at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which [l] doeth great things and vnsearcheable, and maruelous things without nomber.

10 He [m] giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the stretes, 11 And setteth vp on hie thē that be lowe, that the sorowful may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scatereth the diuises of the craftie: so that their hands can not accomplish that which they do enterprise.

13 * He taketh the wise in their craftines, & the counsel of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They mete with [n] darkenes in ỳ day time, and [o] grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But he saueth ỳ [p] poore frō the sworde, from their [q] mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hathe his hope, but iniquitie shal [r] stop her mouth.

17 Beholde, blessed is ỳ man whome God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou ỳ chastising of the Almightie.

18 For he maketh the wounde, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hāds make whole.

19 He shal deliuer thee [s] in six troubles, and in the seuenth the euil shal not touche thee.

20 In famine he shal deliuer thee from death: and in battel from the power of the sworde.

21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of [t] destruction when it cometh.

22 But thou shalt [t] laugh at destruction and dearth, & shalt not be afrayd of ỳ beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field [v] shalbe in league with thee, and the beastes of the field shal be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt knowe, that peace shalbe in thy tabernacle, & thou shalt visite thine habitacion, and shalt not [x] sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy sede shalbe great, & thy posteritie as ỳ grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt go to thy graue in [y] a full age, as a ricke of corne cometh in due season into the barne.

27 Lo, [z] Thus haue we inquired of it, and so it is: heare this and knowe it for thy self.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his peine is more grieuous then his faute. 8 He wisheth death. 14. He complaineth of his frends.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said.

2 Oh that my grief were wel weighed, and my miseries were laied together in the [a] balance.

3 For it wolde be now heauyer thē ỳ sand of ỳ sea: therefore my wordes are [b] swallowed vp.

4 For the arowes of the Almightie are in me, ỳ venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, & the terrours of God fight against me.

5 Doeth the [d] wilde asse braye when he hathe grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hathe foddre?

6 That which is [e] vnsauery, shal it be eate n That is, in this mortal body, subiect to corruption, 2. Cor. 5, 1.

o They se death continually before their eies, and daily approching toward them.

p No man for all this doeth consider it.

q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

a He willeth Iob to consider the example of all thē that haue liued or do liue godly, whether any of thē be like vnto him in raging against God as he doeth.

b Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth ỳ peine & vtereth mans folie.

c That is, ỳ sinner ỳ hathe not ỳ feare of God.

d I was not moued with his prosperitie, but knewe ỳ God had cursed him & his.

e Thogh God some time suffer ỳ fathers to passe in this worlde yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

f By publicke iudgement thei shalbe condened and none shal pitie them.

g Thogh there be but two or thre eares left in ỳ hedges, yet these shalbe taken from him.

h That is, the earth is not the cause of barenes & mans miserie, but his owne sinne.

i Which declareth ỳ sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to peine & affliction.

k If I suffred as thou doest, I wolde seke vnto God. l He counseleth Iob to hūble him selfe vnto God, to whome all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable, except he glorifie God in all his workes. m He sheweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are. 1 Cor. 3, 19.

n In things plaine and euident thei shewe them selues fooles in stead of wise mē. o This declareth that God punisheth the wordely wise, as he threatened, Deu. 28, 29. p That is, he that humbleth him selfe before God. q He compareth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swordes.

r If the wicked be compelled ac Gods workes to stoppe their mouthes, much more thei ỳ professe God.

s He wil send trouble after trouble that his children may not for one time, but cōtinually trust in him: but they shal haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called ỳ seuenth.

t Where as the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasiō to reioice.

v When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shal serue vs.

x God shal so blesse thee that thou shalt haue occasiō to reioice in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though ỳ children of God haue not alwaies this promes performed, yet God doeth recompence it other wise to their aduantage z We haue learned these pointes by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent: that man cānot compare in iustice with him, that ỳ hypocrites shal not long prosper, and that the affliction which man sustaineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

a To knowe whether I complaine without iust cause.

b My grief is so great, that I lacke wordes to expresse it.

c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience which is the greatest battel

d Crye without cause thei haue what hath no sauor? meaning that none take pleasure in affliction, seing thei can not away with things that are vnsauery to the mouth, without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Suche things as my soule refused to touche, as were sorowes, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my f desire, and that God wolde graunt me the thing ỳ I long for.

9 That is, that God wolde destroye me: that he wolde let his hand go, & cut me of.

10 Then shulde I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) g because I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holie one.

11 What power haue I that I shulde endure? or what is mine h end, if I shulde prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in me no i helpe? and that "strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almightie.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a k brooke, & as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, & wherein the snowe is hid.

17 But in time thei are dryed vp with heate & are consumed: & when it is hote they faile out of their places, 18 Or thei departe frō their way & course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 Thei that go to Tema, l considered them, & thei that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, thei came thether and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like m vnto it: ye haue sene my feareful plague, and are afrayed.

22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your n substance?

23 And deliuer me from the enemies hād? or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, & I wil o hold my tongue & cause me to vnderstād, wherein I haue erred.

25 How p stedfast are the wordes of righteousnes? & what can any of you iustely reproue?

26 Do ye imagine to reproue q wordes, ỳ the talke of the afflicted shulde be as ỳ winde?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherles, & digge a pit for your friend

28 Now therefore be content to r loke vpon me: for I wil not lye before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, & ye shal se yet my righteousnes in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouthe fele sorowes?

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortenes and miserie of mans lyfe.

1 IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an a hyreling.

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, & as an hyreling loketh for the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the b moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I laid me downe, I said, When shal I arise? and measuring the euening I am euen full with tosing to and fro vnto ỳ dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is c clothed with wormes & filthines of the dust: my skin is rent, & become horrible,

6 My dayes are swifter then d a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remēber that my life is but a winde, & that mine eye shal not returne to se pleasure.

8 The eye that hathe sene me, shal se me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shalbe no longer.

9 e As the cloude vanisheth & goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shal f come vp nomore.

10 He shal returne nomore to his house, nether shal his place knowe him any more.

11 Therefore I wil not g spare my mouthe, but wil speake in the trouble of my spirit, & muse in the bitternes of my minde.

12 Am I a sea h or a whale fish, that thou kepest me in warde?

13 Whē I say, My couche shal releiue me, & my bed shal bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then feareste thou me i with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule k choseth rather to be strangled & to dye, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shal not liue alway: l spare me then, for my daies are but vanitie.

17 What

f Herin he sinneth double, bothe in wishing through impacience to dye, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreable to his wil.

g That is, let me dye at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promes through mine impacientie.

h He feareth lest he shulde be broght to inconueniencies, if his sorowes shulde continue.

i Haue I not soght to helpe my selfe as muche as was possible?

"Or, wisdome, or Law.

k He compareth those friends which comfort vs not in miserie, to a broke, which in somer, when we nede waters, is drye: in winter is hard frosen, & in ỳ time of raine, when we haue no nede, ouerfloweth with water.

l Thei ỳ passe thereby to go into ỳ hote countreies of Arabia thinke to finde water there, to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

m That is, like to this broke, wch deceiueth them, ỳ thinke to haue water there in their nede, as I loked for consolation at your hands.

n He toucheth ỳ worldelings, wch for no necessitie wil giue parte of their goods, & muche more these mē, wch wolde not giue him comfortable wordes.

o Shewe me where in I haue erred, and I wil confesse my faute.

p He ỳ hathe a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe wordes or reasonings of others except thei be able to persuade him by reason.

q Do you cauil at my wordes, because I shulde be thoght to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie?

r Cōsider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impacience through very sorowe, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

a Hathe not an hyred seruant some rest and ease? then in this my continual torment I am worse then an hyreling.

b My sorowe hathe cōtinued from moneth to moneth, and I haue loked for hope in vaine.

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and moste horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him

e If thou beholde mein thine angre, I shal not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shal nomore enioye this mortal life.

g Seing I can by nother meanes comfort my selfe, I wil declare my grief by wordes and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with grief of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what nedest thou then to lay so muche peine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day.

k He speaketh as one ouercome ẅ sorowe, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

l Seing my terme of life is so shorte, let me haue some rest and ease.

17 What is man, that thou [m] doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?
18 And doest visit him euerie morning, and tryest him euerie moment?
19 How long wil it be yer thou departe frō me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallowe my spetle.
20 I haue [n] sinned, what shal I do vnto thee? ô thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so ý I am a burden vnto my self?
21 And why doest thou not pardone my trespas? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I slepe in ý dust, and if thou sekest me in the morning, I shal [o] not be founde.

m Seing that man of him self is so vile, why doest thou giue him ý honour to contende against him? Iob vseth all kindes of persuasion vnto God, that he might stay his hand. n After all tentations stil brasteth forthe & leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in suche perfection, that he colde bridel him selfe from reasoning with God, because that he stil tryed his faith. o That is, I shalbe dead.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

1 THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? & how long shal the wordes of thy mouth [a] be as a mightie winde?
3 Doeth God peruert iudgemēt? or doeth the almighty subuert iustice?
4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, & he hathe sent them into the place of their [b] iniquitie,
5 Yet if thou [c] wilt early seke vnto God, & pray to the Almighty,
6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he wil awake vp vnto thee, & he wil make the habitation of thy righteousnes prosperous.
7 And though thy beginning [d] be smale, yet thy later end shal greatly increase.
8 [e] Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to searche of their fathers.
9 (For we are but of yester day, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)
10 Shal not they teache thee & tel thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?
11 Can a [f] rush growe without myre? or can the grasse growe without water?
12 Though it were in grene & not cut downe, yet shal it wither before anie other herbe.
13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shal perish.
14 His confidence also shal be cut of, & his trust shalbe as the house of a [h] spyder.
15 He shal leane vpon his house, but it shal not stand: he shal holde him fast by it, yet shal it not endure.
16 The [i] tre is grene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.
17 The rotes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, & are folden about the house of stones.
18 If anie plucke it from his place, and it [k] denie saying, I haue not sene thee?
19 Beholde, it wil reioyce [l] by this meanes, ý it may growe in another molde.
20 Beholde, God wil not cast away an vpright man, nether wil he take ý wicked by the hand, 21 Til he haue filled thy mouthe with [m] laughter, and thy lippes with ioye.
22 They that hate thee, shalbe clothed with shame, & the dwelling of the wicked shal not remaine.

a He declareth that their wordes which wolde diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as a puff of winde that vanisheth away. b That is, hathe rewarded them according to their iniquitie: meaning, ý Iob ought to be warned by ý example of his children, that he offend not God. c That is, if ý turne betime whiles God calleth thee to repentance. d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant, as thou wouldest desire, yet in ý end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content they self. e He willeth Iob to examine all antiquitie, and he shal finde it true which he here saith. f Meaning, that it is not ynough to haue the experience of our selues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs. g As a rush can not growe without moistnes, so can not the hypocrite, because he hathe not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit. h. Which is to day, and to morowe swept away.

i He compareth the iuste to a tre, which although it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet florisheth: so the affliction of the godlie turneth to their profite. k That is, so ý there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tre had growen there, or no. l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure. m If thou be godlie, he wil giue thee occasion to reioyce, & if not, thine affliction shal increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousnes is nothing.

1 THen Iob answered, and said,
2 I knowe verely that it is so: for how shulde mā compared vnto God, be [a] iustified?
3 If he wolde dispute with him, he colde not answer him one thing of a [b] thousand.
4 He is wise in heart, & mightie in strength: who hathe bene fearce against him & hathe prospered?
5 He remoueth the mountaines & they fele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 He [c] remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillers thereof do shake.
7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
8 He him self alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
9 He maketh the starres [d] Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climats of ý South.
10 He doeth great things, and vnsearcheable: yea, meruelous things without nomber.
11 Lo when he goeth [e] by me, I se him not: & when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.
12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, [g] who can make him to restore it? who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?
13 God [g] wil not withdrawe his angre &

a Iob here answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration, touching ý iustice of God & his innocencie, confessing God to be infinit in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect. b Of a thousand things, ẅ God colde lay to his charge, man can not answer him one. c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he colde do, if he wolde set forthe his power. d These are the names of certeine starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres bothe knowen & vnknowen are at his appoinctement. e I am not able to comprehend his workes, ẅ are commune and daily before mine eyes, muche lesse in those things, ẅ are hid and secret. f He sheweth that when God doeth execute his power, he doeth it iustely, for asmuch as none can controle him. g God wil not be appeased for ought that man can laie for him self for his iustification.

h That is, all the reasons ỳ men cã laie to appro ue their cause.
i How shulde I be able to answer him by eloquence: whereby he noteth his friends, ỳ albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that ẅ they spake.
k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifying that man wil sometime flatter him self to be righteous, ẅ before God is abominacion.
l While I am in my pangs, I cã not but brast forthe into many inconueniẽces, although I know stil that God is iust.
m I am not able to fele my sinnes so great, as I fele ỳ weight of his plagues: & this he speaketh to condẽne his dulnes, and to iustifie God.
n After he hath accused his owne weakenes, he continueth to iustifie God and his power.
o If I wolde stande in mine owne defence, yet God hathe iuste cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, & conscience.
p If God punish according to his iustice, he wil destroye as wel them that are couted perfite, as them ỳ are wicked.
q To wit, the wicked.
r This is spokẽ according to our apprehension, as though he wolde say, If God destroye but the wicked, as cha. 5,3, why shulde he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them? s That they can not se to do iustice. t That can shewe the contrary?
u I thinke not to fall into these affections, but my sorowes bring me to these manifolde infirmities, & my conscience condemneth me. x Why doeth not God destroye me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh. y Though I seme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes: yet al is but corruption before God.
z What soeuer I wolde vse to couer my filthines with, shal disclose me so muche more. a Which might make an accorde betwene God and me, speaking of impaciencie, & yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him.

the moste mightie helpes b do stoupe vnder him.
14 How muche lesse shal I answer him? or how shulde I finde out my wordes ỳ him?
15 For thogh I were iuste, yet colde I k not answer, but I wolde make supplication to my Iudge.
16 If I l crye, and he answer me, yet wolde I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.
17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, & woundeth me m without cause.
18 He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternes.
19 If we speake of strength, beholde, he is n strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shal bring me in to plaide?
20 If I wolde iustifie my self, mine owne mouth shal condemne me: o if I wolde be perfite, he shal iudge me wicked.
21 Thogh I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
22 This is one point: wherefore I said, He destroyeth the p perfite and the wicked.
23 If the scourge shulde sodenly q slaie, shulde God r laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he s coureth the faces of ỳ iudges thereof: if not, where t is he? or who is he?
25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, & haue sene no good thing.
26 They are passed as with the moste swift shippes, and as the egle that flieth to the praye.
27 If u I say, I wil forget my complaint, I wil cease from my wrath, & comfort me, 28 Then I am afrayed of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.
29 If I be wicked, why x labor I thus in vaine?
30 If I y wash my self with snowe water, and purge mine hands moste cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plonge me in the pit, and mine owne z clothes shal make me filthy.
32 For he is not a man as I am, ỳ I shulde answer him, if we come together to iudgement.
33 Nether is there any vmpire a ỳ might laie his hand vpon vs bothe.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, & let not his feare astonish me:
35 Then wil I speake, & feare him not: b but becausse I am not so, I holde me stil.

b Signifying ỳ Gods iudgemẽts kepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his frailitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

1 MY soule is cut of a thogh I liue: I wil leaue my b complaint vpon my self, & wil speake in the bitternes of my soule.
2 I wil say vnto God, c Condemne me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contendest with me.
3 Thinkest thou it d good to oppresse me, & to cast of the e labour of thine hands, and to fauour the f counsel of ỳ wicked?
4 Hast thou g carnal eyes? or doest thou se as man seeth?
5 Are thy dayes as mans h dayes? or thy yeres, as the time of man?
6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, & searchest out my sinne.
7 Thou knowest that I can not do i wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.
8 Thine k hands haue made me, and facioned me wholy rounde about, & wilt thou destroye me?
9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as l ỳ clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?
10 Hast thou not powred me out as mylke? and turned me to cruds like chese?
11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.
12 Thou hast giuen me life, and m grace: & thy n visitacion hathe preserued my spirit.
13 Thogh thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe o ỳ it is so with thee.
14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly loke vnto me, and wilt not holde me giltles of mine iniquitie.
15 If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: If I haue done righteously, I wil not p lift vp mine head, being ful of confusion, becausse I se mine affliction.
16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne & shewe thy self q maruelous vpon me.
17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: r changes and armies of sorowes

a I am more like to a dead mã then to one that liueth b I wil make an ample declaration of my torments, accusing my self & not God.
c He wolde not that God shulde procede against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinarie meanes ỳ he punisheth others.
d Is it agreable to thy iustice to do me wrong?
e Wilt thou be without compasion?
f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked & cõdemne me?
g Dost thou this of ignorance?
h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to daie a friend, to morowe an enemie?
i By affliction thou kepest me as in a prison, & restrayneste me from doing euil, nether can any set me at libertie.
k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderful creation of man: & thereon grunderth ỳ that God shulde not shew him self rigorous against hi.
l As brittel as a pot of clay.
m That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other gifts whereby mã excelleth all earthlie creatures.
n That is, thy visitacion preserueth me, and without the which I shulde perish streight way.
o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must nedes confesse that it is so.
p I wil alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iuste before thee.
q Iob being sore assalted in this battel betwene the flesh and Spirit, prayeth out into these affections, wishing rather short dayes then long peine.
r That is, diuersitie of diseases and in great abundance, shewing that God hathe infinite meanes to punish man.

fatherlie care & prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, and without the which I shulde perish streight way.

are against me.
18 Wherefore thē hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished and that none eye had sene me?
19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue.
20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him[s] cease, and leaue of from me, that I may take a litle comfort,
21 Before I go and shal not[t] returne, euen to the land of darkenes and shadowe of death:
22 Into a land, I say, darke as darkenes it self, & into the shadow of death, where is none[v] order, but the light is there as darkenes.

s He witheth ỹ God wolde leaue of his affliction, considering his great miserie & the breuitie of his life.
t He speaketh thus in the persone of a sinner.
u Which is ouercome with passiōs & ẅ the feling of Gods iudgements, & therefore can not apprehend in that state the mercies of God & comfort of the resurrection.
v No distinctione betweene light and darkenes, but where all is verie darkenes it self.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible 14 He is merciful to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godlie.

1 THen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Shulde not the multitude of wordes be answered? or shulde a great[a] talker be iustified?
3 Shulde men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest others, shal none make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast said, [b]My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine yes.
5 But oh that God wolde speake and open his lippes against thee?
6 That he might shewe thee the[c] secrets of wisdome, how thou hast deserued double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hathe forgoten thee for thine iniquitie.
7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out the Almightie to his perfection?
8 The heauens are hie, what canst ỹ do? [d]It is deper then the hell, how canst thou knowe it?
9 The measure thereof is longer then ỹ earth, and it is broder then the sea.
10 If he cut of and[e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?
11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, & nim that vnderstandeth nothing.
12 Yet vaine man wolde be wise, though man newe borne is like a wilde asse[f] colte.
13 If thou[g] prepare thine heart, & stretche out thine hands towarde him:
14 If iniquitie be in thine[h] hand, put it farre away, & let no wickednes dwel in thy tabernacle.
15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, & shalt not feare.
16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.
17 Thine age also shal appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.
18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pittes, and shalt lye downe safely.
19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shal make thee afraied: yea, manie shal make sute vnto thee.
20 But the eyes[k] of the wicked shal faile, and their refuge shal perish, and their hope shalbe sorowe of minde.

a Shulde he perswade by his great talke, that he is iuste?
b He chargeth Iob with this, ỹ he shulde say, ỹ the thing, ẅ he spake, was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy self: he signifieth ỹ man wil neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth ẅ another, and therefore God must breake of the conference, and stop mās mouth.
d That is, this perfection of God, & if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, ỹ depth of hel, ỹ length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures how can he attaine to ỹ perfection of the Creator?
e If God shulde turne the state of things, & establish a newe ordre in nature, who wolde controle him?
f That is, without vnderstanding: so that whatsoeuer gifts he hathe afterwarde, come of God and not of nature.
g If thou repent, pray vnto him.
h Renounce thine owne euil workes, and so that they offend not God ouer, whome ỹ hast charge.
i He declareth what quietnes of cōscience and successe in all things suche shal haue, ẅ turne to God by true repentance.

Leuit. 26 5.

k He sheweth ỹ contrarie things shal come vnto them that do not repent.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might, and power of God, 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

1 THen Iob answered, and said,
2 In dede because that ye are ỹ people onely, [a]wisdome must dye with you.
3 But I haue vnderstāding as wel as you & am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not suche things?
4 *I am[b] as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iuste and the vpright is laughed to scorne.
5 [d]He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche.
6 The tabernacles of robbers do prosper, and they are in sauetie that prouoke God, [n] whome God hathe enriched with his hand.
7 Aske now the beastes, [e] and they shal teache thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shal tel thee:
8 Or speake to ỹ earth, and it shal shewe thee: or ỹ fishes of the sea, and they shal declare vnto thee.
9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hathe made these?
10 In whose hand is the soule of euerie liuing thing, and the breath of all[n] mākinde.
11 Doeth not the eares[f] discerne ỹ wordes? and the mouth taste meat for it self?

a Because you fele not ỹ, ẅ you speake, you thinke the whole standeth in wordes, and so flatter your selues as though none knewe anie thing, or colde knowe but you. Prou. 14 2.
b He reproueth these his frieds of two faultes: ỹ one that they thoght their had better knowledge then in dede they had, & the other ỹ in stead of true consolation they did deride, and despise their frieds in his aduersitie.
c The ẅ neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hathe all things that he desireth.
d As the riche esteme not a light, or torche that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie. n Ebr. to whome God hathe bright in with his hand.
e He declareth to them that did dispute against him, that their wisdome is commune to all, & suche as the very brute beasts do daily teache. o Or, flesh.
f He exhorteth thē to be wise in iudging, and aswel to know ỹ right vse why God hathe giue thē eares, as he hathe done a mouth.

g Thogh me by age, and continuance of time atteine to wisdome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdome, nor able to comprehend his iudgemẽts, wherein he answereth to that, ẏ was alledged, Chap. 8. 8.

h He sheweth that there is no thing done in this worlde without Gods will, and ordinance: for els he shulde not be almightie.

i He taketh wisdome from thẽ.

k He abateth ẏ honour of princes, and brigeth them into the subiection of others.

l He causeth ẏ their wordes haue no credit, ẇ is when he wil punish sinne.

m In this discourse of Gods wonderful workes Iob sheweth ẏ whatsoeuer is done in this worlde, bothe in the ordre & change of things is by Gods will & appointement. wherein he declareth that he thinketh wel of God, and is as able to set forthe his power in wordes as r they ẏ reasoned against, were.

12 Among the[g] ancient is wisdome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.
13 With him is wisdome and strength: he hathe counsel and vnderstanding.
14 Beholde, he wil breake downe, and it can not be buylt: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be losed.
15 Beholde, he withholdeth ẏ waters, and thei drye vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroye the earth.
16 With him is strength and wisdome: he that is deceiued, and that[h] deceiueth, are his.[i] 17 He causeth ẏ counselers to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.
18 He[k] loseth the colar of Kings, and gir deth their loines with a girdle.
19 He leadeth away the princes as a pray, & ouerthroweth the mightie.
20 He taketh away the speache from ẏ[l] faithful counselers & taketh away ẏ iudgement of the ancient.
21 He powreth contempt vpon princes and maketh the strength of the mightie weake.
22 He discouereth the depe places from their darkenes, & bringeth forthe ẏ shadowe of death to light.
23 He[m] increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he inlargeth the nacions, & bringeth them in againe.
24 He taketh away the hearts of them ẏ are the chief ouer the people of ẏ earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernes out of the way.
25 They grope in ẏ darke without light: & he maketh them to stagger like a dronken man.

CHAP. XIII.

Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitẽt shalbe saued, and the hypocrite cõdemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he wolde not handle him rigorously.

Chap. XIII. 1 a For although he knewe ẏ God had a iustice, ẇ was manifest in his ordinarie 3 working and another in his secret counsel, yet 4 he wolde vtter his affection to 5 God, because he was not able to vnderstand the 6 cause why he did thus punish him.

b You do not 7 wel applye your medecine to the disease.

c He cõdemneth their zeale which had not knowledge, nether regarded they to cõforte hi, but alwaie grared on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently scne in Iob, except they had vndertaken ẏ probatiõ thereof.

LO, mine eye hathe sene all this: mine eare hathe heard, and vnderstand it.
2 I knowe also as muche as you knowe: I am not inferior vnto you.
3 But I wil speake to the Almightie, and I desire[a] to dispute with God.
4 For in dede ye forge lyes, and all you are[b] phisicions of no value.
5 Oh, that you wolde holde your tõgue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdome?
6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lippes.
7 Wil ye speake[c] wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?
8 Wil ye accept his persone? or wil ye cõtend for God?
9 Is it wel that he shulde seke of you? wil you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?
10 He wil surely reproue you, if ye do secretly accept anie persone.
11 Shal not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?
12 Your[d] memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of claye.
13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what wil.
14 Wherefore do I[e] take my flesh in my tethe, and put my soule in mine hand?
15 Lo, thogh he slay me, yet wil I trust in him, and I wil reproue my wayes in his sight.
16 He shal be my saluation also: for the[f] hypocrite shal not come before him.
17 Heare diligẽtly my wordes, and marke my talke.
18 Beholde now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shalbe[g] iustified.
19 Who is he, that wil pleade[h] with me? for if I now holde my tongue, I[i] dye.
20 But do not these two things vnto me: then wil I not hide my self from thee.
21 [k]Withdrawe thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraied.
22 Then call thou, and I wil answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me.
23 How manie are[l] mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?
25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drye stubble?
26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse[m] the iniquities of my youth.
27 Thou puttest my fete also in the[n] stockes, and lokest narowly vnto all my paths, and makest the printe thereof in the "heeles of my fete.
28 Suche one cõsumeth like a rotẽ thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

d Your fame shal come to nothing.

e Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and ẏ I do not complaine without cause, seing that I am thus tormented as thogh I shulde teare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?

f Whereby he declareth ẏ he is not an hypocrite as thei charged him.

g That is, cleared, and not cast of for my sinnes as you reason.

h To proue ẏ God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

i If I defend not my cause, euerie man wil condemne me.

k He sheweth what these two things are.

l His pãgs thus moue him to reason ẇ God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstãd what were his great sinnes that had deserued su che rigour, wherein he offended, ẏ he wolde knowe a cause of God why he did punish him.

m Thou punishest me now for the faultes that I committed in my youth.

n Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so presse me that I can not stirre hand nor fote.

" Ebr. roles.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iob describeth the shortenes and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustaineth the godlie. 22 The condition of mans life.

1 MAN[a] that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and ful of trouble.
2 He shooteth forthe as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as* a shadow, & continueth not.
3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon suche a Taking occasion of his aduersaries wordes, he describeth ẏ state of mãs life from his birth to his death. Chap. 8, 9.

Psal. 144, 4.

b His meaning is, that seing ỹ man is so fraile a creature, God shulde not hādle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth the wickednes of the flesh, when it is not subiect to the Spirit. Psal. 51, 7.

c Vntil the time that thou hast appointed for him to dye, w he desireth, as the hyrelinge waiteth for the end of his labour to receiue his wages.

d He speaketh not here as though he had not hope of the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme peine, when reason is ouercom by affections & torments.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgemēt was the cause why he desired to dye.

f That is releasse my, peines and take me to mercie.

g Meaning, vn to the day of ỹ resurrectiō whē he shulde be changed, & renued.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shal fele thy mercies, and answer when thou calleste me. Prou. 5, 21.

i Thou layest thē all together & suffrest none of my sinnes vnpunished.

k He murmureth through ỹ impacience of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great seueritie against him as against ỹ hard rockes, or waters ỹ ouerflowe so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in peine & miserie.

such[b] one, and causest me to entre into iudgement with thee.

4 *Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthines? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? ỹ nomber of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bōdes, which he can not passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntil his desired day, [c] as an hyreling.

7 For there is hope of a tre, if it be cut downe, that it wil yet sproute, and the branches thereof wil not cease.

8 Thogh the rote of it waxe olde in the earth & the stocke thereof be dead in ỹ grounde, 9 Yet by the sent of water it wil bud, and bring forthe bowes like a plant.

10 [d] But man is sicke, and dyeth, & man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man slepeth and riseth not: for he shal not wake againe, nor be raised frō his slepe til the heauen be nomore.

13 Oh that thou woldest hide me in the graue, and kepe me secret, vntil thy [e] wrath were past, and woldest giue me terme, and [f] remember me.

14 If a man dye, shal he liue againe? All ỹ dayes of mine appointed time wil I waite, til [g] my changing shal come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shal [h] answer thee: thou loueste ỹ worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou [k] nombrest my steps, and doest not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a [i] bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.

18 And surely as the mounteine ỹ falleth, cometh to noght, and the [k] rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of ỹ earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shal be honorable, nether shal he vnderstand concerning thē, whether they shalbe of lowe degre, 22 But while his [l] flesh is vpō him, he shalbe sorowful, and while his soule is in him, it shal mourne.

CHAP. XV.

Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdome, and purenes to him self. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on ỹ wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of ỹ nober.

THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shal a wise man speake wordes of the [a] winde, and fil his belly [b] with the East winde?

3 Shal he dispute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast of [c] feare, and restraineste prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seing thou hast chosen [d] the tongue of the crafty.

6 Thine owne mouth cōdemneth thee, and not I, and thy lippes testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the [e] first mā, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hils?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsel of God, and doest thou restraine wisdome [f] to thee?

9 What knoweste thou ỹ we knowe not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are bothe ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seme the consolations of God [g] smale vnto thee? is this thig strāge vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart [h] take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God [i] at thy pleasure, and bringest suche wordes out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he shulde be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he shulde [k] be iust?

15 Beholde, he founde no stedfastnes in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How muche more is man abominable & filthie, which [k] drinketh in quitie like water?

17 I wil tel thee: heare me, and I wil declare that which I haue sene:

18 Which wise mē haue told, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whome alone the land was [l] giuen & no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauelleth of childe, and the nomber [m] of yeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, & in his prosperitie the destroyer shal come vpon him.

22 He beleueth not to returne out of [n] darknes: for he seeth the sworde before him.

23 He wādreth [o] to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkenes is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and [p] anguish shal make him afraid: they shal preuaile against him as a King ready to the battel.

25 For he hathe stretched out his hand against God, and made him self strong against the Almightie.

26 Therefore God shal runne vpon him, euen

God vseth against the wicked which lift vp them selues against him, to wit, terror of conscience, & outward afflictions.

a That is, vaine wordes, & without consolation?

b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance w are forgotten assone as they are vttered, as the East winde drieth vp ỹ moisture assone as it falleth.

c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused mē to cast of ỹ feare of God & prayer.

d Thou speakest as do the mockers, and contemners of God.

e That is, ỹ moste ancient, and so by reason ỹ moste wise?

f Art thou onely wise?

g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, ỹ wil not be comforted by God, nor by their counsel.

h Why doest thou stād in thine owne conceite. Ebr. in thy spirit.

i His purpose is to proue, ỹ Iob as an vniust mē & an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before. Chap. 4, 18.

k Which hathe a desire to sinne as he ỹ is thirstie to drinke.

l Who by their wisdome so gouerned, ỹ no strāger inuaded thē, & so ỹ land semed to be giuē to them alone.

m The cruel man is euer in dāger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience.

n Out of ỹ miserie where into he once falleth.

o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times: but cue in their prosperitie he punisheth thē with a gredines euer more to gather: w is as a beggerie.

p He sheweth what weapons

vpon his necke, & against the moste thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hathe couered his face with his fatnes, & hathe collopes in his flanckes.

28 Though he dwel[r] in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shal not be riche, nether shal his substance continue, nether shal he prolong the[s] perfection thereof in ỹ earth.

30 He shal neuer departe out of darkenes: the flame shal drye vp his braches, & he shal go away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He[t] beleueth not ỹ he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change.

32 His branche shal not be grene, but shalbe cut of before his day.

33 God shal destroy him as the vine her sower[v] grape, and shal cast him of, as the oliue doeth her flowre.

34 For the congregacion of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, & fyre shal deuoure the houses of[x] bribes.

35 For thei[y] conceiue mischief and bring forthe vanitie, & their bellie hathe prepared deceite.

q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperitie, & abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting ỹ Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

r Thogh he buylde, & repare rumous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to naught, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie.

s Meaning, that his sumpteous buyldigs shulde neuer come to perfection.

t He standeth so in his owne cõceite, that he wil giue no place to good cõsel[l], therefore his owne pride shal bring him to destruction.

u before they be ripe.

v As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.

x Which were buylt or maintened by powling.

y to their owne destruction.

And therefore all their vaine deuises shal turne

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the importunacie of his friẽds.
7 Counteth in what extremitie he is,
19 And taketh God witnes of his innocencie.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 I haue oft times heard suche things: miserable comforters are ye all.
3 Shal there be none end of wordes of[a] winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to answer?
4 I colde also speake as ye do: (but wolde God your[c] soule were in my soules stead) I colde kepe you companie in speaking, and colde[d] shake mine head at you,
5 But I wolde strengthen you[e] with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips shulde asswage your sorowe.
6 Though I speake, my sorowe[f] can not be aswaged: thogh I cease, what releafe haue I?
7 But now[g] he maketh me weary: o God, thou hast made all my[h] congregacion desolate,
8 And hast made me ful of[i] wrinkles (which is a witnes thereof), and my leannes riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.
9 [k]His wrath hathe torne me, and he hateth me, & gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemie hathe sharpened his eies against me.
10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, & smitten me on the[l] cheke in reproche: thei gather them selues together against me.
11 God hathe deliuered me to the vniust, and hathe made me to turne out of the way by the[m] hands of the wicked:
12 I was in welth, but he hathe brought me to noght: he hathe taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set in me as a marke for him self.
13 His[n] archers compasse me roũd about: he cutteth my reines, & doeth not spare, and powreth my gall[o] vpon the grounde
14 He hathe broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant.
15 I haue sowed a sackecloth vpon my skin, and haue abased mine[p] horne vnto the dust.
16 My face is withered with weping, & the shadow of death is vpon mine eies, 17 Though there be no wickednes in[q] mine hands, and my prayer[r] be pure.
18 O earth, couer not thou my[s] blood, and let my crying finde no place.
19 For lo, now my[t] witnes is in the heauen and my record is on hie.
20 My friends[v] speake eloquẽtly against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.
21 Oh that a man might[x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour?
22 For the yeres accounted come, and I shal go ỹ way, whence I shal not returne.

a Which serue for vaine ostentation and for no true cõfort.

b For Eliphaz did replie against Iobs answer.

c I wolde you felt that wherof I do.

d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you do at mine.

e If this were in my power, yet wolde I cõfort you, and not do as ye do to me.

f If thei wolde say, Why doeste thou not then cõfort thy selfe? he answereth, ỹ the iudgemẽts of God are more heauy, then he is able to aswage ether by wordes or silence.

g Meaning, God.

h That is, destroyed most of my familie.

i In token of sorowe and grief.

k That is, God by his wrath and in this diuersitie of wordes & stile he expresseth how greuous the had of God was vpon him.

l That is, hathe hadeled me moste contẽptepusly: for so smiting on the cheke signified, 1. King. 22, 24. Mar. 14. 65.

m Thei haue led me wither thei wolde.

n His manifolde afflictions.

o I am wounded to ỹ heart.

p Meaning, his glorie was broght lowe.

q Signifying, ỹ he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment.

r That is, vnfained, & without hypocrisie.

s Let my sinne be knowen, if I be suche a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no fauour.

t Thogh man condemne me, yet God is witnes of my cause.

v Vse painted wordes in stead of true consolation.

x Thus by his great torments he is caryed away, and brasteth out into passions, and speaketh vnaduisedly, as thogh God shul de, intreat man more gẽtly, seig he hathe but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth pacietly abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 Shewing that he loketh but for death.

1 MY breath is corrupt: my daies are cut of, and ỹ graue is ready for me.
2 There are none but[a] mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in[b] their bitternes.
3 [c]Laye downe now and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that[d] wil touche mine hand?
4 For thou hast hid their heart frõ[e] vnderstanding: therefore[f] alt thou not set them vpon hie.
5 [f]For the eyes of his children shal faile,

Chap. XVII.

a In stead of cõforte, seig now at deaths dore, he had but thẽ that mocked at him, and discouraged him.

b I se stil that they seke but to vexe me.

c He reasoneth with God as a man beside him selfe to the intent ỹ his cause might be broght to light.

d And answer for thee?

e That these mine afflictions are thy iuste iudgements, though man know not the cause.

f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happy in his prosperitie, shal not him self onely, but in his posteritie be punished.

le, that speaketh flatterie to his friends.
6 He hathe also ma de me as byworde of the people, and I am as a tabret[h] before them.
7 Mine eye therefore is dim for grief, and all my strength is like a shadowe.
8 The righteous shal be astonied at this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.
9 But the righteous wil holde his[k] waye, and he whose hands are pure, shal increase his strength.
10 All [l] you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shal not finde one wise among you.
11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoghts of mine heart
12 Haue changed the[m] night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenes.
13 Thogh I hope, [n] yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shal make my bed in the darke.
14 I shal say to corruption, Thou art my[o] father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.
15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shal consider ỹ thing, that I hoped for?
16 [p] They shal go downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shal lye together in the dust.

g God hathe made all ỹ worlde to speake of me, because of mine afflictiõs.
h That is, as a continual sounde in their eares.
i To wit, when they se ỹ god lie punished: but in the end they shal come to vnderstanding, and knowe what shalbe the reward of the hypocrite.
k That is, wil not be discouraged, considering that ỹ godlie are punished aswel as ỹ wicked.
l Iob speaketh to them there, ỹ came to comfort him.
m That is, haue brought me sorow in stead of comfort.
n Thogh I shulde hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie as your discours pretendeth, o I haue nomore hope in father, mother, sister, or anie worldely thing: for the dust and wormes shalbe to me in stead of them p All worldely hope, and prosperitie faile, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seing that these things perish, I set mine hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the peines of the vnfaithful and wicked.

1 THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, & said,
2 When wil [a] ye make an end of your wordes? [b] cause vs to vnderstand, & then we wil speake.
3 Wherefore are we conted as beastes, & are vile in your sight?
4 Thou art [c] as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shal the [d] earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?
5 Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe [e] quenched & the sparke of his fyre shal not shine.
6 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candel shalbe put out with him.
7 The steppes of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsel shal cast him downe.
8 For he is taken in the net by his fete, & he[f] walketh vpon the snares.
9 The grenne shal take him by ỹ heele, & the thefe shal come vpon him.
10 A snare is laid for him in the grounde, & a trappe for him in the way.
11 Fearfulnes shal make him afraid on enery side, and shal driue him to his fete.
12 His strength shalbe [g] famine: & destruction shalbe readie at his side.
13 It shal deuoure the partes of his skinne, & the [h] first borne of death shal deuoure his strength.
14 His hope shalbe roted out of his dwelling, & shal cause him to go to ỹ[i] King of feare.
15 Feare shal dwel in his house (because it is not[k] his) [l] and brimstone shalbe scatred vpon his habitacion.
16 His rotes shalbe dryed vp beneth, and aboue shal his branche be cut downe.
17 His remembrance shal perish from ỹ earth, and he shal haue no name in the strete.
18 They shal driue him out of the[m] light vnto darkenes, and chase him out of ỹ worlde.
19 He shal nether haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.
20 The posteritie shalbe astoined at his[n] day, & feare shal come vpon ỹ ancient.
21 Surely suche are the habitacions of the wicked, and this is ỹ place of him that knoweth not God.

a Which counte your selues iuste as Chap. 12,4 b Whome you take to be but beastes, as Chap. 12,7.
c That is, like a mad man.
d Shal God chãge the ordre of nature for thy sake, by dealing w thee other wise then he doeth with all men?
e When ỹ wicked is in his prosperitie, thẽ God changeth his state: & this is his ordinarie working for their sinnes.
f Meaning that the wicked are in continual dãger.

g That w shulde nourish him, shal be consumed by famine.
h That is, some strong and violent death shal consume his strength: or as ỹ Ebrew worde signifieth, his mẽbres or parts i That is, with most great feare.
k Meaning, not truely come by.
l Thogh all the worlde wolde fauour him, yet God wolde destroie hi & his.
m He shal fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.
n When thei shal se what came vnto him.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproueth his friends, 15 And receiteth his miseries & grieuous peines. 25 He assureth him selfe of the generalt resurrection.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 How long wil ye vexe my soule, and torment me with wordes?
3 Ye haue now [a] ten times reproched me, & are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.
4 And thogh I had in dede erred, mine errour [b] remaineth with me.
5 But in dede if ye wil aduance your selues against me, & rebuke me for my reproche,
6 Knowe now, that God hathe [c] ouerthrowen me, & hathe compassed me with his net.
7 Beholde, I crye out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye but there is no iudgement.
8 He hathe hedged vp my waye that I can not[d] passe, and he hathe set darkenes in my paths.
9 He hathe spoiled me of mine honour, & taken ỹ[e] crowne away frõ mine head.
10 He hathe destroied me on euerie side & I am gone: & he hathe remoued mine hope like [f] a tre.
11 And he hathe kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

a That is, many times, as Nehe. 4,12.
b That is, I my self shalbe punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.
c He braseth out againe into his passions and declareth stil ỹ his afflictiõ cometh of God, thogh he be not able to sele the cause in hi self.
d Meaning, out of his afflictiõs.
e Meaning, his children and whatsoeuer was dere vnto him in this worlde.
f Which is pluckt vp, and hathe no more hope to grow.

g His manifolde afflictions.
h Mine houshold seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth that touching ẏ flesh he had great occasion to be moued.
i Which were hers & mine.
k Besides these great losses & moste cruel vnkindnes, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed.
m Seing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye ẅ shulde cõfort me. n Is it not ynough that God doeth punishme except you by reproches increase my sorowe?
o To se my body punished, except ye trouble my minde?
p He protesteth ẏ notwithstanding his sore passiõs, his religion is perfite, & ẏ he is not a blasphemer, as thei iudged him
q I do not so iustifie my selfe before ẏ worlde, but I knowe ẏ I shal come before the great iudge, who shalbe my deliuerer & Sauiour.
r Herein Iob declareth plainely ẏ he had a ful hope, ẏ bothe ẏ soule and body shulde enioye the presence of God in ẏ last resurrection.

12 His[f] armies came togither, and made their way vpon me, & camped about my tabernacle.
13 He hathe remoued my brethren farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.
15 [h] They that dwel in mine house, and my maides tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.
16 I called my seruãt, but he wolde not answer, though I praied him with my mouth.
17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I praied her for the childrens sake of mine[i] owne body.
18 The wicked also despised me, & whẽ I rose, they spake against me.
19 All my secret friends abhorred me, & thei whome I loued, are turned against me.
20 My bone [k] cleaueth to my skin & to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the [l]skinne of my tethe.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue[m] pitie vpon me (o ye my friends) for the hand of God hathe touched me.
22 Why do ye persecute me, as[n] God? and are not satisfied with my[o] flesh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now writen? oh that thei were writen euen in a boke?
24 And grauen with [p] an yron penne in lead, or in stone for euer.
25 For I am sure, ẏ my[q] Redemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.
26 And though after my skin wormes destroy this bodie, yet shal I se God, [r]in my flesh.
27 Whome I my self shal se, and mine eies shal beholde, and no nother for me, though my reines are consumed within me.
28 But ye said, Why is he persecuted? And there was[s] a depe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the sworde: for ẏ swor de wil be[t] auenged of wickednes, ẏ ye may know that there is a iudgement.

[f] Though his friends thoght that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that here was a deper consideration: to wit, the tryal of his faith & pacience, and so to be an example for other. [t] God wilbe reuenged of this hastie iudgement, where by you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

Zophár sheweth, that the wicked and the couetous shal haue a shorte end. 22 Though for a time they florish.

1 THẽ answered Zophar the Naamathite and said,
2 Douteles my thoghts cause me to answer, and therefore I make haste.
3 I haue heard [a] the correction of my reproche: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer.
4 Knoweſt thou not this of olde? & since God placed man vpon the earth?
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is shorte, & that the ioye of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though[b] his excellentie mounte vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes.
7 Yet shal he perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue sene him, shal say, Where is he?
8 He shal fle away as a dreame, & thei shal not finde him, and shal passe away as a vision of the night.
9 So that ẏ eye which had sene him, shal do so no more, and his place shal se him no more.
10 His children shal[c] flatter ẏ poore, and his hands shal[d] restore his substance.
11 His bones are ful of the sinne of his youth, & [e] it shal lye downe with him in the dust
12 Whẽ wickednes[f] was swete in his mouthe, & he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and wolde not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of aspes was in the middes of him.
15 He hathe deuoured substance, and he shal vomit it: for God shal drawe it out of his belly.
16 He shal sucke ẏ [g] gall of aspes, and the viperstongue shal slaye him.
17 He shal not se ẏ [h] riuers, nor the floods & streames of hony and butter.
18 He shal restore ẏ labour, & shal deuoure nomore: euen according to the substãce shalbe his exchange, [i] and he shal enioye it nomore.
19 For he hathe vndone manie: he hathe forsaken the poore, & hathe spoiled houses which he buylded not.
20 Surely he shal fele no quietnes in his body, nether, shal he reserue of ẏ which he desired.
21 There shal none of his [k] meat be left: therefore none shal hope for his goods, 22 Whẽ he shalbe filled with his abundance, he shalbe in paine, & the hand[l] of all the wicked shal assaile him.
23 He shalbe about to fil his belly, but God shal send vpon him his fearce wrath, [m] & shal cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meat.
24 He shal flee from ẏ yron weapons, and ẏ bowe of stele shal strike him through.
25 The arowe is drawen out, and cometh forthe of the[n] body, and shineth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.
26 [o] All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fyre that is not[p] blowen, shal deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroied.

a He declareth that two things moue him to speake: to wit, because Iob semed to touche him, & because he thoght he had knowledge sufficient to cõfute him.
b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.
c Where as the father through ambition & tyrannie oppressed the poore, the children through pouertie & miserie shal seke fauour at ẏ pore.
d So that the thing, which he hathe taken away by violẽce, shalbe restored agayne by force.
e Meaning, ẏ he shal cary nothing away ẅ him, but his sinne.
f As poyson ẏ is swete in the mouthe bringeth destruction, when it cometh into ẏ body: so all vice at ẏ first is pleasant: but afterward God turneth it to destruction.
g He compareth euil gotten goods to ẏ venim of aspes, ẅ serpent is moste dangerous: noting ẏ Iobs great riches were not truely come by, & therefore God did plague him iustely for the same.
h Thogh God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shal haue no parte thereof.
i That is, these raueners & spoilers of ẏ poore shal enioye their theft but for a time: for after God wil take it from them and cause them to make restitutiõ, so ẏ it is but an exchange.
k He shal leaue nothing to his posteritie.
l The wicked shal neuer be in rest: for one wicked mã shal seke to destroy another.
m Some read, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smiten with a scabbe.
n Some read, of the quiuer.
o All feare & sorow shal light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.
p That is, fyre from heauen, or the fyre of Gods wrath.

27 The heauen shal declare his wickednes, and the earth shal rise vp against him.
28 The q increase of his house shal go away: it shal flowe away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of the wicked mā from r God, & the heritage that he shal haue of God for his wordes.

CHAP. XXI.

Iob declared how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, 15 In so much che that they blaspheme God 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, nether good for prosperitie.

BVt Iob answered, and said,
Heare diligently my wordes, and this[a] shalbe in stead of your consolatiōs.
Suffre me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.
Do I direct my talke to man? If it[b] were so, how shulde not my spirit be troubled?
Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your[c] mouth.
Euen when I remember, I am afraied, & feare taketh holde on my flesh.
Wherefore do the wicked[d] liue, and waxe olde, and growe in welth?
Their sede is established in their sight with them, and their generacion before their eis.
Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.
Their bullocke gendreth, & faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.
They send forth their children[e] like shepe, and their sonnes dance.
They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sounde of the organs.
They spēd their daies in welth, and sodenly[f] they go downe to the graue.
Thei say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the[g] knowledge of thy waies.
Who is the Almightie, that we shulde serue him? and what profite shulde we haue, if we shulde pray vnto him?
Lo, their welth is not in their hand: [h] therefore let the counsel of the wicked[i] be farre from me.
How oft shal the candel of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath.
They shal be as stubble before ỹ winde, and as chaffe that the storme caryeth away.
God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: whē he rewardeth him, he shal knowe it.
[k] His eies shal se his destruction, and he shal drinke of ỹ wrath of ỹ Almightie.
For what pleasure hathe he in his house after him, whē the nomber of his monethis is cut of?
Shal any teache[l] God knowledge, who iudgeth the hiest things?
One[m] dyeth in his ful strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.
His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne ful of marowe
And another[n] dyeth in the bitternes of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.
They shal slepe bothe in[o] the dust, and the wormes shal couer them.
Beholde, I know your thoghts, and ỹ enterprises, [w] herewith ye do me wrong.
For ye say, Where is ỹ princes[p] house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?
May ye not[q] aske thē ỹ go by ỹ way? and ye can not denie their signes.
But the wicked is kept vnto the day of[r] destruction, & they shalbe broght forthe to the day of wrath.
Who shal declare his waye[s] to his face? and who shal rewarde him for that he hathe done?
Yet shal he be broght to the graue, and remaine in the heape.
The[t] slimie valley shalbe swete vnto him, and euerie man shal drawe after him, as before him there were innumerable.
How then comfort[v] ye me in vaine, seing in your answers there remaine but lyes?

CHAP. XXII.

Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnes, 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,
May a man be[a] profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to him self?
Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?
Is it for feare[b] of thee that he wil accuse thee? or go with the in to iudgement?
Is not thy wickednes great, & thine iniquities innumerable?
For thou hast taken the[c] pledge from thy brother for noght, and spoiled the clothes

q Meaning, the children of the wicked shal flowe away like riuers and be dispersed in diuers places.
r Thus God wil plague the wicked.
s Against God, thinking to excuse him self: and to escape Gods hand.
a Your diligent marking of my wordes shalbe to me a great consolation.
b As though he wolde say, I do not talke w̄ mā, but w̄ God, who wil not answer me, & therefore my minde must nedes be troubled.
c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feling of Gods iugement, & exhorteth thē therefore to silence.
d Iob proueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straight waies the wicked, but oft times giueth thē long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iuste or vniust by the things ỹ appeare to our eye.
e They haue store of children, lustie & healthful, & in these pointes he answereth to that w̄ Zophar alledged before.
f Not being tormented w̄ long sickenes.
g Thei desire nothing more thē to be exēpt frō all subiection ỹ thei shulde beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, ỹ if they reason onely by ỹ wich is sene by commune experience, ỹ wicked ỹ hate God, are better delt with all, then they that loue him.
h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them.
i God kepe me from their prosperitie.
k When God recompenseth his wickednes he shal knowe ỹ his prosperitie was but vanitie.
l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, & punisheth the godlie.
m Meaning, the wicked.
n To wit, the godlie.
o As cōcerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to ỹ commune iudgement.
p Thus thei called Iobs house in derision, concluding ỹ it was destroied because he was wicked.
q Which through long trauailing haue experience & tokens here of, to wit, that the wicked do prosper & ỹ godlie line in affliction r Though ỹ wicked florish here, yet God wil punish him in ỹ last day. s Though men do flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this worlde, yet death is a token ỹ God wil brig him to an account.
t He shal be glad to lie in a slime pit, w̄ before colde not be cōtent w̄ a royal palace.
u Saying, ỹ the iust i this worlde haue prosperitie & the wicked aduersitie.
a Though man were iuste, yet God colde haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hathe no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne. Chap. 35, 7.
b Lest ỹ shuldest reproue or hurt him?
c Thou hast bene cruel and without charitie, & woldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

clothes of the naked.

7 To suche as were weary, thou hast not giuē water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.

d When thou wast in power and autoritie, thou didst not iustice, but wrong.

8 But the mightie mā d had ỹ earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.

e Thou hast not onely not shewed pitie, but oppressed them

9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of e the fatherles were broken f That is, manifolde afflictions.

10 Therefore snares are roūde about thee, and feare shal sodenly trouble thee:

g He accuseth Iob of impitie & contempt of God as though he wolde say, If thou passe not for mē, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.

11 Or darkenes that thou shuldest not se, and f abundance of waters shal couer thee, h That so muche the more by that excellent worke thou maiest feare God and reuerence him.

12 Is not God on g hie in the heauen? & beholde the height of the h starres how hie they are.

i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he colde not se the thigs that were done in this worlde.

13 But thou saiest, How shulde God i know? can he iudge through the darke cloude?

k How God hath punished them from the beginning.?

14 The cloudes hide him that he can not se, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishement of the wicked, whome he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.

15 Hast thou marked the way of ỹ worlde, k wherein wicked men haue walked?

m He answereth to that, which Iob had said Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this worlde: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like.

16 Which were l cut downe before the time, whose fundacion was as a riuer that ouerfloweth

17 Which said vnto God, Departe from vs, and asked what the Almightie colde do for them.

n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes. first because God sheweth him self iudge of the worlde, & by this meanes continueth his honour and glorie: secondly, because God sheweth that he hathe care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies. o That is, the state and preseruation of the godlie is hid vnder Gods wings. p Meaning, of the wicked. q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God. r God wil restore vnto thee all thy substaunce. s Which shalbe in abundance like dust.

18 Yet he m filled their houses with good things: but let the counsel of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shal se them, and shal reioyce, n and the innocent shal laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely o our substance is hid: but the fyre hathe deuoured the remnant of p them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy self, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and laie vp his wordes in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almightie, thou shalt r be buylt vp, & thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for s dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flints of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almightie shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delite in the Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shal heare thee, and thou shalt rendre thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, & he shal establish it vnto thee, and the t light shal shine vpon thy waies.

29 u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shal saue the humble persone.

30 The innocent shal deliuer the v yland, and it shalbe preserued by the pureues of thine hands.

t That is, the fauour of God.

u God wil deliuer his when ỹ wicked are destroyed roūde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom.

x God wil deliuer a whole countrey from peril, euen for the iuste mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that he bothe knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

1 BVt Iob answered and said,

2 Thogh my talke be this day in a bitternes, and my plague greater then my groning, a {He sheweth the iuste cause of his cōplaining, & as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, chap. 22, 21. he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it semed that God wolde not be found of him.

3 Wolde God yet I knewe how to finde him, I wolde entre vnto his place,

4 I wolde pleade the cause before him, and fil my mouth with arguments.

b vsing his absolute power & saying, Because I am God, I may do what I wil.

5 I wolde knowe the wordes, that he wolde answer me, and wolde vnderstand what he wolde say vnto me.

6 Wolde he b plead against me with his great power? No, but he wolde c put strength in me.

c Of his mercie he wolde giue me power to answer him.

7 d There the righteous might reason w him, so I shulde be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

d When he of his mercie hathe giuen strēgth to mainteine their cause.

8 e Beholde, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him:

e Meaning, ỹ if he cōsider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehēde his iudgements on what side or parte soeuer he turneth him self.

9 If to ỹ North where he worketh, yet I can not se him: he wil hide him self in ỹ South, and I can not behold e him.

f God hathe this preeminēce aboue me ỹ he knoweth my waye: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidēce, that God doeth visite him for his profite.

10 But he knoweth my f way, and tryeth me, and I shal come forth e like ỹ golde.

11 My fote hathe followed his steppes: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Nether haue I departed from ỹ commandement of his lippes. & I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more thē mine appointed fode.

g His worde is more precious vnto me, then ỹ meat where with the bodie is sustened.

13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can g turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he wil performe that, which is decreed of me, and h many suche things are with him.

h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good end.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, & in considering it, I am afrayed of him.

i In many pointes man is not able to atteine to Gods iudgements.

16 For God k hathe softened mine heart, & the Almightie hathe troubled me.

k That I shulde not he without feare.

17 For I am not cut of in l darkenes, but he hathe hid ỹ darkenes from my face.

l He sheweth the cause of is feare, which is, ỹ he being in trouble, seeth none end, nether yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Iob deſcribeth the wickednes of men, and ſheweth what curſe belongeth to the wicked, 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence, 17 And the deſtruction of the wicked.

HOw ſhulde not the times[a] be hid frō the Almightie, ſeing that thei ẅ knowe him, ſe not his[b] daies?

2 Some remoue the land markes, ỏ robbe the flockes and fede thereof.

3 They lead away the aſſe of the fatherles: and take the widowes oxe to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, ſo that the poore of the earth hide them ſelues[c] together.

5 Beholde, others as wilde aſſes in ỏ wildernes, go forthe to their buſines, and[d] riſe earely for a pray: the wildernes[e] giueth him & his children fode.

6 They reape[f] his prouiſion in the field, but thei gather the late[g] vintage of the wicked.

7 Thei cauſe ỏ naked to lodge without garmēt, & without couering in ỏ colde.

8 They are wet with the ſhowres of the mountaines, [h]and thei imbrace ỏ rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherles[i] from the breaſt and take ỏ pledge[k] of the poore.

10 They cauſe him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleining from the hungrie.

11 Thei that make oyle[l] betwene their walles, and treade their winepreſſes, ſuffer thirſt.

12 Men[m] crye out of the citie, & the ſoules of the ſlayne[n] crye out: yet God doeth[o] not charge them with follie.

13 Theſe are thei, that abhorre the [p] light: thei knowe not the waies thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murtherer riſeth earely & killeth the poore and the nedie: and in ỏ night he is as a thefe.

15 The eye alſo of the[q] adulterer waiteth for the twylight, and ſaith, None eye ſhal ſe me, and diſgui'eth his face.

16 Thei digge through houſes i ỏ darke, which they marked for them ſelues in the day: they knowe not the light.

17 But the morning is euen to them as ỏ ſhadow of deaths: if one knowe thē, they are in the terrours of the ſhadowe of death.

18 He is ſwift vpon the[r] waters: their[ſ] porcion ſhalbe curſed in ỏ earth: he wil not beholde the way of the vineyardes.

19 As the drye grounde & heat conſume the ſnowe waters, ſo ſhal the graue t ſinners.

20 [v] The pitiful man ſhal forget him: the worme ſhal ſele his ſwetenes: he ſhalbe no more remembred, & the wicked ſhalbe broken like a tre.

21 He[x] doeth euil intreat the baren, that doeth not beare, nether doeth he good to the widowe.

22 He draweth alſo the [y] mightie by his powre, & when he riſeth vp, none is ſure of life.

23 Thogh men giue him aſſurance to be in ſauetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 Thei are exalted for a litle, but thei are gone, and are broght lowe as all others: thei are deſtroyed, and cut of as the top of an eare of corne.

25 But if it be not[z] ſo, where is he? or who wil proue me a lyer, & make my wordes of no value?

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without ſinne before God.

1 THen anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, & ſaid,

2 [a] Power & feare is with him, ỏ maketh peace in his hie places.

3 Is there any nomber in his armies? & vpon whome [b] ſhal not his light ariſe?

4 And how may a man[c] be iuſtified with God? or how ca he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

5 Beholde, he wil giue no light to the moone, [d] and the ſtarres are vncleane in his ſight.

6 How muche more man, a worme, euen the ſonne of man, which is but a worme?

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob ſheweth that man can not helpe God, & proueth it by his miracles.

1 BVt Iob anſwered, and ſaid,

2 [a] W home helpeſt thou? him that hathe no power? ſaueſt thou the arme that hathe no ſtrength?

3 W home counſeleſt thou? him that hathe no wiſdome? thou [b] heweſt right wel as the thing is.

4 To whome doeſt thou declare theſe wordes? or whoſe ſpirit [c] cometh out of thee?

5 The[d] dead things are formed vnder the waters, and nere vnto them.

a Thus Iob ſpeaketh in his paſſions and after the iudgement of the fleſh, ỏ is i ỏ he ſeeth not ỏ things that are done at times, nether yet hathe a peculiar care ouer all, becauſe he puniſheth not ỏ wicked, nor reuengeth ỏ godlie.

b When he puniſheth ỏ wicked & rewardeth of ỏ good.

c And for crueltie & oppreſſion dare not ſhewe their faces.

d That is, ſpare no diligence

e He and his, liue by robbing and murdering.

f Meaning the poore mans.

g Signifying, ỏ one wicked mā wil not ſpoile an other, but for neceſsitie.

h The poore are driuen by the wicked into rockes and holes, where thei can not lie drye for the rayne.

i That is they ſo powle and pille ỏ poore widowe, ỏ ſhe cā not haue to ſuſteine her ſelf, that ſhe may be able to giue her childe ſucke.

k That is, his garment, wherewith he ſhulde be couered or clad.

l In ſuche places, ẅ are appointed for that purpoſe: meaning, ỏ thoſe ỏ labour for the wicked, are pined for hungre.

m For the great oppreſsion & extortion.

n Crye out & call for vengeance.

o God doeth not condemne ỏ wicked, but ſemeth to paſſe ouer it by his long ſilence.

p That is, Gods worde, becauſe they are reproued thereby.

q By theſe particular vices, & the licence thereunto, he wolde proue that God puniſheth not the wicked & rewardeth the iuſte.

r He ſteeth to the waters for his ſuccour.

ſ They thinke that all the worlde is bent againſt them, & dare not go by the hie way.

t As the drye grounde is neuer ful ẅ waters, ſo wil thei neuer ceaſe ſinning, til thei come to the graue.

u Thogh God ſuffer the wicked for a time, yet their end ſhal be moſte vile deſtruction, & in this poit Iob cometh to him ſelf and ſheweth his confidence.

x He ſheweth why ỏ wicked ſhal not be lamented, becauſe he did not pitie others

y He declareth that after that ỏ wicked haue deſtroyed ỏ weake, thei wil do like to ỏ ſtronger, and therefore are iuſtely preuented by Gods iudgements.

z That, is ỏ contrary to your reaſoning no man can giue a perfite reaſon of Gods iudgements, let me be reproued.

Chap. XXV.

a His purpoſe is to proue, that albeit God trye and afflict ỏ iuſte, yet lone after he ſendeth proſperitie, & becauſe he did not ſo to Iob, he concludeth ỏ he is wicked.

b Who can hide him frō his preſence?

c That is, be iuſte in reſpect of God?

d If God ſhew his power, ỏ moone & ſtarres can not haue that light, ẅ is giue the, muche leſſe can man haue any excellētie, but of God.

Chap XXVI.

a Thou concludeſt nothing: for nether thou helpeſt me, ẅ am deſtitute of all helpe, nether yet ſpeakeſt ſufficiently on Gods behalfe, who hathe no nede of thy defence.

b But thou doeſt not applie it to the purpoſe.

c That is, moueth thee to ſpeake this?

d Iob begineth to declare the force of Gods power & prouidence in the mines and metals in the depe places of the earth.

e There is nothing hid in the bottom of the earth, but he seeth it.
f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.
g He causeth ỹ whole heauen to turne about the North pole.
h That is, he hideth the heauens, which are called his throne.
i So long as this worlde endureth.
k Not that heauen hathe pillers to vpholde it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he wolde say, The heauen it self is not able to abide his reproche.
l Which is a figure of starres facioned like a serpent, because of the crokednes.

6 The graue is[e] naked before hi, & there is no couering for[f] destruction.
7 He stretcheth out the § North ouer ỹ emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.
8 He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them.
9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne:[h] and spreadeth his cloude vpon it.
10 He hathe set bondes about the waters, vntil the [i] day and night come to an end.
11 The [k] pillers of heauen tremble and quake at his reprofe.
12 The sea is calme by his power, & by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof.
13 His Spirit hathe garnished the heauēs, & his hand hathe formed the crooked[l] serpent.
14 Lo, these are parte of his wayes: but [m] how litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderstād his feareful power?

m If these fewe things, which we se daly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how muche more wolde they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfitnes of Iob. 13 The rewarde of the wicked and of the tyrants.

1 MOreouer Iob proceded and continued his parable, saying,
2 The liuing God hathe taken away my [a] iudgement: for ỹ Almightie hathe put my soule in bitternes.
3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shal speake no wickednes, [b] and my tongue shal vtter no deceit.
5 God forbid, that I shulde [c] iustifie you: vntil I dye, I wil neuer take away mine [d] innocentie from my self.
6 I wil kepe my righteousnes, and wil not forsake it: mine heart shal not reproue me of my [e] dayes.
7 Mine enemie shalbe as the wicked, & he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
8 For what [f] hope hathe the hypocrite whē he hathe heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?
9 Wil God heare his crye, when trouble cometh vpon him?
10 Wil he set his delite on ỹ Almightie? wil he call vpon God at all times?
11 I wil teach you what it is in the hand of[g] God, & I wil not conceil that which is with the Almightie.
12 Beholde, all ye your selues [h] haue sene it: why then do you thus vanish[i] in vanitie?
13 This is the[k] porcion of a wicked man ẅ God, & the heritage of tyrāts, which they shal receiue of the Almightie.
14 If his children be in great nomber, the ſworde shal destroy them, and his posteritie shal not be satiffied with bread.
15 His remnant shal be buryed in death, & his widowes[l] shal not wepe.
16 Though he shulde heape vp siluer as ỹ dust, and prepare raiment as the clay, 17 He may prepare it, but ỹ iuste shal put it on, and ỹ innocēt shal deuide ỹ siluer.
18 He buyldeth his house as the[m] mothe, and as a lodge ỹ the watchmā maketh.
19 When the riche man slepeth, [n] he shal not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.
20 Terrours shal take him as waters, and a tempest shal carie him away by night.
21 The East wind shal take him away, & he shal departe: and it shal hurlle him out of his place.
22 And God shal cast vpon him & not spare, though he wolde faine flee out of his hand.
23 Euerie man shal clap their hāds at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a He hathe so sore afflicted me, that men cā not iudge of mine vprightnes: for then iudgeonely by outward signes.
b How soeuer men iudge of me, yet will I not speake contrarie to that, ẅ I haue said, and so do wickedly in betraying the truth.
c Which condēne me as a wicked mā, because the hand of God is vpō me.
d I wil not confesse that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.
e Of my life past.
f What aduantage hathe the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seing he shal lose his owne soule?
g That is, what God reserueth to him self, & whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all.

h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet do not vnderstand thē.
i Why maintein ne you then this errour?
k This wil God ordre the wicked, & punish him, euen vnto his posteritie.
l None shal lament him.
m Which bredeth in another mans possessiō or garment, but is sone shaken out.
n He meaneth ỹ the wicked tyrants shal not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honorably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdome of God is Vnsercheable.

1 THe siluer surely hathe his vaine, [a] & the golde his place, where they take it.
2 Yron is take out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.
3 God putteth an end to darkenes, [b] & he tryeth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bonde of darkenes, & of the shadow of death.
4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, and the waters [d] forgotten of the fote, being higher then man, are gone away.
5 Out of the same earth cometh [e] bread, & vndet it, as it were fyre is turned vp.
6 The stones thereof are a place [f] of saphirs, and the dust of it is golde.
7 There is a path ẅ no foule hathe known, nether hathe the kites eye sene it.
8 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.
9 He putteth his hand vpon the[g] rockes, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.
10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euerie precious thing.
11 He bindeth ỹ floods, that they do not a His purpose is to declare ỹ man may attein ne in this worlde to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to cōprehend ỹ wisdome of God.

b There, is nothing but it is cōpassed within certeine limites, & hathe an end, but Gods wisdom.
c Meaning him that dwelleth thereby.
d Which a man can not wade through.
e That is, corne, and vnder nethe is brimstone or cole, ẅ easely conceiueth fyre.
f He alludeth, to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, whereinto nether soules nor beastes can entre.
g After that he hathe declared the wisdome of God in the secretes of nature, he describeth his power.

ouerflowe, & ỹ thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

h Thogh Gods power, & wisdome may be vnderstand in earthly things, yet his heauenlie wisdome can not be atteined vnto.

12 But where is wisdome founde? h & where is the place of vnderstanding?

i It is to hie a thing for man to atteine vnto in this worlde.

13 Man knoweth not i the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: ỹ sea also saith, It is not with me.

k It is not geuen for golde, nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

15 k Golde shal not be giuen for it, nether shal siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shal not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

l Which is thoght to be a kinde of precious stone.

17 The golde nor the cristal shalbe equal vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde.

18 No mencion shalbe made of coral, nor of the l gabish: for wisdome is more precious then perles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shal not be equal vnto it, nether shal it be valued ẅ the wedge of pure golde.

20 Whence then cometh wisdome? and where is the place of vnderstanding, m Meaning, that there is no natural meanes, whereby man might atteine to the heauenlie wisdome, ẅ he meaneth by the foules, ỹ flie hie.

21 Seing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, & is hid from the m foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

n He maketh God onely the autor of this wisdome, and ỹ giuer thereof.

23 But God vnderstandeth the n way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of ỹ world, & seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the windes, & to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, & a way for the lightening of the thunders, 27 Then did he se it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

Prouerb. 1, 7.

o He declareth ỹ man hathe so muche of this heauenlie wisdome, as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euil.

28 And vnto man he said, Beholde, * the o feare of the Lord is wisdome, and to departe from euil is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7. 21. His authoritie, 12 Iustice and equitie.

" Ebr. moneths before.

1 SO Iob proceded and continued his parable, saying, a When I felt his fauour.

b I was fre frō affliction.

2 Oh that I were as " in times past, when God preserued me?

c That is, semed by euident tokens to be more present with me.

3 When his a light shined vpō mine head: & when by his light I walked through the b darkenes, d By these similitudes he declareth ỹ great prosperitie, that he was in, so ỹ he had none occasion to be suche a sinner as they accused him.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when c Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almightie was yet ẅ me, & my children rounde about me:

6 When I washed my paths d with butter and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

e Being ashamed of their lightnes, and afraied of my grauitie.

f Acknowledging my wisdome.

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to ỹ iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the strete.

8 The yong men sawe me, and e hid them selues, and the aged arose, and stode vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and laied their hand on their f mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

g All that heard me, praised me.

h Testifying ỹ I did good iustice.

11 And when the g eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye sawe me, it gaue witnes to h me.

i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednes, he is compelled to rendre a counte of his life.

12 For I deliuered the i poore that cryed, and the fatherles, and him that had none to helpe him.

k That is, I did succour him ỹ was in destresse, and so he had cause to praise me.

13 k The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused ỹ widowes heart to reioyce.

l I delited to do iustice as others did, to weare costely apparel.

14 I put l on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the fete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto ỹ poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I soght it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of ỹ vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his tethe.

m That is, at home in my bed without all trouble, and vnquietnes.

18 Then I said, I shal dye in my m nest, and I shal multiplie my dayes as the sande.

n My felicitie doeth increase.

19 For my roote is n spred out by the water, and ỹ dewe shal lye vpon my branche.

20 My glorie shal renue toward me, and my bowe shal be restored in mine hand.

o That is, was pleasant vnto them.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and helde their tongue at my counsel.

22 After my wordes thei replied not, & my talke o dropped vpon them.

p As the drye grounde thurseth for ỹ raine.

23 And they waited for me, as for ỹ raine, and they opened their mouth p as for the latter raine.

q That is, they thoght it not to be a ieste, or they thoght not that I wolde condescend vnto them.

24 If I q laughed on them, they beleued it not: nether did they cause the light of my countenance r to fall.

r They were afraied to offend me, and cause me to be angrie.

25 I appointed out f their way, and did sit as chief, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the moste contemptible, 11. 21. Because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

f I had them at commandemēt.

1 BVt now they that are yōger then I, a mocke me: yea, thei whose fathers I haue refused to set with the b dogges of my flockes.

a That is, ỹ mine estate is changed, & where as before the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

b Meaning, to be my shepherdes, or to kepe my dogges.

se That is, their fathers dyed for famine before they came to age.

*Or malous.

d Iob sheweth ỹ these ỹ mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewde fellowes, such as he here describeth.

e They make songs of me, & mocke at my miserie.

f God hathe taken from me ỹ force, credit & auteritie, wherewith I kept them in subiection.

g He said that ỹ yong men when they saw him, hid them selues, as cha 29,8, and now in his miserie they were impudent and licencious.

h That is, thei soght by all meanes how thei might destroye me.

i They nede none to helpe thē.

k By my calamitie they toke an occasion against me.

l My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.

m Meaning, sorowe.

n That is, God hathe brought me into contempt.

o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caryed beside him self.

p He compareth his afflictions to a tempest, or whirle winde.

*Or, wisdome, or Law.

q None can deliuer me thence though they lamēt at my death.

hands haue serued me, seing age ᶜ perished in them?

For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste.

They cut vp ᵈ nettels by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meat.

Thei were ᵈ chased forthe from among men: they showted at them, as at a thefe.

Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistels they gathered them selues.

They were the children of fooles and ỹ children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

And now am I their ᵉ song, & I am their talke.

They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

Because that God hathe losed my ᶠ corde and humbled me, ᵍ they haue losed ỹ bridel before me.

The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my fete, and haue trode on me as on the ʰ paths of their destruction.

They haue destroyed my paths: they toke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none ⁱ helpe.

They came as a great breache of waters, and ᵏ vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

Feare is turned vpō me: and thei pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

Therefore my soule is now ˡ powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

ᵐ It perceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the colar of my coate.

ⁿ He hathe cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

When I crye vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, nether regardest me, when I stand vp.

Thou turnest thy self ᵒ cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

Thou takest me vp and causest me to ride vpon the ᵖ winde, and makest my ᵐ strength to faile.

Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

Doutles none can stretche his hand ᵠ vnto the graue, though they crye in his destruction.

Did not I wepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauines for the poore?

When I loked for good, ʳ euil came vnto me: and whē I waited for light, there came darkenes.

My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

I went mourning ˢ without sunne: I stode vp in the congregacion ᵗ and cryed.

I am a brother to the ᵛ dragons, and companion to the ostriches.

My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with ˣ heat.

Therefore mine harp is turned to mourning, and mine organs into ỹ voyce of them that wepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocēcie of his liuing and nomber of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithful.

I Made a couenant with mine ᵃ eyes: why then shulde I thinke onᵇ a maid?

For what porcion shulde I haue of God from above? and what inheritance of ỹ Almightie from on hie?

Is not destruction to the wicked & strange punishement to ᶜ the workers of iniquitie?

Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steppes?

If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my fote hath made haste to deceit,

Let God weigh me in the iuste balice, and he shal knowe mine ᵈ vprightnes.

If my step hathe turned out of ᵉ way, or mine heart hathe ᵉ walked after mine eye, or if anie blot hathe cleaued to mine hands,

Let me sowe, & let another ᶠ eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

If mine heart hathe bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue layed wayte at the dore of my neighbour,

Let my wife ᵍ grinde vnto another man: and let other men bowe downe vpon her.

For this is a wickednes: and iniquitie to be condemned.

Yea, this is a fyre that shal deuoure ʰ to destruction, and which shal roote out all mine increase,

If I did contemne the iudgemēt of my seruant, and of my maid, whē they ⁱ did contend with me.

What then shal I do when ᵏ God standeth vp? and whē he shal visite me, what shal I answer?

He that hathe made me in the wombe, hathe he not made ˡ him? hathe not he alone facioned vs in the wombe?

If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widowe ᵐ to faile, v I am like the wilde beastes ỹ desire moste solitarie places.

x With the heat of affliction.

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lokes.

b Wolde not God then haue punished me?

c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridel to stay him from all wickednes.

d He sheweth wherein his vprightnes standeth: that is, in as muche as he was blameles before men, & sinned not against ỹ second table.

e That is, hathe accomplished ỹ lust of mine eye.

f According to the curse of the Law. Deu. 28, 33.

g Let her be made a slaue.

h He sheweth ỹ albeit man neglect the punishement of adulterie, yet the wrath of God wil neuer cease til suche be destroyed.

i When they thoght thē selues cuil intreated by me.

k If I had oppressed others, how shulde I haue escaped Gods iudgement?

l He was moued to shewe pitie vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures as he was.

m By long waiting for her request.

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, & ỹ fatherles hathe not eaten thereof, 18 (For from my youth he hathe growē vp with me[n] as with a father, & from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her) 19 If I haue sene anie perish for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, 20 If his loines haue not blessed, me because he was warmed with the fleece of my shepe, 21 If I haue lift[o] vp mine hand against ỹ fatherles, when I sawe that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine[p] arme fall from my shulder, & mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was [q] fearful vnto me, and I colde not be deliuered frō his highnes.
24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence.
25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine had had gotten muche, 26 If I did beholde the [r] sunne, when it shined, or the moone, walking in her brightenes, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine[s] hand, 28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denyed ỹ God [t] aboue)
29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioye when euil came vpon him, 30 Nether haue I suffred my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.
31 Did not the men of my [v] tabernacle say, Who shal giue vs of his flesh? we cā not be satisfied.
32 The stranger did not lodge in ỹ strete, but I opened my dores vnto him, ỹ went by the way.
33 If I haue hid[x] my sinne, as Adam, conceiling mine iniquitie in my bosom, 34 Thogh I colde haue made afraied a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did [y] feare me: so I kept [z] silence, and went not out of the dore.
35 Oh that I had some to heare me? beholde my [a] signe that the Almightie wil witnes for me: thogh mine aduersarie shulde write a boke against me, 36 Wolde not I take it vpon my shulder? & binde it as [b] a crowne vnto me?
37 I wil tel him ỹ nomber of my goings, and go vnto him as to a[c] prince.
38 If my land[d] crye against me, or ỹ forrowes thereof complaine together, 39 If I haue eaten the frutes thereof without siluer: or if I haue grieued[e] ỹ soules of the masters thereof, 40 Let thistles growe in stead of wheat, & cokle in the stead of barly.

THE [f] WORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reproueth them of foly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

1 SO these thre men ceased to answer Iob, because he "estemed hī selfe iust.
2 Thē the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the [a] Buzite, of ỹ familie of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified him self [c] more then God.
3 Also his anger was kindled against his thre friends, because they colde not finde an answer, and yet condemned Iob.
4 (Now Elihu had waited til Iob had spoken: for[d] they were more ancient in yeres then he)
5 So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the thre mē, his wrath was kindled.
6 Therefore Elihu ỹ sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and said, I am yōg in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I douted, and was afrayed to shewe you mine opinion.
7 For I said, The dayes[e] shal speake, and the multitude of yeres shal teache wisdome.
8 Surely there is a spirit in man. [f] but the inspiration of ỹ Almightie giueth vnderstanding.
9 Great men are not alway wise, nether do the aged all way vnderstand iudgement.
10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I wil shewe also mine opinion.
11 Beholde, I did waite vpon your wordes & hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you soght out[g] reasons.
12 Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor answered his wordes:
13 Lest ye shulde say, We haue[h] founde wisdome: for God hathe cast him downe, & no man.
14 Yet hathe[i] he not directed his wordes to me, nether wil I answer[k] him by your wordes.
15 Then they fearing, answered nomore, but left of their talke.
16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stode stil and answered nomore)
17 Then answered I in my turne, & I shewed mine opinion.
18 For I am ful of [l] matter, & the spirit within me compelleth me.
19 Beholde, my bellie is as the wine, ỹ hathe no vent, & like the newe bottels that brast,

Chap. XXXIII.

a I confesse the power of God, & am one of his therefore thou oghtest to heare me.
b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16, 21, so that he might do it without feare, Elihu saith, he wil reason in Gods stead, whome he needeth not to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter ỹ he is.

22 For I may not giue [n] titles, lest my Maker shulde take me away sodenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth ỹ God hathe diuers meanes to instruct man and to drawe him frõ sinne. 19 29 He afflicteth man and sodenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thankes to God.

WHerefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.
2 Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth, my tongue hathe spoken in my mouth.
3 My wordes are in the vprightenes of mine heart, and my lippes shal speake pure knowledge.
4 The [a] Spirit of God hathe made me, & the breath of the Almightie hathe giue me life.
5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, & stand before me.
6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in [b] Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.
7 Beholde, my terrour shal not feare thee, nether shal mine hand [c] be heauy vpon thee.
8 Douteles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.
9 I am [d] cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.
10 Lo, he hathe founde occasions against me, and counted me for his enemie.
11 He hathe put my fete in the stockes, and loketh narowly vnto all my paths.
12 Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, that God is greater then man.
13 Why doest thou striue against him? for he doeth not [e] giue account of all his matters.
14 For God speaketh [f] once or twise, & one seeth it not.
15 In dreames & [g] visions of the night, when slepe falleth vpon men, and they slepe vpon their beddes, 16 Then he openeth ỹ eares of mẽ, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had sealed.
17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and ỹ he might hide the [i] pride of man, 18 And kepe backe his soule frõ ỹ pit, & ỹ his life shulde not passe by ỹ sworde.
19 He is also striken with sorow vpon his bed, and ỹ grief of his bones is sore.
20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.
21 His flesh faileth ỹ it can not be sene, & his bones which were not sene, clatter.
22 So his soule draweth to the graue, & his life [l] to the buriers.
23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnes, 24 Then wil he haue [o] mercy vppõ him, and wil saie, [p] Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.
25 Then shal his flesh be [q] as fresh as a childs, & shal returne as in the daies of his youth.
26 He shal pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he shal se his face with ioy: for he wil rendre vnto mã his [r] righteousnes.
27 He loketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and [s] peruerted righteousnes, and it did not profit [t] me, 28 [v] He wil deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shal se the light.
29 Lo, all these things wil God worke [x] twise or thrise with a man, 30 That he may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in ỹ light of the liuing.
31 Marke wel, ô Iob, & heare me: kepe silence, and I wil speake.
32 If there be [y] matter, answer me, & speake: for I desire to [z] iustifie thee.
33 If thou hast not, heare me: holde thy tongue, and I wil teache thee wisdome.

n A singular man, & as one chosen out of a thousand, ỹ is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: & wherein mans righteousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ & faith therein.
o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercie towarde sinners, when he causeth his worde to be preached vnto them.
p That is, the minister shal by the preaching of the worde pronounce vnto him the forgiuenes of his sinnes.
q He shal fele Gods fauoure and reioyce: declaring hereby wherein standeth the true ioy of the body, which is a sinnes and accepe

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called him selfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the myghtie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

1 MOreouer Elihu answered, and said,
2 Heare my wordes, ye [a] wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.
3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meat.
4 Let vs seke [b] iudgement among vs, & let vs knowe among our selues what is good.
5 For Iob hathe said, I am righteous, and God hathe taken [c] away my iudgement.
6 Shulde I lye in my [d] right? my wounde of the arowe is [e] grieuous without my sinne.
7 What man is like Iob, ỹ drinketh [f] scornefulnes like water?

a Which are esteemed wise of ỹ worlde.
b Let vs examine the mattter vprightly.
c That is, hathe afflicted me without measure.
d Shulde I say, I am wicked, being an innocẽt?
e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.
f Which is cõpelled to receiue the reproche & scornes of many for his foolish wordes.

8 Which

8 Which goeth in the [g] companie of the that worke iniquitie, & walketh with wicked men?
9 For he hathe said, [h] It profiteth a man nothing that he shulde [i] walke with God.
10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdome, God forbid that wickednes shulde be in God, and iniquitie in ỹ Almightie.
11 For he wil rendre vnto man according to his worke, and cause euerie one to finde according to his way.
12 And certeinly God wil not do wickedly, nether wil the Almightie peruert iudgement, 13 Whome [k] hathe he appointed ouer ỹ earth beside him self? or who hathe placed the whole worlde?
14 If [k] he set his heart vpon man, & gather vnto him self his spirit [l] and his breath, 15 All flesh shal perish together, and mã shal returne vnto dust.
16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this & hearken to the voyce of my wordes.
17 Shal he that hateth iudgement, [m] gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is moste iust?
18 Wilt thou say vnto a King Thou art [n] wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodlie?
19 How muche lesse to him that accepteth not ỹ persones of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for thei be all ỹ worke of his hands.
20 They shal dye sodenly; [o] and the people shalbe troubled at midnight, [p] and they shal passe forthe and take away ỹ mightie without hand.
21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man and he seeth all his goings.
22 There is no darkenes nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.
23 For he wil not lay on man so muche, that he shulde [q] entre into iudgement ẃ God.
24 He shal breake the mightie without [r] seking, and shal set vp other in their steade.
25 Therefore shal he declare their [s] workes: he shal turne the [t] night, and they shalbe destroyed.
26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the [v] seers, 27 Because they haue turned backe frõ him, and wolde not consider all his waies:
28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to [x] come vnto him, & he hathe heard the crye of the afflicted.
29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nacions, or vpon a man onely?
30 Because the hypocrite doth reigne & because the people are snared.
31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God [z] to say, I haue pardoned, I wil not destroy.
32 [a] But if I se not, teache thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil do no more.
33 Wil he performe ỹ thing through [b] thee? for thou haste reproued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. Now speake what thou knoweste.
34 Let men of vnderstanding tel me, & let a wise man hearken vnto me.
35 Iob hathe not spoken of knowledge nether were his wordes according to wisdome.
36 I desire that Iob may be [c] tryed, vnto the end touching the answers for wicked men.
37 For he [e] addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, & multiplieth his wordes against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Nether doth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God but man. 13 Wicked crye vnto God & are not heard.

1 ELihu spake moreouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am [a] more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it me, to purge me from my sinne?
4 Therefore wil I answer thee, & thy [b] cõpanions with thee.
5 Loke vnto the heauen, & se & beholde the [c] cloudes which are hier then thou.
6 If thou sinnest, what doest ỹ d against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?
7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?
8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: thy righteousnes may profite the sone of man.
9 They cause many that are oppressed, [e] to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mightie.
10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?
11 Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdome then the foules of the heauen.
12 Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but [f] he answereth not.
13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie, nether wil the Almightie regarde it.

q God doth not afflict man aboue measure, so ỹ he shulde haue occasion to contend ẃ him.
r For all his creatures are at hand to serue him so ỹ he needeth not to seke for anie other armie.
s Make thẽ manifest ỹ they are wicked.
t Declare the things ỹ were hid.
v Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.
x by their cruel tie & extortion.

y When tyrants sit in ỹ throne of iustice ẃ vnder pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites & oppresse ỹ people, it is a signe ỹ God hathe drawen backe his countenance & fauour from ỹ place.
z Onely it belongeth to God to moderat his corrections, and not vnto man.
a Thus Elihu speaketh in the persone of God, as it were mocking Iob because he wolde be wiser then God.
b Wil God vse thy counsel in doing his worke?
c Thus he speaketh in ỹ persone of God, as though Iob shulde chuse & refuse affliction at his pleasure.
d That he may speake as muche as he can, we may answer him & all the wicked shal vse suche argumẽts.
e He standeth stubbernly in ỹ maintenance of his cause. Chap. X X X V I.
a Iob neuer spake these wordes but because he maintained his innocencie, it semed as though he wolde say, ỹ God tormented him without iust cause.
b Suche as are in like errour.
c If ỹ cãst not controle ỹ cloudes, wilt ỹ presume to instruct God?
d Nether doth thy sinne hurt God, nor thy iustice profite hi: for he wil be glorified without thee.
e The wicked may hurt man & cause him to crie, who if he sought to God ẃ fendeth cõforte, shulde be delinered.
f Because they pray not in faith as feling Gods mercies.

g God is iust, how soeuer thou iudgest of him.
h For if he did punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shuldest not be able to open thy mouth.

Chap. XXXVI.

a He sheweth that when we speake of God we must lift our spirits mochie, then our natural sense is able to reache.
b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithful instructour, & that I speake to thee in ỹ name of God.
c Strong & constant, & of vnderstanding: for these are ỹ gifts of God, & he loueth them in man: but for asmuche as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that these are not in him.
d Therefore he wil not preserue the wicked: but to the humble & afflicted heart he wil shewe grace.
e He preferreth the godlie to honour.
f He wil moue their heartes to fele their sinnes ỹ thei may come to him by repentance as he did Manasseh. Isa. 1, 19.
g That is, in their follie or obstination, & so shalbe cause of their owne destruction.
h Which are maliciously bet against God and flatter thē selues in their vices.
i When they are in affliction they seke not to God for succour, as Asa. 2. Chro. 16, 12 reuel. 16, 11.
k Thei dye of some vile death & that before they come to age.
l If thou hadest bene obedient to God, he wolde haue broght thee to libertie & welth.
m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou doest murmure against ỹ iustice of God.
n God doeth punish thee lest thou shuldest forget God in thy welth and so perish.

not regarde it, g yet iudgement is before him: truste thou in him.
15 But now becausse his angre hathe not visited, nor called to count the euil with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob h openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Elihu sheweth the power of God. 6 And his iustice. 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

ELihu also proceded and said,
2 Suffre me a litle, & I wil instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.
3 I wil fetche [a] my knowledge a farre of, & wil attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker.
4 For truely my wordes shal not be false, & he that is [b] perfite in knowledge, speaketh with thee.
5 Beholde, ỹ mightie God casteth away none that is [c] mightie & valiant of courage.
6 [d] He mainteineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.
7 He withdraweth not his eies from the righteous, but thei are with [e] Kings in ỹ throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.
8 And if thei be bound in fetters & tyed with the cordes of affliction, 9 Then wil he shewe them their [f] worke and their sinnes, becausse they haue bene proude.
10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, & commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.
11 * If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeres in pleasures.
12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by ỹ sworde, & perish [g] without knowledge.
13 But the hypocrites [h] of heart increase the wrath: for thei [i] call not when he bindeth them.
14 Their soule dyeth in [k] youth, & their life among the whoremongers.
15 He deliuereth ỹ poore in his afflictiō, and openeth their eare in trouble.
16 Euen so wolde he haue takē thee out of ỹ streight place into a broad place & not shut vp beneth ? & [l] that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene ful of fat.
17 But thou art ful of the [m] iudgemēt of the wicked, though iudgement & equitie mainteine all things.
18 [n] For Gods wrath is, leste he shulde take thee away in thine abundāce: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.
19 Wil he regarde thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.
20 °Be not careful in ỹ night, how he destroieth the people out of their place.
21 Take thou hede: loke not to [p] iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.
22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?
23 Who hathe appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?
24 Remēber that thou magnifie his worke, which men beholde.
25 All men se it, and men beholde it a farre of.
26 Beholde, God is excellent, [r] & we knowe him not, nether can the nomber of his yeres be searched out.
27 When he restraineth ỹ droppes of water, the raine [s] powreth downe by ỹ vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the cloudes do droppe & let fall abundantly vpon man.
29 Who cā knowe ỹ diuisiōs of the cloudes & the thunders of his [t] tabernacle?
30 Beholde he spreadeth his light vpon [v] it, and couereth the [x] bottome of the sea.
31 For thereby he iudgeth [y] ỹ people, & giueth meat abundantly.
32 He couereth the light ẅ the cloudes, & commandeth them to go [z] against it.
33 [a] His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is angre in rising vp.

o Be not thou curious in seking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.
p And so murmur against God through impacience.
q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may se thē a farre of and knowe God by the same.
r Our infirmitie hindereth vs so, that we can not atteine to the perfite knowledge of God.
s That is the raine cometh of those droppes of water, which he kepeth in the cloudes.
t Meaning of the cloudes, ẅ he calleth ỹ Tabernacle of God.
v Vpon the clouds
x That men can not come to the knowledge of ỹ springs thereof.
y He sheweth that the raine hathe double vse: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflowe any places, & ỹ other that it maketh ỹ land fruteful.
z That is, one cloude to dash against another.
a The colde vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloude of the hote exhalacion, which being taken in the colde cloude mounteth vp towarde the place where ỹ fyre is, and so angre is ingendred: that is, noise & thunder claps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Elihu proueth that the vnsearcheable wisdome of God is manifest by his workes. 4 As by the thunders, 6 The snowe, 9 The whirle winde, 11 And the rayne.

1 °AT this also mine heart is [a] astonied, & is moued out of his place.
2 Heare the [b] sounde of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth.
3 He directeth it vnder ỹ whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the worlde.
4 After it a noyse soundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maiestie, & he wil not stay [c] them when his voyce is heard.
5 God thūdreth maruelously ẅ his voy-

Chap. XXXVII.

c Meaning, the raines & thunders.

ce: he worketh great things, which we know̄e not.
6 For he saith to the snowe, Be thou vpō ý earth: [d] likewise to the smale raine & to the great raine of his power.
7 With the force thereof ne [e] shutteth vp euerie man, that all men may know̄e his worke.
8 Then the beasts go into the denne, & remaine in their places.
9 The whirle winde cometh out of the South, & the colde from the [f] North winde.
10 At the breath of God ý frost is giuē, & the breadth of the waters [g] is made narrowe.
11 He maketh also the cloudes to [h] labour, to water the earth, & scatereth the cloude of [i] his light.
12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, ý thei may do what soeuer he cōmandeth them vpon the whole worlde:
13 Whether it be for [k] punishmēt, or for his land, or of mercie, he causeth it to come.
14 Hearken vnto this, ô Iob: stand & cōsider the wonderous workes of God.
15 Dideſt thou know̄e whē God disposed them? and caused the [l] light of his cloude to shine?
16 Hast thou know̄en the [m] varietie of ý cloude, & the wōderous workes of him, that is perfite in know̄ledge?
17 Or how thy clothes are [n] warme whē he maketh ý earth quiet through ý South winde?
18 Hast ý stretched out ý heauens, which are strong, & as a molten [o] glasse?
19 Tel vs what we shal say vnto him: for we can not dispose our matter becauſe of [p] darkenes.
20 Shal it be [q] told him when I speake? or shal man speake when he shalbe [r] destroied?
21 And now men se not the light, [s] which shineth in ý cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them.
22 The [t] brightnes cometh out of ý North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.
23 It is ý Almightie· we cā not finde him out: he is excellent in power & iudgement, & abundant in iuſtice: he [v] afflicteth not.
24 Let men therefore feare him: for he wil not regarde any that are wiſe in their owne conceit.

d So that nether smale raine nor great, snow̄e nor anie thing els cometh without Gods appointement.
e By raines & thunders God causeth men to kepe them selues within their houses.
f In Ebrewe it is called ý scattering winde, becauſe it driueth away the cloudes & purgeth the ayre.
g That is, is frozen vp and dryed h Gather the vapours, & moue to & fro to water the earth.
i That is, the cloude ý hath lightening in it.
k Raine, colde, heat, tempeſtes and such like are ſent of God, ether to punish man, or to profite ý earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 36. 31.
l That is, the lighting to breake forthe in the cloudes?
m Which is some time changed into raine, or snowe, or haile or ſuche like.
n Why thy clothes ſhulde kepe thee warme, when the South winde bloweth, rather then when anie other winde bloweth?
o For their clearenes.
p That is, our ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was so presumpteous that he wolde controle the workes of God.
q Hathe God nede that anie ſhulde tel him when man murmureth against him?
r If God wolde deſtroye a man, ſhulde he repine?

v Meaning, without cauſe.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the consideration of his creatures: by whose excellencie the power, iuſtice and prouidence of the Creator is known̄en.

1 THen ans[w]ered the Lord vnto Iob out of the [a] whirle winde, & ſaid, CHAP. XL.

How weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beastes.

1 AGaine the Lord answered Iob out of *the whirle winde, and said,
2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I wil demande of thee, and declare thou vnto me.
3 Wilt thou disanul [a] my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayest be iustified?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?
5 Decke thy self now with [b] maiestie and excellencie, & araye thy self with beautie and glorie.
6 Cast abroad the indignacion of thy wrath, and beholde euerie one that is proude, and abase him.
7 Loke on euerie one that is arrogant, & bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together, & bind [c] their faces in a secret place.
9 Then wil I confesse vnto thee also, ỹ thy right hand can [d] saue thee.
10 ¶ Beholde now [e] Behemoth, (whome I made [f] with thee) which eateth [g] grasse as an oxe.
11 Beholde now, his strength is in his loines, and his force is in the nauil of his belly.
12 When he taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedre: the sinewes of his stones are wrapt together.
13 His bones are like staues of brasse, & his small bones like staues of yron.
14 [h] He is the chief of the wayes of God: [i] he that made him, wil make his sworde to approche vnto him.
15 Surely the mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field playe.
16 Lyeth he vnder the trees in the couert of the rede and fennes?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadowe? or can the willowes of ỹ riuer compasse him about?
18 Beholde, he spoileth the riuer, [k] and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can drawe vp Iorden into his mouth.
19 He taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meteth him.
20 ¶ Canst thou draw out [l] Liuiathan wt an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes with an angel?
22 Wil he make manie [m] prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?
23 Wil he make a couenant with thee? & wilt thou take [n] him as a seruant for euer?
24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?
25 Shal the companions banket wt him? shal they deuide him among the marchants?
26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanyer with his head?
27 Laye thine hand vpon him: remember [o] the battel, & do no more so.

n To do thy busines, & be at thi cõmandement?

o If ỹ once consider ỹ danger, ỹ wilt not medle with him.

p To wit, ỹ trusteth to take hi.

CHAP. XLI.

By ỹ greatnes of this mõstre Liuiathã God sheweth his greatnes, and his power, wt nothing can resist.

1 NOne is so fearce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand [a] before me?
2 Who hathe preuented me that I shulde [b] make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.
3 I wil not kepe silence concerning [c] his partes, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.
4 Who can discouer the face [d] of his garment? or who shal come to him with a double [e] bridel?
5 Who shal [f] open the dores of his face? his teeth are feareful round about.
6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong a If none dare stand against a whale, wt is but a creature, who is able to compare wt God ỹ Creator?

b Who hathe taught me to accomplish my worke?

c The partes, & members of the whale.

d That is, who dare pul of his skinne?

e Who dare put a bridel in his mouth?

f Who dare loke in his mouth?

shields & are sure sealed,
7 One is set to another, ý no winde can come betwene them.
8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together that they can not be sondred.
g That is, casteth out flames of fyre.
9 His niesings g make the light to shine, & his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.
10 Out of his mouth go lampes, & sparkes of fyre leape out.
11 Out of his nostrelles cometh out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.
12 His breath maketh ý coles burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
h Nothing is peinful or hard vnto him.
13 In his necke remaineth strength, and h labour his reiected before his face.
14 The members of his bodie are ioyned: they are strong in them selues, & can not be moued.
15 His heart is as strong as a stone, & as hard as the nether milstone.
16 The mightie are afraied of his maiestie, & for feare they faint in them selues.
17 When the sworde doeth touche him, he wil not rise vp, nor for ý speare, dart nor habergeon.
18 He estemeth yron as strawe, & brasse as rotten wood.
i His skinne is so hard ý he lieth w as great ease on ý stones as in the myre.
k That is, he maketh ý sea to seme as it boiled by his wallowing, or els he sprowteth water in suche abundance, as it wolde seme ý ý sea boyled.
l That is, a white froth, & shining streame before him.
m He despiseth all other beasts, & monsters, & is ý proudest of all others.
19 The archer can not make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.
20 The dartes are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.
21 Sharpe stones i are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.
22 He maketh the depth to k boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oyntement.
23 He maketh a path to l shine after him: one wolde thinke the depth as an hore head.
24 In the earth there is none like him? he is made without feare.
25 He beholdeth m all hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his frendes. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

1 THen Iob answered the Lord, and said, a No thoght so secret, but ý doest scatt, nor anie thing ý ý thinkest, but ý canst bring it to passe
2 I knowe that thou canst do all things, and that there is no a thoght did from thee.
3 Who is he that hideth counsel without b knowledge? therefore haue I spoken ý I vnderstode not, euen things to wonderful for me, c and which I knewe not.
4 Heare, I beseche thee, and I wil speake: I wil demande of thee, d and declare thou vnto me.
5 I haue e heard of thee by ý hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.
6 Therefore I abhorre my self, and repent in dust & ashes.
7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spokē these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Eliphas the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, & against thy two friends: for ye haue not spokē of me the thing that is f right, like my seruant g Iob.
8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rams, and go to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offring, and my seruant Iob shal h pray for you: for I wil accept him, lest I shulde put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, w is right, like my seruant Iob.
9 So Eliphas the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, & Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.
10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the i captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so muche as he had before.
11 Then came vnto him all his k brethren, & all his sisters, & all they that had bene of his acquaintāce before, & did eat bread w him in his house, & had compassion of him, & cōforted him for all the euil, that ý Lord had broght vpon him, & euerie man gaue him a n piece of money, & euerie one an earig of golde.
12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had l fourtene thousand shepe, and six thousand camels, & a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses.
13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
14 And he called the name of one m Iemimah, and the name of the second n Keziah, and the name of the thirde o Kerenhappuch
15 In all the land were no women founde so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.
16 And after this liued Iob an hūdreth & fourtie yeres, and sawe his sonnes, & his sonnes sonnes, euē foure generatiōs.
17 So Iob dyed, beīg olde, & ful of dayes.

b Is there anie but I? for this God laid to his charge. Chap. 38, 2 c I confesse herein mine ignorance, & ý I spake I wist not what.
d He sheweth ý he wil be Gods scholer to learn of him.
e I knewe thee onely before by heare say: but now ý hast caused me to fele what ý art to me, ý I may resigne my self ouer vnto thee.
f You toke in hand an euil cause, in ý you condemned him by his outward afflictions and not comforted him w my mercies.
g Who had a good cause but handeled it euil.
h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for ý fautes ý you haue committed against him, he shal pray for you & I wil heare him.
i He deliuered him out of the affliction wherein he was.
k That is, all his kinred, read, Chap. 19, 13
n Or, Lambe, or money so marked.
l God made him twise so riche in cattel as he was afore, & gaue him as manie children, as he had taken from him.
m That is, of long life, or beautiful as ý day.
n As pleasant as casia, or swete spice.
o That is, ý horne of beautie.

THE

THE PSALMES OF Dauid.

*Or, Praises.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis boke of Psalmes is set forthe vntoys by the holie Goſt to be eſtemed as a moſte precious treaſure, wherein all things are conteined that apperteine to true felicitie: aſwel in this life preſent as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, & heauenlie wiſdome are here ſet open for vs, to take thereof moſte abundantly. If we wolde knowe the great, and hie maieſtie of God, here we may ſe the brightenes thereof ſhine moſte clearely. If we wolde ſeke his incomprehenſible wiſdome, here is the ſchole of the ſame profeſſion. If we wolde comprehend his inestimable bountie, & approche nere thereunto, & fil our hands with that treaſure, here we may haue a moſte liuely, & comfortable taſte thereof. If we wolde knowe wherein ſtandeth our ſaluacion, & how to atteme to life euerlaſting, here is Chriſt our onely redemer, & mediator moſte euidently deſcribed. The riche man may learne the true vſe of his riches. The poore man may fynde ful contentation. He that wil reioyce, ſhal knowe the true ioy, & how to kepe meaſure therein. They that are afflicted & oppreſſed ſhal ſe wherein ſtandeth their comfort, & how they ought to praiſe God when he ſendeth them deliuerance. The wicked & the perſecutors of the children of God ſhal ſe how the hand of God is euer againſt them: and thogh he ſuffer to proſper for a while, yet he brideleth them ſo muche as they can not touche an heere of ones head, except he permit them, & how in the end their deſtruction is moſte miſerable. Briefly, here we haue moſte preſent remedies againſt all tentations, & troubles of minde & conſcience, ſo that being wel practiſed herein, we may be aſſured againſt all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, & at length atteme to that incorruptible crowne of glorie, which is laid vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

PSALME I.

Whether it was Eſdras, or anie other that gathered ſ Pſalmes into a boke, it ſemeth he did ſet this Pſalme firſt in maner of a preface, to exhorte all godlie men to ſtudie, and meditate the heauenlie wiſdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be bleſſed, which giue them ſelues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, thogh they ſeme for while happie, yet at length ſhal come to miſerable deſtruction.

MORNING.

BLeſſed is the man ſ doeth not walke in the[a] counſel of ſ wicked, nor ſtand in ſ way of ſinners, nor ſit in the ſeat of the ſcorneful:

2 But his delite is in ſ Law of ſ Lord, and in his [b]Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he ſhal be like a *tre planted by ſ riuers of waters ſ wil bring forthe her frute in due ſeaſon, whoſe leafe ſhal not fade: ſo[c] whatſoeuer he ſhal do, ſhal proſper

4 [d] The wicked are not ſo, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked ſhal not ſtand in the[e] Iudgement, nor ſinners in the aſſemblie of the righteous.

6 For the Lord[f] knoweth the way of ſ righteous, and the way of the wicked ſhal periſh.

a When a man hathe giuen once place to euil counſel, or to his owne concupiſcence, he beginneth to forget him ſelf in his ſin, and ſo falleth in to contempt of God, w contept is called ſ ſeat of ſ ſcorners. Deu. 6, 6 ioſh. 1. 8 pro. 6, 20

b I the holie Scriptures. Ier. 17, 8

c Gods children are ſo moyſtened euer with his grace that whatſoeuer cometh vnto thē, tendeth to their ſaluation.

d Thogh ſ wicked ſeme to beare ſ ſwinge in this worlde, yet ſ Lord driueth them downe ſ they ſhal not riſe nor ſtand in the companie of the righteous.

e But tremble, when thei fele Gods wrath.

f Doeth approue & proſper, like as not to knowe is to reproue & reiect.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithſtanding his enemies rage, yet God wil continue his kingdome for euer & aduance it euen to the end of the worlde, to And therefore exhorteth Kings & rulers, that they wolde humbly ſubmit them ſelues vnder Gods yoke, becauſe it is in vaine to reſiſte God. Herein is figured Chriſts kingdome.

1 WHy do the[a] heathen *rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band them ſelues, and the princes are aſſembled together againſt the Lord, and againſt his[b] Chriſt.

3 [b] Let vs breake their bands, and caſt their cords from vs

4 *But he that dwelleth in the heauen ſhal laugh: the Lord ſhal haue them in deriſion.

5 [c] Then ſhal he ſpeake vnto thē in his wrath, and vexe them in his ſore diſpleaſure, ſaying, a The conſpiracie of ſ Gentiles ſ murmuring of ſ Iewes, & power of Kings can not preuaile againſt Chriſt. Act 4, 5

*Or, annointed.

b Thus ſ wicked ſay, ſ they wil caſt of the yoke of God & of his Chriſt. Prou. 1, 25 c Gods plagues wil declare that in reſiſting his Chriſt, they foght againſt him.

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holie mountaine.
7 I wil declare the decrée: that is, the Lord hathe said vnto me, * Thou art my Sonne: this [c] day haue I begotten thee.
8 Aske of me, & I shal giue thee the hethen for thine inheritance, and the [f] endes of the earth for thy possession.
9 * Thou shalt krush them [g] a scepter of yron, & breake them in pieces like a potters vessel. Ier.19.10.
10 [g] Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye iudges of the earth.
11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.
12 [h] Kisse the Sonne, lest he be angrie, & ye [i] perish in the waye, when his wrath shal suddenly burne, blessed are all that trust in him.

d To shewe that my vocation to ỹ kingdome is o God. Act.13,23, ebr.1,5 c That is to say, as touching mans knowledge, because it was ỹ first time ỹ Dauid appeared to be elected of God. So it is applied to Christ in his first comming & manifestation to the worlde.
f Not onely the Iewes but the Gentiles also. Rom.2,27
g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time.
h In signe of hommage.
i When ỹ wicked shal say, Peace & reste, seming yet to be but in the midway of their purposes, then shal destruction sodenly come, 2. Thess.5,3

PSAL. III.

Dauid driuen for the of this kingdome, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, & waxeth bolde through his promises against the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yea, against death it self, which he sawe present before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyceth for the good successe, that God gaue him, and all the Church.

A psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

1 LOrd, how are mine aduersaries [a] increased? how manie rise against me?
2 Manie saye to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. [b] Selah.
3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glorie, and the lifter vp of mine head.
4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holie mountaine. Selah.
5 I laied me downe & slept, & rose vp againe: for the Lord susteined me.
6 I wil not be afrayed for [c] ten thousand of the people, that shulde beset me round about.
7 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.
8 [d] Saluacion belongeth vnto the Lord, & thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

a This was a token of his stable faith, ỹ for all his troubles he had his recours to God.
b Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce to cause vs to consider ỹ sentence, as a thing of great importance.
c When he consider the trueth of Gods promes & tried ỹ same, his faith increased maruelously d Be ỹ dangers neuer so great or manie, yet God hathe euer meanes to deliuer his PSAL. IIII.

When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting moste assuredly in his promes and therefore boldely reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldelie treasures.

To him that excelleth on [e] Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HEare me when I call, [b] ô God of my righteousnes: ỹ hast set me at libertie, when I was [c] in distres: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer.
2 O ye [d] sonnes of men, how long wil ye turne my glorie into shame, [e] louing vanitie & seking lyes? Selah.
3 For be ye sure that the Lord hathe chosen to him self [f] a godlie man: the Lord wil heare when I cal vnto him.
4 [g] Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be [h] stil. Selah.
5 [i] Offer the sacrifices of righteousnes, and trust in the Lord.
6 Manie saye, Who wil shew vs anie [k] good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.
7 Thou hast giuen me more ioye of heart, thē they haue had, when their wheat and there wine did abounde.
8 I wil saye me downe, and also slepe in peace: for thou, Lord, [l] onely makest me dwel in sauetie.

a Among thē ỹ were appointed to sing the Psalmes, & to play on ỹ instruments, one was appointed chief to set ỹ tune, & to beginne: who had the charge because he was moste excellent & he began this Psalm on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.
b Thou ỹ art ỹ defender of my iust cause.
c Bothe of minde and body.
d Ye ỹ thinke your selues noble in this world.
e Thogh your entreprises please you neuer so muche, yet God wil bring them to noght.
f A King ỹ walketh in his vocacion.
g For feare of Gods iudgemēt, h Cease your rage.
i Serue God purely & not with outward ceremonies.
k The multitude seke worldlie welth, but Dauid setteth his felicitie in Gods fauour l This worde in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it is here trāslated, or to Dauid, signifying ỹ he shulde dwel as ioyfully alone, as if he had manie about him because ỹ Lord is with him.

PSAL. V.

To him that excelleth vpon [n] Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HEare my wordes, ô Lord: vnderstād my [a] meditation.
2 Hearken vnto the voice of my crye my King and my God: for vnto thee do I praye.
3 Heare my voice in the morning, ô Lord: for in the morning wil I direct me vnto thee, and I wil [b] wait.
4 For thou art not a God that loueth [c] wickednes: nether shal euil dwel with thee.
5 [d] The foolish shal not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.
6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord wil abhorre the bloodie man and deceitful.
7 But I [e] will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: & in thy feare n Or, a musical instrument or tune.

a That is, my vehement prayer & secret cōplaint & sighings.
b With pacience and trust til I be heard.
c Seing ỹ God of nature hateth wickednes, he must nedes punish ỹ wicked & saue the godlie.
d Which runne moste ragingly after their carnal affections.
e In ỹ deepest of his tentations he putteth his ful confidence in wil

wil I worship towarde thine holie Tẽple.

8 Lead me, ô Lord, in thy righteousnes, f becaufe of mine enemies: make thy waie plaine before my face.

9 For no conſtancie is in their mouth: within, thei are very corruption: their *throte is an open ſepulchre, & they flatter with their tongue.

10 Deſtroye them, ô God: ‖let them g fall from their counſels: caſt them out for the multitude of their iniquities, becauſe thei haue rebelled againſt thee.

11 And h let all them that truſt in thee, reioyce & triumphe for euer, & couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt ‖ bleſſe the righteous, & with fauour i wilt compas him, as with a ſhield.

f Becauſe ỹ art iuſt, therefore lead me out of the dangers of mine enemies. Rom. 3, 13

‖ Or, cauſe them to erre.

g Let their deuiſes come to noght.

h Thy fauour towarde me ſhal confirme ỹ faith of all others.

‖ Or, giue good ſucceſſe.

i So ỹ he ſhal be ſafe from all dangers.

PSAL. VI.

To the victorie.

When Dauid by his ſinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand againſt him but alſo conceiued the horrors of death euerlaſting, he deſiret h forgiuenes, 6 Bewailing ỹ if God take him awaie in his indignatiõ, he ſhulde lake occaſion to praiſe him as he was wont to do, whiles he was among men. 9 Then ſuddenly feling Gods mercie, he ſharpely rebuketh his enemies & reioyced in his afflictiõ.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tune. A Pſalme of Dauid.

O Lord, *a rebuke me not in thine angre, nether chaſtiſe me in the wrath.

2 Haue mercie vpon me, ô Lord, for I am weake: ô Lord heale me, for my bbones are vexed.

3 cMy ſoule is alſo ſore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, ô Lord: deliuer my ſoule: ſaue me for thy mercies ſake.

5 For in ddeath there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who ſhal praiſe thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cauſe my bed euery night to ſwimme, & watter my couche with my teares.

7 ‖Mine eye is dimmed for deſpite, and ſunke in becauſe of all mine enemies.

8 eAwaie from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hathe heard the voyce of my weping.

9 The Lord hathe heard my petition: the Lord wil receiue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies ſhalbe confounded & ſore vexed: they ſhal be turned backe, & put to ſhame ſuddenly.

a Thogh I defer ue deſtruction, yet let thy mercie pitie my frailtie.

b For my whole ſtrength is abated.

c His cõſcience is alſo touched ỹ feare of Gods iudgemẽt.

d He lameteth ỹ occaſion ſhulde be taken from him to praiſe God in ỹ Congregation. Ier. 10, 24

‖ Or, mine eye is eaten as it were ỹ wormes.

e God ſendeth comfort & boldnes in affliction, ỹ we may triumphe ouer our enemies.

f When ỹ wicked thinke tha the godlie ſhalt periſh, God deliuereth them ſuddenly & deſtroyeth their enemies.

PSAL. VII.

Being falſely accuſed by Chuſh one of Sauls kinſemen, he calleth to God to be his defender. 2 To whome he commendeth his innocencie, 9 Firſt ſhewing that his conſcience did not accuſe him of anie euil toward Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glorie to awarde ſentence againſt the wicked. 12 And ſo entring into the conſideration of Gods mercies and promes, he waxed bolde and derideth the vaine entrepriſes of his enemies, 16 Threatening that it ſhal fall on their owne necke that which they haue purpoſed for others.

‖ *Shigaion of Dauid, which he ſang vnto the Lord, concerning the‖ wordes of * Chuſh the ſonne of Iemini.*

1 O Lord my God, in thee I put my truſt: ſaue me from all that perſecute me, and deliuer me.

2 Leſt a he deuoure my ſoule like a lion, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord my God, if I haue done b this thing: if there be anie wickednes in mine hands,

4 cIf I haue rewarded euil vnto him that had peace with me, (yea I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cauſe)

5 Then let the enemie perſecute my ſoule and take it: yea, let him treade my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine dhonour in the duſt. Selah.

6 Ariſe, ô Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy ſelfe againſt the rage of mine enemies, and awake for me according to the e iudgement that thou haſt appointed.

7 So ſhal the Congregacion of the people compaſſe thee about: for their ſakes therefore f returne on hie.

8 The Lord ſhal iudge the people, iudge ỹ me, ô Lord, according to my g righteouſnes, and according to mine innocencie, that is in me.

9 Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an end: but guide thou the iuſt: for the righteous God tryeth the h hearts and raines.

10 My defenſe is in God, who preſerueth the vpright in heart.

11 God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God, ieuerie day.

12 Except k he turne, he hathe whet his ſworde: he hathe bent his bowe and made it readie.

13 He hathe alſo prepared him deadly weapons: he wil ordeine his arrowes for them that perſecute me.

14 *Beholde, he ſhal trauail with wickednes: for he hathe cõceiued miſchief but he ſhal bring forthe a lye.

‖ Or, kinde of tune.

‖ Or, accuſation. 2. Sam. 16, 7

a He deſireth God to deliuer him from ỹ rage of cruel Saul.

b wherewith Chuſh chargeth me.

c If I reuerẽced not Saul for affinities ſake and preſerued his life, 1. Sam. 26, 8

d Let me not onely dye, but be diſhonored for euer.

e In promiſing me ỹ kingdome

f Not onely for mine, but for thy Church ſake declare thy power.

g As touching my behauiour toward Saul and mine enemies.

h Thogh they pretend a iuſte cauſe againſt me, yet God ſhal iudge their hypocriſie.

i He doeth continually call the wicked to repẽtance by ſome ſignes of his iudgementes.

k Except Saul turne his minde I dye: for he hath bothe men & weapons to deſtroy me, Thus conſidering his great danger, he magnifieth Gods grace. Iſa. 59, 4. Iob 15, 35.

15 He hathe made a pit and digged it, & is fallen into the pit that he made.
16 His mischief shal returne vpon his owne head, and his crueltie shal fall vpon his owne pate.
17 I wil praise the Lord according to his [1] righteousnes, and wil sing praise to the Name of the Lord moste high.

[1] In keping faithfull y his promes w me.

PSAL. VIII.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberalitie & fatherlie providence of God towards man, whome he made, as it were a god ouer all his workes, dooth not onely giue great thankes, but is astonished with the admiration of the same, as one nothing able to compasse suche great mercies.

To him that excelleth on [a] Gittith. A Psalme of Dauid.

[a] Or, kinde of instrument, or tune.

1 O Lord our Lord, how [a] excellent is thy Name in all the worlde? which hast set thy glorie aboue the heauens.
2 Out of the [a] mouth of babes & sucklings hast thou [b] ordeined strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest [b] stil the enemie and the auenger.
3 When I beholde thine heauens, euen y workes of thy fingers, the moone and y starre which thou hast ordeined,
4 What is [b] ma, say I, that thou art mindful of him? and the sonne of man, that y visitest him?
5 For thou hast made him a litle lower then [c] God, and crowned him with glorie and worship.
6 Thou hast made him to haue dominiō in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his fete.
7 All [d] shepe and oxen: yea, and the beastes of the field:
8 The foules of the aire, and the fish of y sea, & that which passeth through y paths of the seas.
9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the worlde?

Or, noble or maruelous.

a Thogh y wicked wolde hide Gods praises yet the very babes are sufficient witnesses of y same.
[b] Or, established.
[b] Or, cōfounde.
b It had bene sufficient for hī to haue set forthe his glorie by the heauens, thogh he had not come so low as to man, w is but dust
c Touching his first creation.
d By y temporal gifts of mans creation he is led to consider y benefites w he hathe by his regeneration through Christ.

PSAL. IX

1 After he had giuen thankes to God for the sundrie victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifolde experience how readie God was at hand in all his troubles. 14 He being now likewise in danger of newe enemies, desireth God to helpe him according to his wonte, 17 And to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

To him that excelleth vpon [a] Muth Labben. A Psalme of Dauid.

[a] Or, kinde of instrument. or tune: or for the death of Labben or Gotlith.

1 I Wil praise the Lord with my [a] whole heart: I wil speake of all thy marueilous workes.
2 I wil be glad, and reioyce in thee: I wil sing praise to thy Name, ô moste high,
3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shal fall, and perish at thy presence.
4 For [b] thou hast mainteined my right & my cause: thou art set in the throne, & iudgest right.
5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroied the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.
6 [c] O enemie, destructions are come to perpetual end, and thou hast destroied the cities: their memorial is perished w them.
7 But the Lord [a] shal sit for euer: he hathe prepared his throne for iudgement.
8 For he shal iudge the worlde in righteousnes & shal iudge the people with equitie.
9 The Lord also wil be a refuge for th [d] poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.
10 And they that knowe thy Name, wil trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seke thee.
11 Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes.
12 For [e] when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembreth it, & forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.
13 Haue mercie vpon me, ô Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffre of them that hate me, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death, 14 That I maie shewe all thy praises within the [f] gates of the daughter of Zion, & reioyce in thy saluacion.
15 The heathen are [g] sunken downe in the pit, that thei made: in the net that they hid, is their fote taken.
16 [h] The Lord is knowen by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne hands. [a] Higgaion. Selah.
17 The wicked shal turne into hel, & all nations that forget God.
18 For the poore shal not be alwaie forgotten: the hope [i] of the afflicted shal not perish for euer.
19 Vp Lord: let not man prenaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight.
20 Put them in feare, ô Lord that the heathen maie know that they are but [k] men. Selah.

a God is not praised, except y whole glorie be giuen to him alone.
b How soeuer y enemie seme for a time to preuaile, yet God preserueth the iust.
c A derision of the enemie, that mindeth nothig but destruction: but y Lord wil deliuer his, and bring him into iudgement.
[a] Or, reigne as Iudge.
d Our miseries are meanes to cause vs to fe Gods present le re ouer vs. ca
e Thogh God re uengeth not sodenly y wrong done to his, yet he suffreth not y wicked vnpunished.
f In the open assemblie of the Church.
g For God ouerthroweth the wicked in their entreprises.
h The mercie of God toward his Saints must be declared, and the fall of the wicked must alwaies be considered.
[a] Or, this is worthy to be noted.
i God promiseth not to helpe vs before we haue felt the crosse.
h Which they can not learne without the feare of thy Iudgement.

PSAL. X.

1 He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, & all kindes of wrong, which worldelie men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were dronken w worldelie prosperitie, & therefore setting aparte all feare and reuerēce towards God, thinke thei may do all things without cōtrowling. Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperat euils, 16 And at length cōforteth him selfe with hope of deliuerance.

1 WHy standest thou farre of, ô Lord, & hidest thee in [a] due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hathe [b] made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth him selfe: he contemneth ỹ Lord.

4 The wicked is so proude that he seketh not for God: he thinketh alwaies, There is no God.

5 His waies alwaies prosper: thy iudgements are hie aboue his sight: therefore [*] defieth he all his enemies.

6 He saieth in his heart, I shal [*] neuer be moued, [c] nor be in danger.

7 His mouth his ful of cursing and disceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie.

8 [d] He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murther the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lieth in waite to spoile the poore: he doeth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He crowcheth & boweth: therefore heapes of the [e] poore do fall by his might.

11 He hathe said in his heart, God hathe forgotten, he hideth awaie his face, & wil neuer se.

12 [f] Arise, ô Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Wherefore doeth the wicked contēne God? he saieth in his heart, Thou wilt not [g] regarde.

14 Yet thou hast sene it: for thou beholdest mischief & wrong, that thou maiest [h] take it into thine hands: the poore committeth him selfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherles.

15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, & thou shalt finde [i] none.

16 The Lord is king for euer and euer: ỹ [k] heathen are destroyed forthe of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of ỹ poore: thou prepareste their heart: thou bendest thine eare to them, 18 [l] To iudge the fatherles and poore, that earthlie man [*] cause to feare no more.

a So sone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God shulde helpe vs, but ỹ is not alwaies his due time.

b ỹ wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust: he boasteth when he hathe ỹ he woldesire: he braggeth of his wit and welth, & blesseth him selfe, and thus blaspheme th ỹ Lord.

[*] Or, not be moued because he was neuer in euil.

c The euil shal not touche me, Iſa. 29, 15. or els he speaketh thus because he neuer felt euil.

d He sheweth ỹ ỹ wicked haue many meanes to hide their cruelties, & therefore ought more to be feared.

e By ỹ hypocrisie of them ỹ haue autoritie the poore are discoured.

f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so farre ouer growen ỹ God must now helpe or neuer.

g Therefore ỹ must needes punish this their blasphemie.

h To iudge betwene ỹ right & the wrong.

i For ỹ hast vterly destroyed him.

k The hypocrites, or such as liue not after Gods law, shal be destroyed.

l God helpeth when mans helpe ceaseth.

[*] Or, destroy no more man vpō the earth.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalme conteineth two partes. In the first Dauid sheweth how harde assaltes of tentacions he susteined, & in how great anguish of minde he was when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God set him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice aswel in gouerning the good, & the wicked men, as the whole worlde.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid

1 IN the Lord put I my truste: how say ye then to my soule, [a] Flie to your mountaine as a birde?

2 For lo, the wicked bend their bowe, & make readie their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them, which are vpright in heart.

3 For the [b] fundacions are cast downe: what hathe the [c] righteous done?

4 The Lord is in his holie palace: the Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes [d] wil consider: his eye lids wil trye the children of men.

5 The Lord wil trye the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

6 Vpon the wicked he shal raine snares, [e] fyer, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the [f] porcion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doeth beholde the iuste.

a This is ỹ wicked counsel of his enemies to him & his companions, to driue him from ỹ hope of Gods promes.

b All hope of succour is taken awaye.

c Yet am I innocent & my cause good.

d Thogh all things in earth be out of order yet God wil execute iudgement from heauen.

e As in ỹ destruction of Sodom & Gomorrah.

f Which they shal drinke euen to the dregs, Ezech. 23, 34.

PSAL. XII.

EVirmg P

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, & ỹ decay of all good order desireth God spedely to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting him self and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keping his promises.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HElpe Lord, for there is not [a] a godlie man left: for the faithful are failed from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euerie one w his neighbour, [b] flattering w their lippes & speake with a double heart.

3 The Lord cut of all flattering lippes, & the tongue that speaketh proude things:

a Which dare defende ỹ trueth, & shewe mercie to ỹ oppressed.

b He meaneth ỹ flaterers of the courte, w hurt him more with their tongues then with their weapons.

c They thinke them selues able to persuade whatsoeuer thei take in hand d The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, & deliuereth in the end from all dangers.
e Because the Lordes worde & promes is true & vnchangeable, he wil performe it and preserue ỹ poore from this wicked generation.
f That is thine, thogh be were but one man.
g For thei suppres the godlie & mainteine the wicked.

4 Which haue said, e With our tongue wil we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is lord ouer vs?
5 d Now for the oppression of the nedie, & for the sighes of the poore, I wil vp saieth the Lord, & wil e set libertie him, whome the wicked hathe snared.
6 The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as the siluer, tryed in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde.
7 Thou wilt kepe f them, ô Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generacio for euer.
8 The wicked walke on euerie side: whe they are exalted, g it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

PSAL. XIII.

1 Dauid as it were ouercome with sundrie and newe afflictions, fleeth to God as his onelie refuge. 3 And so at the length being encouraged through Gods promises, he conceiueth moste sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a He declareth ỹ his afflictions lasted a long time, & that his faith fainted not.
b Changing my purpose as the sicke man doeth his place.
c Which might turne to Gods dishonour if he did not defend his.
d The mercie of God is the cause of our saluacion.
e Bathe by ỹ benefites past & by others to come.

1 HOw long wilt thou forget me, ô Lord, a For euer? how long wilt ỹ hyde thy face from me?
2 How long shal I take b counsel within my self, hauing wearines daiely in mine heart? how long shal mine enemie be exalted aboue me?
3 Beholde, & heare me, ô Lord my God? lighten mine eyes, that I slepe not in death:
4 Lest mine enemie saie, I haue c preuailed against him: & they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide,
5 But I trust in thy d mercie: mine heart shal reioyce in thy saluacion. I wil sing to the Lord, because he hathe e delt louingly with me.

PSAL. XIIII.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so growen to licentiousnes, that God was broght to vtter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieued, yet being persuaded that God wolde send some present remedie, he comforteth him self & others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid

Psal. 53
a He sheweth ỹ the cause of all wickednes is to forget God.
b There is nothing but disorder & wickednes among the.

1 THe foole hathe said in his heart, a There is no God: they haue b corrupted, and done an abomin ble worke: there is none that doeth good.
2 The Lord loked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to se if there were anie that wolde vnderstand, & seke God.
3 c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.
4 Do not all the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eat vp my people, as they eat bread? they call not vpon the Lord.
5 d There they shal be taken with feare, because God is in the generacion of the iust.
6 You haue made e a mocke of the counsel of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.
7 Oh giue saluacion vnto f Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shal reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

c Dauid here maketh comparison betwene ỹ faithful & the reprobat: but S. Paul speaketh ỹ same of all men naturally, Rom. 3, 10.
d Where they thinke thé selues moste sure.
e You mocke them ỹ put their trust in God.
f He prayeth for ỹ whole Church, whome he is assured God wil deliuer: for none but he onely cā do it.

PSAL. XV.

Morning P.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightely and godly, might witnes that they were his special & holie people.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a First God requireth vprightenes of life, next doing wel to others, and thirdely trueth and simplicitie in our wordes.
b He ỹ flattereth not ỹ vngodlie ỹ their wickednes
c To ỹ hinderāce of his neighbour.
d That is, shal not be cast for the of ỹ Church as hypocrites.

1 LOrd, who shal dwel in thy Tabernacle? who shal rest in thine holie Mountayne?
2 He that a walketh vprightly and worketh righteousnes, and speaketh the trueth in his heart.
3 He that slandreth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false reporte against his neighbour.
4 b In whose eyes a vile persone is contemned, but he honoreth them that feare the Lord: he ỹ sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.
5 He that c giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against ỹ innocent: he that doeth these things, d shal neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faiths sake, 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatrie, taking God onelie for his cōfort & felicitie, 8 Who suffreth his to lacke nothing.

¶ Michtam of Dauid.

a Or, a certeine tune.
e He sheweth ỹ we can not call vpon God, except we trust in him.

1 PReserue me, ô God: for in thee do I a trust.
2 O my soule, thou hast said vnto ỹ Lord, Thou

Thou art my Lord: my [b] weldoing extendeth not to thee,

But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them.

The [c] sorowes of them: that offer to another god, shal be multiplied: [d] their offrings of blood will I not offer, nether make mencion of their names with my lippes.

The Lord is the porcion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt maintein my lot.

The [e] lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

I wil praise the Lord, who hath giuē me counsel: my [f] reines also teache me in the nights.

I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, therefore I [g] shal not slide.

Wherefore [h] mine heart is glad & my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope.

For thou [i] wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: nether wilt thou suffer thine holie one to se corruption.

Thou wilt shewe me the path of life: in thy [k] presence is the fulnes of ioye: & at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

b Though we can not enriche God yet we must bestowe Gods gifts to ỹ vse of his children.
c As grief of conscience and miserable destruction.
d He wolde nether by outward profession nor in heart nor in mouth consent to their idolatries.
e Wherewith my porcion is measured.
f God teacheth me continually by secret inspiracion.
g The faithful are sure to perseuere to ỹ end.
h That is, I reioyce bothe in bodie & i soule.
i This is chiefly ment of Christ, by whose resurrection all his mebers haue immortalitie.
k Where God ignoreth, there is perfite felicitie.

PSAL. XVII.

Here he complaineth to God of the cruel pride and arrogancie of Saul, & the rest of his enemies, who thus raged without anie cause giuen on his parte. 6 Therefore he desireth God to reuēge his innocencie, & deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

HEare [a] the right, ô Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

Let my [b] sentence come forthe from thy presence, & let thine eyes beholde equitie.

Thou hast [c] proued & visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, & foundest nothing: for I was purposed ỹ my [d] mouth should not offend.

Concerning the workes of men, by the [e] wordes of thy lippes I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

Stay my steps in thy paths, that my fete do not slide.

I haue called vpon thee: [f] surely thou wilt heare me, ô God: incline thine eare to me, & hearken vnto my wordes.

Shewe thy maruelous mercies, thou that art the Sauiour of them that trust in thee, from suche as [g] resist thy right hand.

Kepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadow of thy wings,

From the wicked that oppresse me rounde about for [h] my soule.

They are inclosed in their owne [i] fatt, & they haue spoke proudly with their mouth.

They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the grounde:

Like as a lyon that is gredie of praye, & as it were a lyons whelpe lurking in secret places.

Vp Lord, [k] disapoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde,

From men by thine [l] hand, ô Lord, from men of [m] ỹ worlde, who haue their [n] porcion in this life, whose belies thou fillest w thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children,

But I wil beholde [o] thy face in righteousnes, & when I awake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

a My righteous cause.
b The vengeance ỹ shalt shewe against mine enemies.
c When thy Spirit examined my cōscience. d I was innocēt towarde mine enemie bothe in dede & thoght.
e Though ỹ wicked prouoked me to do euil for euil, yet thy worde kept me backe.
f He was assured ỹ God wolde not refuse his requeste.
g For all rebell against thee, w trouble thy Churche.
h For their enemitie can not be satisfied but w my death.
i They are puffe vp w pride as ỹ stomake ỹ is choked w fat.
k Stop his rage.
l Or, which is thy sworde.
l By thine heauenlie power.
n Or, whose tyrannie hathe to long endured.
m And sele not the smartỹ God children oft times do.
n This is ỹ ful felicitie, comforting against all assaltes, to haue the face of God & fauorable countenance opened vnto vs.
o And am deliuered out of my troubles.

PSAL. XVIII.

Euening.

This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation, and thankesgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein he excelleth & praiseth moste highly the maruelous mercies and grace of God, who hathe thus preserued & defended him. 32 Also he setteth forthe the image of Christs kingdome, that the faithful may be assured that Christ shal alwayes conquer and ouercome by the vnspeakeable power of his Father, thogh all ỹ whole worlde shuld destriue there against.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto ỹ Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said,

I * Wil loue thee derely, ô Lord my strength. 2.Sam.22,1

The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God & my strēgth: in him wil I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluacion, & my refuge.

I wil call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be [b] praised: so shal I be safe frō mine enemies.

The [c] sorowes of death compassed me & the floods of wickednes made me afraied,

The [d] sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertoke me.

But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he a He vseth this diuersitie of names, to shewe, ỹ as ỹ wicked haue many meanes to hurt, so God hathe manie wayes to helpe.

b For none can obteine their requests of God, ỹ ioyne not his glorie w their petition.
c He speaketh of ỹ dangers & malice of his enemies, frō ỹ w God had deliuered him.

heard my voyce out of his Temple, & my crye did come before him, euen into his eares.

d A description of the wrath of God against his enemies after he had heard his praiers.

7 d Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the fundacions also of the mountaines moued and shoke, because he was angrie.

e He sheweth how horrible Gods iudgemẽts shal be to ỹ wicked.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a e cõsuming fyre out of his mouth: coles were kindled there at.

9 He bowed the heauens, also and came downe, and f darkenes was vnder his fete.

f Darknes signifieth ỹ wrath of God, as ỹ cleare light signifieth Gods fauour.

10 And he rode vpon g Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

g This is described at large psal. 140.

11 He made darkenes his h secret place, & his pauilion rounde about him, euen darkenes of waters, & cloudes of the aire.

h As a Ring angrie wt ỹ people, wil not shew hi self vnto them.

12 At the brightenes of his presence his cloudes passed, haile stones and coles of fyre.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heaue and the Highest gaue i his voyce, haile stones and coles of fyre.

i Thundred, lightened, and hailed.

14 Then he sent out k his arrowes & scattered them, & he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

k His lightenings.

15 And the chanels of waters were sene, & the l fundacions of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, ô Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels.

l That is, ỹ depe bottoms were sene, when ỹ red Sea was deuided.

16 He hathe sent downe from aboue & taken me, he hathe drawen me out of manie waters.

m Out of sundris, & greae dãgers.

17 He hathe deliuered me from my n strong enemie and from them which hate me: for they were o to strong for me.

n To wit, Saul.

o Therefore God sent me suc cour.

18 They preuented me in the daye of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

p The cause of Gods deliueran ce is his honestie fauour & loue to vs.

19 He broght me forthe also into a large place: p he deliuered me because he fauored me.

q Dauid was sure of his righteous cause and good behauiour toward Saul & his enemies and therefore was assured of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my q righteousnes: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, & did not wickedly against my God.

r For all his dangers he exercised him self in ỹ Law of God.

22 For all his Lawes were before me, & I did not cast away his r cõmandements from me.

ſ I neither gaue place to their wicked tentations, nur to mine owne affections.

23 I was vpright also with him, and haue kept me from my ſ wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnes, & according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight.

t Here he speaketh of God according to our capacitie, who sheweth mercie mercie to his & punisheth the wicked, as is said also, Leuit. 26, 21.

25 With the t godlie thou wilt shewe thy self godlie: with the vpright man thou wilt shewe thy self vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy self pure, & with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy self froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt v cast downe the proude lokes.

v When their sinne is come to ỹ ful measure.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candel: the Lord my God wil lighte my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue x broken through an hoste: and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

x He attributeth it to God ỹ he both gate the victorie in the field, & also destroyed the cities of his enemies.

30 The waye of God is vncorrupt: the y worde of the Lord is tryed in the fyre: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

y Be ỹ dangers neuer so manie or great, yet Gods promes must take effect.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? & who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my z waye vpright.

z He giueth good successe to all mine entreprises.

33 He maketh my fete like hindes fete, and setteth me vpon mine a high places.

a As towres & fortes, wher he take out of hãds of Gods enemies.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a boxe or b brasse is broken with mine armes.

b Or, steele.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the b shield of thy saluacio, and thy right hand hathe stayed me, & thy c louing kindenes hath caused me to increase.

b To defend me from dangers.

c He attributeth the beginning, continuãce & increase in weldoing onely to Gods fauour.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steppes vnder me, and mine heles haue not slid.

37 d I haue pursued mine enemies, and take them, and haue not turned againe til I had consumed them.

d Dauid declareth ỹ he did nothing besides his vocation, but was stirred vp by Gods spirit to execute his iudgemẽts.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my fete.

e Thou hast giuen them into mine handsto be slaine.

39 For thou hast girded me wt strength to battel: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast e giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroye them that hate me.

41 They f cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

f Thei ỹ reiect ỹ crye of ỹ afflicted: God wil also reiect them, when they crye for helpe: for ether peine or feare cause those hypocrites to crye.

42 Then I did beate them smale as the dust before the winde: I did tread thẽ flat as the claye in the stretes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the g heathen: a people, whome I haue not h knowen, shal serue me.

g Which dwel round about me

h The kingdome of Christ is in Dauids kingdome prefigured who by ỹ preaching of his worde bringeth all to his subiection.

44 As sone as they heare, they shal obey me: the strangers shal i be in subiection to me.

i Or, lye: signifying a subiection constrained and not voluntarie.

45 Strangers shal k shrinke away, and feare in their priuie chambers:

k Feare shal cause thẽ to be afraied & come forthe of their secret holes to seke pardon.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluacion be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

l That is, Saul, who of malice persecuted him

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me vp from them, ỹ rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from l the cruel man.

49 There-

m This prophecie apperteineth to ỹ kingdome of Christ, & vocation of ỹ Gentiles, as Rom. 15, 9 n This did not properly apperteine to Salomō but to Iesus Christ.

Chap. XIX.

a He reprocheth vnto man his ingratitude, seing ỹ heauēs, w are dumme creatures, set forthe Gods glorie.

b The continual succesſe of ỹ daye & ỹ night is sufficient to declare Gods power & goodnes.

c The heauens are a scholemaster to all nacions, be they neuer so barbarous.

d The heauens are as a line of great capital letters to shewe vnto vs gods glorie.

Dauid in the persone of the people praiseth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Wherein the holie Goſt directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 THe King shal [a] reioyce in thy strength, ô Lord: yea, how greatly shal he reioyce in thy saluation?

2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, & hast not denied him the requeſt of his lippes. Selah.

[b] Or, I cease not.

c He meaneth ỹ place of prai-sing, euen ỹ Tabernacle: for els it is so called, because he gaue ỹ people continually occasion to praise him.

d And seming moste miserable of all creatures, wt was ment of Christ. And herein appeareth ỹ vnspeakable loue of God toward man, ỹ he wolde thus abase his Sonne for our sakes.

1 MY [a] God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, & art so farre from mine health, & from the wordes of my [b] roaring?

2 O my God, I crye by daie, but thou hearest not; and by night, but [c] haue no audience.

3 But thou art holie, and doest inhabite the [c] praises of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them.

5 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a [d] worme and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

7 All they that se me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe & nod the head, saying,

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the worlde, (which for the moste parte thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders & tempestes, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And thogh thereby God threateneth sinners yet is he alwaies merciful to his, & moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 GIue vnto the Lord, ye a sonnes of ỹ mightie: giue vnto the Lord glorie and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glorie due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

3 The b voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voice of the Lord is mightie: the voice of the Lord is glorious.

5 The c voice of the Lord breaketh the cedres: yea, ỹ Lord breaketh the cedres of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and d Shirion like a yong vnicorne.

7 The voice of the Lord deuideth the e flames of fyre.

8 The voice of the Lord maketh ỹ wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh ỹ wildernes of f Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh ỹ hindes to g calue, & h discouereth the forests: therefore in his i Temple doeth euerie man speake of his glorie.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the k flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shal giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shal blesse his people with peace.

a He exhorteth the proude tyrants to humble them selues vnder Gods hād and not to be inferiour to brute beasts & dūme creatures.

b The thunder clappes, that are heard out of the cloudes, ought to make the wicked to tremble for fere of Gods angre.

c That is ỹ thūderbolte breaketh the moste strong trees, and shal men thinke their power to be able to resist God:

d Called also Hermon.

e It causeth the lightenings to shote & glyde.

f In places most desolate, where as semeth there is no presence of God.

g For feare maketh thē to cast their calues.

h Maketh the trees bare, or pereth the most secret places.

i Thogh ỹ wicked are nothing moued wt these sights, yet the faithful praise God.

k To moderat ỹ rage of the tempest & waters, that they destroy not all.

PSAL. XXX.

Mourning

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great danger, herendred thankes to God exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful thē seuere and rigourous towards his children, 8 And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 9 This done, he returneth to praier, promising to praise God for euer.

¶* A Psalme or song of the dedication of the a house of Dauid.

1 I Wil magnifie thee, ô Lord: b for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 Sam. 7. 2.

a After that Absalom had polluted it wt moste filthie fornication.

b He condēneth thē of great ingratitude, wt do not praise God for his benefices.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou hast [c] restored me.

c Restored from the rebellion of Absalom.

3 O Lord, thou hast broght vp my [d] soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that go downe into the pit.

d Meaning that he escaped death moste narowly.

4 Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye [e] his Saints, and giue thankes [f] before the remembrance of his Holines.

e The worde signifieth thē, that haue receiued mercie & shew mercie liberally vnto others.

5 * For he endureth but a while in his angre: but in his fauour is life: weping maie abide at euening, but ioye cometh in the morning.

f Before his Tabernacle.

Psal.145,8, isai.54,7. 2.cor.4,17.

6 And in my [g] prosperitie I said, I shal neuer be moued.

g I put to much confidence in my quiet state. 2s Ier.31,25. 2.chr.32,24.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadest made my [h] mountaine to stand strong: but thou dideste hide thy face, and I [i] was troubled.

h I thoght thou hadest established me in Zion moste surely.

i After that thou hadest withdrawenthine helpe, I felt my miserie.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, ô Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, whē I go downe to the pit? shal the dust [k] giue thankes vnto thee? or shal it declare thy trueth?

k Dauid meaneth that ỹ dead are not profitable to the Congregacion of ỹ Lord here in earth: therefore he wolde liue to praise his Name, which is the end of mās creation.

10 Heare, ô Lord, and haue mercie vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioye: thou hast loosed my sacke & girded me with gladnes.

12 Therefore shal my [l] tongue praise thee and not cease: ô Lord my God, I wil giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

l Because thou hast preserued me, that my tongue shulde praise thee, I wil not be vnmindeful of my duetie.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eies, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwaies readie to those that feare him. 20 Finally he exhorteth all the faithful to trust in God and to loue him, because he preserueth and strengtheneth them, as they may se by his example.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1.Sam.23,24.

1 IN *thee, ô Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy [a] righteousnes.

a For then God declareth him self iuste, when he preserueth his according as he hathe promised.

2 Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strōg rocke, & an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortres: therefore for thy Names sake dire & me & guide me.

b preserue me from the crafte counsels & subtil practises of mine enemies.

4 Drawe me out of the [b] net, that they haue laied priuely for me: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine [c] hand I commende my spirit: for thou hast redemed me, ô Lord God of trueth.

c He destroth God not onely to take care for him in this life, but that his soule may be saued after this life.

6 I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitful vanities: for I [d] trust in the Lord.

d This affection ought to be in all Gods children, to hate what soeuer thing is not grounded vpon a sure trust in God, as deceitful and vaine.

7 I wilbe glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast sene my trouble: thou hast knowen my soule in aduersities,

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enemie, but hast set my fete at [e] large.

e Largenes signifieth comfort, as straitnes, sorow and peril.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, ô Lord: for I am in trouble: mine [f] eye, my soule & my bellie are consumed with grief.

f Meaning, that his sorow and torment had cōtinued a great while.

10 For my life is wasted with heauines, and my yeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my peine, & my bones are consumed.

11 I was a [g] reproche among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, [h] who seing me in the strete, fled from me.

g Mine enemies had drawen all men to their parte against me, euen my chief friends.

h Thei were afraied to shew me anie token of frend ship.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the railing of [i] great mē: feare was on euerie side, while they conspired together against me, & consulted to take my life.

i Thei that were in autoritie, condēned me as a wicked doer.

14 But I trusted in thee, ô Lord: I said, [k] Thou art my God.

k I had this testimonie of conscience, ỹ thou wold'st defend mine innocēcie.

15 My [l] times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

l Whatsoeuer changes come, thou gouernest thē by thy prouidence.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, & saue me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, ô Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, & [m] to silence in the graue.

m Let death destroy them to ỹ intēt ỹ thei may hurt no more.

18 Let the lying lippes be made dumme, which cruelly, proudely & spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which ỹ [n] hast laied vp for them that feare thee? & done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men?

n The treasures of Gods mercie are alwaies laied vp in store for his childrē, albeit at all times thei do not enioye them.

20 Thou doest hide them [o] priuely in thy presence from the pride of mē: thou kepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

Ebr. in the secret of thy face.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hathe shewed his maruelous kindenes towarde me in a [p] strong citie.

o That is, in a place where thei shal haue thy comfort, & be hid safely from ỹ enemies pride.

22 Thogh I said in mine [q] haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my praier, when I cryed vnto thee.

p Meaning, there was no citie so strong to preserue him, as ỹ defence of Gods fauour.

23 Loue ye the Lord all his [r] Saints, for the Lord preserueth the faithful, and rewardeth abundantly the proude doer.

q And so by my rashnes & infidelitie deserued to haue bene forsaken.

24 All ye that trust in ỹ Lord, be [s] strong, and he shal establish your heart.

r Or, ye that fele his mercies.

EVening.

Dauid punished with grieuous sickenes for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whome God doeth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obteined pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

¶ Psalme of Dauid to giue [a] instruction.

BLessed is he whose wickednes is [b] forgiuen, & whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whome the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, & in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I helde my [c] tongue, my bones consumed, or when I [d] roared all the day,

4 (For thine hand is heauie vpon me, daie & night: & my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah)

5 The I [e] acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, nether hid I mine iniquitie: for I thoght, I wil confesse against my self my wickednes vnto the Lord, and thou forgaueste the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

6 Therefore shal euerie one, that is godlie, make his praier vnto thee in a [f] time, when thou maiest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters [g] they shal not come nere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preserueste me from trouble: thou compasseste me about with ioyful deliuerance. Selah.

8 I wil [h] instruct thee, & teache thee in ye way, that thou shalt go, & I wil guide thee with mine eye.

9 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose [i] mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridel, lest they come nere thee.

10 Many sorowes shal come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shal compasse him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, & [k] reioyce in ye Lord, and be ioyful all ye, that are vpright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

He exhorteth good men to praise God for that he hathe not onely created all things and by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scatereth the counsel of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preserued by anie creature or mans strength: but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shalbe preserued from all aduersities.

1 REioyce in the Lord, ô ye righteous: for it [a] becometh vpright men to be thankeful.

2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole & [b] instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cherefully with a loude voyce.

4 For the [c] worde of the Lord is righteous, and all his [d] workes are faithful.

5 He [e] loueth righteousnes & iudgement: the earth is ful of the goodnes of the Lord.

6 By the worde of the Lord were ye heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He [f] gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and laieth vp the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all thē that dwel in the worlde, feare him.

9 For he spake, & it was done: he commanded, and it [g] stode.

10 The Lord breaketh the [g] counsel of the heathen, & bringeth to noght the deuises of the people.

11 The counsel of the Lord shal stand for euer, & the thoghts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed is that nacion, whose [h] God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hathe chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord [i] loketh downe from heauen, & beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitacion of his dwelling he beholdeth all them, that dwel in the earth.

15 He [k] facioneth their hearts euerie one, & vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The [l] King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, nether is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shal not deliuer anie by his great strength.

18 Beholde, [m] the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him & vpō them, that trust in his mercie, 19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.

20 [n] Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shal reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holie Name.

22 Let thy mercie, ô Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

Psal. XXXII.

h Dauid promiseth to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefytes, wch he felt, & that, he wil diligently loke and take care to direct them in ye waie of saluation.

i If men can rule brute beastes, thinke thei, that God wil not bridle and tame their rage?

k He sheweth that peace & ioy of conscience in the holie Gost is the frute of faith.

a It is the duetie of the godlie to set forthe the praises of God for his mercie & power shewed towarde them.

b To sing on instruments was a parte of the ceremonial seruice of the Temple, which doeth no more appertein vnto vs, then the sacrifices, censings & lights.

c That is, counsel or commandement in gouerning ye worlde.

d That is, the effect & executiō.

e How soeuer ye worlde iudgeth of Gods workes, yet he doeth all thigs according to iustice & mercie.

f By the creatiō of the heaues & beautiful ornament, with the gathering also of the waters he setteth forthe ye power of God, that all creatures might feare him.

g Or was created.

g No counsel cā prevail against God, but he desateth it & it shal haue euil succes.

h He sheweth yt all our felicitie standeth in this, that ye Lorde is our God.

i He proueth yt all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence & not by fortune.

k Therefore he knoweth their wicked interprises.

l If Kings and ye mightie of the worlde can not be saued by worldelie meanes, but onely by Gods prouidence, what haue others to

1 After Dauid had escaped Achis, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. 11. whome in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a general name to all the Kings of the Philistims) he praiseth God for his deliuerance, 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, to feare & serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godlie with his Angels, 15 And vtterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who drone him awaie, & he departed.

I Wil [a] alwaie giue thankes vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shal glorie in the Lord: the [b] humble shal heare it, and be glad.

3 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

4 I soght the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my [c] feare.

5 They [d] shal loke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shal not be ashamed saying,

6 This poore man cryed, & the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The [e] Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste ye & se, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is ỹ man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The [f] lyons do lacke and suffre hunger, but they, which seke the Lord, shal [g] want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I wil teache you the [h] feare of the Lord.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 He kepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shal slay the [n] wicked: & thei that hate the righteous, shal perish.

2 For he b flattereth him self in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is fould worthie to be hated.

3 The wordes of his mouthe are iniquitie and c deceite: he hathe left of to vnderstand & to do good.

4 He d imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth him selfe vpon a waie, that is not good & doeth not abhorre euil.

5 Thy e mercie, ô Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, & thy faithfulnes vnto the cloudes.

6 Thy righteousnes is like the "mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great f deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast.

7 How excellent is thy mercie, ô God? therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings.

8 They shalbe g satisfied with the fatnes of thine house, & thou shalt giue them drinke out of ỹ riuer of th pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, & in thy light shal we se light.

10 Extend thy louing kindenes vnto them that h knowe thee, and thy righteousnes vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the i foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked men moue me.

12 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shal not be able to rise.

a I se euidently by his dedes, ỹ sinne pusheth forward the reprobat fro wickednes to wickednes, albeit he go about to coner his impietie.

b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he him self seeth it not.

c The reprobat mocke at hol some doctrine and put not difference betwene good and euil.

d By describing at large the nature of ỹ reprobat, he admonisheth the godlie to beware of the sences.

e Though wickednes semeth to ouerfloe all ỹ worlde, yet by thine hidenlie prouidence thou gouerneth heauē & earth.

" Ebr the mountains of God: for whatsoeuris excelle, is thus called.

f The deph of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and dispuseth them, albeit the wicked seme to ouerwhelme the worlde. g Onely Gods children haue things both concerning this life & the life to come. h He sheweth who are Gods children to wit, they that know him, and lead their lines vprightly. i Let not the proude aduance him self against me, nether the power of the wicked driue me away. k That is, in their pride wherein they flatter them selues.

PSAL. XXXVII.

Euang

1 This Psalme conteineth the exhortation & consolation for the weake that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godlie. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked do line for the time he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous semeth to line in the worlde, yet his end is peace, & he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked & preserued.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 FReate not a thy self because of the wicked men, nether be enuious for a He admonisheth vs nether to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, nether to desire to be like them to make our state the better.

the euil doers.

2 For they shal soone be b cut downe like grasse, and shal wither as the grene herbe.

3 c Trust thou in the Lord & do good: dwel in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy self in the Lord, and he shal giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 d Commit thy waye vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shal bring it to passe.

6 And he shal bring forthe thy righteousnes as the light, & thy e iudgement as the noone daye.

7 Waite paciently vpō the Lord & hope in him: freat not thy self for him f which prospereth in his waye: nor for the man that bringeth his entreprises to passe.

8 Cease from angre, & leaue of wrath: freat not thy selfe g also to do euil.

9 For euil doers shalbe cut of, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shal inherite the land.

10 h Therefore yet a litle while, and the wicked shal not appeare, and thou shalt loke after his place, and he shal not be founde.

11 But * meeke men shal possesse ỹ earth, and shal haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 i The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shal laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his daye is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawne their sworde, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and nedie, and to slay suche as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sworde shal entre into their owne heart, & their bowes shal be broken.

16 k A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shalbe broken: but the Lord vpholdeth ỹ iust men.

18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetual.

19 They shal not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the dayes of famine they shal haue m ynough.

20 But the wicked shal perish, and the enemies of the Lord shalbe consumed as the n fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shal they consume awaye.

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is merciful, and o giueth.

22 For suche as be blessed of God, shal inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut of.

23 p The paths of man are directed by ỹ Lord: for he loueth his waye.

24 Thogh he q fall, he shal not be cast of: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong and am olde: yet I saw neuer ỹ righteous forsaken, nor his sede begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his sede enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euil and do good, and dwel for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, & forsaketh not his Saints: they shalbe preserued for euermore: but the sede of the wicked shalbe cut of.

29 The righteous men shal inherit the land, and dwel therein r for euer.

30 The s mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisdome, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, & his steppes shal not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous and seketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord wil not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is t iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and kepe his waye, & he shal exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shal perish, thou shalt se.

35 I haue sene the wicked strōg, & spreading him self like a grene baye tre.

36 Yet he x passed away, and lo, he was gone, and I soght him, but he colde not be founde.

37 y Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shalbe destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shalbe cut of.

39 But the z saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: he shal deliuer them from the wicked, and shal saue them, because they trust in him.

b For Gods iudgement cutteth downe their state in a moment.

c To trust in God, and do according to his wil, are sure tokens, that his prouidence wil neuer faile vs.

d Be not led by thine owne wisdome, but obey God, and he wil finish his worke in thee.

e As the hope of the dailight causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenes of ỹ night: so ought we paciently to trust that God wil cleare our cause and restore vs to our right.

f Whē God suffreth ỹ wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoreth their doings.

g Meaning, except he moderate his affections, he shalbe led to do as they do.

h He correcteth the impacience of our nature, w can not abide til the fulnes of Gods time be come.

Mat. 5. 5.

i The godlie are assured that ỹ power and craft of the wicked shal not preuail against them, but fall on their owne neckes, & therfore ought paciently to abide Gods time, & in the meane while bewaile their sinnes, & offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

k For thei are daily fed as w Māna from heauen, & haue sufficient, when ỹ wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hunger.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, & by what meanes to deliuer them.

m For God wil giue them contented mindes, & that w shal be necessarie.

n They shal vanish awaye suddenly: for they are fed for the daie of slaughter.

o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.

p God prospereth the faithful, because they walke in his waies with an vpright cōscience.

q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.

r Thogh the iust man dye, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and thogh God suffer some iuste man to lacke temporal benefites, yet he recompeseth him with spiritual treasures.

s They shal continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inwarde rest.

t These thre points are required of the faithful, ỹ their talke be godlie that Gods Law be ỹ their heart, & that their life be vpright.

v For thogh it be some time so expedient both for Gods glorie & their saluation, yet he wil approue their cause, & reuēge their wrong.

x So that ỹ prosperitie of ỹ wicked is but as a cloude, w vanisheth away in a moment.

y He exhorteth the faithful to marke diligently the examples both e of Gods mercies, & also of his iudgements.

z He sheweth ỹ the pacient hope of the godlie is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath e good succes, thogh for a time God proue them by sundrie tentations.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

MORning.

1 Dauid lying sicke of some grieuous disease, acknowledgeth him self to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, & therefore praieth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnes of his grief by manie wordes & circūstāces, as wounded with the arowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euil intreated intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, & hopeth for spedie helpe at his hand.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid for [a] remembrance.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine [b] angre, neither chastise me in thy wrath.
2 For thine [c] arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me.
3 There is nothing sounde in my flesh, because of thine angre: neither is there rest in my bones because of my [d] sinne.
4 For [e] mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, & as a weightie burde̅ they are to heauie for me.
5 My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of [f] my foolishnes.
6 I am bowed, and croked very sore: I go [11] mourning all the daye.
7 For my reines are ful of burning, & there is nothing sounde in my flesh.
8 I am weakened and sore broken: I [g] roare for the verie grief of mine heart.
9 Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.
10 Mine heart [12] panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen [h] thei are not mine owne.
11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my [i] kinsme̅ stand a farre of.
12 They also, that seke after my life, laye snares, and they that go about to do me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually.
13 But I as [k] a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.
14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, & in whose mouth are no reproues.
15 For on thee, ô Lord, do I wait: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.
16 For I said, Heare me, lest they reioyce ouer me for I whe my fote slippeth, they extoll them selues against me.
17 Surely I am ready to [m] halte, and my sorow is euer before me.
18 When I declare my peine, & am sorie for my sinne,
19 Then mine [n] enemies are aliue & are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are manie.
20 They also, that rewarde euil for good, are mine aduersaries, because I followe [o] goodnes.
21 Forsake me not, ô Lord: be not thou farre from me my God.
22 Haste thee to helpe me, ô my Lord, my [p] saluation.

a To put him self & others in minde of Gods chastisemēt for sinne.
b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he wolde to moderate his hand, ỹ he might be able to beare it.
c Thy sickenes, where wt thou hast visited me.
d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iuste in his punishmēts because his sins had deserued muche more.
e He confesseth his sins, Gods iustice, & maketh prayer his refuge.
f That rather gaue place to mine owne lustes, then to the wil of God.
11 Or, blacke as one that is disfigured & consumed with sicknes.
g This example warneth s vnewer to despaire, be the torment neuer so great: but alwaies to crye vnto God with sure truste for deliuerāce.
12 Ebr. Runneth about, or, is tossed to & fro: meaning that he was destitute of all helpe & counsel.
h My sight faileth me for verie sorowe.
i partely for feare, and partely for pride they denied all duetie and friēdship.
k For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently waite for the helpe of God.
l That is, if they se that thou succour me not in time, they wil mocke & triumph, as though thou hadest forsaken me. m I am without hope to recouer my strength. n In my greatest miserie they most reioyce. o He had rather haue the hatred of all the worlde, the to faile in anie parte of his duetie to God ward. p Which art the autor of my saluation. & this declareth that he prayed w sure hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great grief & bitternes of minde he was driuen to these outragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he brast forthe yet into wordes that he wolde not, through the greatnes of his grief. 4 Then he hearseth certeine requestes which taste of the infirmitie of man, 8 And mixeth with them manie prayers: but all do shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it maye plainely appeare how he did striue mightely against death and desperation.

¶ To the excellent musician [1] Ieduthun. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 I Thoght, [b] I wil take hede to my waies, that I sinne not with my tongue: I wil kepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.
2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorow was more stirred.
3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fyre kindled, & [d] I spake with my tongue. saying,
4 Lord, let me know mine end, & ỹ measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.
5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euerie man in his best state is altogether [e] vanitie Selah.
6 Douteles man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth him self in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, & can not tel who shal gather them.
7 And now Lord, what waite I for? mine hope is euen in thee.
8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the [f] foolish.
9 I shulde haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because [g] thou didest it.
10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.
11 When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth [h] makest his [i] beautie to consume: surely euerie man is vanitie. Selah.
12 Heare my praier, ô Lord, & hearken vnto my crye: kepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, & a seiourner as all my fathers.
13 Stay thine angre from me, that I maie recouer my strength, [k] before I go hence & be not.

a This was one of the chief, singers, 1. Chr. 16. 41.
b Albeit he had appointed with him self paciētly to haue tayted Gods leasure, yet the vehemencie of his peine caused hī to breake his purpose.
c Though when ỹ wicked ruled, he thoght to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his minde.
d He confesseth that he grudged against God, cōsidering greatnes of his sorowes, & ỹ shortnes of his life.
e Yet Dauid offended in that he reasoned w God, as though that he were to seuere towarde his weake creature.
f Make me not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrap me not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame.
g Seing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured them paciently.
h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon the, yet thy secret curse cōtinually fretteth thē.
i The worde signifieth all ỹ he desireth, as health, force, strēgth beautie, and in whatsoeuer he hath he delite, so that the rod of God taketh away all ỹ is desired in this worlde.
k For his sorow caused him to thinke that God hard it is for the worlde destroy him vtterly: whereby we se how verie Saintes to kepe a measure in their wordes, when death & desperaire assaile them.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doeth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his prouidence towards all mankinde. 5 Then doeth he promise to giue himself wholly to Gods seruice, & so declareth how God is truely worshiped. 14 Afterward he giueth thankes & praiseth God, & hauing coplained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aide and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

I waited [a] paciently for the Lord, & he inclined vnto me, and heard my crye.

He broght me also out of the [b] horrible pit, out of the myrie claie, and set my fete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

And he hathe put in my mouth [c] a new song of praise vnto our God: manie shal se it and feare, and shal trust in the Lord.

Blessed is the man, ỹ maketh ỹ Lord his trust, and regardeth [d] not the proude, nor suche as turne aside to lies.

[c] O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderful workes so manie, that none can cõte in ordre to thee thy thoghts toward vs: I wolde declare, & speake of them, but thei are mo then I am able to expresse.

Sacrifice and offring thou dideste not desire: (for [f] mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sin offring hast thou not required.

[g] Then said I, Lo, I come: for in ỹ rolle of the boke it is writen of me,

I desired to do thy good wil, ô my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

I haue declared thy righteousnes in the [h] great Congregation: lo, I wil not refreine my lippes: ô Lord, thou knowest.

I haue not hid thy righteousnes with in mine heart, but I haue declared thy [i] trueth and thy saluation: I haue not conceiled thy mercie and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

Withdrawe not thou thy tendre mercie from me, ô Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preserue me.

For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken suche holde vpon me, that I am not able to loke vp: yea, they are mo in nomber then the heeres of mine head: therefore mine heart hathe [k] failed me.

13 Let it please thee, ô Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, ô Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be [l] confounded & put to shame together, that seke my soule to destroye it: let thẽ be driuen backeward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, which saye vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them, that seke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: & let thẽ, that loue thy saluation, say alway, [n] The Lord be praised.

17 Thogh I be poore and nedie, the Lord [o] iketh on me: thou art mine helper & my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted blesseth thẽ, that pitie his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends & familiares, as came to passe i Iudas, Iohn. 13, 18. After he feling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, & not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giueth moste heartie thankes vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Blessed is he that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shal deliuer him in the time of trouble.

The Lord wil kepe him, & preserue him aliue: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the wil of his enemies.

The Lord wil strengthen him vpon ỹ [b] bed of sorowe: thou hast turned all his [c] bed in his sickenes.

Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

Mine enemies [d] speake euil of me, saying, When shal he dye, and his name perish?

And if he come to se me, he speaketh [e] lyes, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, & when he cometh forthe, he telleth it.

All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.

[f] A mischief is light vpon him, & he ỹ lieth, shal no more rise.

Yea, my [g] familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eat of my bread, [h] hathe lifted vp the hele against me.

Therefore, ô Lord, haue mercie vpon me, & raise me vp: so I shal reward them.

By this I know that thou fauoreste me, because mine enemie doeth not triumph against me.

12 And

---

a Thogh God differred his helpe, yet he paciently abode, til he was heard.

b He hathe deliuered me frõ moste great dangers.

c That is, a special occasion to praise him. for Gods benefites are so manie occasions for vs to praise his Name.

d To follow their example, which he must nedes do, that trusteth not onely in ỹ Lord.

e Dauid goeth from one kinde of Gods sauour to the contemplation of his prouidẽce ouer all, & confesseth that his counseis towards us are farre aboue our capacities: we can not so much as tel them in ordre.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand ỹ spiritual meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the Law nothing in respect of the spiritual seruice.

g Whẽ thou had cropened mine eares & heart, I was readie to obei thee, being assured ỹ I was writen in ỹ boke of thine elect for this end.

h In ỹ Church, assembled in the Sanctuarie.

i Dauid here nõbreth 3, degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continual protectiõ, and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that therof procedeth our saluation.

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsel: yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to praye.

l He desireth ỹ Gods mercie maye contẽd for him against the rage of his enemies.

m Let the same shame, and confusion light vpõ them, which they intended to haue broght vpon me.

n As the faithful alwayes praise God for his benefites: so ỹ wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

a Not condemning him as accursed, whome God doeth visite, knowing, ỹ there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, & afterwarde he restoreth vs.

b When for sorow & grief of minde he casteth him self vpõ his bed.

c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed & sent him comfort.

d That is, curse me, and can not haue their cruel hate quẽched, but ẅ my shameful death.

e For pretẽding to comfort me, he cõspireth my death in his heart, & braggeth thereof.

f The enemies thoght by his sharpe punishmẽts ỹ God was become his mortal enemie.

g As Dauid felt this faithod, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13, 18, so shal his members continually, proue the same.

" Ebr. the man of my peace.

h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in the true feare of God against all temptations.
i Shewing me euidente signes of thy Fatherlie vp the faithful to 12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me[h] in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy [y] face for euer.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel worlde without end. [k] So be it, euen so be it.

prouidence. k By this repetition he stirreth praise God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecuters, he colde not be present in the Congregacion of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in bodie from them, yet his heart was thither warde affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farre ouercome with these sorowes & thoghts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, [a] committed to the sonnes of Korah.

AS the heart braieth for the riuers of water, so [b] panteth my soule after thee, ô God.
2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for [y] liuing God: whē shal I come and appeare before the presence of God?
3 My teares haue bene my meat daie ād night, while they daiely say vnto me, Where is thy God?
4 When I remembred [d] these things, I powred out my verie heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led thē into the House of God with the voice of singing, & praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? [e] waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes for [y] helpe of his presence.
6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, [f] because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.
7 One [g] depe calleth another depe by [y] noise of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.
8 The Lord [h] wil graute his louing kindenes in the daie, and in the night shal I sing of him, euen a praier vnto the God of my life.
9 I wil saie vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me?
10 My [i] bones are cut a sunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daiely vnto me, Where is thy God?

Psal. XLII.
a As a treasure to be kept of thē, which were of the nomber of the Leuites.
b By these similitudes of thirst & panting he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.
c As others take pleasure in eating & drinking, so he was altogether giuē to weping.
d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, & now seing my contrarie estate, I dye for sorow.
e Though he susteined grieuous assaltes of the flesh to cast him into despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth the victorie.
f That is, when I remeber thee
g Afflictions came so thicke vpon me, y I felt my self as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our miserie, til God be pacified & send remedie.
h He assureth him selfe of Gods helpe in time to come.
i That is, I am moste grieuously tormented.

11 [k] Why art thou cast downe, my soule? & why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes: he is my present helpe, and my God.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He praieth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might wofully praise God in his holie Congregacion.

1 IVdge [a] me, ô God, & defend my cause against the vnmerciful [b] people: deliuer me from the deceitful and wicked man.
2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me awaie? why go I so mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me.
3 Send thy [c] light and thy trueth: let them lead me: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.
4 Then [d] wil I go vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy & gladnes: and vpon the harpe wil I giue thankes vnto thee, ô God, my God.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? [e] waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes, he is my present helpe, and my God.

k This repetition doeth declare that Dauid did not ouercome at once: to teache vs to be constant for asmuche as God wil certeinly deliuer his.

Psal. XLIII.
a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he wolde restore him to the Tabernacle.
b That is, the cruel companie of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by y performance of thy promises.
d He promiseth to offre a solenne sacrifice of thākesgiuing in token of his great deliuerance.
e Whereby he admonisheth the faithful not to relent, but constantly to waite on the Lord, though their troubles be long & great.

PSAL. XLIIII.

Morning

1 The faithful remember the great mercie of God toward his people. 9 After, thei complaine, because thei fele it no more. 17 Also thei alledge the couenant made with Abrahā for the keping whereof thei shewe what grieuous things thei suffred. 23 Finally they praie vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 WE haue heard with our [a] eares, ô God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes, that thou hast done in their daies, in the olde time:
2 How thou hast driuen out the [b] heathē with thine hād, and planted [c] them: how thou hast destroyed the [d] people, and caused [e] them to growe.
3 For thei inherited not y land by their owne sworde, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand & thine arme & the light of thy countenance, because thou diddest [f] fauour

a This psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent prophet for the vse of the people, when the Church was in extreme miserie, eter at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in suche like affliction.
b That is, y Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers. d Of Canaan. e That is, our fathers. f Gods fre mercie & loue is y onelie fountaine & beginning of y Church, Deu. 4, 37.

4 Thou art my King, ô God: send helpe vnto g Iaakob.

5 h Through thee haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we trodē downe them that rose vp against vs.

6 For I do not trust in my bowe, nether can my sworde saue me.

7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, & hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 Therefore wil we praise God continually, & wil confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.

9 But now thou art farre of, and putteſt vs to i confusion, & goest not forthe ẅ our armies.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and thei, which hate vs, spoile n for them selues.

11 *Thou giuest vs k as shepe to be eaten, & doest scater vs amomg the nations.

12 Thou sellest thy people l without gaine, and doest not increase their price.

13 Thou makest vs a reproche to our neighbours, a ieste and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among ỹ nations, & anodding of the head among the people.

15 My m confusion is daiely before me, the shame of my face hath couered me, 16 For the voice of the sclanderer and rebuker, for the enemie and n auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet do we not o forget thee, nether deale we falsely concerning thy couenant.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: nether our steppes gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smiten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs ẅ the shadowe of death.

20 If we haue forgotten the Name of our God, & holden vp our hands to a p strange god, 21 Shal not God q searche this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake r are we slaine cōtinually, & are counted as shepe for the slaughter.

23 Vp, why slepest thou, ô Lord? awake, be not farre of for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? & forgettest our miserie and our affliction?

25 For our soule is s beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleueth vnto the grounde.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeme vs for thy t mercies sake.

g Because thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie.

h Because thei & their forefathers made bothe one Church thei applie that to thē selues, ẅ before thei did attribute to their fathers.

i As thei cōfessed before, that their strength came of God, so now thei acknowledge that this afflictiō came by his iust iudgement.

* Or, at their pleasure.

Rom. 8. 36.

k Knowing God to be autor of this calamitie, they murmure not, but seke remedie at his hāds, who woūded them.

l As sclaues ẅ are solde for a low price, nether lokest ỹ for hi ỹ offreth moste, but takest ỹ first chapman.

m I dare not lift vp mine head for shame.

n Meaning, the proude ād cruel tyrant.

o. Thei boaste not of their vertues, but declare that thei rest vpon God in the middes of their afflictions: who punished not now their sinnes, but by hard afflictions called them to the consideration of the heauenlie ioyes.

p Or, whales: meaning the bottomles seat of tentations, here we se the power of faith, which can be ouercome by no perils.

q Thei shewe ỹ thei honored God aright betause thei trusted in him alone.

r Thei take God to witnes that thei were vpright to him. ward.

s The faithful make his their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their sinnes, but for Gods cause, Mat. 5, 10. 1. pet. 4. 14.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches & power are praised, & also his mariage with the Egyptian being an heathē woman is blessed, to shew that she can renounce her people & the loue of her countrey and giue her selfe wholly to her housband. Vnder the which figure the wonderful maiestie & increase of the kingdome of Christ and the Church his spouse now taken of the Gentiles is described.

¶ To him that excelleth on a Shoshannim a song of b loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 MIne heart wil vtter forthe a good matter: I wil intreat in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the penne of a swift writer.

2 Thou art c fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lippes, because God hathe blessed thee for euer.

3 Girde thy sworde vpō thy thigh, ô moste mightie, to wit, thy worship & thy glorie,

4 And prosper with thy glorie: d ride vpon the worde of trueth and of mekenes & of righteousnes: so thy right hād shal teache thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to perce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shal fall vnder thee.

6 Thy e throne, ô God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousnes.

7 Thou loueſt righteousnes, and hatest wickednes, because God, euen thy God hathe f anointed thee with the oile of gladnes aboue thy fellowes.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and casia, whē thou comest out of ỹ yuorie palaces, g where thei haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thine honorable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the h Quene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

10 i Hearken, ô daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house.

11 So shal the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the k daughter of Tyrus with ỹ riche of the people shal do homage before thy face with presents.

13 The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broydered golde.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thankesgiuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driuen awaie, or some other like sudden and marulous deliuerance by the mightie hand of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doth exhorte the faithful to giue them selues wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection thei shal be safe against all the assautes of their enemies, because this is his delite to assuage the rage of the wicked, when thei are moste busie against the iust.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of manie Kings is mentioned, for the which thankes are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hathe God so presently at all times readie to defend them. The Psalme semeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iehoshaphat, Asa or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by sorẽ princes assalted.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holie Gost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to be moste blessed, that are moste wealthie, & therefore not to be feared: but contrarywise he lifteth vp our mindes to consider how all things are ruled by Gods prouidēce: 14 Whe as he iudgeth these worldelie misers to euerlasting torments, 15 So doth he preserue his, & wil reward them in the day of the resurrection, 2. 1 When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathã, for his great offenses, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his natural corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memorial thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgiue his sinnes, 10 And to renue in him his holie Spirit, 13 With promes that he wil not be vnmindeful of these great graces. 18 Finally fearing lest God wolde punish the whole Church for his faute, he requireth that he wolde rather increase his graces toward the same.

¶ To him that excelleth. A psalme of Dauid, [a] when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

2 Wash me [c] throughly from mine iniquitie, and clense me from my sinne.

3 For I [d] knowe mine iniquities, & my sinne is euer before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, & done euil in thy sight, ỹ thou maiest be iuste when thou [e] speakest, and pure when thou iudgest.

5 Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hathe my mother conceiued me.

1 Dauid describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersarie Doeg: who by false surmises caused Ahimeleh with ỹ rest of the Priests to be slayne. 5 Dauid prophecieth his destruction, 6 And incourageth the faithful to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are moste sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendreth thankes to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is lively set forthe the kingdome of Antichrist.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came & shewed Saul & said to him, Dauid is come to the house of Ahimelech.

a O Doeg, which hast credit with the tyrant Saul, & hast power to murther the Saints of God.

VVHy boastest thou thy self in thy wickednes, ô [a] man of power? the louing kindnes of God indureth daily.

2 Thy tongue imagineth [b] mischief, and

4 Thou louest all wordes, that maye de-stroye, ô deceitful tongue?
5 So shal God [c] destroye thee for euer:
he shal take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, & [d] rote thee out of ỹ land of the liuing. Selah.
6 The [e] righteous also shal se it, [e] and feare, and shal laugh at him, saying, 7 Beholde the man that toke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, & put his strength [g] in his malice.
8 But I shalbe like a [g] grene oliue tre in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercie of God for euer and euer.
9 I wil alway praise thee, for that thou hast done [h] this, & I wil [i] hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

HEare [a] my prayer, ô God, & hide not thy self from my supplication.
2 Hearke vnto me & answer me: I mourne in my prayer, & make a noise,
3 For the [b] voyce of the enemie, & for ý vexation of the wicked, because [c] they haue broght iniquitie vpon me, & furiously hate me
4 Mine heart trẽbleth within me, & the terrors of death are fallen vpon me.
5 Feare and trembling are come vpon me, & an horrible feare hathe [d] couered me.
6 And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dooue: then wold I [e] flie away and rest.
7 Beholde, I wolde take my flight farre of, & lodge in the wildernes. Selah.
8 He wolde make haste for my deliuerãce from the stormie winde & tempest.
9 Destroye, ô Lord, & [g] deuide their tongues: for I haue sene crueltie & strife in the citie.
10 Daye and night they go about it vpõ the walles thereof: bothe [h] iniquitie and mischief are in the middes of it.
11 Wickednes is in ý middes thereof: deceit & guile departe not frõ her stretes.
12 Surely mine [i] enemie did not diffame me: for I colde haue borne it: nether did mine aduersarie exalt him self against me: for I wolde haue hid me frõ him.
13 But it was thou, ô man, euen my [k] companion my guide and my familiar:
14 Which delited in cõsulting together, and went into the House of God as cõpanions.
15 Let death sease vpon them: let them go downe quicke into ý graue: for wickednes is in their dwellings, euen in the middes of them.
16 But I wil call vnto God, & ý Lord wil saue me.

Psal. LIIII.
1. Sam 23, 11.
a He declareth that when all meanes do faile, God wil deliuer, euen as it were by miracle thẽ that call vnto him with an vpright conscience.
b To wit, the Ziphims.
c Saul & his armie, which were like cruel beastes & colde not be satisfied but by his death
d Be they neuer so fewe, as he was with Ionathan.
e According to thy faithful promes for my defence.
f For hypocrites serue God for feare, or vpon conditions.
g We may lawfully reioyce for Gods iudgemẽts against the wicked, if our affections be pure.

a The earnestnes of his praier declareth ý vehemencie of his grief, in so muche as he is cõpelled to burst our into cryes.
b For ý threatenings of Saul & his adherents.
c They haue diffamed me as a wicked personage: or, they haue imagined my destruction.
d There was no parte of him ý was not astonied with exareme feare.
e Feare had driuen him to so great distres, that he wished to be hid in some wildernes, & to be banished from that kingdome, ẃ God had promised that he shulde enioye.

f From ý cruel rage & tyrannie of Saul.
g As in the confusiõ of Babilõ, when ý wicked conspired against God.
h All lawes and good ordres are broken, & onelie vice & dissolutiõ reigneth vnder Saul.
i If mine open enemie had soght mine hurt I colde ý better haue auoyded him.
k Which was not onely ioyned to me in friendship & counsel in worldlie matters, but also in religion.
l As Korah, Dathan & Abiram.
m Which signifieth a feruent minde & sure truste to obteine his petition, ẃ thing made him earnest at all times in praier.
n Euen the Angels of God foght on my side against mine enemies, 2 King. 6, 16.
o But their prosperous estate stil cõtinueth.
p I did not prouoke him, but was at peace with him, yet he made warre against me.

q Or, gift: to wit, which thou wouldest that God shulde giue thee.
q Thogh for their betering & trial he suffer thẽ to slip for a time.
r Thogh they sometime liue longer, yet their life is cursed of God, vnquiet & worse then anie death a Being chased by the furie of his enemies into a strange countrie, he was a dumme dooue not seking reuengeance

b He sheweth ý it is ether now time, or neuer, ý God helpe him: for all ý worlde is against him & readie to deuoure him.
c He taketh his conscience vpon Gods promes, though he se not present helpe. d All my counsels haue end succesſe & turne to mine owne sorowe.
e As all the worlde against one man, & can not be faciat, except they haue my life.
f They thinke not onely to escape punishment, but ý more wicked thei are, the more impudent they waxe.
g If God kepe the teares of his saints in store, muche more wil he remember their blood to auenge it: & though tyrants burne the bones, yet can thei not blot the teares & blood out of Gods register
h Hauing receiued ý which I required, I am bounde to paye my vowes of thankesgiuing, as I promised.
i As mindeful of his great mercies, & giuing him thakes for the same.
k That is, in this life and light of the sunne.
a This was ether ý beginning of a certeine song, or the wordes, ẅ Dauid vttered, when he stayed his affection.

1. Sam. 24. 4.

b Or, dwel more safely.
c He cõpareth ý afflictiõs ẅ God layeth vpon his childrẽ, to a storme, that commeth & goeth.
d Who leaueth not his workes begon vnperfit.
e He wolde rather deliuer me by a miracle, thẽ that I shuld be ouercome.

BE merciful vnto me, ô God, for [b] mã wolde swallow me vp: he fighteth cõ continually and vexeth me.
2 Mine enemies wolde daiely swallow me vp: for manie fight against me, ô thou moste High.
3 When I was afraid, I trusted in thee.
4 I wil reioyce in God, because of his [c] worde, I trust in God, & wil not feare what fleth can do vnto me.
5 Mine owne [d] wordes grieue me daily: all their thoghts are against me to do me hurt.
6 [e] They gather together, & kepe them selues close: thei marke my steppes, because they waite for my soule.
7 [f] They thinke they shal escape by iniquitie: ô God, cast these people downe in thine angre.
8 Thou hast counted my wandrings: put my [g] teares into thy bottel: are they not in thy registre?
9 When I crye, then mine enemies shal turne backe: this I know, for God is with me.
10 I wil reioyce in God because of his worde: in the Lord wil I reioyce because of his worde.
11 In God do I trust: I wil not be afraid what man can do vnto me.
12 [h] Thy vowes are vpon me, ô God: I wil rendre praises vnto thee.
13 For thou hast deliuered my soule frõ death, & also my fete from falling, ý I maye [i] walke before God in the [k] light of the liuing.

Dauid being in the desert of Ziph, where the inhabitants did betraye him, & at legth in the same caue with Saul. 2 Calleth moste earnestly vnto God with ful confidence, that he wil performe his promes & take his cause in hand: 5 Also that he wil shew his glorie in the heauens and the earth against his cruel enemies. 9 Therefore doeth he rendre laude & praise.

¶ To him that excelleth. [a] Destroye not. A Psalme *of Dauid on Michtam. When he fled from Saul in the caue.

HAue mercie vpon me, ô God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee & in ý shadow of thy wings wil I [n] trust, til these [b] afflictions ouerpasse.
2 I wil call vnto the moste high God, euen to the God, that [c] performeth his promes toward me.
3 He wil send from [d] heauen, & saue me frõ the reprofe of him that wolde swallow me. Selah. God wil send his mercie, and his trueth.
4 My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, ý are set on fyre: whose teeth are [e] speares and arrowes, & their tongue a sharpe sworde.
5 [f] Exalte thy self, ô God, aboue ý heauẽ, & let thy glorie be vpon all the earth.
6 They haue layed a net for my steppes: [g] my soule is presſed down: they haue digged a pit before me, & are fallẽ into the middes of it. Selah.
7 Mine heart is [h] prepared, ô God, mine heart is prepared: I wil sing & giue praise.
8 Awake my [i] tongue, awake viole & harpe: I wil awake early.
9 I wil praise thee, ô Lord, among ý people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.
10 For thy mercie is great vnto the heauẽs, and thy trueth vnto the [k] cloudes.
11 Exalt thy self, ô God, aboue ý heauẽs, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth.

PSAL. LVIII.

He describeth the malice of his enemies, the flatterers of Saul, who bothe secretly & openly sought his distruction. 6 Whome he appealeth to Gods iudgement, 10 Shewing that the iuste shal reioyce, when they se the punishement of the wicked to the glorie of God.

2 Yea, rather ye imagine mischief in your heart: [b] your hands execute crueltie vpõ the earth.
3 The wicked [c] are strangers frõ the wõbe: euen from the belly haue they erred, & speake lies.
4 Their poison is euen like the poison of a serpent: like ý deafe [d] adder that stoppeth his eare.
5 Which heareth not the voyce of the inchãter, though he be moste expert in charming.
6 Breake their [e] teeth, ô God, in their mouthes: breake the iawes of the yong lions, ô Lord.

Euening prayer.

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God. 3 Declareth his innocencie, & their furie, 5 Desiring God to destroye all those that sinne of malicious wickednes. 11 Whome though he kepe aliue for a time to exercise his people, yet in the end he wil consume them in his wrath, 13 That he maye be known to be the God: of Iaakob to the end of the worlde. 16 For this he singeth praises to God, assured of his mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth Destroye not. A Psalme of Dauid on [a] Michtam. * When Saul sent & they did watche the house to kil him.

1 O My God, [b] deliuer me from mine enemies: defend me from them ý rise vp against me.
2 Deliuer me from the wicked doers, &
saue me from the bloodthiemen.
3 For lo, thei haue layed waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine [c] offense, nor for my sinne, ô Lord.
4 They runne & prepare them selues without a faute on my parte: arise therefore to assist me, and beholde.
5 Euen thou, ô Lord God of hostes, ô God of Israel awake to visite all the heathen, & be not [d] merciful vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah.
6 Thei go to and fro in the euening:
thei barcke like [e] dogs, and go about ý citie.
7 Beholde, they [f] brag in their talke, & but scater the abroad by thy power, & put them downe, ô Lord our shield.

12 For the sinne of their mouth, & the wordes of their lippes: and let them be taken in their pride euen for their periurie and lies, that thei speake.
13 [l] Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that thei be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iaakob, euen vnto the ends of the worlde. Selah.
14 And in the euening they [m] shal go to and fro, and barcke like dogs, and go about the citie.
15 They shal runne here and there for meat: & surely they shal not be satisfied, though they tarie all night.
16 But I wil sing of thy [n] power, & wil praise thy mercie in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.
17 Vnto thee, ô my [o] Strength, wil I sing:
for God is my defence, & my merciful God.

Morning

This Pſalme partely containeth meditations, whereby Dauid incourageth him ſelf to truſt in God againſt the aſſaults of tẽtations. And becauſe our mindes are eaſely drawẽ from God by the allurements of the worlde he ſharpeneth reproueth this vanitie, to the intent he might cleaue faſt to the Lord.

¶ To the excellent muſician Ieduthun. A Pſalme of Dauid.*

1 YEt [a] my ſoule kepeth ſilence vnto God of him cometh my ſaluacion.
2 [b] Yet he is my ſtrength & my ſaluaciõ, & my defence: therefore I ſhal not muche be moued.
3 How long wil ye imagine miſchief againſt [c] man? ye ſhalbe all ſlaine: ye ſhalbe as a bowed wall, or as [d] wall ſhaken.
4 Yet they cõſulte to caſt him downe frõ his dignitie. their delite is in lies, thei bleſſe with their mouthes, but curſe with their hearts. Selah.
5 [e] Yet my ſoule kepe ỹ ſilence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.
6 Yet is he my ſtrength, & my ſaluaciõ, & my defence: therefore I ſhal not be moued.
7 In God is my ſaluacion and my [f] glorie, the rocke of my ſtrength: in God is my truſt.
8 Truſt in him alwaie, ye people: [g] powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.
9 Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chief mẽ are lies: to lay thẽ vpon a balance thei are altogether lighter thẽ vanitie.
10 Truſt not in oppreſsion nor in robberie: [h] be not vaineli riches increaſe, ſet not your heart thereon.
11 God ſpake [i] once or twiſe, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, 12 And to thee, ô Lord, mercie: for thou [k] rewardeſt euerie one according to his worke.

c Dauid was greatly moued with theſe troubles: therefore he ſtirreth vp him ſelf to truſt in God.
f Theſe vehemẽt & often repetitiõs were neceſſarie to ſtrẽgthen his faith againſt ỹ horrible aſſaultes of ſatan.
g He admoniſheth vs of our wicked nature, ẅ rather hide our ſorow, & bite on the bridle, then vtter our griefe to God to obteine remedie.
h Giue your ſelues wholy to God by purting awaie all things ỹ are cõtraire to his lawe.
i He hathe plainely borne witnes of his power, ſo ỹ none nedeth to dout thereof.
k So that the wicked ſhal fele thy power, and the godlie thy mercie.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 Dauid after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the deſert of Ziph, made this pſalme, 3 Wherein he giueth thankes to God for his wonderful deliuerance, in whoſe mercies he truſted euen in the middes of his miſeries, 9 Prophecying the diſtruction of Gods enemies: 11 And contrariwiſe happines to all them that truſt in the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid. When he was in the [a] wildernes of Iudah.

1 O God, thou art my God, early wil I ſeke thee: my ſoule [b] thirſteth for thee: my fleſh longeth greatly after thee in a baren and drye land without water.
2 Thus [c] I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, whẽ I beholde thy power & thy glorie.
3 For thy louing kindenes is better then life: therefore my lippes ſhal praiſe thee.
4 Thus wil I magnifie thee all my life, & lift vp mine hands in thy Name.
5 My ſoule ſhal be ſatiſfied, as with [d] marow & fatnes, and my mouth ſhal praiſe thee with ioyful lippes,
6 When I remember thee on my bed, & when I thinke vpon thee in ỹ night watches.
7 Becauſe ỹ haſt bene mine helper, therefore vnder ỹ ſhadow of thy wings wil I reioyce.
8 My ſoule [e] cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.
9 Therefore they ỹ ſeke my ſoule to deſtroy it, they ſhal go into the loweſt partes of the earth.

a To wit, of Ziph, 1. Sam. 23. 14.
b Though he was bothe hũgrie & in great diſtres, yet he made God his ſufficiencie & aboue all meate & drinke.
c In this miſerie I exerciſe my ſelf in the contemplation of thy power & glorie, as if I were in thy ſanctuarie.
d The remembrance of thy fauour is more ſwete vnto me then all the pleaſures and deinties of the worlde.
e He aſſureth him ſelfe by the Spirit of God to haue ỹ gift of conſtancie.

a Thogh Satan tempted him to murmure againſt God, yet he bridled his affections, & reſting vpon Gods promes, beareth his croſſe patiently.
b It appeareth by the oft repetition of this worde, that the Prophet abode manifolde tentations, but by reſting on God & by patience he ouercame them all. c He meaneth him ſelf, being the man whome God had appointed to ỹ kingdome. d Though ye ſeme to be in honour, yet God wil ſuddenly deſtroye you.

f He propheciseth of the destruction of Saul, & the that take his parte, whose bodies shal not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beastes.

g All ỹ sweare by God aright, or professe him, shal reioyce in this worthie King.

10 f They shal cast him downe with the edge of the sworde, & thei shal be a portion for foxes.

11 But the King shal reioyce in God, and all that g sweare by him shal reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shal be stopped.

PSAL. LXIIII.

1 Dauid praieth against the furie and false reportes of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishement & destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glorie of God.

¶ To him that excelleth, A Psalme of Dauid.

a In that he calleth to God with his voice, it is a signe that his praier was vehement, & ỹ his life was in danger.

b That is, from their secret malice.

c To wit, their outward violence.

d False reportes & slanders.

e To be without feare of God & reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation.

f The more that the wicked se Gods children in miserie, the more bolde, & impudent are thei in oppressing them.

g There is no waie so secret & subtil to do hurt, wherin thei inuented not for his destruction.

h To se Gods heauie iudgements against them, and how he hathe caught them in their owne snares

i When thei shal consider that he wilbe fauourable to the, as he was to his seruant Dauid.

1 Heare my[a] voice, ô God, in my praier: preserue my life from feare of the enemie.

2 Hide me from the[b] conspiracie of the wicked, and from the[c] rage of the workers of iniquitie.

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sworde, & shot for their arrowes[d] bitter wordes:

4 To shote at the vpright in secret: thei shote at him suddenly, and[e] feare not.

5 Thei[f] encourage them selues in a wicked purpose: thei commune together to laie snares priuely, and saie, Who shal se them?

6 Thei haue sought out iniquities, & haue accomplished that which thei sought out, euen euerie one[g] his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

7 But God wil shote an arrow at the suddenly: their strokes shal be at once.

8 Thei shal cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoeuer shal se them, shal[h] flee awaie.

9 And all men shal se it, and declare the worke of God, & thei shal vnderstand, what he hathe wroght.

10 But the righteous[i] shal be glad in the Lord, & trust in him: & all that are vpright of heart, shal reioyce.

CHAP. LXV.

Euening

1 A praise and thankesgiuing vnto God by the faithful, who are signified by Zion, 4 For the chusing preseruation and gouernance of them. 9 And for the plentiful blessings powred for the vse of all the earth, but specially toward his Church.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

a Thou giuest daily new occasion to thy Church to praise thee.

b Not onely ỹ Iewes, but also the Gentiles in the kingdome of Christe.

1 O God, [a] praise waiteth for thee in Zion, & vnto thee shall the vowe be performed.

2 Because thou heareſt ỹ praier, vnto thee shal all [b] flesh come.

3 Wicked dedes[c] haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be merciful vnto our transgressions.

4 Blessed is he, whome thou chuseſt & causeſt to come to thee: he shal dwell in thy courts, and we shal be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holie Temple.

5 O God of our saluacion, thou wilt[d] answer vs with feareful signes in thy righteousnes, ô thou the hope of all ỹ ends of the earth, and of them that are farre of in the[e] sea.

6 He stablisheth ỹ mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength.

7 He appeaseth the[f] noise of the seas and the noise of the waues thereof, and the tumultes of the people.

8 Thei also ỹ dwell in the vttermost partes of the earth, shalbe afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make " the East & the West to reioyce.

9 Thou[g] visiteſt the earth, & watereſt it: thou makeſt it very riche: the[h] Riuer of God is ful of water: thou prepareſt them corne: for so thou appointeſt it.

10 Thou[k] watereſt abundantly the forrowes thereof: thou causeſt the rame to descend into ỹ valleis thereof: thou makeſt it soft with showres, & blesseſt the bud thereof.

11 Thou crowneſt ỹ yere with thy goodnes, and thy steps drop fatnes.

12 They drop vpon the pastures of ỹ wildernes: & the hils shal be compassed w gladnes.

13 The pastures are clad with shepe: ỹ valleis also shal be couered with corne: therefore they showte for ioye, & sing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praise the Lord & to consider his workes. 6 He setteth forthe the power of God to affray the rebels. 10 And sheweth how God hathe deliuered Israel from great bondage & afflictions. 13 He promiseth to giue sacrifice, 16 And prouoketh al me to heare what God hathe done for him and to praise his Name.

¶ To him that excelleth. A song, or Psalme.

a He propheciseth ỹ all nations shal come to ỹ knowledge of God, who the was onely knowen in Iudea.

b As ỹ faithful shal obey God willingly: so the infideles for feare shal dissemble the selues to be subiect.

1 Reioyce in God, [a] all ye inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing forthe ỹ glorie of his Name: make his praise glorious.

3 Saie vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy workes? through ỹ greatnes of thy power shal thine enemies be[b] in subiection vnto thee.

4 All the worlde shal worship thee, & sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah.

c He imputeth it to his sins & to the sins of ỹ people, that God, who was accustomed to assiste them, withdraweth his succour fro them.

d Thou wilt declare thy selfe to be ỹ preseruer of thy Church in destroying thine enemies, as thou dideſt in the red Sea

e As of all barbarous nations and farre of.

f He sheweth ỹ there is no parte nor creature in ỹ worlde wherin is not gouerned by Gods power & prouidence.

" Ebr. The going forthe of the morning & of the euening.

g To wit, with raine.

h That is, Shiloah, or ỹ raine.

i Thou hast appointed ỹ earth to bring forthe fode to mans vse.

k By this description he sheweth that all ỹ ordre of nature is a testimonie of Gods loue towarde vs, who causeth all creatures to serue our necessitie.

l That is, the dumme creatures shal not onely reioyce for a time for Gods benefites, but shal continually sing.

e He toucheth ỹ ſtedfaſtneſſe of mans nature, who is ſodde in the cõſideration of Gods workes.
d His prouidence is wonderful in mainteining their eſtate.
e He proueth ỹ God wil extend his grace alſo to the Gentiles, becauſe he puniſheth among the ſuch as wil not obey his calling.
f He ſignifieth ſome ſpecial benefite, ỹ God had ſhewed to his Church of ỹ Iewes in deliuering the frõ ſome great däger: whereof or of ỹ like he promiſeth that ỹ Gentiles ſhal be partakers.
g The condition of ỹ Church is here deſcribed, wherin is to be led by Gods prouidence into troubles, to be ſubiect vnder tyrants, & to enter into manifolde dangers.
h The ductie of the faithful is here deſcribed, wherein we are neuer vnmindeful to rẽdre God praiſe for his benefites.
i It is not ynough to haue receiued Gods benefites & to be mindeful thereof, but alſo we are bounde to make others to profit thereby & praiſe God.
k If I delite in wickednes, God wil not heare me: but if I confeſſe it, he wil receiue me.

5 [c]Come & beholde the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing toward [d] the ſonnes of men.
6 He hathe turned ỹ Sea into drye land: thei paſſe through ỹ riuer on fote: there did we reioyce in him.
7 He ruleth ỹ worlde with his power: his eies beholde the nations: the rebellious ſhal not [e]exalt them ſelues. Selah.
8 Praiſe our God, ye people, & make the voice of his praiſe to be heard.
9 Which[f] holdeth our ſoules in life, and ſuffereth not our fete to ſlippe.
10 For thou, ô God, haſt proued vs, thou haſt tryed vs as ſiluer is tryed.
11 Thou haſt broght vs into ỹ [g] ſnare, & laied a ſtrait chaine vpon our loins.
12 Thou haſt cauſed mẽ to ride ouer our heades: we went into fyre & into water, but thou broghteſt vs out into a wealthie place.
13 I wil go into thine [h] Houſe with burnt offrings, & wil paie thee my vowes, 14 Which my lippes haue promiſed, & my mouth hathe ſpoken in mine affliction.
15 I wil offer vnto thee the burnt offrings of fat rams with incenſe: I wil prepare bullockes and goates. Selah.
16 [i]Come & hearken, all ye ỹ feare God, & I wil tel you what he hathe done to my ſoule.
17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.
18 [k]If I regarde wickednes in mine heart, the Lord wil not heare me.
19 But God hathe heard me, & cõſidered the voice of my praier.
20 Praiſed be God, which hathe not put backe my praier, nor his mercie from me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A praier of the Church to obteine the fauour of God & to be lightened with his countenance, 2 To the end that his waie & iudgemẽts maie be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which ſhulde be vniuerſally erected at the comming of Chriſt.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Pſal. or ſong.

a That is, moue our heartes wt his holy Spirit, ỹ we maie fele his fauour towards vs.
b That bothe Iewes & Gentiles maie know Gods couenant made wt them.

1 GOd be merciful vnto vs, and bleſſe vs, & [a] cauſe his face to ſhine among vs. Selah.
2 That[b] they maie know thy waie vpon earth, & thy ſauing health among all nations.
3 Let ỹ people praiſe thee, ô God: let all the people praiſe thee.
4 [c]Let the people be glad & reioyce: for thou ſhalt iudge the people righteouſly, & gouerne the nations vpon ỹ earth. Selah.
5 Let the people praiſe thee, ô God: let all thee people praiſe thee.
6 Thẽ ſhal [d] ỹ earth brig forthe her increaſe, & God, euen our God ſhal bleſſe vs.
7 God ſhal bleſſe vs, & all ỹ ends of the earth [e] ſhal feare him.

c By theſe often repetitions he ſheweth, ỹ the people can neuer reioyce ſufficiently, & giue thankes for the great benefites that thei ſhal receiue vnder the kingdome of Chriſt.
d He ſheweth ỹ where God fauoreth, there ſhalbe abundance of all other things.
e When thei fele his great benefites bothe ſpiritual & corporal towards thẽ.

PSAL. LXVIII.

Morning

1 In this pſalme Dauid ſetteth forthe as in a glaſſe the wonderful mercies of God toward his people: 5 Who by all meanes & moſte ſtrange ſortes declared him ſelf to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reaſon of his promiſes, graces and victories doeth excel without compariſon all worldie things. 34 He exhorteth therefore all mẽ to praiſe God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A pſalme or ſong of Dauid.

1 GOd [a] wil ariſe, & his enemies ſhalbe ſcattered: thei alſo that hate him, ſhal flee before him.
2 As the ſmoke vaniſheth, ſo ſhalt ỹ driue them awaie: & as waxe melteth before ỹ fyre, ſo ſhal ỹ wicked periſh at the preſence of God. Pſal. 97. 5
3 [b] But the righteous ſhalbe glad, & reioyce before God: yea, thei ſhal leape for ioye.
4 Sing vnto God, & ſing praiſes vnto his Name: exalt him, that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name [c] Iah, & reioyce before him.
5 He is a Father of the fatherles, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holie habitation.
6 God [d] maketh the ſolitarie to dwell in families, & deliuereth them that were priſoners in ſtockes: but the rebellious ſhal dwell in a [e] drye land.
7 [f]O God, when thou wenteſt forthe before thy people: when ỹ weteſt through the wildernes, (Selah)
8 The earth ſhoke, & the heauẽs dropped at the preſence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the preſence of God, euen the God of Iſrael.
9 Thou, ô God, ſendeſt a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, & thou dideſt refreſh it when it was wearie.
10 Thy Congregation dwelled there in: for thou, ô God, haſt of thy [g] goodnes prepared it for the poore.
11 The Lord gaue matter to the [h] women a The Prophet ſheweth that albeit God ſuffreth ỹ wicked tyrannes to oppreſſe his Church for a time, yet at length he wil be reuenged of them.

b He ſheweth that when God declareth his power againſt ỹ wicked, that it is for the cõmoditie & ſaluation of his Church, wherin prai ſe him therefore.
c Iah & Iehouah are the names of God, wherin do ſignifie his eſſence & maieſtie incomprehenſible, ſo that herby is declared ỹ all idols are but vanitie, & that the God of Iſrael is ỹ onely true God.
d He giueth children to thẽ, ỹ be childeleſs, and increaſeth their families.
e Which is baren of Gods bleſſings, wherof thei had abuſed.
f He teacheth ỹ Gods fauour peculiarly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderful deliuerance out of Egypt. g God bleſſed the land of Canaan becauſe he had choſen that place for his Church.

Psal.31

a He praieth to God w̄ ful assurance of faith, ỳ he wil deliuer him from his aduersaries.

b By declaring thy self true of promes.

c Thou hast in finite meanes, & all creatures are at thy commandement: therefore thē we some signe, wherby I shalbe deliuered.

d That is, from Absolom, Ahithophel & ỳ cōspiracie.

e He strengtheneth his faith by ỳ experience of Gods benefites, who did not onely preserue hi in his mothers belly, but toke him thence, and euer since hathe preserued him.

f All ỳ worlde wondereth at me because of my miseries, alwel they in autoritie, as ỳ common people, yet being assured of thy fauour I remained stedfast.

g Thou ỳ didst helpe me in my youth when I had more strēgth, helpe me now so muche the more in mine olde age & weakenes.

h Thus ỳ wicked bothe blaspheme God and triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands.

i In calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reportes of ỳ aduersaries, ỳ said, God had forsaken him.

k Because thy benefites toward me are innumerable, I can not but continually meditate & rehearse them.

l I wil remaine stedfast, being vpholden with ỳ power of God.

m He desireth that as he hathe begonne, he wolde so continue his benefites, that his liberalitie maie haue perfite praise.

n Thy iust performance of thy promes.

o His faith breaketh through all tentations, & by this exclamation he praiseth the power of God.

p As he confesseth that God is the onelie autor of his deliuerance: so he acknowledgeth ỳ these euils were sent vnto him by Gods prouidence.

IN * [a] thee, ô Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed, 2 Rescue me and deliuer me in thy [b] righteousnes: incline thine eare vnto me & saue me.
3 Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I maie alwaie resorte: thou [c] hast giuen commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.
4 Deliuer me, ô my God, out of ỳ hand [d] of the wicked: out of the hand of the euil and cruel man.
5 For thou art mine hope, ô Lord God, euen my [e] trust from my youth.
6 Vpon thee haue I bene staied from the wombe: thou art he that toke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shal be alwaies of thee.
7 I am become as it were a [f] monstre vnto manie: but thou art my sure trust.
8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, & with thy glorie euerie daie.
9 Cast me not of in the time of [g] age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.
10 For mine enemies speake of me, and they that laie waite for my soule, take their counsel together, 11 Saying, [h] God hathe forsaken him: pursue and take him, for their is none to deliuer him.
12 Go not farre from me, ô God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.
13 Let them be confounded and cōsumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reprofe and confusiō, that seke mine hurt.
14 But I wil waite continually, and wil praise thee more and more.
15 My mouth shal daily rehearse thy righteousnes, & thy saluacion: [k] for I knowe not the nomber.
16 I wil [l] go forwarde in the strength of the Lord God, and wil make mention of thy righteousnes, euen of thine onely.
17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntil now: therefore wil I tel of thy wonderous workes, 18 [m] Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie head, ô God: forsake me not, vntil I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, & thy power to all thē, that shal come.
19 And thy [n] righteousnes, ô God I wil exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: [o] o God, who is like vnto thee?
20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and [p] aduersities, but thou wilt returne & reuiue me, & wilt come againe, & take me vp from the depth of the earth.
21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne & comfort me.
22 Therefore wil I praise thee for thy [q] faithfulnes, ô God, vpon instrument & viole: vnto thee wil I sing vpon the harpe, ô Holie one of Israel.
23 My lippes wil reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my [r] soule, which thou hast deliuered.
24 My tongue also shal talke of thy righteousnes daily: for they are confounded and broght vnto shame, that seke mine hurt.

q He confesseth ỳ his lōg tarriance was wel recompensed, whē God performed his promes.

r For there is no true praising of God, except it come from ỳ heart: and therefore he promiseth to delite in nothing, but wherein God maie be glorified.

a Read Psal. 57. 1.
b He declareth how ỹ faithful shal euer haue iust occasion to praise God, for asmuche as in their nede they shal sele his power at hand to helpe them.
c When I se my time (saith God) to helpe your miseries, I wil come and set all things in good ordre.
d Though all thigs be broght to ruine, yet I can restore & preserue them. e The prophet warneth ỹ wicked ỹ they wolde not set them selues against Gods people, seing ỹ God at his time destroyeth them ỹ rule wickedly.
f Gods wrath is compared to a cup of strog & delicate wine, wherewith the wicked are made, so dronke, that by drinking til they come to ỹ verie dregs, they are vtterly destroyed.
g The godlie shal better prosper by their innocẽt simplicitie, then ỹ wicked shal by all their craft and subteltie.

PSAL. LXXVII.

1 The Prophet in the Name of the Church rehearseth the greatnes of his affliction, & his grieuous tentations, 6 Wherby he was driuen to this end to consider his former conuersation, 11 And the continual course of Gods workes in the preseruation of his seruants, & so he confirmeth his faith against these tentations.

Euening

1 He sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 Reproching the stubborne rebellion of their fathers that the children might not onely vnderstand, 11 That God of his fre mercie made his couenant with their ancetours, 17 But also seing them so malicious and peruerse, might be ashamed and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalme the holie Goſt hathe comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might se in fewe wordes the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

of my mouth.
2 I wil open my mouth in a parable: I wil declare high sentences of olde.
3 Which we haue heard and knowen, & our fathers haue tolde vs.
4 We wil not hide them from their children, but to the generacion to come we wil shewe the praises of the Lord, his power also, and his wonderful workes that he hathe done:
5 How he established a [d] testimonie in Iaakob, & ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they shulde teache their children:
6 That the [e] posteritie might knowe it, & the children, which shulde be borne, shulde stand vp, & declare it to their children:
7 That they might [f] set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but kepe his commandements:
8 And not to be as their [g] fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, & whose spirit was not faithful vnto God.
9 The children of [h] Ephraim being armed & shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battel.
10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law, 11 And forgate his Actes, and his wonderful workes that he had shewed them.
12 He did maruelous things in the sight of their [i] fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.
13 * He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.
14 [a] In the daie time also he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fyer.
15 * He claue the rockes in the wildernes, & gaue them drinke as of the great depths.
16 * He broght floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.
17 Yet they [k] sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernes, 18 And tempted God in their heartes in [l] requiring meat for their lust.
19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God [m] prepare a table in the wildernes?
20 * Beholde, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?
21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the * fyer was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleued not in God, & [n] trusted not in his helpe.
23 Yet he had commanded the [o] cloudes aboue, and had opened the dores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eat, and had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.
25 * Man did eat the bread of Angels: he sent them meat ynough.
26 He caused the [p] Eastewinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he broght in the Southwinde.
27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.
28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitation.
29 So thei did eat and were wel filled: for he gaue them their desire.
30 They were not turned from their [q] lust, but the meat was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew [r] the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.
32 For all this, they [s] sinned stil, & beleued not his wonderous workes.
33 Therefore their daies did he consume in vanitie, and their yeres hastely.
34 And when he [t] slewe them, thei sought him and thei returned, and sought God early.
35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the moste high God their redemer.
36 But thei flattered him with their mouth and dissembled with him with their tongue.
37 For their [v] heart was not vpright with him: nether were they faithful in his couenant.
38 Yet he being merciful [x] for gaue their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his angre, & did not stirre vp all his wrath.
39 For he remembred that thei were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and cometh not againe.
40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes? & grieue him in the desert?
41 Yea, they [y] returned, and tempted God, and [z] limited the Holie one of Israel.

6 I haue withdrawen his shulder frō the burden, & his hāds haue left ý [f] pottes.

7 Thou calledst in affliction and I deliuered thee, & [g] answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at ý waters of [n] Meribah. Selah.

8 [h] Heare, ō my people, & I wil protest vnto thee: ō Israel, if ý wilt hearken vnto me,

9 Let there be no strange god in thee, nether worship thou anie strange god.

10 For I am the Lord thy God, which brogbt thee out of the land of Egypt: [i] open thy mouth wide and I wil fil it.

11 But my people wolde not heare my voyce, and Israel wolde none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardenes of their heart, & thei haue walked in their owne counsels.

13 [k] Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, & Israel had walked in my waies.

14 I wolde sone haue humbled their enemies, & turned mine hand [l] against their aduersaries.

15 The haters of the Lord shulde haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time [m] shulde haue endured for euer.

16 And God wolde haue fed them ẅ the [n] fat of wheat, and with honie out of ý rocke wold I haue sufficed thee.

d That is, in Israel: for Ioseph's familie was counted ý chief before y Iudah was preferred.

e God speaketh in ý persone of ý people, becaus he was their leader.

f If they were neuer able to giue sufficient thankes to God for this deliuerance from corporal bondage, muche more are we indetted to him for our spiritual deliuerance from ý tyrannie of Satan & sinne?

g By a strange & wonderful facion.

n Or, contention.

Exo. 17, 16

h He condemneth all assemblies, where the people are not attentiue to heare Gods voice, & to giue obedience to ý same.

i God accuseth their incredulitie, because thei opened not their mouthes to receiue Gods benefites in suche abundance as he powreth them out.

k God by his worde calleth all, but his secret election appointeth, who shall heare with frute.

l If their sinnes had not letted.

m If the Israelites had not broken couenant ẅ God, he wolde haue giuen them victorie against their enemies.

n That is, with moste fine wheat and abundance of honie.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Iudges and Magistrates, 2 Reproueth their partialitie. 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice. 5 But seing none amendement, 8 He desireth God to vndertake the matter and execute iustice him self.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 GOd [a] standeth in the assemblie of gods: he iudgeth among gods.

2 How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persones of the [b] wicked? Selah.

3 Do right to the poore and fatherles: do iustice to the poore and nedie.

4 Deliuer the poore and [c] nedie: saue them from the hand of the wicked.

5 They knowe not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darknes, albeit all the [d] fundacions of the earth be moued.

6 I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the moste High.

7 [e] But ye shal dye as a man, and ye princes, shal fall like others.

8 O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite [f] all nations.

a The prophet sheweth ý if princes & iudges do not their duetie to God, whose authoritie is aboue them, wil take vengeance on them.

b For theues and murderers finde fauour in iudgement, when the cause of the godlie can not be heard.

c Not onely whē thei crye for helpe, but when their cause requireth aide & support.

d That is, all things are out of ordre, either by their tyrannie or careles negligence.

e No title of honour shal excuse you, but you shalbe subiect to Gods iudgemēt, & rēder a cōpt as wel as other men.

f Therefore no tyrāt shal plucke thy right & autoritie from thee.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Israel praie vnto ý lorde to deliuer thē frō their enemies bothe at home & farre of, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And thei desire that all suche wicked people maie, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath, 18 That they maie knowe that the Lord is moste high vpon the earth.

¶ A song or Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 KEpe [a] not thou silence ô God: be not stil and cease not, ô God.

2 For lo, thine [b] enemies make a tumulte: & thei that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.

3 Thei haue takē craftie counsel against thy people, & haue consulted against thy [c] secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come and let vs [d] cut them of from being a nation: & let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For thei haue consulted together [e] in heart, & haue made a league [f] against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab, and the Agarims:

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of [n] Tyrus:

8 Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children [g] of Lot. Selah.

9 Do thou to them as vnto the [h] Midianites: as to Sisera & as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.

10 They perished at En-dor, & were [i] dōgue for the earth.

11 Make them, euen their princes like * Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes leke Zebah and like Zalmuna.

a This Psalme semeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of praie against ý dangers that ý Church was in in the daies of Iosaphat.

b He calleth them Gods enemies ẅ are enemies to his Church.

c The elect of God are his secret, ones for he hideth them in ý secret of his tabernacle, & preserueth thē frō all dangers.

d Thei were not content to take ý Church as prisoner, but soght vtterly to destroy it.

e By all secret meanes

f Thei thoght to haue subuerted thy cōsel, wherein the perpetuitie of the Church was established.

n Or Tor.

Iud. 7, 25. 8, 21

i Troden vnder fete as myre.

12 Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the k habitacions of God.
13 O my God, make them like vnto a l whele, & as the stubble before the winde.
14 As the fyer burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fyre:
15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraied with thy storme.
16 Fil their faces with shame, that thei maie m seke thy Name, ô Lord.
17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, 18 That they maie n knowe that thou, w art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the moste High ouer all the earth.

k That is, Iudea: for where his Church is, there dwelleth he among them.
l Because ỹ reprobat colde by no meanes be amended, he praieth ỹ thei maie vtterly be destroied, be vnstable & led w all windes.
m That is, be compelled by thy plages to confesse thy power.
n Thogh they beleue not, yet thei maie proue by experience, that it is in vaine to resist against thy counsel in establishing thy Church.

PSAL. LXXXIIII.

1 Dauid driuen forthe of his countrey, 2 Desireth moste ardently to come againe to the Tabernacle of the Lord, & the assemblie of the Saints to praise God, 4 Pronouncing thē blessed that maie so do. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wildernes to assemble themselues in Zio. 10 Finally with praise of this matter & confidence of Gods goodnes he endeth the Psalme.

¶To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles?
2 My soule longeth, yea, & fainteth for the b courtes of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.
3 Yea, the sparowe hathe founde her an house, and the swallowe a nest for her, where she maie lay her yong: euen by thine c altars, ô Lord of hostes, my King and my God.
4 Blessed are thei that dwell in thine house: they wil euer praise thee. Selah.
5 Blessed is the man, whose d strength is in thee, & in whose heart are thy waies.
6 They going through the vale of e Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.
7 They go from f strength to strength, til euerie one appeare before God in Zion.
8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my praier: hearken, ô God of Iaakob. Selah.
9 Beholde, ô God, our shield, & loke vpon the face of thine g Anointed.
10 For h a daie in thy courtes is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a dore keper in ỹ House of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.
11 For the Lord God is the sunne & shield vnto vs: ỹ Lord wil giue grace & glorie, & no, i good thing wil he withholde from them that walke vprightly.
12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

a Dauid complaineth that he can not haue accesse to ỹ Church of God to make profession of his faith & profit in religion.
b For none but the priests colde enter in to ỹ Sanctuarie, & ỹ rest of the people into ỹ courtes.
c So that ỹ poore birdes haue more libertie then I.
d Who trusteth nothing in him self, but in thee onely, & learneth of thee to rule his life
e That is, of mulberietrees w was a bare place: so that they w passed through must dig pits for water: signifying ỹ no lets can hinder them that are fully bent to come to Christs Church, neither yet that God wil euer faile them.
f Thei are neuer wearie, but increase in strength & courage til thei come to Gods House.
g That is, for Christs sake, whose figure I represent.
h He wolde wish to liue but one daie rather in Gods Church, then a thousand among the worldelings.
i But wil from time to time increase his blessings towards his more and more.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 Because God withdrewe not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, first they put him in minde of their deliuerance, to the intent that he shulde not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfite. 5 Next thei complaine of their long afflictiō: 8 And thirdly they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which shulde be perfite felicitie.

¶To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 LOrd, thou hast bene a fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast broght againe the captiuitie of Iaakob.
2 Thou hast forgiuen the iniquitie of thy people, and b couered all their sinnes. Selah.
3 Thou hast withdrawen all thine angre, & hast turned backe from the c fiercenes of thy wrath.
4 Turne vs, ô God of our saluacion, & release thine angre towards vs.
5 Wilt thou be angrie with vs d for euer? & wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generacion to another?
6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people maie reioyce in thee?
7 Shew vs thy mercie, ô Lord, and grante vs thy e saluacion.
8 I wil hearken what the Lord God wil saie: for he wil speake f peace vnto his people, & to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folie.
9 Surely his saluacion is nere to thē that feare him, that glorie maie dwell in our land.
10 Mercie and trueth shal mete: righteousnes and peace shal kisse one another.
11 g Trueth shal bud out of the earth, and righteousnes shal loke downe from heauen.
12 Yea, the Lord shal giue good things, and our land shal giue her increase.
13 h Righteousnes shal go before him, a Thei confesse that Gods fre mercie was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued ỹ land, which he had chosen, b Thou hast buryed them that thei shal not come into iudgement.

c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing our sinnes, & in touching our hearts to confesse thē.
d As in times past thei had felt Gods mercies: so now being oppressed by the long continuance of enils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he wolde be merciful vnto them.
e He confesseth ỹ our saluacion commeth onely of Gods mercie:
f He wil send all prosperitie to his Church, whē he hathe sufficiētly corrected them, also by his punishments the faithful shal learne to beware that thei returne not to like offences.
g Thogh for a time God thus exerciseth them with his rods, yet vnder ỹ kingdome of Christ thei shulde haue peace & ioye.
h Iustice shal then florish & haue fre course & passage in euerie place.

and shal set her steps in the waie.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

Mourning

Dauid sore afflicted & forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies receiued, 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he maie feare him and glorifie his Name, 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, & requireth to be deliuered from them.

¶ A praier of Dauid.

a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus praied, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seke redresse against their miseries.

b I am not enemie to them, but pitie thē, though thei be cruel toward me.

c Which was a sure token that he beleued that God wolde deliuer him.

d He doeth confesse that God is good to all, but onely merciful to poore sinners.

e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we maie not be wearie, though God graunte not forthewith our request, but ye we must earnestly, and often call vpon him.

f He condemneth all idoles, forasmuche as thei can do no workes to declare that thei are gods.

g This proueth ỹ Dauid praied in the name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdome he doeth here prophecie.

h He confesseth him self ignorāt til God hathe taught him, and his heart variable & seperate from God, til God ioyne it to him & confirme it in his obedience.

i That is, from moste great danger of death: out of the w mone, but onely the mightie hand of God, colde deliuer him.

k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proude tyrants reigne & that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and cruelitie.

l He boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his fre goodnes hathe euer bene merciful vnto him & giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne household.

1 INcline[a] thine eare, ô Lord, and heare me, for I am poore and nedie.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am[b] merciful: my God, saue thou thy seruant, ỹ trusteth in thee.

3 Be merciful vnto me, ô Lord: for I[c] crye vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, ô Lord, do I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and[d] merciful, & of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my praier, & [e]hearkē to the voice of my supplicatiō.

7 In the daye of my trouble I wil call vpon thee: for thou heares me.

8 Among ỹ gods there is none like thee, ô Lord, and there [f] is none that can do like thy workes.

9 All nations, whome thou hast made, shal come and [g] worship before thee, ô Lord, and shal glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.

11 [h] Teache me thy waie, ô Lord, and I wil walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I maie feare thy Name.

12 I wil praise thee, ô Lord my God, w all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercie towarde me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from [i] the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue [k] soght my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, ô Lord, art a pitiful God and merciful, slowe to angre and great in kindenes and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, & saue the [l] sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shewe a token of thy goodnes towarde me, that they which hate me, maie se it, & be ashamed, because thou, o Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

The holie Gest promiseth that the condition of the Church, which was in miserie after the captiuitie of Babylon, shulde be restored to great excellencie, 4 So that there shulde be nothing more comfortable thē to be nombred among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

3 [b]Glorious things are spoken of thee, o Citie of God. Selah.

4 I wil make mention of[c] Rahab and Babel among them that knowe me: beholde Palestina & Tyrus with Ethiopia, [d]There is he borne.

5 And of Zion it shalbe said, [e] Manie are borne in her: and he, euen the most High shal stablish her.

6 The Lord shal count, when he [f] writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah.

7 Aswel the singers as the plaiers on instruments shal praise thee: all my [g]springs are in thee.

psal. LXXXVII.

a God did chose that place amōg the hil to establish Ierusalem & his Temple.

b Though thy glorious estate do not yet appeare, yet waite with pacience & God wil accomplish his promes.

c That is, Egypt & these other contreis shal come to ỹ knowledge of God.

d It shalbe said of him, that is regenerat & come to ỹ Church, that he is as one that was borne in the Church.

e Out of all quatters they shal come into the Church and be counted as citizens.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

A grieuous complaint of the faithful, sore afflicted by sicknes, persecutions & aduersitie: 7 Being as it were left of God without anie consolation. 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith & striueth against desparacion, 18 Complaining him self to be forsaken of all earthlie helpe.

a That is, to humble It was ỹ beginning of a song, by ỹ tune whereof this psalme was sūg.

b Though many crye in their sorowes, yet they crye not earnestly to God for remedie as he did: whome he confessed to be the autor of his saluacion.

O Lord God of my saluacion, I crye day and night[b] before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my crye.

3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth nere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them ỹ go dow-ne

ne vnto ỹ pit, and am as a man without strength:

c For he that is dead, is fre from all cares & busines of this life: & thus he saieth because he was vnprofitable for all matters cõcerning mans life, and as it were cut of from this worlde.

6 Thou hast laied me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, & in the depe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy c waues. Selah.

d That, is from thy prouidence & care, which is ment according to the iudgemẽt of the flesh.

8 Thou hast put away mine d acquaitãce farre from me, & made me to be abhorred of them: e I am shut vp, and can not get forthe.

e The stormes of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me.

9 f Mine eye is sorowful through mine affliction: Lord, I call daiely vpon thee: I stretche out mine hands vnto thee.

f He attributeth the losse & displeasure of his friends to Gods prouidẽce, whereby he partely punisheth and partely trieth his.

10 Wilt thou shewe g a miracle to the dead? or shal ỹ dead rise & praise thee? Selah.

11 Shal thy louing kindenes be declared in ỹ graue? or thy faithfulnes in destruction?

g I se none end of my sorowes.

12 Shal thy wonderous workes be knowẽ in the darke? and thy righteousnes in ỹ land h of obliuion?

h Mine eies & face declare my sorowes.

13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, ô Lord, and early shal my praier come before thee.

i He sheweth ỹ the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men cal vnto him in their dangers then to tary til they be dead & then raise them vp againe.

14 Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, & hidest thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted and at the point of death: i from my youth I suffer thy terrours, douting of my life.

k That is, in the graue, where onely the bodie lieth without all sense and remembrance.

16 Thine indignations go ouer me, & thy feare hathe cut me of.

17 They came round about me daiely like water, & compassed me together.

Euening p

With manie wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnes of God. 23 For his testament & couenant, that he had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outwarde appearãce the promes was broken 46 Finally he praieth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, & confirming him self by Gods promises.

a Thogh ỹ horrible confusion of things might cause the to despaire of Gods fauour: yet the manifolde examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, thogh to mans iudgement thei sawe none occasion

b As he ỹ surely beleued i heart.

I Wil a sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth wil I declare thy trueth from generacion to generacion.

2 For I b said, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou c stablish in ỹ verie heauens.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to anie alteracion & change: so shal the trueth of thy promes be vnchangeable.

3 d I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, d The Prophet sheweth what was the promes of God, whereõ he grounded his faith.

4 Thy sede wil I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generacion to generacion. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the e heauens shal praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the f Congregacion of the Saints.

e The Angels shal praise thy power & faithfulnes in deliuering thy Church.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen? & who is like the Lord among the g sonnes of the gods?

f That is, in the heauens.

7 God is verie terrible in the assemblie of the h Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all that are about him.

g Meaning, the Angels.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee?

h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie & infinite iustice, what earthlie creature by oppressing the Church, dare set him selfe against God:

9 i Thou ruleste the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

i For as he deliuered ỹ Church by ỹ red Sea, & by destroying Rahab, that is, ỹ Egyptiãs: so wil he eft sone deliuer it, when the dãgers be great.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scatered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laied the fundacion of the worlde, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: k Tabor and Hermon shal reioice in thy Name.

k Tabor is a mountaine West warde from Ierusalem, & Hermon East warde, so the Prophet signifieth ỹ all partes & places of the worlde shal obey Gods power for ỹ deliuerance of his Church.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, & high is thy right hand.

14 l Righteousnes & equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercie and trueth go before thy face.

l For hereby he iudgeth ỹ world & sheweth him self a merciful Father & faithful protector vnto his.

15 Blessed is the people, that can m reioyce in thee: they shal walke in the light of thy n countenance, ô Lord.

m Feling in their conscience that God is their father.

16 They shal reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shal they exalt them selues.

n They shalbe preserued by thy Fatherlie prouidence.

17 For ỹ art the o glorie of their strẽgth, and by thy fauour our hornes shalbe exalted.

o In that they are preserued and continue, they ought to giue the praise and glorie onely to thee.

18 For our p shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the Holie one of Israel.

p In that that our King hathe power to defend others, to assure vs, it is the gift of God.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto q thine Holie one, and saidest, I haue laied helpe vpon one that is r mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of ỹ people.

q To Samuel and to that Dauid was thy chosen one.

20 I haue founde Dauid my seruant: with mine holie oyle haue I anointed him.

r Whome I haue bothe chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as vers. 21.

21 Therefore mine hand shalbe established with him, and mine arme shal strengthen him.

22 The enemie shal not oppresse him, nether shal the wicked hurt him.

f Though there shalbe euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.
t I wil mercifully performe my promises to him, notwithstanding his infirmities & offences.
u His power, glorie & estate.
x He shal enioye the land round about.
y His excellent dignitie shal appeare herein ỹ he shalbe named the sonne of God, & ỹ first borne, wherein he is a figure of Christ.
z Thogh for the sinnes of ỹ people the state of this kingdome decayed: yet God reserued stil a rote, til he had accõplished this promes in Christ.
2. Sam. 7. 14.
a Thogh ỹ faithful answer not in all points to their professiõ, yet God wil not breake his couenant w̃ them.
b For God in promising hathe respect to his mercie and not to mans power in performing.
) Ebr. if I lie vnto Dauid: Which is maner of othe.
c As long as the sunne & moone endure, they shal be witnesses to me of this promes.
d Because of the horrible confusion of things, ỹ prophet cõplaineth to God as thogh he sawe not the performance of his promes. And thus discharging his cares on God, he resisteth doute & impaciencie.
e By this he meaneth ỹ horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Ieroboam: or els by the Spirit of prophecie Ethan speaketh of those great miseries, which came sone afterwarde to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon. f He sheweth that the kingdome failed before it came to perfection or was ripe.

23 But I wil destroye his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.
24 My trueth also and my t mercie shalbe with him, and in my Name shal his u horne be exalted.
25 I wil set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the x floods.
26 He shal crye vnto me, Thou art my y Father, my God and the rocke of my saluacion.
27 Also I wil make him my first borne, higher then the Kings of the earth.
28 My mercie wil I kepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shal stãd fast with him.
29 His sede also wil I make to endure z for euer, and his throne as the daies of heauen.
30 But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:
31 *) If they breake my statutes, and kepe not my commandements:
32 Then wil I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes.
33 a Yet my louing kindenes wil I not take from him, nether wil I falsifie my trueth.
34 My couenant wil I not breake, nor b alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.
35 I haue sworne once by mine holines, "that I wil not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His sede shal endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me.
37 He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, & as a faithful c witnes in the heauen. Selah.
38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.
39 Thou hast d broken the couenant of thy seruant, & profaned his e crowne casting it on the grounde.
40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layed his fortresses in ruine.
41 All that go by the way, spoile him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.
42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.
43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battel.
44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the grounde.
45 The dayes of his f youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.
46 g Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy self, for euer? shal thy wrath burne like fyre?
47 Remember h of what time I am: wherefore shuldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?
48 What man liueth, & shal not se death? shal he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.
49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?
50 Remember, ô Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my i bosome of all the mightie people.
51 For k thine enemies haue reproched thee, ô Lord, because they haue reproched the l foteſteppes of thine Anointed.
52 Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

MORNING

1 Moses in his praier setteth before vs the eternal fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are nether admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankeful, 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts & continue his mercies toward them, & their posteritie for euer.

¶ A praier of Moses, the a man of God.

1 LOrd, thou hast bene our b habitacion from generacion to generacion.
2 Before the c mountaines were made, and before thou hadest formed the earth, & the worlde, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.
3 Thou d turnest man to destruction: againe thou saiest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.
4 e For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterdaie when it is past, and as a watche in the night.
5 Thou hast f ouerflowed them: they are as a slepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse:
6 In the morning it florisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.
7 For we g are consumed by thine angre, and by thy wrath are we troubled.
8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.
9 For all our dayes are past in thine angre: we haue h spet our yeres as a thoght.
10 The time of our life is threscore yeres & ten, and if they be of strength, i foure score g The Prophet in ioyning praier with his complaint, sheweth ỹ his faith neuer failed.

h Seing mans life is short, & ỹ hast created ma to bestowe thy benefites vpon him, except thou haste to helpe, death wil preuent thee.
i He meaneth ỹ Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, & as it were cast their iniuries in his bosome.
k So he calleth them that persecute ỹ Church.
l They laugh at vs, w̃ patiently waite for the comming of thy Christ.

a Thus ỹ Scripture vseth to call the prophetes.
b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles & trauailes now this foure hundreth yeres.
c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before ỹ fundacions of ỹ worlde were laied.
d Moses by lamenting ỹ frailtie & shortnes of mãs life moueth God to pitie.
e Thogh man thinke his life long, which is in dede moste short, yea thogh it were a thousand yeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as ỹ watche that lasteth but thre houres.
f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

g Thou calleſt vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, & for our sinnes thou abbridgeſt our daies. h Our daies are not onely short, but miserable, forasmuch as our sinnes daily prouoke thy wrath. i Meaning, according to the commune state of life.

ſcore yeres: yet their ſtrength is but labour and ſorowe: for it is cut of quickely, and we fle away.

k If mās life for the breuitie be miſerable, muche more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, w feare thee, onely knowe.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine angre.

l Meaning, wilt thou be angrie?

12 Teache vs ſo to nomber our dayes, that we maie applie our hearts vnto [l] wiſdome.

13 Returne (ô Lord, [m] how long?) and be [n] pacified toward thy ſeruants.

m Or, take comfort in thy ſeruants.

14 Fil vs with thy mercie in ỹ morning: ſo ſhal we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes ỹ thou haſt afflicted vs, & according to ỹ yeres that we haue ſene euil.

n Euen thy mercie, which is thy chiefeſt worke.

16 [n] Let thy worke be ſene toward thy ſeruants, & thy glorie vpon their [o] children.

o As Gods promiſes apperteined alwel to their poſteritie, as to them, ſo Moſes prieth for the poſteritie.

17 And let the [p] beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and [q] direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

p Meaning that it was obſcured, when he ceaſed to do good to his Church. q For except thou guide vs with thine holie Spirit, our entrepriſes can haue no good ſucces.

2 [b] I wil ſay vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortres: he is my God, in him wil I truſt.

3 Surely he wil deliuer thee from ỹ [c] ſnare of the hunter, and from the noiſome peſtilence.

4 He wil couer thee vnder his wings, and thou ſhalt be ſure vnder his feathers: his [d] trueth ſhalbe thy ſhield and buckler.

5 [e] Thou ſhalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arowe that flieth by daye:

6 Nor of ỹ peſtilence that walketh in ỹ darkneſs: nor of the plague that deſtroyeth at noone daye.

7 A thouſand ſhal fall at thy ſide, and ten thouſand at thy right hand, but it ſhal not come nere thee.

8 Douteles with thine [f] eyes ſhalt thou beholde, and ſe the rewarde of the wicked.

9 For thou haſt ſaid, The Lord is mine hope: thou haſt ſet the moſte high for thy refuge.

a He that maketh God his defence & truſt, ſhal perceiue his protectiō to be a moſte ſure ſafegarde.

b Being aſſured of this protectiō he praieth vnto the Lord.

c That is, Gods helpe is moſte readie for vs, whether Satan aſſaile vs ſecretly, which he calleth a ſnare: or openly, which is here ment by the peſtilence.

d That is, his faithful keping of promes to helpe thee in thy neceſsitie.

e The care that God hathe ouer his, is moſte ſufficient to defende them from all dangers.

f The godlie ſhal haue ſome experiēce of Gods iudgements againſt the wicked euē in this life, but fully thei ſhal ſe it at that day, when all things ſhalbe reuealed.

10 There ſhal none euil come vnto thee, nether ſhal anie plague come nere thy tabernacle.

11 [g] For he ſhal giue his Angels charge ouer thee to kepe thee in all thy waies.

12 They ſhal beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy fote againſt a ſtone.

13 Thou ſhalt walke vpon the lion and aſpe: the [h] yong lion and the dragō ſhalt thou tread vnder fete.

14 [i] Becauſe he hathe loued me, therefore wil I deliuer him: I wil exalt him becauſe he hathe knowen my Name.

15 He ſhal call vpon me, & I wil heare him: I wil be with him in trouble: I wil deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With [k] long life wil I ſatiſfie him, and ſhewe him my ſaluacion.

g God hathe not appointed euerie man one Angel, but manie to be miniſters of his prouidence to kepe his & defend them in their vocation, which is ỹ waye to walke in without tempting God.

h Thou ſhalt not onlie be preſerued from all euil, but ouercome it whether it be ſecret or open.

i To aſſure the faithful of Gods protectiō, he bringeth in God to confirme the ſame.

k For he is contented with that life, that God giueth: for by death the ſhortnes of this life is recompenſed with immortalitie.

O Lord God [a] the aduenger, ô God the aduenger, shewe thy self [b] clearely.

2 Exalt thy self, ô Iudge of the worlde, & render a reward to the proude.

3 Lord, how long shal the wicked, how long shal the wicked [c] triumph?

4 They prate & speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vante them selues.

5 They [d] smite downe thy people, ô Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slaie the widow and the stranger, and murther the fatherles.

7 [e] Yet they saye, The Lord shal not se: nether wil the God of Iaakob regarde it.

8 Vnderstand ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when wil ye be wise?

9 He that [f] planted the eare, shal he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shal he not se?

10 Or he that chasticeth the [g] nations, shal he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shal he not knowe?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of mã, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man, whome thou [h] chasticest, ô Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou maiest giue him rest from the dayes of euil, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord wil not faile his people, nether wil he forsake his inheritance.

15 For [i] iudgement shal returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart shal follow after it.

16 Who wil rise vp with me against the wicked? or who wil take my parte against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not [k] holpen me, my soule had almoste dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, [l] My fote slideth, thy mercie, ô Lord, staied me.

19 In the multitude of my [m] thoghts in mine heart, thy comfortes haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hathe the throne of iniquitie [n] felowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

21 Thei gather them together against ỹ soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he wil recompense them their wickednes, and [o] destroie them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shal destroie them.

e He sheweth ỹ they are desperat in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue them selues wholly to do wickedly.
f He sheweth ỹ it is impossible, but God shulde heare, se & vnderstand their wickednes.
g If God punish whole nations for their sins, it is mere folie for anie one mã, or elsa fewe to thinke ỹ God wil spare them.
h God hathe care ouer his and chasticeth them for their welth, that they shulde not perish for euer with the wicked.
i God wil restore the state & gouernement of things to their right vse, & thẽ the godlie shal follow him chefully.
k He complaineth of them, ẅ wolde no: helpe him to resiste ỹ enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe wolde not faile.
l When I thoght there was no way but death.
m In my trouble & destresse I euer founde thy present helpe.
n Though ỹ wicked iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not ỹ autoritie of God.
o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, whe when thei are destroied in their owne malice.

the purpose of the wicked is broken, but moste,

SIng a vnto the Lord a new song: for he hathe done marueious things: *his right hand, and his holie b arme haue gotten him the victorie.

2 b He preserueth his Church miraculously.

The Lord declared his c saluation: his righteousnes hathe he reueiled in the sight of the nations.

3 c For the deliuerance of his Church.

He hathe d remembred his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue sene the saluation of our God.

4 d God was moued by none other meanes to garher his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because he wolde performe his promes.

All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lord: crye out and reioyce, and sing praises.

5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With e shalmes and sounde of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King.

7 e By this repetition & earnest exhortation to giue praises w instruments, & also of the dumme creatures, he signifieth that ỹ worlde is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the worlde, and thei that dwel therein.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 I Wil a sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, ô Lord, wil I sing.

2 I wil do wisely in the perfite waie b til thou comest to me: I wil walke in ỹ vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house.

3 I wil set no wicked thing before mine eies: I hate c the worke of them that fall awaie: it shalt not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shal depart from me: I wil knowe none euil.

5 Him, that priuely d slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroie: him that hathe a proude loke and high heart, I can not suffer.

6 Mine eies shalbe vnto the e faithful of the land, that they maie dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite waie, he shal serue me.

7 There shal no deceitful persone dwel within mine house: he that telleth lies, shal not remaine in my sight.

c For the more liberally that God dealeth w his people, the more doeth he punish them that abuse his benefites.

a He prophecieth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shalbe so great that thei shal haue wonderful occasion to praise his mercie & reioyce.

b He chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, where by we are his shepe and people.

c He sheweth ỹ God wil not be worshiped, but by that meanes, w he hathe appointed.

d He declareth ỹ we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him, seing his mercies toward vs last for euer.

a Dauid considereth what maner of King he wolde be, when God shulde place him in the throne, promising openly, that he wolde be merciful and iust.

b Though as yet thou differreſt to place me in the kinglie dignitie, yet wil I giue my self to wisdome & vprightnes being a priuate man.

c He sheweth that magistrates do not their duties, except thei be enemies to all vice.

d In promising to punish these vices, which he declareth that are moste pernicious in them that are about Kings, he wil punish all. e He sheweth what is the true vse of the sworde: to punish the wicked and to maintein the good.

f Magistrates must immediatly punish vice, lest it growe to farther incõuenience and if heathen Magistrates are bounde to do this, how muche more then that haue the charge of the Church of God.

8 f Betimes wil I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I maie cut of all ỳ workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

PSAL. CII.

Morning

It semeth that this praier was appointed to the faithful to praie in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolatiõ for the buylding of the Church: 18 Whereof foloweth the praise of God to be published vnto all posteritie. 22 The conuersion of the Gẽtiles, 23 And the stabilitie of the Church.

¶ A praier a of the afflicted, when he shalbe in distres, and poure forthe his meditation before the Lord.

a Whereby is signified, that albeit we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euer place left for praier.

O Lord, heare my praier, and let my b crye come vnto thee.

b He declareth ỳ in our praier we must liuely fele that, which we dere and stedfastly beleue to obteine.

Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.

c These excessiue kindes of speache shew how muche the affliction of the Church ought to wounde y heartes of y godlie.

For my daies are c consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

d My sorowes were so great, that I passed not for mine ordinarie fode.

Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate d to eat my bread.

e Euer mourning, and solitarie, casting out feareful cryes.

For the voice of my groning my bones do cleaue to my skin.

f Haue conspired my death

I am like a e pelicane of the wildernes: I am like an owle of the deserts.

g I haue not risen out of my mourning to take my refectiõ,

I watche and am as a sparowe alone vpon the house toppe.

h He sheweth that the affections did not onely thus moue him, but chiefly the feling of Gods displasure.

Mine enemies reuile me daiely, & they that rage against me, haue f sworne against me.

Surely I haue g eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weping,

Because of thine h indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

i How soeuer we be frailes, yet thy promes it sure & the remembrance therof shal confirme vs for euer.

My daies are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

k That is, the seuentie yeres, which by the prophet Jeremie thou diddest appoint, Jer. 29, 32.

But thou, ô Lord, doest i remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generacion to generacion.

l The more that the Church is in miserie and desolation, the more ought the faithful to loue and pitie it.

Thou wilt arise & haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the k appointed time is come.

For thy seruants delite in the l stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.

m That is, when he shal haue drawen his Church out of the darkenes of death.

The heathen shal feare the Name of the Lord, & all the kings of the earth thy glorie,

When the Lord shal builde vp Zion, & shal appeare m in his glorie,

And shal turne vnto the praier of the desolate, and not despise their praier.

This shalbe writen for the generacion to come: & the people, w shalbe n created, shal praise the Lord.

For he hathe loked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord beholde the earth,

That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the o children of death:

That thei maie declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ierusalem, Whẽ the people shalbe gathered p together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

He q abated my strength in the waie, & shortened my daies.

And I said, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my daies: thy yeres endure from generacion to generacion.

Thou hast afore time laied the fundation of the earth, and the heauens are r worke of thine hands.

They shal perish, but thou shalt endure: euen thei all shal waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and thei shalbe changed.

But thou art the same, and thy yeres shal not faile.

The children of thy seruants shal continue, and their sede shal stand s fast in thy sight.

n The deliuerance of y Church is a moste excellent benefite & therefore he cõpareth it to a newe creation: for in their banishment ỳ bodie of ỳ Church semed to haue bene dead, w by deliuerance was as it were created anewe.

o Who now in their banishment colde loke for nothing but death.

p He sheweth ỳ Gods Name is neuer more praised, then when religion flourisheth, and the Church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accõplished vnder ỳ kingdome of Christ.

q The Church lamẽt that these not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but fewe yeres and short daies.

r If heauen & earth perish, much more man shal perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promes endureth for euer.

s Seing thou hast chosen thy Church out of the worlde, & ioyned it to thee, it can not but continue for euer, for thou art euerlasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, w hich hathe pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him frõ destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a moste tender Father towards his children, 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 MY soule, a praise thou the Lord, & all that is within me, praise his holie Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which b forgiueth al thine iniquities, & healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redemeth thy life from the c graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compasions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good o He waketh his dulnes to praise God, shewing that both vnderstandings & affections, minde & heart are to little to set forthe his praise.

b This is ỳ beginning and chiefest of all benefites: remissiõ of sinne

c For before ỳ we haue remission of our sinnes, we are as dead men in the graue.

d As the egle, when her beake ouergroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renued in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mans expectation.

e As to his chief minister & next to his people.

f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as ỹ sinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie.

g We haue proued by cõtinual experience, that his mercie hath euer preuailed against our offences.

h As great as ỹ worlde is, so full is it of signes of Gods mercies toward, his faithful when he hathe remoued their sinnes.

i He declareth ỹ man hathe nothing in him self to moue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmitie & miserie.

k His iuste & faithful keping of his promes.

l To whome he giueth grace to feare him, & to obey his worde.

m In that that we, which naturally are slowe to praise God, exhort the Angels, willingly do it. we stirre vp our selues to consider our duetie, & awake out of our sluggishnes.

things: and thy d youth is renued like the egles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his waies knowen vnto e Moses, & his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is ful of compassion and mercie, slowe to angre and of great kindenes.

9 He wil not alwaie f chide, nether kepe his angre for euer.

10 He hathe not g dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as h the East is from ỹ West: so farre hathe he remoued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hathe compassion on his children, so hathe the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The daies of i man are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so floriseth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shal knowe it no more. Iob 7. 10.

17 But the louing kindenes of the Lord endureth for euer & euer vpon them ỹ feare him, and his k righteousnes vpon childrens children, 18 Vnto them that kepe his l couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hathe prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye m his Angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandement in obeying the voice of his worde.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that do his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord all ye his workes, in all places of his dominiõ: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

Verse

1 An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the worlde & the gouernance of the same by his maruelous prouidence, 35 Wherein the Prophet praieth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminished his blessings.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord: ô Lord my God, thou art exceding great, thou art a clothed with glorie & honour.

2 Which couereth him self with light as with a garment, & spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which laieth the beames of his chambers in ỹ waters, and maketh ỹ cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpõ the wings of the winde.

4 Which b maketh the spirits his messengers, & a flaming fyre his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her fundacions, so that it shal neuer moue.

6 Thou couerdst it with the c deepe as with a garment: the d waters wolde stand aboue the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke thei flee: at the voice of thy thunder thei haste awaie.

8 And the mountaines ascend, & ỹ valleis descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bonde, which thei shal not passe: thei shal not returne to couer the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleis, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 Thei shal giue drinke to all the e beastes of the field, and the wilde asses shal quenche their thirst.

12 By these f springs shal the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his g chambers, & the earth is filled with the frute of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for ỹ cattel, and herbe for the vse of h man, that he maie bring forthe bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, & oyle to make the face to shine, & bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedres of Lebanõ, which he hathe planted, 17 That the birdes maie make their nestes there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the n goates: the rockes are a refuge for ỹ conies.

19 He appointed the i moone for certeine seasons: k the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenes, & it is night, wherein all the beastes of the forest crepe forthe.

21 The lions roare after their praie, and seke their meate l at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couche in their dennes.

23 m Then goeth man forthe to his worke and to his labour vntil the euening, 24 O Lord, how n manifolde are thy workes? in wisdome hast thou made them all: the earth is ful of thy riches.

25 So is the sea great & wide: for there in a The prophet sheweth that we nede not to enter into ỹ heauens to seke God, for asmuch as all the order of nature, with the proprietie and placing of ỹ elements, are moste liuely mirrours to se his maiestie in.

b As the prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are readie to serue God: so the Apostle to the Ebr. 1. 7 beholdeth in this glasse, how the verie Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou dideste not bridle ỹ rage of ỹ waters, it were not possible, but ỹ whole worlde shulde be destroied.

e If God prouide for the verie beastes, much more wil he extend his prouident care to mã.

f There is no part of the worlde (so bare, where moste euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From ỹ cloudes.

h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessaries for him, as herbes & other meat: but also thigs to reioyce and conforte him, as wine & oyle or ointments.

Or, doues, roes, & suche like.

i As to separat ỹ night from the daie, & to note daies, moneths & yeres.

k That is, by his course, either farre or nere, it noteth sommer, winter and other seasons.

l That is, they onely findemeat according to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for ỹ brute beastes.

m To wit, when the daie springeth: for ỹ light is as it were at shield to defend man against the tyrãnie and fiercenes of beastes.

n He confesseth ỹ no tongue is able to expresse

*Or, whale.

o God is a moste nourrishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their dailie fode.

p As by thy presence all things haue life: so, if thou withdrawe thy blessings, thei all perish.

q As the death of creatures sheweth ỹ we are nothing of our selues: so their generacion declareth that we receiue all things of our Creator.

r Gods merciful face giueth strength to the earth, but his seuere countenance burneth the mountaines.

s Who inferre ỹ worlde, & so cause God ỹ he can not reioyce in his workes.

are things creping innumerable, bothe smale beastes and great.

26 There go the shippes, yea, that [n] Liuiathan, whome thou hast made to plaie therein.

27 [o] All these waite vpon thee, that thou maiest giue them fode in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, & thei gather it: thou openest thine hand, & thei are filled with good things.

29 But if thou [p] hide thy face, thei are troubled: if ỹ take awaie their breath, they dye and returne to their dust.

30 Againe if thou [q] send forthe thy spirit, thei are created, and thou renuest ỹ face of the earth.

31 Glorie be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 He loketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, & thei [r] smoke.

33 I wil sing vnto the Lord all my life: I wil praise my God while I liue.

34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I wil reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be [s] consumed out of the earth, & the wicked til there be no more, ô my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

The people diſperſed vnder Antiochus do magnifie the goodnes of God among the iuſte and repentant: 4 Deſiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods merciful viſitation. 8 And after the manifolde marueils of God wrought in their deliuerance forthe of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearſed. 47 They do pray & deſire to be gathered from among the heathen to the intent they may praiſe the Name of the God of Iſrael.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

1 PRaiſe [a] ye the Lord becauſe he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Who can expreſſe the noble actes of the Lord, or ſhewe forthe all his praiſe?

3 Bleſſed are they that [b] kepe iudgemẽt, and do righteouſnes at all times.

4 Remember me, ô Lord, with the [c] fauour of thy people: viſit me with thy ſaluacion,

5 That I may ſe the felicitie of thy choſen, and reioyce in the ioye of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue [d] ſinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderſtode not thy wonders in Egypt, nether remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheles he [e] ſaued them for his Names ſake, that he might make his power to be knowen.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dryed vp, and he led them in ſ deepe, as in the wildernes.

10 And he ſaued them from the aduerſaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemie.

11 * And the waters couered their oppreſſers: not one of them was lift.

12 Then [f] beleued they his wordes, & ſang praiſe vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his [g] counſel, 14 But luſted with concupiſcence in the wildernes, & tempted God in the deſert.

15 Then he gaue them their deſire: but he ſent [h] leannes into their ſoule.

20 Thus they turned their [k] glorie into the ſimilitude of a bullocke, that eateth graſſe.

21 They forgate God their Sauiour, ẅ had done great things in Egypt, 23 Therefore he minded to deſtroye them, had [l] not Moſes his choſen ſtand in ſ breache before him to turne away his wrath, leſt he ſhulde deſtroye them.

24 Alſo they contemned that [m] pleaſant land, & beleued not his worde,

26 Therefore [n] he lifted vp his hand againſt them, to deſtroye them in the wildernes, 27 And to deſtroye their ſede among ſ nacions, and to ſcater them throughout the countreis.

28 They ioyned them ſelues alſo vnto [o] Baalpeor, & did eat the offrings of ſ [p] dead.

29 Thus they [q] prouoked him vnto angre with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But [r] Phinehas ſtode vp, and executed iudgement, and ſ plague was ſtaied.

31 *And it was [ſ] imputed vnto him for righteouſnes from generacion to generacion for euer.

Num. 20,2. psal. 95 8

t If so notable a prophet of God escape not punishment though others prouoked him to sinne, how muche more shal they be subiect to Gods iudgement, w̄ cause Gods children to sin?

v He sheweth how mōstruous a thig idolatrie is, w̄ can wiane vs to things abhorring to nature. where as Gods worde can not obteine moste smal things.

x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholly & onely vnto God.

*Meribah, so that t Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lippes.
34 Nether destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathē, & learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offred their v sonnes, and their daughters vnto diuels, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen ẏ blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offred vnto the idols of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they steined w̄ their owne workes, and went x a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathē: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were hūbled vnder their hād.
43 Manie y a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked hī by their cousels: therefore they were broght downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he sawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crye.
45 And he remembred his couenant toward them, and z repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them, that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, ô Lord our God, and a gather vs from among the heathen, ẏ we maie praise thine holie Name, and glorie in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer & euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

y The prophet sheweth that nether by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except we be all together newly reformed, & ẏ his mercie ouercome and hide our malice.

z Not ẏ God is changeable in him self, but ẏ then he semeth to vs to repent, when he altereth his punishment, & forgiueth vs.

a Gather thy Church, which is dispersed, and giue vs constancie vnder ẏ crosse, that w̄ one consent we may all praise thee.

a This notable sentence was in ẏ beginning vsed, as ẏ fote or tenour of the song, w̄ was often̄ times repeted.

b As this was true in ẏ Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, ẏ fele not his helpe in their necessitie.

PSAL. CVII.

Morning

The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him to giue thākes, 9 For this merciful prouidence of God, gouerning all things at his good pleasure, 20 Sending good & euil, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shal the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

1 PRaise a the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
2 Let them, b which haue bene redemed of the Lord, shewe how he hathe deliuered them from the hand of the oppresser,
3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the c South.
4 When they wandered in the desert & wildernes out of the way, and founde no citie to dwell in,
5 c Bothe hungrie & thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cryed vnto ẏ Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distres,
7 And led them forthe by the right way, that they might go to a citie of habitacion.
8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnes.
10 They, that dwell in darkenes and in ẏ shadowe of death, being bounde in miserie and yron, 11 Because they d rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised ẏ counsel of the moste High,
12 When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fell downe and there was no helper.
13 Then they e cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distres.
14 He broght them out of darkenes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands a sunder.
15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
16 For he hathe broken the f gates of brasse, and brast the barres of yron a sundre.
17 g Fooles by reason of their transgression & because of their iniquities are afflicted.
18 Their soule abhorreth all meat, & they are broght to deaths dore.
19 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, & he deliuereth them frō their distres.
20 h He sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their i graues.
21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men, 22 And let them offer sacrifices of k praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.
23 They that go downe to the l sea in shippes, & occupie by the great waters, 24 They se the workes of the Lord, & his wonders in the depe.
25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp ẏ waues

c Or, from the Sea: meaning the red Sea, which is on the South parte of the land.

c He sheweth ẏ there is none affliction so grieuous, out of the which God will not deliuer his: and also exhorteth them, ẏ are deliuered, to be mindeful of so great a benefite.

d Then the true way to obeie God, is to followe his expresse commandement: also hereby all are exhorted to descende into thē, selues, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes.

e He sheweth ẏ the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we can be broght vnto him by none other meanes.

f When there seemeth to mans iudgement no recouerie, but all things are broght to dspaire, then God chiefly sheweth his mightie power.

g Thei that haue no feare of God, by his sharp rods are broght to call vpon him and so finde mercie.

h By healing thē he declareth his good will toward them.

i Meaning, their diseases, w̄ had almost broght them to the graue & corruptiō.

k Praise and cōfession of Gods benefits are the true sacrifices of the godlie.

l He sheweth by the sea what care God hathe ouer man, for in that that he deliuereth them from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were, from a thousand deaths.

thereof.
26 They mounte vp to the heauen, & descend to the depe, so that their soule [m] melteth for trouble.
27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their [n] cunning is gone.
28 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distres.
29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.
30 When they are [o] quicted, they are glad, & he bringeth them vnto the heauen, where they wolde be.
31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, and his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
32 And let them exalt him in the [p] Congregacion of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.
33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drienes, 34 And a fruteful land into [q] barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.
35 Againe he [q] turneth the wildernes into pooles of water, & the drye land into water springs.
36 And there he placeth [r] hungrie, and they buyld a citie to dwell in,
37 And sowe the fields, & plant vineyardes, which bring forthe fruteful [r] increase.
38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattel.
39 [s] Againe men are diminished, and broght lowe by oppression, euil and sorowe.
40 He powreth [t] contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.
41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of shepe.
42 The [v] righteous shal see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shal stop her mouth.
43 Who is wise that he maie obserue these things? for they shal vnderstand [x] louing kindenes of the Lord.

m Their feare & danger is so great.
n Whē their arte & meanes faile thē, [y] they are compelled to confesse that onely Gods prouidence doeth preserue them.
o Though before enemie drop seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandement they are as still, as though they were frosen.
p This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places & assemblies.
q Or, saltenes.
q For the loue [y] he beareth to his Church he changeth [y] ordre of nature for their commoditie.
r Continual increase & yearlie.
s As God by his prouidece doeth exalte men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to knowe themselues.
t For their wickednes and tyrannie he causeth the people & subiects to contemne them.
u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shal reioyce to se Gods iudgements against [y] wicked & vngodlie.

PSAL. CVIII.

EVenus

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen and fiftieth & the sixtieth. The matter here conteined is, 1 That Dauid giueth him self with heart and voyce to prai se the Lord, 7 And assureth him self of the promes of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nacions: 11 Who though he seme to forsake vs for a time, yet he alone wil in the end cast downe our enemies.

¶ A song or Psalme of Dauid.

1 O God, mine heart is [a] prepared, so is [b] my tongue: I wil sing & giue praise.
2 Awake viole & harpe: I wil awake early.
3 I wil praise thee, ô Lord, among the [b] people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nacions.
4 For thy mercie is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.
5 [c] Exalt thy self, ô God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth,
6 That thy beloued maie be deliuered: [d] helpe with thy right hand and heare me.
7 God hathe spoken in his [e] holines: therefore I wil reioyce, I shal diuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.
8 Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shal be mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my Lawgiuer.
9 *Moab shalbe my wash pot: ouer Edom wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph.
10 Who wil leade me into the strong citie? who wil bring me vnto Edom?
11 [f] Wilt not thou, ô God, which hadst forsaken vs, & didest not go forthe, ô God, with our armies?
12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.
13 Through God we shal do valiantly: for he shal tread downe our enemies.

a This earnest affection declareth that he is fre from hypocrisie, and that sluggishnes staieth him not.
b Or, my glorie because it chiefly setteth forthe the glorie of God.
c He propheciethe of the calling of [y] Gentiles: for except thei were called, they colde not heare the goodnes of God.
d Let al [y] worlde se thy iudgements, in [y] that thou art God ouer all, & confesse that thou art glorious.
d When God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admoniseth vs to be earnest in praier to desire him to continue and finish his graces. Psal. 60. 8.
e As he hathe spoken to Samuel concerning me, so wil he shewe him self constant, and holie in his promes, so [y] these nacions following shalbe subiect vnto me. f From [y] sixt verse of this psalme vnto the last read the exposicion in the threscore psalme, and fifte verse.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falsely accused by flatterers vnto Saul, praieth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he speaketh of Iuda the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies maie knowe the worke to be of God: 30 Then doeth he promise to giue praises vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HOlde not thy tongue, ô God of my [a] praise.
2 For the mouth of the wicked, and [y] mouth ful of deceit are opened vpon me: thei haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.
3 Thei compassed me about also with wor-a Though al the worlde condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, & [y] is sufficient praise to me.

wordes of hatred, and foght against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, [b] but I gaue my self to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 [c] Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [d] praier he turned into sinne.

8 Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his [e] charge.

9 Let his childrē be fatherles, & his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be vagabunds & begge and seke bread, comming out of their places destroied.

11 Let [f] the extorcioner catche all that he hathe, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: nether let there be anie to shewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

13 Let his posteritie he destroied, & in ỹ generacion following let their name be put out.

14 [g] Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done awaie.

15 But let them alway be before ỹ Lord, that he maie cut of their memorial frō the earth.

16 Because [h] he remembred not to shewe mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowful hearted to slaye him.

17 As he loued cursing, [i] so shal it come vnto him, & as he loued not blessing, so shal it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed him self with cursing like a raiment, so shal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alwaie girded.

20 Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie [k] from the Lord, and of them, that speake euil against my soule.

21 But thou, ô Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy [l] Name: deliuer me (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and nedie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I departe like the shadowe that declineth, and am shaken of as the [m] grashopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, & my flesh [n] hathe lost all fatnes.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that loked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, ô Lord my God: [o] saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shal knowe, that this is thine hand & that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they [p] curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shal arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shal reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer them selues with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I wil giue thankes vnto the Lord greatly with my [q] mouthe, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he wil stand at the right hand of ỹ poore, to saue him from them that wolde [r] condemne his soule.

b To declare ỹ I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my conscience was at rest.

c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friend ỹ had betraied hī, he praieth not of priuate affection, but moued by Gods Spirit, that God wolde take vēgeance vpon him.

d As to the elect all things turne to their profite: so to the reprobat euen those things, that are good, turne to their damnatiō.

e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Act. 1. 20.

f He declareth ỹ the curse of God lieth vpon the extorcioners: who thinking to enriche their children by their vnlawful gotten gods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all.

g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third, and fourth generacion the wickednes of ỹ parents in their wicked childrē.

h He sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort, ỹ shewe them selues cruel toward other.

i Thus giueth ỹ Lord to euerie man the thing, wherein he delighteth, that ỹ reprobate can not accuse God of wrong, when thei are giuen vp to their lusts and reprobat mindes.

k For being destitute of mans helpe, he fully trusted in the Lord, that he wolde deliuer him.

l As thou art named merciful, gracious and long suffring, so shewe thy self in effect.

m Meaning that he hathe no staie nor assurance in this worlde.

n For hungre, ỹ came of sorow, he was leane, and his natural moysture failed him.

o The more grieuous ỹ Satā assailed him, ỹ more earnest & instant was he in praier.

p They shal gaine nothing by cursing me.

q Not onely in confessing it secretly in my self, but also in declaring it before all ỹ Congregacion.

r Hereby he sheweth that he had not to do w̄ them, ỹ were of litle power, but w̄ ỹ iudges and princes of the worlde.

PSAL. CX.

Mourning

1 Dauid prophecieth of the power and euerlasting kingdome giuen to Christ, 4 And of his Priesthode, which shulde put an end to the Priesthode of Leui.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 THe [a] Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntil I make thine enemies thy fotestole.

2 The Lord shal send ỹ rod of thy power out of [b] Zion: be thou ruler in ỹ middes of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shal come willingly at the time of assembling: [c] thine armie in holie beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dewe.

4 The Lord sware and wil not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the ordre of [d] Melchizedek.

5 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shal wounde Kings in the daie of his wrath.

6 He shalbe Iudge among the heathen: he shal fil all with dead bodies, and smite the [e] head ouer great countreis.

7 He shal [f] drinke of the brooke in the waie: therefore shal he lift vp his head.

a Iesus Christ in the two & twētie of Matth. giueth ỹ interpretacion hereof, & sheweth that this can not properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to him self.

b And thence it shal stretch through all the worlde: & this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his worde.

c By thy worde thy people shalbe assembled into thy Church, whose increase shalbe so abundant & wonderful, as the drops of the dewe.

d As Melchizedek the figure of Christ was bothe King & priest: so the effect can not be accomplished in anie King, saue onely in Christ, 2 Chro 26. 21.

e No power shalbe able to resist him.

f Vnder this similitude of a capitaine, that is so gredie to destroie his enemies, that he wil not scarse drinke by the waie, he sheweth how God wil destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

2 He giueth thankes to the Lord for his merciful workes toward his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wisdome and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 I Wil [a] praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregacion of the iust.
2 The workes of the Lord are [b] great, and ought to be soght out of all them ỹ loue them.
3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteousnes endureth for euer.
4 He hathe made his wonderful workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is merciful and ful of compassion.
5 He hathe giuen [c] a portion vnto them that feare him: he wil euer be mindeful of his couenant.
6 He hathe shewed to his people ỹ power of his workes in giuing vnto them ỹ heritage of the heathen.
7 The [d] workes of his hands are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.
8 They are stablished for euer & euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.
9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hathe commanded his couenant for euer: holie and feareful is his Name.
10 [e] The beginning of wisdome is ỹ feare of the Lord: all they that obserue [f] them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

a The prophet declareth ỹ he wil praise God bothhe priuatly & openly, & that from ỹ heart, as he ỹ consecrateth him selfe wholly & onely vnto God.
b He sheweth ỹ Gods workes are a sufficient cause, wherefore we shulde praise him, but chiefly his benefites toward his Church.
c God hathe giuen to his people all that was necessarie for them, & wil do stil euen for his couenants sake, and in this sense ỹ Ebrewe worde is take, Prou. 30,8. & 31,15.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicitie of them, that feare God. 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

BLesſed is the man, that [a] feareth the Lord, & deliteth greatly in his commandements.
2 His sede shalbe mightie vpon earth: the generacion of the righteous shalbe blessed.
[b] Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousnes endureth for euer.
4 Vnto the [c] righteous ariseth light in darkenes: he is merciful and ful of compassion and righteous.
5 A good man is merciful and [d] lendeth, and wil measure his affaires by iudgement.
6 Surely he shal neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
7 He wil not be afraid of euil tidings: for his heart is fixed, & beleueth in the Lord.
8 His heart is stablished: therefore he wil not feare, vntil he se his desire vpon his enemies.
9 He hathe [e] destributed and giuen to ỹ poore: his righteousnes remaineth for euer: his [f] horne shalbe exalted w glorie.
10 The wicked shal se it and be angrie: he shal gnash with his teeth, and [g] consume awaie: the desire of the wicked shal perish.

a He meaneth ỹ reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delite onely in ỹ worde of God.
b The godlie shal haue abundance & contentement, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.
c The faithful in all their aduersities knowe that all shal go wel with them: for God wilbe merciful and iuste.
d He sheweth what is the frute of mercie: to lend frely & not for gaine, & so to measure his doings, that he maie be able to helpe where nede requireth, and not to bestowe all on him selfe.
e The godlie pinche not niggardely, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, & as his power is able.
f His power & prosperous estate.
g The blessings of God vpō his childrē shal cause ỹ wicked to dye for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortacion to praise the Lord for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 PRaise, ô ye seruants of the Lord, [a] praise the Name of the Lord.
2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hence forthe and for euer.
3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.
4 The Lord is high aboue all [b] nacions, & his glorie aboue the heauens.
5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hathe his dwelling on high?
6 Who abaseth him self to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth.
7 He raiseth the nedie out of ỹ dust, & lifteth vp the [c] poore out of the dung,
8 That he maie set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
9 He maketh the baren woman to dwell with a familie, & a ioyful mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our colde dulnes to praise God, seing his workes are so wonderful, & ỹ we are created for the same cause.
b If Gods glorie shine through all the world, & therfore of all ought to be praised, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whome chiefly it shineth, if they shulde not earnestly extoll his Name.
c By preferring ỹ poore to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

PSAL. CXIIII.

Ex. 14,21.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered forthe of Egypt, & of the wonderful miracles, that God wroght at that time. Which put vs in remēbrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously.

4 Their idoles are [d] siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands.
5 Thei haue a mouth and speake not: thei haue eyes and se not.
6 Thei haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.
7 Thei haue [e]hands and touche not: thei haue fete and walke not: nether make thei a sounde with their throte.
8 Thei that make them are [f] like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.
9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
10 [g] O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield.
12 The Lord hathe bene mindeful of vs: he wil blesse, he wil blesse the house of Israel, he wil blesse ý house of Aarō.
13 He wil blesse them that feare ý Lord, bothe smal and great.
14 The Lord wil increase his graces toward your, euen toward you & your children.
15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, [i] which made the heauen and the earth:
16 The [k]heauens, euen the heauens are ý Lords: but he hathe giuen the earth to ý sonnes of men.
17 The dead praise not the Lord, nether anie that [l] go downe into the place of silence.
18 But we wil praise the Lord from hēceforthe and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Isa.48,11, therfore they grounde their prayer vpon this promes.
b When the wicked se ý God accomplisheth not his promes as thei imagine, thei thinke there is no God.
c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen ý impediments to serue his wil. d Seing that nether, ý matter nor the forme can commēd ý idoles, it followeth ý there is nothing, why thei shuld be estemed.
e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them, & not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense & reason.
f As muche without sense, as blockes & stones.
g For thei were appointed by God as instructers & teachers of faith and religion for others to followe.
h That is, he wil continue his graces toward his people.
i And therfore doeth stil gouerne & continue all things therin.
k And thei declare ynough his sufficiencie, so that the worlde serueth him nothing, but to shewe his fatherlie care toward men, l I Though ý dead set forthe Gods glorie, yet the meaneth not, that thei praise him not in his Church and Cōgregacion.

PSAL. CXVI.

Morning

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiuing the great and inestimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth h suche great mercies, 13 And protesteth that he wil be thankeful for the same.

1 I [a] Loue the Lord, becaufe he hathe heard my voyce & my praiers.
2 For he hathe inclined his eare vnto me, when I did call vpon him [b] in my daies.
3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefs of the graue caught me: when I founde trouble and sorowe,
4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseche thee, ô Lord, deliuer my soule.
5 The Lord is [c] merciful and righteous, and our God is ful of compassion.
6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me.
7 Returne vnto thy rest, ô my soule: for the Lord hathe bene beneficial vnto thee,
8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eies from teares, & my fete from falling.
9 I shal [e] walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.
10 I beleued therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.
11 I said in my [g] feare, All men are lyers.
12 What shal I rendre vnto the Lord for all his benefites tow'rd me?
13 I wil [h] take the cup of saluacion, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.
14 I wil paie my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.
15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the [i] death of his Saints.
16 Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, & the sonne of thine handmaied: thou hast broken my bones.
17 I wil offer to the a sacrifice of praise, and wil call vpon the Name of the Lord.
18 I wil paie my [k] vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people, a He granteth ý no pleasure is so great, as to fele Gods helpe in our necessitie, nether that anie thing more stirreth vp our loue toward him.

b That is, in conuenient time to seke helpe, w was when he was in distres.
c He sheweth forthe ý frute of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust & merciful, and to helpe them ý are destitute of aide & counsel.
d Which was vnquieted before now rest vpon ý Lord: for he hathe bene beneficial towards thee.
e The Lord wil preserue me, & saue my life.
f I felt all these things, and therefore was moued by faith to confesse them 2.Cor.4,13.
g In my great distresse I thoght God wolde not regarde man, w is but lies and vanitie, yet I ouercame this tentation, and felt ý contrarie.
h In the Law thei vsed to make a banker, when thei gaue solempne thankes to God, and to take ý cup & drinke in signe of thankesgiuing.
i I perceiue that God hathe a care ouer his, so that he bothe dispoſeth their death & taketh an account.
k I wil thāke him for his benefites: for that is a iuste paiement, to confesse that we owe al to God.

19 In the courtes of the Lords house, euen in the middes of thee, ô Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 He exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because he hathe accomplished aswel to thē as to ỳ Iewes, the promes of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

1 ALl*nacions, praise ye the Lord: all ye people, praise him.

Rom. 15. 11

2 For his louing kindenes is great toward vs, and the [a] trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is ỳ moste certeine and continual testimonies of his Fatherlie grace.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reiected of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obteined the kingdome. 4 For the which he biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankeful. And vnder his persone in all this was Christ liuely set forthe, who shuldebe of his people reiected.

1 PRaise [a] ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

a Because God by creating Dauid King, shewed his mercie toward his afflicted Church, ỳ Prophet doeth not onely him selfe thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to do ỳ same.

2 Let Israel now saie, That his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now saie, That his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Let them, that feare the Lord, now saie, That his mercie endureth for euer.

b We are here taught, that the more ỳ troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in trouble, & the Lord heard me, & set me at large.

c Being exalted to this estate, he assured him selfe to haue man euer to be his enemie.

6 The Lord is with me: therefore I wil not feare what [c] man can do vnto me.

7 The Lord is with me among them ỳ helpe me: therefore shal I se my desire vpon mine enemies.

Yet he douted not, but God wolde maintein him because he had placed him.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence [d] in man.

d He sheweth ỳ he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, 9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nacions haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shal I destroie them.

11 Thei haue cõpassed me, yea they haue cõpassed me: but in the Name of the Lord I shal destroy ethem.

so he preferred to the kingdome, & therefore he put his trust in God & obteined.

12 Thei come about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fyre of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shal destroy e them.

e He noteth Saul his chief enemie.

13 [e] Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hathe holpen me.

f In ỳ he was deliuered, it came not of him selfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour: therefore he wil praise him.

14 The Lord is my strength and f song: for he hathe bene my deliuerance.

15 The [g] voice of ioye and deliuerance shalbe in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hathe done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: [h] the right hand of the Lord hathe done valiantly.

17 I shal not dye, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.

18 The Lord hathe chastened me sore, but he hathe not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto me the [i] gates of righteousnes, that I maie go in to them, & praise the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shal entre into it.

21 I wil praise thee: for thou hast heard me and hast bene my deliuerance.

22 *The stone, which the buylders [k] refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, & it is marueilous in our eyes.

24 This is the [l] daie, which the Lord hathe made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 [m] O Lord, I praie thee, saue now: ô Lord, I praie thee now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed be he, that cometh in the Name of the Lord: [n] we haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mightie, and hathe giuen vs [o] light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I wil praise thee, euen my God: therefore I wil exalt thee.

29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

g He promiseth bothe to rendre graces him self, & to cause others to do the same, because ỳ in his persone ỳ Church was restored.

h So ỳ all, ỳ are bothe farre & nere, maie se his mightie power.

i He willeth ỳ dores of the Tabernacle to be opened, ỳ he maie declare his thankeful minde.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holie worde. 125 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth: that is, when we serue him according to his worde, & not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

1 BLessed are [a] those that are vpright in their waie, & walke in the Lawe of the Lord.

a Here thei are not called blessed, w thinke them selues wise in their owne iudgement, nor w imagine to them selues a certeine holines, but thei whose conuersation is without hypocrisie.

2 Blessed are thei that kepe his testimonies, & seke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke [b] none iniquitie, that walke in his waies.

b For thei are ruled by Gods Spirit and imbrace no doctrine but his.

4 Thou hast commanded to kepe thy precepts diligently.

5 [c] Oh that my waies were directed to kepe thy statutes.

c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it that is lise maie be conformable to Gods worde.

6 Then shulde I not be confounded, whē I haue respect vnto all thy comandements.
7 I wil praise thee with an vpright[d] heart, when I shal learne the[e] iudgements of thy righteousnes.
8 I wil kepe thy statutes: forsake me not[f] ouerlong.

d For true religion standeth in seruing God without hypocrisie.
e That is, thy precepts, wherein consisteth perfite righteousnes.
f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he feareth to faint, if God succor not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

9 Wherewith shal a[a] yong man redresse his waie? in taking heede thereto according to thy worde.
10 With my whole heart haue I soght thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.
11 I haue[b] hid thy promes in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.
12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teache me thy statutes.
13 With my lippes haue I declared al ỹ iudgements of thy mouth.
14 I haue had as great[c] delite in the waie of thy testimonies, as in all riches.
15 I wil meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy waies.
16 I wil delite in thy statutes, & I wil not forget thy worde.

a Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnes, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods worde.
b If Gods worde be grauen in our heartes, we shalbe more able to resist the assaltes of Satan: & therefore ỹ prophet desireth God to instruct him daiely more & more therein.
c The prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth forthe an example for others to followe Gods worde & leaue worldelie vanities.

GIMEL.

17 Be beneficial vnto thy seruant, that I maie[a] liue and kepe thy worde.
18 Open mine eyes, that I maie se the wonders of thy Law.
19 I am a[b] stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.
20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alwaie.
21 Thou[c] hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that do erre from thy commandements.
22 Remoue from me shame and contempt, for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 [d] Princes also did sit, & speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, & my counseilers, a He sheweth ỹ we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, & that we can not serue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes, b Seing mans life in this worlde is but a passage, what shulde become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

c In all ages thou hast plagued all suche, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy trueth.
d When the powers of the worlde gaue false sentence against me, thy worde was a guide & counseler to teache me what to do, & to comfort me.

DALETH.

25 My soule cleaueth to the[a] dust: quicken me according to thy worde
26 I haue[b] declared my waies, and thou heardest me: teache me thy statutes.
27 Make me to vnderstand the waie of thy precepts, and I wil meditate in thy wonderous workes.
28 My soule melteth for heauines: raise me vp according vnto thy[c] worde.
29 Take from me the[d] waie of lying, & graunt me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosen the waie of trueth, & thy iudgements haue I laied before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confounde me not 32 I wil runne the waie of thy commandements, when thou[e] shalt enlarge mine heart.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy worde I can not liue. b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee.

c If God did not maintein vs by his worde, our life wold de drop a waie like water.
d Instruct me in thy worde, wherby my minde maie be purged from vanitie & taught to obey thy wil.
e By this he sheweth ỹ we can neither chose good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forwarde in his waie, except he make our heartes large to receiue his grace, & willing to obey.

HE.

MORNIng

33 Teache[a] me, O Lord, the waie of thy statutes, and I wil kepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue me vnderstāding, and I wil kepe thy Law: yea, I wil kepe it with my whole[b] heart.
35 Direct me in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to[c] couetousnes.
37 Turne awaie mine[d] eyes from regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy waie.
38 Stablish thy promes to thy seruant, becausse he feareth thee.
39 Take awaie[e] my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Beholde, I desire thy commandements. [f] quicken me in thy righteousnes, a He sheweth ỹ Gods mercie & loue is the first cause of our salnation.

b By trusting in Gods worde he assureth himself to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.
c Thei, ỹ simply walke after Gods worde, haue no lees so intangle them, where as thei, ỹ do contrary, are euer in nets and snares.
d He sheweth ỹ glorie to be obscured by the vaine pompe of princes. a Though he fele Gods hand ful to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promes & comforteth himself therein.

VAV

41 And let thy[a] louing kindenes come vnto me, O Lord, & thy saluacion according to thy promes.
42 So shal I[b] make answer vnto my blasphemers, for I trust in thy worde.
43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I wait for thy iudgements.
44 So shal I alwaie kepe thy Lawe for euer and euer.
45 And I wil[c] walke at libertie: for I seke thy precepts.
46 I wil speake also of thy testimonies before [d] Kings, and wil not be ashamed.
47 And my delite shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued.
48 Mine hands also wil I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I wil meditate in thy statutes.

a Though he fele Gods hand ful to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promes & comforteth himself therein.

52 I remembred thy [c] iudgements of olde, ô Lord, and haue bene comforted.

53 [d] Feare is come vpon me for the wicked: that forsake thy Law.

54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my [e] pilgrimage.

55 I haue remembred thy Name, ô Lord, in the [f] night, and haue kept thy Law.

56 [g] This I had because I kept thy precepts.

CHETH

57 O Lord, that art my [a] porcion, I haue determined to kepe thy wordes.

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be merciful vnto me according to thy promes.

59 I haue considered my [b] waies, & turned my fete into thy testimonies.

60 I made haste and delayed not to kepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue [c] robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight wil I rise to giue thankes vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am [d] companion of all them that feare thee, and kepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, ô Lord, is ful of thy mercie: [e] teache me thy statutes.

TETH

65 O Lord, thou hast delt [a] graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy worde.

66 Teache me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandements.

67 Before I was [b] afflicted, I went astraie: but now I kepe thy worde.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teache me thy statutes.

69 The proude haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil kepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 [c] Their heart is fat as grease: but my delite is in thy Law.

71 It is [d] good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I maie learne thy statutes.

72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of golde and siluer.

74 So thei that [b] feare thee, seing me shal reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy worde.

75 I knowe, ô Lord, that thy iudgemẽts are right, & that thou hast afflicted me [*] iustly.

76 I praie thee that thy mercie maie comfort me, according to thy promes vnto thy seruant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I maie [c] liue: for thy Law is my delite.

78 Let the proude be ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly & falsely [*] with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let suche as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and thei that [e] knowe thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

81 My soule [a] fainteth for thy saluacion: yet I waite for thy worde.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promes, saying, [*] When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a [b] bottel in the smoke: yet do I not forget thy statutes.

84 How manie are the [c] daies of thy seruant? when wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proude haue [d] digged pittes for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: [e] helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed [f] me vpon the earth: but I forsoke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindenes: so shal I kepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

LAMED.

89 O Lord, thy worde endureth for euer in [a] heauen.

90 Thy trueth is from generacion to generation: thou hast laied the fundacion of the earth, and it abideth.

91 Thei [b] continue euen to this daie by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

124 Deale with thy[b] seruant according to thy mercie, and teache me thy statutes.
125 I am thy seruant: grante me therefore vnderstanding, that I maie knowe thy testimonies.
126 It is[c] time for the Lord to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Law.
127 Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue golde, yea, aboue moste fine golde.
128 Therefore I estemed all thy precepts moste iuste, and hate all false[d] waies.

PE.

129 Thy testimonies are[a] wonderful: therefore doeth my soule kepe them.
130 The entrance into thy[b] wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple.
131 I opened my mouth & [c] panted because I loued thy commandements.
132 Loke vpon me and me merciful vn to me, as thou vsest to do vnto those ẏ loue thy Name.
133 Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.
134 Deliuer me from the oppression of men, and I wil kepe thy precepts.
135 Shewe the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teache me thy statutes.
136 Mine eyes gush [d] out with riuers of water, because they kepe not thy Law.

c He proueth by effect, ẏ he is Gods childe, because he seketh to vnderstād his worde. d There is nothing so perfite in earth, but it hathe an end: onely Gods worde lasteth for euer.

a He sheweth ẏ we can not loue Gods worde except we exercise our selues therein & practise it. b Whosoeuer doeth submit him self onely to Gods worde, shal not onely be safe agianst ẏ practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisdo me, then thei ẏ professe it, & are men of experience. c So then of our selues we can do nothing, but when God doeth inwardely instruct vs ẅ his Spirit, we fele his graces sweter then honie.

a Of our selues we are but darkenes, and can not se except we be lightened ẅ Gods worde. b So all ẏ faithful ought to binde them selues to God by a solemne othe and promes, to stir vp their zeale to imbrace Gods worde. c That is, my praiers and thākesgiuing, ẅ sacrifice Hosea calleth ẏ calues of ẏ lippes, Cha. 14. ver 3. d That is, I am in continual danger of my life. e I estemed no wordlie things, but made thy worde mine inheritance.

a Whosoeuer wil imbrace Gods worde aright, must abhorre all fantasies & imaginacions bothe of him self & of others.

d And hinder me not to kepe the Law of the Lord. c He desireth Gods continual assistance lest he shulde faint in this race, whe had ẏ begon. d The craftie practises of thē ẏ contemne thy Law, shal be brought to noght e Which intended thy people, as drosse doeth the metal. f Thy iudgemēts do not onely teache me obedience, but cause me to feare, considering mine owne weakenes, ẅ feare causeth repentance.

a put thy self betwene mine enemies & me, as if ẏ were my pledge. b He boasteth not ẏ he is Gods seruant, but her by putteth God in minde, ẏ as he made him his by his grace, so he wolde continue his fauour toward him. c The Prophet sheweth ẏ when the wicked haue broght all things to cōfusion, & Gods worde to vtter contempt, then is Gods time to helpe and send remedie. d That is, whatsoeuer dissenteth from the puritie of thy worde.

a Conteining high & secret mysteries, so ẏ I am moued ẅ admiration and reuerance. b The simple idiotes, ẏ submit them selues to God, haue their eyes opened, & their mindes illuminated so soone as thei begin to read Gods worde. c My zeale toward thy worde was so great. d He sheweth what ought to worde contemned.

be the zeale of Gods children, when se his ned.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou: ô Lord, and iuſte are thy iudgements.

a We can not cõfeſſe God to be righteous except we liue vprightly and truely as he hathe comanded. Pſal. 6 9, 10 2. pet. 2, 1

138 Thou haſt commanded [a] iuſtice by thy teſtimonies and trueth eſpecially.

b Golde hathe nede to be fined but thy worde is perfection, it ſelf.

139 *My zeale hathe euen conſumed me becauſe mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes.

140 Thy worde is proued [b] moſte pure, and thy ſeruant loueth it.

c This is the true trial, to praiſe God in aduerſitie.

141 I am [c] ſmale and deſpiſed: yet do I not forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteouſnes is an euerlaſting righteouſnes, and thy Law is trueth.

143 I trouble and anguiſh are come vpõ me: yet are thy commandements my delite.

d So ỹ life of man without ỹ knowledge of God. is death.

144 The righteouſnes of thy teſtimonies is euerlaſting: grante me vnderſtanding, and I ſhal [d] liue.

COPH. Euening

a He ſheweth ỹ all his affections & whole heart were bent to God ward for to haue helpe in his dangers.

145 I haue [a] cryed with my whole heart: heare me, ô Lord, & I wil kepe thy ſtatutes.

146 I called vpon thee: ſaue me, and I wil kepe thy teſtimonies.

b He was more earneſt in ỹ ſtudie of Gods worde, then they, ỹ kept ỹ watche were in their charge.

147 I preuented the morning light, and cryed: for I waited on thy worde.

148 Mine eyes [b] preuent the night watches to mediate in thy worde.

*Or, cuſtome.

149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindenes: ô Lord, quicken me according to thy [a] iudgement.

c He ſheweth ỹ nature of the wicked to be to perſecute againſt their cõſcience 150 Thei drawe nere, that follow after [c] malice, & are farre from thy Law.

d His faith is grounded vpon Gods worde, ỹ he wolde euer be at hand when his children be oppreſſed.

151 Thou art nere, ô Lord: for all thy commandements are true.

152 I haue knowẽ long ſince [d] by thy teſtimonies, that thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for euer.

RESH.

153 Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer me: for I haue not forgotten thy Law.

154 Pleade my cauſe, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy [a] worde.

a For without Gods promes there is no hope of deliuerãce

155 Saluacion is farre from the wicked, becauſe they ſeke not thy ſtatutes.

156 Great are thy tẽder mercies, ô Lord: quicken me according to thy [b] iudgements.

b According to thy promes made in the Law, w becauſe ỹ wicked lacke, they can haue no hope of ſaluacion.

157 My perſecutours and mine oppreſſours are manie: yet do I not ſwarue frõ thy teſtimonies.

c My zeale cõſumed me, when I ſawe their malice & contempt of thy glorie.

158 I ſawe the tranſgreſſours and was [c] grieued, becauſe they kept not thy worde.

d It is a ſure ſigne of our adoption, when we loue the Law of God.

159 Conſider, ô Lord, how I [d] loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindenes.

160 The [e] beginning of thy worde is trueth, and all the iudgements of thy righteouſnes endure for euer.

e Since ỹ firſt promiſed, euen to ỹ end all thy sayigs are tru.

SCHIN.

161 Princes haue [a] perſecuted me without cauſe, but mine heart ſtode in awe of thy wordes.

a The threatenings & perſecutions of princes colde not cauſe me to ſhrinke to confeſſe thee whome I more feare then men.

162 I reioyce at thy worde, as one that findeth a great ſpoile.

163 I hate falſehode and abhorre it, but thy Law do I loue.

b That is, often & ſondrie times.

164 [b] Seuen times a daie do I praiſe thee, becauſe of thy righteous iudgements.

c For their conſcience aſſureth the ỹ they pleaſe thee, whereas they ỹ loue not thee, haue ỹ contrarie.

165 They, [c] that loue thy Law, ſhal haue great proſperitie, and they ſhal haue none hurt.

d He ſheweth ỹ we muſt firſt haue faith, before we can worke & pleaſe God.

166 Lord, I haue [d] truſted in thy ſaluacion, and haue done thy commandements.

e I had no reſpect of men, but ſet thee alwaies before mine eies, as ỹ iudge of my doings.

167 My ſoule hathe kept thy teſtimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.

168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy teſtimonies: [e] for all my waies are before thee.

TAV.

169 Let my cõplaint come before thee, ô Lord, & giue vnderſtanding, [a] according vnto thy worde.

a As ỹ haſt promiſed to be the ſcholemaſter vnto all them, ỹ depẽd vpõ thee.

170 Let my ſupplication come before thee, & deliuer me accordig to thy promes.

171 My lippes ſhal [b] ſpeake praiſe, when thou haſt [c] taught me thy ſtatutes.

b The worde ſignifieth to powre forthe continually.

c All his praier, & deſire is, to profit in ỹ worde of God.

172 My tongue ſhal intreate of thy worde: for all thy commandemẽts are righteous.

173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue choſen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy ſaluacion, ô Lord, and thy Law is my delite.

175 Let my ſoule liue, and it ſhal praiſe thee, and thy [d] iudgements ſhal helpe me.

d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and wherewith ỹ wilt iudge mine enemies.

176 I haue [e] gone aſtraye like a loſt ſheepe: ſeke thy ſeruant, For I do not forget thy commandements.

e Being chaſed to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to reſt in.

PSAL. CXX.

MORNING

1 The prayer of Dauid being vexed by the falſe reportes of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore he lamenteth his long abode amõg thoſe infideles, 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednes and contention.

¶ A ſong of [a] degrees.

a That is, of lifting vp ỹ tune & riſing in ſingig.

1 I Called vnto the Lord in my [b] trouble, and he heard me.

2 Deliuer

2 Deliuer my soule, ô Lord, from lying lippes, & from a deceitful tongue.
3 What doeth thy [c] deceitful tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaile thee?
4 It is as the [d] harpe arrowes of a mightie man, & as the coles of iuniper.
5 Wo is to me that I remaine in [e] Meshech, & dwell in the tentes of [f] Kedar.
6 My soule hathe to long dwelt w him that hateth peace.
7 I seke [g] peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

c He assured him self ỹ God wolde turne their craft to their owne destructiõ d He sheweth ỹ there is nothing so sharpe to perce nor so hote to set on fyre as a sclanderous tongue. e These were people of Arabia, w came of Iaphet, Gen to. 2.
f That is, of the by Meshech, and Kedar: to wit, the Israelites, w hich had degenerate from their godlie fathers and hated and contended against the faithful.
Ismaelites. g He declareth what he meaneth

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithful oght only to loke for helpe at God, 7 W ho only doeth maintein, preserue and prosper his Church.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 I Wil lift mine eyes [a] vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shal come.
2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hathe made the [a] heauen and the earth.
3 He wil not suffer thy fote to slippe: for he that kepeth thee, wil not [b] sluber.
4 Beholde, he that kepeth Israel, wil neither slomber nor slepe.
5 The Lord is thy keper: the Lord is thy shadowe at thy right hand.
6 The sunne shal not [c] smite thee by daie, nor the moone by night.
7 The Lord shal preserue thee from all euil: he shal kepe thy soule.
8 The Lord shall preserue thy [d] goig out, thy comming in from hence forthe & for euer.

a Or, aboue the mountaines: meaning that there is nothig so high in this worlde, wherein he cã trust but onely God. a He accuseth mans ingratitude, w can not depend on Gods power. b He sheweth ỹ Gods prouidence not onely watcheth ouer his Church in general, but also ouer euerie member thereof. c Nether heate nor colde, nor anie incommoditie shal be able maie molest it, succesfe.
to destroye Gods Church: albeit for a time they d Whatsoeuer ỹ doeth enterprise, shal haue good.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithful, that God hathe accomplished his promes and placed his Arke in Zion. 5 For the which he giueth thankes. 8 And praieth for the prosperitie of the Church.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 [a] I Reioyced, when they said to me, We wil go into the house of the Lord.

a He reioyceth that God had appointed a place, where the Arke shulde stil remaine.

2 Our [b] fete shal stand in thy gates, ô Ierusalem.
3 Ierusalem is buylded as a citie, that is [c] compact together in it self:
4 Whereunto [d] the tribes, euen the tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.
5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of [e] Dauid.
6 Praie for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.
7 Peace be within thy [f] walles, & prosperitie within thy palaces.
8 For my [g] brethren and neighbours sakes I wil wish thee now prosperitie.
9 Because of the House of the Lord our God, I wil procure thy welth.

b Which were wonte to wander to and fro, as the arke remoued.
c By the artificial ioyning & beautie of the houses he meaneth the cõcord, & loue ỹ was betwene the citizens.
d All the tribes according to Gods couenant shal come and praye there e In whose house God placed ỹ throne of iustice, and made it a figure of Christs kingdome.
f The fauour of God prosper thee bothe within & without.
g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A praier of the faithful, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldelings and contemners of God.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, ỹ dwellest in the heauens.
2 Beholde, as the eyes of [a] seruants loke vnto the hand of their masters, & as ỹ eyes of a maiden vnto the hand of her mastres: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God vntil he haue mercie vpon vs.
3 Haue mercie vpon vs, ô Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue [b] suffred to muche contempt.
4 Our soule is filled to ful of the mocking of the welthie, & of the despitefulnes of the proude.

a He compareth ỹ condition of ỹ godlie to seruants ỹ are destitute of all helpe, assuring ỹ when all other helpes faile, God is euer at hand and like him self. b He declareth ỹ whē ỹ faithful are so ful, ỹ they can no more endure ỹ oppressions, and scornings of ỹ wicked, there is alwaie helpe aboue, if w hungrie desires thei call for it.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God, escaping a great peril, do acknowledge them selues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 Thei declare the greatnes of the peril, 6 And praise the Name of God.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

1 IF the Lord had not [a] bene on our side, (maie Israel now say)
2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs.

a He sheweth ỹ God was readie to helpe at nede, & ỹ there was none other waie to be saued, but by his onely meanes.

b So vnable were we to resist.

3 They had thē swallowed vs vp b quicke when their wrath was kindled against vs.

c He vseth moste propre similitudes to expresse ỹ great danger that ỹ Church was in, and out of ỹ ẅ God miraculously deliuered them.

4 Then the c waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

6 Praised be the Lord, which hathe not giuen vs as a praye vnto their teeth.

d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithful, but craftely imagined to destroye them.

7 Our soule is escaped: euē as a birde out of the d snare of the foulers: the snare is broken and we are deliuered.

8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hathe made heauen and earth.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithful in their afflictions, 4 And desireth their welth, 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 THey that trust in the Lord, shalbe as mount Zion, which can not be a remoued, but remaineth for euer.

a Thogh ỹ worlde be subiect, to mutations, yet ỹ people of God shal stand sure & be defended be Gods prouidece

2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people frō hence forthe and for euer.

3 For the b rod of the wicked shal not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forthe their hand vnto wickednes.

b Thogh God suffer his to be vnder ỹ crosse, lest thei shulde imbrace wickednes, yet this crosse shal not so rest vpon thē, ỹ it shulde driue thē frō hope 4 Do wel, ō Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 c But these that turne aside by their croked waies them shal the Lord leade with the workers of iniquite: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

c He desireth God to purge his Church frō hypocrites and suche as haue no zeale of the trueth.

PSAL. CXXVI.

Euuing

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderful after the seuentie yeres of captiuitie foresposen by Ieremie chap. 25,12. & 29,10.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

1 WHen the Lord broght againe ỹ captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that a dreame.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefo ye take awaie all excuse of ingratitude.

2 Then was our mouth b filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioye: thē said thei among the c heathen, The Lord hathe done great things for them.

b He sheweth how ỹ gedlie ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it. c If ỹ infideles confesse Gods wonderworke, ỹ faithful can neuer shewe thē selues sufficiently thākeful.

3 The Lord hathe done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the d riuers in the South.

d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in ỹ wildernes and barren places.

5 Thei that sowe in teares, shal reape in ioye.

6 Thei went weping and caried e precious sede: but thei shal returne with ioye and bring their sheaues.

e That is, sede ẅ was scarse & dere: meaning, ỹ thei ẅ trusted in Gods promes to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the worlde, bothe domestical & politicall standeth by Gods mere prouidence & blessinge, 3 And that to haue children wel nurtred is an especial grace and gift of God.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Salomon.

1 EXcept the Lord buylde the house, thei labour in vaine that buylde it: except the Lord kepe the b citie, ỹ keper watcheth in vaine.

a That is, gouerne & dispose all things perteining to ỹ familie.

b The publike estate of ỹ commune welth.

c Which watche & warde, & are also magistrates & rulers of ỹ citie.

2 It is in vaine for c you to rise early, and to lye downe late, & eat the bread d of sorow: but he wil surely giue e rest to his beloued.

d Ether ỹ, ẅ is gotten by hard labour, or eaten ẅ griefe of minde.

e Not Exempting them from labour, but making their labours confortable, & as it were a rest.

3 Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lord, & the frute of the wombe his rewarde.

4 As are the arowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the f children of youth.

f That is induẅ strength and vertues from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, & not ỹ nomber

5 Blessed is the man, that hathe his quiuer ful of thē: for thei g shal not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

g Suche childrē shalbe able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, whē their godlie life is maliously accused before iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednes apperteineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 BLessed is euerie one that feareth ỹ Lord and walketh in his a wayes.

a God approueth not our life, except it be reformed according to his worde.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine b hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shalbe wel with thee.

b The worlde estemeth them happie, ẅ liue in welth, and ydlenes: but ỹ holie Gost approueth them best, ỹ liue of ỹ meane profit of their labours.

3 Thy wife shalbe as the fruteful vine on the sides of thine house, & thy c children like the oliue plants round about thy table.

c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing more then increase of children, he promiseth to enriche the faithful with this gift.

4 Lo, surely thus shal the man be blessed that feareth the Lord.
5 The Lord out of Zion shal [d] blesse thee and thou shalt se the welth of [e] Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.
6 Yea, thou shalt se thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

d Because of the spiritual blessing, which God hathe made to his Church, these temporal things shalbe granted.
e For except God blessed his Church publikely, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admoniseth ỹ Church to reioyce thogh it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shalbe deliuered, 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shewe, shal suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 THey haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may [a] Israel now say)
2 They haue oftē times afflicted me frō my youth: but they colde not preuaile against me.
3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, & made long forrowes.
4 But the [b] righteous Lord hathe cut ỹ cordes of the wicked.
5 They that hate Zion, shalbe all ashamed and turned backwarde.
6 [c] They shalbe as the grasse on the house toppes, ẅ withereth afore it cōmeth forthe.
7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hād, nether the glainer his lap:
8 [d] Nether they, ẅ go by, say, The blessing of ỹ Lord be vpon you, or We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember, how her cōdition hathe euer bene such from the beginning: to be molested most grieuously by ỹ wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene deliuered.
b Becaufe God is righteous, he can not but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his as oxen out of ỹ plowe.
c The enemies ỹ lift the selues most high, & as it were, approche nere to the fumme, are cōsumed with the heate of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godlie humilitie.
d That is, ỹ wicked shal perish and none shal passe for the.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomles miseries do crye vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 OVt of the [a] depe places haue I called vnto thee, ô Lord.
2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voice of my praiers.
3 If thou, ô Lord, straitly markest iniquities, ô Lord, [b] who shal stand?
4 But mercie is with thee, ỹ thou [c] maiest be feared.
5 I haue waited on ỹ Lord: my soule hathe waited, & I haue trusted in his worde.
6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watche watcheth for the morning.
7 Let Israel waite on ỹ Lord: for with the Lord is [d] mercie, and with him is great redemption.
8 And he shal redeme Israel from all his iniquities.

a Being in great distresse and sorowe.
b He declareth ỹ we cā not be iust before God, but by forgiuenes of sinnes.
c Because of nature ỹ art merciful: therfore ỹ faithful reuerence thee.
d He sheweth to whome ỹ mercie of God doeth appertein: to Israel, that is to the Church, & not to the reprobate.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and gredie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie & modestie before God, & teacheth all men what thei shulde do.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

1 LOrd, [a] mine heart is not hawtie, nether are mine eies loftie, nether haue I walked in great [b] matters and hid from me.
2 Surely I haue behaued my self, like one wained frō his mother, and kept silence: [c] I am in my self as one that is wained.
3 Let Israel waite on the Lord from hence forthe and for euer.

a He setteth forthe his great humilitie, as an example to all rulers and gouerners.
b Which passe the measure & limites of his vocation.
c He was voide of ambition & wicked desires.

13 For the Lord hathe chosen Zion, & loued to dwell in it saying, 14 This is my rest for euer: here wil I dwell, for I haue [a]delite there in.
15 I wil surely blesse her vitailes, & wil satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And wil clothe her Priests with [k] saluacion, and her Saintes shal showte for ioye.
17 There wil I make the [l] horne of Da-uid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.
18 His enemies wil I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shal florish.

h Because this can not be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth ý ý promes was spiritual.
i Meaning, for his owne sake, & not for the plentifulnes of ý place: for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before, ý it was barren.
k That is, ŵ my protectiō, whereby thei shalbe safe.
l Thogh his force for a time semed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme conteineth the commendacion of brotherlie amitie among the seruants of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 BEholde, how good and how comelie a thing it is, brethren to dwell a euen [a] together.
2 It is like to the precious [b] ointement vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, ŵ went downe on the border of his garments.
3 And as the dewe of [c] Hermon, ŵ falleth vpon the moūtaines of Zion: for [d] there the Lord appointed the blesing & life for euer.

a Because the greatest parte were agninst, Dauid, thogh some fauored him yet whē he was established King, at length they ioyned all together like brethren: & therefore he sheweth by these similitudes ý commoditie of brotherlie loue. b The ointment was a figure of the graces, ŵ come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon & Zion he meaneth the plentiful countrei about Ierusalem.
d Where there is suche concorde.

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praise the Lord.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 BEholde, praise ye the Lord, all ye a seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the house of the Lord.
2 Lift vp your [b] hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord.
3 The Lord that hathe [c] made heauen & earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

a Ye ý are Leuites & chiefly appointed to this office.
b For their charge was not onely to kepe the Temple, but to praie there and to giue God thankes. c And therefore hathe all power, blesse thee ŵ his father dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord, and blesse the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithful of what estate so euer thei be, to praise God for his maruelous workes, 12 And specially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hathe declared his maiestie, 15 To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 PRaise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.
2 Ye that stand in the [a] House of the Lord, & in the [b] courtes of the House of our God,
3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comelie thing.
4 For the [c] Lord hathe [c] chosen Iaakob to him selfe, & Israel for his chief treasure.
5 For I knowe that the Lord is great, & that our Lord is aboue all gods.
6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, ý [d] did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, & in all the depths.
7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the *lightnings with the raine: he draweth forthe the winde out of his treasures.
8 *He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.
9 He hathe sent tokens and wonders in to the middes of thee, ô Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.
10 * He smote manie nations, & slewe mightie Kings:
11 As Sihon King of the Amorites, & Og King of Bashan, & all the kingdomes of Canaan:
12 And [e] gaue their lād for an inheritāce, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.
13 Thy Name, ô Lord, endureth for euer: ô Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.
14 For the Lord wil [f] iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.
15 The [g] idoles of the heathen are siluer & golde, euen the worke of mens hāds.
16 Thei haue a mouth, & speake not: they haue eyes and se not.
17 Thei haue eares & heare not, nether is there anie breath in their mouth.
18 Thei that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.
19 Praise the Lord, ye house of Israel: praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron.
20 Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord.
21 Praised be the Lord out of Zion, ŵ dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord:

a Ye Leuites ý are in his Sanctuarie.
b Meaning the people: for the people & Leuites had their courtes, ŵ were places of ý Temple separate.
c That is, hath freely loued the poseritie of Abraham.
d He ioyneth Gods power ŵ his wil, to ý intent ý we shulde not separate them: & here by he willeth Gods people to depend on his power, ŵ he confirmeth by examples. Ier. 10, 12 exod. 12, 29

e He sheweth what frute the godlie conceiue of Gods power whereby thei se how he destroyeth his enemies, & deliuereth his people.
f That is, gouerne & defend his people.
g By shewing what punishmēt God appointeth for ý heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware ý like offence, seing ý idoles haue nether power nor life, & that their deliuerance came not by idoles but by ý mightie power of God. read psal. 115. ver. 4.

Euening

1 A moste earnest exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things which standeth in confessing feſsing that he giueth vs all of his mere liberalitie.

1 PRaiſe ye the Lord, becauſe he is good: for his [a] mercie endureth for euer.
2 Praiſe ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.
3 Praiſe ye the Lord of lords: for his mercie endureth for euer:
4 Which onelie doeth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer:
5 Which by his wiſdome made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer:
6 Which hathe ſtretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his [b] mercie endureth for euer:
7 Which made great lights: for his mercie endureth for euer:
8 As the ſunne to rule the daie: for his mercie endureth for euer:
9 The moone and the ſtarres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer:
10 Which ſmote Egypt with their firſt borne: for his mercie endureth for euer:
11 And [c] broght out Iſrael from among them: for his mercie endureth for euer.
12 With a mightie hand and [d] ſtretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer:
13 Which deuided the red Sea in two partes: for his mercie endureth for euer:
14 And made Iſrael to paſſe through ỹ middes of it: for his mercie endureth for euer:
15 And ouerthrewe Pharaoh and his hoſte in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer:
16 Which led his people through the [e] wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer:
17 Which ſmote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:
18 And ſlewe [f] mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:
19 As Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer:
20 And Og the King of Baſhan: for his mercie endureth for euer:
21 And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Iſrael his ſeruant: for his mercie endureth for euer:
23 Which remembreth vs in our [g] baſe eſtate: for his mercie endureth for euer:
24 And hathe reſcued vs from our oppreſſours: for his mercie endureth for euer:
25 Which giueth foode to all [h] fleſh: for his mercie endureth for euer:
26 [i] Praiſe ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

a By this repetition he ſheweth ỹ ỹ leaſt of Gods benefites binde vs to thankeſgiuing: but chiefly his mercie, w̄ is principally declared towards his Church.

b This was a cõmune kinde of thankeſgiuing, w̄ ỹ whole people vſed, when thei had receiued anie benefite of God, as 2. Chro. 7, 6. & 20, 21: meaning ỹ God was not onely merciful to their fathers, but alſo continued ỹ ſame to their poſteritie.
c Gods merciful prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in ỹ ỹ he deliuered his Church from ỹ thraldome of their enemies.
d In doing ſuch a worke as was neuer done before, nor ỹ anie other colde do.
e Where for ỹ ſpace of fortie yeres he ſheweth infinite & moſte ſtrãge wonders.
f Declaring thereby ỹ no power nor autoritie was ſodenly vnto him, as ỹ loue of his Church.
g In our greateſt affliction & ſclaucrie, when we loked for no thing leſſe then to haue had anie ſuccour.
h Seing ỹ God prouideth, euen for ỹ beaſtes: muche more ha the he care ouer his.
i Seing ỹ all ages haue had moſt plaine teſtimonies of Gods benefites.

1 Dauid with great courage praiſeth the goodnes of God toward him, ỹ which is ſo great, 4 That it is knowen to forren princes who ſhal praiſe the Lord together with him. 6 And he is aſſured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hathe had heretofore.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

1 I Wil praiſe thee with my whole heart: euen before the [a] gods wil I praiſe thee.
2 I wil worſhip toward thine holie [b] Temple and praiſe thy Name, becauſe of thy louing kindenes & for thy trueth: for thou haſt magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy worde.
3 When I called, then thou heardeſt me, a Euen in ỹ preſence of Angels & of them, ỹ haue autoritie amongmen.

b Bothe ỹ Temple & ceremonial ſeruice at Chriſts cõming were aboliſhed: ſo ỹ now God wil be worſhiped onely in ſpirit and trueth.

c Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward & inward enemies.
d All ỹ worlde shal confesse ỹ thou hast wonderfully preserued me, & performed thy promes.
e Distance of place cā not hinder God to shewe mercie to his, & to iudge ỹ wicked, though thei thinke that he is farre of.
f Though mine enemies rage neuerso much, yet the Lord, ẅ hathe begon his worke in me, wil cōtinue his grace to ỹ end.

and hast c increased strength in my soule.
4 All the d Kings of the earth shal praise thee, ô Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.
5 And thei shal sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord is great.
6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowely, but ỹ proude he knoweth e a farre of.
7 Though I walke in ỹ middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch forthe thine hand vpō the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shal saue me.
8 The Lord wil f performe his worke toward me: ô Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not ỹ workes of thine hands.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

Mornyng

1 Dauid to clense his heart from all hypocrisie sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not, 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to be enemie to all them that contemne God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a He confesseth that nether our actions, thoghts or anie parte of our life can be hid to God, though he seme to be farre of.
b So that thei are euidently knowē to thee.
c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.
d Thou so guidest me with thine hand, that I can turne no waie, but where thou appointest me.
e From thy power and knowledge?

Thy power dieth so fast holde me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darknes be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eyes ẅel as the light.

1 O Lord, thou hast tryed me & knowē me.
2 Thou knowest my a sitting & my rising: thou vnderstandest my thoght a farreof.
3 Thou b compassest my paths, & my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my waies.
4 For there is not a worde in my c tongue, but lo, thou knowest it wholly, ô Lord.
5 Thou holdest me strait behinde and before, and laiest thine d hand vpon me.
6 Thy knowledge is to wonderful for me: it is so high that I can not atteine vnto it.
7 Whether shal I go from thy e Spirit? or whether shal I flee from thy presence?
8 If I ascend into heauē, thou art there: if I lie downe in hel, thou art there.
9 Let me take the wings of the morning, & dwell in the vttermost partes of the sea:
10 Yet thether shal thine f hand lead me, & thy right hand holde me.
11 If I saie, Yet the darkenes shal hide me, euen the night shalbe g light about me.
12 Yea: ỹ darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the daie: the darknes and light are bothe alike.
13 For thou hast h possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.
14 I wil praise thee, for I am i fearfully & wonderously made: marueious are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it wel.
15 My bones are not hid frō thee, though I was made in a secret place, & facioned k beneth in the earth.
16 Thine eyes did se me, whē I was without forme: l for in thy boke were all things writen, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of thē before.
17 How m dere therefore are thy thoghts vnto me, ô God? how great is the summe of them?
18 If I shulde counte them, thei are mo then the sand: when I wake, n I am stil with thee.
19 Oh that thou woldest slay, ô God, the wicked & bloodie men, to whome I saie, Departe ye from me:
20 Which speake wickedly of thee, & being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.
21 Do not I o hate them, ô Lord, that hate thee? & do not I earnestly cōtend with those that rise vp against thee?
22 I hate thē with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.
23 Try e me, ô God, & knowe mine heart: proue me & knowe my thoghts, 24 And consider if there be anie p waie of wickednes in me, & lead me in ỹ q waie for euer.

h Thou hast made me in all partes & therfore must nedes knowe me.
i Considering thy wonderful worke in forming me, I can not but praise thee & feare thy mightie power.
k That is, in my mothers wōbe: ẅ he compareth to te inward partes of the earth.
l Seing ỹ thou dideste knowe me before I was composed of ether flesh or bone, much more now must ỹ knowe me when ỹ hast facioned me.
m How ought we to esteme the excellent declaration of thy wisdome in the creacion of man I continually se newe occasions to meditate in thy wisdome and to praise thee.
o Heteacheth vs boldely to contemne all the hatred of ỹ wicked & friendship of ỹ worlde, when thei wolde let vs to serue God syncerely.

p Or anie hinous waie or rebellious: meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne: yet was he not giuen to wickednes and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the crueltie falsehode & iniuries of his enemies. 8 Against the which he praieth vnto the Lord and assureth him self of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, & to assure them selues of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A psalme of Dauid.

a Which persecuteth me of malice & without cause.
b That is, by their false calumniations and lies thei kindle ỹ hatred of the wicked against me.
c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power & force faile them.

1 Deliuer me, ô Lord, from the euil man: preserue me from the a cruel man:
2 Which imagine euil things in their b heart, & make warre continually.
3 Thei haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: c adders poyson is vnder their lippes. Selah.

4 Kepe[d] me, ô Lord, from the hands of ỹ wicked: preſerue me from the cruel mã, which purpoſeth to cauſe my ſteppes to ſlide.

5 The proude haue laied a ſnare for me & ſpred a net with cordes in my pathwaie, and ſet grennes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I ſaid vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, ô Lord, the voyce of my praiers.

7 O Lord God the ſtrength of my ſaluacion, thou[e] haſt couered mine head in the daie of battel.

8 Let not the wicked haue his deſire, ô Lord[f] performe not his wicked thoght leſt thei be proude. Selah.

9 As for[g] the chief of them, that cõpaſſe me about, let the miſchief of their owne lippes come vpon them.

10 Let coles fall vpon them: let [h] him caſt them into the fyre, & into the depe pittes that thei riſe not.

11 For the backebiters ſhal not be eſtabliſhed vpon the earth: euil ſhal[i] hunt ỹ cruel man to deſtruction.

12 I knowe that the Lord wil auenge the afflicted, & iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous ſhal praiſe thy Name, & the iuſt ſhal [k] dwell in thy preſence.

PSAL. CXLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously perſecuted Vnder Saul, only fleeth vnto God to haue ſuccour 3 Deſiring him to bridle his affections, ỹ he maie patiently abide til God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

1 O Lord, I [a] call vpon thee: haſte thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I crye vnto thee.

2 Let my praier be directed in thy ſight as incenſe & the [b] lifting vp of mine hands as an euening ſacrifice.

3 Set a watche, ô Lord, before my mouth, & kepe the [c] dore of my lippes.

4 Incline not mine heart to euil, that I ſhulde commit wicked workes wt men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eat of their [d] delicates.

5 Let the righteous ſmite: me for ỹ is a benefite: & let [e] him reproue me: & it ſhalbe a precious oyle, ỹ ſhal not breake mine head: for within a while I ſhal euẽ [f] praie in their miſeries.

6 When their iudges ſhalbe caſt downe in ſtonie places, thei ſhal[g] heare my wordes, for thei are ſwete.

7 Our bones lie ſcattered at the [h] graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes loke vnto thee, ô Lord God: in thee is my truſt: leaue not my ſoule deſtitute.

9 Kepe me from the ſnare which thei haue laied for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into [i] his nettes [k] together while I eſcape.

d He declareth what is ỹ remedie of the godlie when thei are oppreſſed by the wordlings.
e He calleth to God wt liuelie faith, being ſure of his mercies, becauſe he had before time pued ỹ God helped him euer in his dangers.
f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrowe the counſels & entrepriſes of the wicked.
g It ſemeth ỹ he alludeth to Saul.
h To wit, God: for Dauid ſawe ỹ thei were reprobat & ỹ there was no hope of repentance in them.
i Gods plagues ſhal light vpon him in ſuche ſort, ỹ he ſhal not eſcape.
k That is, ſhalbe defended & preſerued by thy Fatherlie prouidence and care.

a He ſheweth ỹ there is none other refuge in our neceſsities, but onely to flee vnto God for comfort of ſoule.
b He meaneth his earneſt zeale & ieſture, wt he vſed in praier: alluding to ỹ ſacrifices, wt were by Gods commandement offred in the olde Law.
c He deſireth God to kepe his thoghts and waies ether frõ thinking or executing vengeãce.
d Let not their proſperitie allure me to be wicked as they are.
e He coldeth by patience & pitie praie for them.
g The people which followed their wicked rulers in perſecuting ỹ Prophet, ſhal repent & turne to God, when thei ſe their wicked rulers puniſhed.
h Here appeareth ỹ auid was miraculouſly deliuered out of manie deaths, as 2. Co. 1, 9 i Into Gods nettes, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice.

k So that none of them eſcape.

PSAL. CXLII.

Euening

1 The prophet nether aſtonied with feare, or caried awaie with angre, nor forced by deſperation, wolde kil Saul, but with a quiet minde directed his earneſt praier to God, who did preſerue him.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid, to giue inſtruction, & a praier, when he was in the caue.

1 I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I [a] praied vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, & declared mine affliction in his preſence.

3 Thogh my ſpirit [b] was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knoweſt my path: in ỹ waie, wherein I walked, haue thei priuely laied a ſnare for me.

4 I loked vpon my right hand, and beholde, but there was none that wolde knowe me: all refuge failed me, & none [c] cared for my ſoule.

5 Then cryed I vnto thee, ô Lord, & ſaid, Thou art mine [d] hope, & my porcion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearke vnto my crie for I am broght verie lowe: deliuer me from my perſecuters, for thei are to ſtrong for me.

7 Bring my ſoule out of [e] priſon, that I maie praiſe thy Name: then ſhal ỹ righteous [f] come about me, whe thou art beneficiall vnto me.

a Dauids patience & inſtant praier to God condemneth their wicked rage, wt their troubles ether deſpaire & murmur againſt God, or els ſeke to others, then to God, to haue redres in their miſeries.
b Ebr. was folden or wrapped in me: meaning, as a thing that colde haue none iſſue.
c Or, ſoght for my ſoule.
d Though all meanes failed him, yet he knewe ỹ God wolde neuer forſake him.
e For he was on all ſides beſet wt his enemies, as though he had bene in a moſt ſtraite priſon.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earneſt praier for remiſsion of ſinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly perſecute him by Gods iuſt iudgemẽt. 8 He deſireth to be reſtored to grace, 10 to be gouerned by his holie Spirit, that he maie ſpende the remnant of his life in ỹ true feare & ſeruice of God.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

HEare my praier, ô Lord, & hearken vnto my supplication: answer me in thy a trueth & in thy b righteousnes.

2 (And entre not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy c sight shal none that liueth be iustified.)

3 For the enemie hathe persecuted my soule: he hathe smiten my life downe to the earth: he hathe laied me in y darkenes, as thei that haue bene dead d log ago:

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, & mine e heart within me was amased.

5 Yet do I remember the time f past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I do meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretche forthe mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land, Selah.

7 Heare me spedely, ô Lord for my spirit fayleth: hide not thy face from me, els I shalbe like vnto them that go downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the g morning, for in thee is my trust: shewe me the waie, that I shulde walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, ô Lord, from mine enemies: for h I hid me with thee.

10 Teache me to k do thy wil, for thou art my God: let thy good spirit lead me vnto the land of l righteousnes.

11 Quicken me, ô Lord, for thy Names sake, & for thy righteousnes bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie m slay mine enemies, and destroye all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy n seruant.

a That is, as y I haue promised to be faithful in thy promes to all y trust in thee.

b That is according to thy free goodnes, whereby y del. undest thinge.

c He knewe y his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his sinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, & y in Gods sight all men are sinners.

d He acknowledgeth y God is y onelie and true physicion to heal him: & y he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long ago, & turned to ashes.

e So that onely by faith, & by y grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.

f So wil, thy great benefites of olde, & the manifolde examples of thy fauour toward thine.

g That is spedely & in due season.

h Let thine holie spirit counsel me how to come forthe of these great cares and troubles i I hid my self vnder y shadow of thy wings, y I might be defende by thy power. k He confesseth y bothe the knowledge & obedience of Gods wil is wrought by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderstanding by his sprite, & frameth our hartes by his grace to obey. l That is truly & aright for so soone as we decline fro Gods wil, we fall into errour. m Which shal be a signe of thy Fatherlie kindnes toward me. n Resigning my selfe wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

Morning

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored & for his victories obteined, 5 Demanding helpe, and the destruction of the wicked. 9 Promising to acknowledge the same w songs of praises. 15 And declareth wherein the felicitie of ane people consisteth.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed be the Lord my strength, a which teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battel.

2 He is my goodnes & my fortres, my tower & " my deliuerer, my shield, & in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardest him? or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him?

4 Man is like to vanitie: his daies are like a shadowe, that vanisheth.

5 d Bowe thine heauens, ô Lord, & come downe: touche the mountaines & they shal smoke.

6 e Cast forthe the lightening and scatter them: shote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great f waters, & from the hand of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, & their right hand is a right hand g of falsehode.

9 I wil sing a h newe song vnto thee, ô God, & sing vnto thee vpon a viole, & an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth Dauid his i seruant from the hurtful sworde.

11 Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hande of falsehode.

12 That our k sonnes may be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, & our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our l corners may be ful, & abunding with diuers sortes, & that our shepe may bring forthe thousands & ten thousand in our stretes.

14 That our m oxen may be strong to labour: that their be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our stretes:

15 Blessed are the people, that be n so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

a Who of a poore shepherd hathe made me a valiant warriour and mightie conquerour.

" Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me: for the Prophet can not satisfie him self with any wordes.

b He confesseth y neither by his owne autoritie, power nor policie his kingdome was quiet but by y secret grace of God.

c To giue vnto God iust praise is to confesse our selues to be vnworthie of so excellent benefites, & y he hasteneth them vpon vs of his free mercie.

d He desireth God to continue his graces & to send helpe for y present necessitie.

e By these maner of speaches he sheweth y all y lett s in the worlde can not hinder Gods power, & he appendeth by faith

f That is, deliuer me from y tumultes of the y shulde be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement and entreprises as though thei were strangers.

g For though thei shake hands, yet thei kepe not promes.

h That is a rare & excellent song as thy great benefites deserue.

i Though wicked Kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45, 1, forasmuche as he vseth them to execute his iudgemets yet Dauid because of Gods promes, & they y rule godly, are properly so called, because thei serue not their owne affections, but set forthe Gods glorie.

k He desireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting y procreation of children & their good education among y chiefest of Gods benefites.

l That y verie corners of our houses may be ful of store for y great abundance of thy blessings.

m He attributeth not onely y great commodities, but euen y least also to Gods fauour.

n And if God giue not to all his children better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed, when the kingdome of Dauid florished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderful prouidēce of God, as wel in gouerning man, as in preserue all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But specially for his louing kindenes toward those that call vpon him that feare him, & loue him, 21 For the which he promiseth to praise him for euer.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid of praise.

O my

1 O My God & King, [a] I wil extoll thee, and wil blesse thy Name for euer and euer.
2 I wil blesse thee daily, & praise thy Name for euer and euer.
3 [b] Great is the Lord, & moste worthie to be praised, & his greatnes is incōprehensible.
4 Generacion shal praise thy workes vnto [c] generacion, and declare thy power.
5 I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, & thy wonderful workes.
6 And they shal speake of the power of thy [d] feareful Actes, and I wil declare thy greatnes.
7 They shal breake out into the mencion of thy great goodnes, & shal sing a loude of thy righteousnes.
8 *The Lord is gracious and [e] merciful, slowe to angre, and of great mercie.
9 The Lord is good to all, & his mercies are ouer all his workes.
10 All thy workes praise thee, ô Lord, & thy Saints blesse thee.
11 [f] They shewe the glorie of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, 12 To cause his [g] power to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renome of his kingdome.
13 Thy * kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, & thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.
14 The Lord vpholdeth all [h] that fall, and lifteth vp all that are readie to fall.
15 The eyes of [i] all waite vpon thee, & thou giuest them their meat in due season.
16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.
17 The Lord is [k] righteous in all his wayes, and holie in all his workes.
18 The Lord is nere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in truth.
19 He wil fulfil the [m] desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their crye, & wil saue them.
20 The Lord preserueth all them that loue him: but he wil destroye all the wicked.
21 My mouth shal speake the praise of the Lord, and all [n] flesh shal blesse his holie Name for euer.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God. cuen praise & thanksgiuing, and seing that God stil continueth his benefites towards vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him for the same.
b Herby he declareth ỹ all power is subiect vnto God, & ỹ no worldlie promotion ought to obscure Gods glorie.
c Forasmuche as ỹ end of mās creation, & of his preseruatiō in this life is to praise God, therefore he requireth, ỹ not onely we our selues do this, but cause all other to do the same.
d Of thy terrible iudgements against ỹ wicked. Exod. 34. 6
e He describeth after what sorte God sheweth him self to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, merciful not onely in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doīg good euen to ỹ reprobate, albeit they can not fele ỹ swete comfort of ỹ same.
f The praise of thy glorie appeareth in all thy creatures: and though ỹ wicked wolde obscure ỹ same by their silence, yet the faithful are euer mindeful of the same. Luk. 1, 33 dan. 7, 14
n That is, all men shalbe bounde to praise him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hathe to praise God, 3 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almightie, 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted, 9 Defendeth the strangers, comforteth ỹ fatherles, and the widowes, 10 And reigneth for euer.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 PRaise thou the Lord, ô my [a] soule.
2 I wil praise the Lord during my life: as long as I haue anie being, I wil sing vnto my God.
3 Put not your trust in [b] princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.
4 His breath departeth, & he returneth to his earth: then his [c] thoghts perish.
5 Blessed is he, that hathe the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in y Lord his God.
6 Which made [d] heauen & earth, ỹ sea, and all that therein is: which kepeth his fidelitie for euer:
7 Which executeth iustice [e] for the oppressed: which giueth breed to the hungrie: the Lord looseth the prisoners.
8 The Lord giueth sight to the blinde: ỹ Lord raiseth vp the croked: ỹ Lord [f] loueth the righteous.
9 The Lord kepeth the strāgers: he relieueth the fatherles and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.
10 The Lord shal [h] reigne for euer: ô Zion, thy God endureth from generacio to generacion. Praise ye the Lord.

a He stirreth vp him self, and all his affections to praise God.
b That God may haue the whole praise: wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, shewing ỹ of nature we are more enclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God ỹ Creator.
c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered them selues, and so imagined wicked entreprises.
d He encourageth ỹ godlie to trust onely in ỹ Lord, bothe for ỹ is power is able to deliuer them from all danger, & for his promes sake his wil is moste readie to do it.
e Whose faith & pacience for a while he tryeth, but at length he punisheth ỹ aduersaries, ỹ he may be knowen to be iudge of ỹ worlde. f Though he visit them by affliction, hungre, imprisonment and suche like, yet his fatherlie loue and pitie neuer faileth them, yea, rather to his these are signes of loue. g Meaning all them, ỹ are destitute of worldelie meanes and succour. h He assureth ỹ Church ỹ God reigneth for euer for ỹ preseruation of ỹ same.

PSAL. CXLVII. Euening

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdome, power, iustice & prouidence of God vpō all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his worde & iudgements so vnto them, as he hathe done to none other people.

1 PRaise ye ỹ Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is [a] a pleasat thing, & praise is comelie.

a He sheweth wherein we ought to exercise our selues praising God.

g He sheweth that all things are out of ordre, but onely where God reigneth. h Who being in miserie and affliction wolde fainte and fall away, if God did not vpholde them, & therefore thei ought to reuerence him, ỹ reigneth in heauen, and suffer them selues to be gouerned by him. i To wit, aswel of man, as of beast. k He praiseth God, not onely for ỹ he is beneficial to all his creatures, but also in ỹ that he iustly punisheth ỹ wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength & deliuering them. l Which onely appertaineth to the faithful: & this vertue is contrarie to infidelitie, douting, impacience and murmuring. m For they wil aske or wish for nothing, but according to his wil, 1. Ioh. 5, 14.

2 The Lord doeth buyld vp [b]Ierusalem & gather together the dispersed of Israel.
3 He healeth those that are [c]broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.
4 He [d]counteth the nomber of the starres, & calleth them all by their names.
5 Great is our Lord, & great is his power: his wisdome is infinite,
6 The Lord releueth the meke, & abaseth the wicked to the [e]grounde.
7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,
8 Which [f]coereth the heauen ẅ cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, & maketh the grasse to growe vpon ẏ mountaines:
9 Which giueth to beastes their fode, & to the yong rauens that [g]crye.
10 He hath not pleasure in ẏ [h]strength of an horse, nether deliteth he in the legges of man.
11 But the Lord deliteth in them ẏ feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.
12 Praise the Lord, ô Ierusalem: praise thy God, ô Zion.
13 For he hathe made the barres of thy gates [i]strong, & hathe blessed thy children within thee.
14 He setteth peace in thy borders, & satisfieth thee with the [n] flowre of wheat, 15 He sendeth forthe his [k]commandemẽt vpon earth, and his worde runneth verie [l]swiftly.
16 He giueth snow like wool, & scattereth the hoare frost like asshes.
17 He casteth forthe his yse like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof?
18 He sendeth his worde and meketh them: he causeth his winde to blowe, & the waters flowe.
19 He sheweth his [m] worde vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.
20 He hathe not dealt so with euerie nacion, nether haue they [n] knowẽ his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

b Because the Lord is the founder of the Church, it can not be destroyed, though ẏ mẽbers thereof be dispersed, & seme, as it were for a time to be cut of.
c With affliction or sorow for sinne.
d Though it seme to man incredible, that God shulde assemble his church, beig so dispersed, yet nothing can be to hard to him, ẏ can nomber & name all ẏ starres.
e For ẏ more high ẏ ẏ wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end.
f He sheweth by ẏ examples of Gods mightie power, goodnes and wisdome, ẏ we can neuer want moste iuste occasion to praise God.
g For their crying is as it were a confession of their nede, ẅ can not be relieued but by God onely: then if God shew him self mindeful of ẏ moste contemptible foules, can he suffer them to dye ẅ famine, whome he hathe assured of life euerlasting?
h Though to vse lawful meanes is bothe profitable & pleaseth God, yet to put our trust in the, is to defraude God of his honour.
i He doeth not onely furnish his Church ẅ all things necessarie, but preserueth also the same, & maketh it strong against all outward force. n Heb. fat. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandement to kepe them in ordre, & to giue them moueing & force. l For immediatly & without resisting all thigs obei him.
m As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word: so he meaneth here, by his worde, ẏ doctrine of life euerlasting, ẅ he hathe left to his Church, as a moste precious treasure.
n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercie, ẅ hathe elected him in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluacion: & his iuste iudgement, whereby he hathe appointed the reprobate to eternal damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth and all places,
14 Specially his Church for the power ẏ he hathe giuen to the same after that he had chosen them & ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 PRaise ye the Lord from the heauẽ: praise ye him in the high places.
2 Praise ye him, all ye [a] his Angels: praise him, all his armie.
3 Praise ye him, [b]sunne and moone: praise ye him all bright starres.
4 Praise ye him, [c] heauens of heauens, & [d] waters, that be aboue the heauens.
5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.
6 And he hathe established them for euer and euer: he hathe made an ordinãce, which shal not passe.
7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, ye [e] dragons and all depth:
8 [f] Fyre and haile, snowe and vapors, stormie winde, which execute his worde:
9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruteful trees and all cedres:
10 Beastes and all cattel, creaping thigs and fethered foules:
11 [g] Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde:
12 Yong men and maidens, olde men & children:
13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, & his praise aboue the earth and ẏ heauens.
14 For he hathe exalted the [h] horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Saincts, euen for the [i] children of Israel, a people that is nere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

a Because thei are mẽbers of ẏ same bodie, he setteth them before our eyes, ẅ are moste willing herunto, & by their prompt obedience teache vs to do our duetie.
b In ẏ Gods glorie shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beautie is a continual praising of God.
c Not ẏ there are diuers heauens, but because of ẏ spheres & of ẏ situation of the fixed starres & planets, he comprehendeth by this worde the whole heauen.
d That is, ẏ raine, ẅ is in the midle region of ẏ aire which he here comprehẽdeth vnder the name of ẏ heauens.
e Meaning, the great & monstruous fishes, as whales and suche like.
f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance. g For the greater giftes ẏ anie hathe receiued, and ẏ more high ẏ one his preferred, the more bound is he to praise God for the same, but nether high nor lowe condition or degre cã be exempted from this duetie. h That is, the dignitie, power and glorie of his Church. i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to ẏ Church to praise the Lord for his victorie and conquest that he giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 SIng ye vnto the Lord [a] a new song: let his praise be heard in the Congregacion of Saints.
2 Let Israel reioyce in him that [b] made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their [c] King.
3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him ẅ the timbrel and harpe.
4 For the Lord hathe pleasure in his people: he wil make the meke glorious by deliuerance.

a For his care & manifolde benefites bestowed on his Church.
b In that that they were preferred before all other naciõs, it was as a newe creacion, & therefore psal. 95. 9. thei were called ẏ worke of Gods hands.
c For God as he is the creator of ẏ soule & bodie so wil he that both two serue him, & ẏ his people be continual y subiect vnto him as to their most lawful king.

5 Let

5 Let the Saints be ioyful with glorie: let them ſing loude vpon their [d] beddes.

6 Let the high Actes of God be in their mouth, and a two edged ſworde in their hands,

7 [e] To execute vengeance vpon ſ heathen, & corrections among the people:

8 To binde [f] their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they maye execute vpon them the iudgement that is [g] writen: this honour ſhalbe to all his Saints. Praiſe ye the Lord.

d He alludeth to that continual reſt, and quietnes, which they ſhulde haue, if they wolde ſuffre God to rule them.

e This is chiefly accompliſhed in the kingdome of Chriſt, when Gods people for iuſte cauſes execute Gods iudgements againſt his enemies: & it giueth no libertie to anie to reuenge their priuate iniuries.

f Not onely the people, but the Kings, that were their enemies, ſhulde be deſtroyed.

g Hereby God bindeth the hands and mindes of all his to entrepriſe no farther then he appointeth.

PSAL. CL.

An exhortacion to praiſe the Lord without ceaſe by all maner of wayes for all his mightie, and wonderful workes.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

1 PRaiſe ye God in his [a] Sanctuarie: praiſe ye him in the [b] firmament of his power.

2 Praiſe ye him in his mightie Actes: praiſe ye him according to his excellent greatnes.

3 Praiſe ye him in the ſounde of the [c] trūpet: praiſe ye him vpon the viole and ſ harpe.

4 Praiſe ye him with timbrel and flute: praiſe ye him with virginales and organs.

5 Praiſe ye him with ſounding cymbals: praiſe ye him with high ſounding cymbals.

6 Let euerie thing that hathe [d] breath praiſe the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen.

b For his wonderful power appeareth in the firmament, w in Ebr. is called a ſtretching out or ſpreading abroad, wherein ſ mightie worke of God ſhineth.

c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in praiſing God he maketh mencion of thoſe inſtruments, which by Gods commandement were appointed in ſ olde Law, but vnder Chriſt ſ vſe thereof is aboliſhed in the Church, to this ductie.

d He ſheweth that all the ordre of nature is bound and muche more Gods children, who ought neuer to ceaſe to praiſe him, til they be gathered into that kingdome, which he hathe prepared for his, where they ſhal ſing euerlaſting praiſe.

THE *PROVERBES of Salomon.

* This worde Prouerbe, or Parable ſignifieth a graue & notable ſentence, worthie to be kept in memorie: and is ſome time taken in ſ euil parte for a mocke, or ſcoffe.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this boke: foraſmuche as the ſumme and effect of the whole Scriptures is hereſet forthe in theſe briefe ſentences, which partely conteine doctrine, and partely maners, and alſo exhortacions to bothe. Whereof the nine firſt chapters are as a preface ful of graue ſentences, and depe myſteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a moſte precious iewel to the Churche, of thoſe thre thouſand parables mencioned. 1. King. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons ſeruants and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

The power and vſe of the worde of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his worde. 10 We may not conſent to the intiſings of ſinners. 20 Wiſdome coplaineth that ſhe is contemned. 24 The puniſhment of the that contemne her.

1 THe Parables of Salomō the ſonne of Dauid King of Iſrael,

2 To knowe wiſdome, [a] & inſtructiō, to vnderſtād ſ wordes [b] of knowledge,

3 To receiue [c] inſtruction to do wiſely, by [d] iuſtice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the [e] ſimple ſharpenes of wit, & to the childe knowledge and diſcretion.

5 A wiſe man ſhal heare and increaſe in learning, and a man of [f] vnderſtāding, ſhal atteine vnto wiſe counſels,

6 To vnderſtand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wiſe, & their darke ſayings.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles deſpiſe wiſdome & inſtruction.

8 My ſonne, heare thy [g] fathers inſtruction, and forſake not thy [h] mothers teaching.

9 For thei ſhalbe " a comelie ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My ſonne, [i] if ſinners do intiſe thee, conſent thou not.

11 If they ſay, Come with vs, we wil lay wait for [k] blood, & lie priuelie for the innocent without a cauſe.

a That is, what we ought to knowe and follow, & what we ought to refuſe.

b Meaning the worde of God wherein is ſ onelie true knowledge.

c To learne to ſubmit our ſelues to the correction of thoſe that are wiſe.

d By liuing iuſtely and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him.

e To ſuche as haue not diſcrecion to rule them ſelues.

f As he ſheweth that theſe parables conteining the effect of religion as touching maners & doctrine do apperteine to the ſimple people: ſo doeth he declare that the ſame is alſo neceſſarie for them that are wiſe and learned.

* Pſal. 111. 10. eccle. 1. 16.

g He ſpeaketh this in the Name of God, & is the vniuerſal Father of all creatures, or in the Name of the paſtor of the Churche, who is as a father.

h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithful are begotten by the incorruptible ſede of Gods worde.

" Ebr. increaſe of grace.

i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God.

k He ſpeaketh not onely of the ſheding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practiſes which tende to the detriment of our neighbour.

l As the graue is neuer satiat so y auarice of the wicked and their cruelrie hathe none end.

m He sheweth whereby y wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euerie one parte of the spoile of y innocent.

n That is, haue nothing at all to do with them.

o He sheweth y there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and cruelrie.

p Whereby he concludeth that the couetous mā is a murtherer.

q This wisdome is the eternal worde of God.

r So that none can pretēd ignorance.

s Wisdome reproueth three kindes of men: y foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and y mockers, y can not suffer to be taught, & y fooles which are drowned in worldelie lustes, & hate the knowledge of godlines.

t This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying y the wicked, w mocke & iest at Gods worde, shal haue the iuste rewarde of their mocking.

u That is, your destruction, w thing you feared.

x Because they ought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne grief.

y Shewing that without faith and obedience we can not call vp to God aright.

z They shal fele what commoditie their wicked life shal giue them.

a That is, the prosperitie, & sensualitie, wherin they delite.

12 We wil swallowe them vp aliue like a l graue euen whole, as those that go downe into the pit:
13 We shal finde all precious riches, & fil our houses with spoile:
14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we wil all haue one m purse:
15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy fote from their n path.
16 For their fete runne to euil, & make hast to shed blood.
17 Certeinly as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hathe wing:
18 So they laye wait for blood & lie prielie for o their liues.
19 Suche are the wayes of euerie one y is gredie of gaine: he wolde take away the p life of the owners thereof.
20 ¶ q Wisdome cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the r stretes.
21 She calleth in the hye strete among the prease in the entrings of the gates, & vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying,
22 O ye s fooliſh, how long wil ye loue fooliſhnes? & the ſkorneful take their pleasure in ſkorning, & the fooles hate knowledge?
23 (Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil poure out my minde vnto you, & make you vnderstand my wordes)
24 Because I haue called, and ye refuſed: I haue ſtretched out mine hand, and none wolde regarde.
25 But ye haue deſpiſed all my counsel, & wolde none of my correction.
26 I wil alſo t laugh at your deſtruction, and mocke, when your feare cometh.
27 When u your feare cometh like ſuddē deſolation: and your deſtruction ſhal come, like a whirlewinde: when affliction & anguiſh ſhal come vpon you,
28 Then ſhal they call vpon me, but I wil not anſwer: thy ſhal ſeke me early, but they ſhal not x finde me, 29 Becauſe they hated knowledge, and did not chuſe the feare of the Lord.
30 Thei wolde none of my counsel, but y deſpiſed all my correction.
31 Therefore z they eat of the z frute of their owne way, and be filled w their owne deuiſes, 32 For a eaſe ſlayeth the fooliſh, and the proſperitie of fooles deſtroyeth them.
33 But he that obeieth me, ſhal dwell ſafely, & be quiet from feare of euil.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdome, exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preſerueth from wickednes.

1 My ſonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and a hide my commandements within thee,
2 And cauſe thine eares to hearken vnto wiſdome, & encline b thine heart to vnderſtanding.
3 (For if thou calleſt after knowledge, c & cryeſt for vnderſtanding:

6 For the Lord giueth wiſdome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderſtanding.
7 He f preſerueth the ſtate of the righteous: he is a ſhield to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may kepe y wayes of iudgement: and he preſerueth the way of his Saincts)
9 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtād righteouſnes, and iudgement, and equitie, & euerie good path.
10 ¶ When wiſdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy ſoule, 11 Then ſhal f counſel preſerue thee, & vnderſtanding ſhal kepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euil way, and from the mā that ſpeaketh froward things, 13 And from them that leaue the g waies of righteouſnes to walke in the waies of darkenes:
14 Which reioyce in doing euil, & delite h in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whoſe waies are croked and they are lewde in their paths.
16 And it ſhal deliuer thee from y ſtrange i women, euen from the ſtranger, w flattereth with her wordes.
17 Which forſaketh the k guide of her youth, and forgetteth the l couenant of her God.
18 Surely her m houſe tendeth to death, & her paths vnto n the dead.
19 All thei that go vnto her, returne not againe, nether take they holde of the waies of life.
20 Therefore walke thou in the waie of good mē, & kepe the waies of the righteous.
21 For the iuſt ſhal dwell in the o land, and the vpright men ſhal remaine in it.
22 But the wicked ſhalbe cut of from y earth: and the tranſgreſſers ſhalbe rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

2 The worde of God giueth life. 5 Truſt in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffre his correction. 22 To them that follow the worde of God, all things ſhal ſuccede wel.

MY sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart kepe my commandements.
2 For thei shal increase the length of thy [a] daies & the yeres of life, and thy prosperitie.
3 Let not [b] mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy [c] necke, & write them vpon the table of thine [d] heart.
4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdome.
6 In all thy waies acknowledge him, and he shal direct thy waies.
7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and departe from euil.
8 So health shalbe vnto thy [e] nauel, and marow vnto thy bones.
9 [f] Honour ỳ Lord with thy riches, and with the first frutes of all thine increase.
10 So shal th barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shal [g] burst with new wine.
11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, nether be grieued with his correction.
12 For the Lord correcteth him, whome he loueth, euen as the father doeth ỳ childe in whome he deliteth.
13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdome, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.
14 For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then golde.
15 It is more precious then pearls: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.
16 Length of daies is in her right hand, [h] & in her left hand riches and glorie.
17 Her waies are waies of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.
18 She is a tree [i] of life to them that laie holde on her, and blessed is he that reteineth her.
19 The Lord by wisdome hathe laied ỳ [k] foundacion of the earth, and hathe stablished the heauens through vnderstanding.
20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and ỳ cloudes droppe downe the dewe.
21 My sonne, let not these things departe frō thine eies, but obserue wisdome, and counsel.
22 So thei shalbe life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy [l] necke.
23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy waie: and thy fote shal not stumble.
24 If thou sleapest, thou shalt not be afraied, and when thou slepest, thy slepe shalbe swete.
25 Thou shalt not feare for anie sudden feare nether for the [l] destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.
26 For ỳ Lord shalbe for thine assurance, & shal preserue thy fote frō taking.
27 ¶ Withholde not the good from [m] the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to do it.
28 Saie not vnto thy neighbour, Go & come againe, and to morowe wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it.
29 ¶ Intende none hurt against thy neighbour, seing he doeth dwell [n] without feare by thee.
30 ¶ Striue not with a man causeles, whē he hathe done thee no harme.
31 ¶ Be not [o] enuious for the wicked man, nether chuse anie of his waies.
32 For the froward is abominacion vnto ỳ Lord: but his [p] secret is with the righteous.
33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitacion of the righteous.
34 With the skorneful [q] he skorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.
35 The wise shal inherite glorie: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

a Long life is ỳ blessing of God wh he giueth to his, so farre forth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercie & trueth, he meaneth the commandements of the first & second table: or els the mercie & faithfulnes that we ought to vse towarde our neighbours.
c Kepe them as a moste precious iewel.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole bodie, as by health he meaneth all the benefites promised in the law both corporal and spiritual.
f As was commanded in the lawe, Exod.23, 19. deut.26,2. & by this thei acknowledged that God was ỳ giuer of all things, and that thei were ready to bestowe all at his commandement.
g For to ỳ faithful distributer God giueth in greater abundāce. Ebr.12,5. reuel.3.17.
h Meaning that he that seketh wisdome: that is, suffreth him self to be gouerned by ỳ worde of God, shal haue all prosperitie both corporal & spiritual.
i Which bringeth forthe suche frute ỳ thei that eat thereof, haue life: and he alludeth to ỳ tree of life in Paradise.
k Hereby he sheweth ỳ this wisdome, whereof he speaketh, is euerlasting, because it was before all creatures & that all things, euen ỳ whole worlde were made by it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wisdome and her frutes ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the worde of God the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

HEare, ô ye children, the instructiō of a [a] father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding.
2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.
3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and [b] dere in the sight of my mother,
4 When he taught me, and said vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: kepe my comandements, and thou shalt liue.
5 Get wisdome: get vnderstāding: forget not, nether decline from the wordes of my mouth.
6 Forsake her not, and she shal kepe thee: loue her and she shal preserue thee.
7 [d] Wisdome is the beginning: get wisdome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.
8 Exalt her, and she shal exalt thee: she shal bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.
9 She shal giue a comelie ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shal giue thee a crowne of glorie.
10 ¶ Heare my sonne, & receiue my wordes, and the yeres of thy life shalbe manie.
11 I haue [e] taught thee in the waie of wisdome, and led thee in the paths of righ-

12 When thou goest, thy gate shal not be f strait, and when thou runnest, ỹ shalt not fall.
13 Take holde of instruction, & leaue not: kepe her, for she is thy life.
14 ¶ Entre not into the way of the wicked, & walke not in ỹ waie of euil mẽ.
15 Auoide it & go not by it: turne from it, & passe by.
16 For thei can not g slepe, except thei haue done euil, and their slepe departeth, except thei cause some to fall.
17 For they eat the bread of h wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.
18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that i shineth more and more vnto the perfite daie.
19 The waie of ỹ wicked is as ỹ darkenes: they knowe not wherein thei shal fall.
20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, encline thine eare vnto my sayings.
21 Let them not departe frõ thine eyes, but kepe them in the middes of thine heart.
22 For thei are life vnto those that finde them, and helthe vnto all their k flesh.
23 Kepe thine hart with all diligence: for thereout cometh l life.
24 Put awaie from thee a frowarde mouth, and put wicked lippes farre from thee.
25 Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eyeliddes direct thy way before thee.
26 m Pondre the path of thy fete, & let all thy waies be ordred aright.
27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy fote from euil.

f Thou shalt walke at libertie without offence.

cap. 1. 25.

g Meaning, that to do euil is more propre & natural to ỹ wicked, then to slepe, eat or drinke.

h Gotte by wicked meanes and cruel oppressiõ.

i Signifying that the godlie increase dayly in knowledge & perfection, til thei come to full perfection, which is when thei shalbe ioyned to their head in the heauens.

k That is, thei shal haue health of body vnder ỹ wich all other blessings promised in the lawe are conteined.

l For as ỹ heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

m Kepe a measure in all thy doings.

CHAP. V.

1 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to liue on his labours & to helpe others, 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednes.

1 MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisdome, and encline thine eare vnto my n knowledge,
2 That thou maiest regarde counsel, and thy lippes obserue knowledge.
3 For the lippes a of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then b oyle.
4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, & sharpe as a two edged sworde.
5 Her c fete go downe to death, and her steppes take holde on hel.
6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are d moueable: thou canst not knowe them.
7 Heare ye me now therefore, ô childrẽ, & departe not from the wordes of my mouthe.
8 Kepe thy waie farre from her, and come not nere the dore of her house,
9 Lest thou giue thine e honour vnto others, and thy yeres to the cruel:
10 Lest the stranger shulde be filled ẅ thy strength, and thy f labours be in the house of a stranger, 11 And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie)
12 And saie, How haue I hated instruction, and mine hart despised correction?
13 And haue not obeied the voice of thẽ that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me?
14 I was almost brought into all euil in the middes of the Congregacion & g assemblie.
15 ¶ Drinke the water of h thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.
16 Let thy fountaines flowe forthe, and the riuers of waters in the stretes.
17 But let them be thine, euen i thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.
18 Let thy k fountaine be blessed, and ỹ reioyce with the wife of thy l youth.
19 Let her be as ỹ louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, & delite in her loue continually.
20 For why shuldest thou ẅ delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?
21 For the waies of man are before the m eyes of ỹ Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.
22 His owne iniquities shal take the wicked him self, and he shalbe holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.
23 He shal n dye for faute of instruction, & shal go astray through his great folie.

n Or, vnderstãding.

a That is, an harlot which giueth her self to another then to her housband.

b By oyle and honie he meaneth flattering and craftie intisements.

c All her doings lead to destruction.

d She hath euer newe meanes to allure to wickednes.

e That is, thy strength and goods to her that wil haue no pitie vpon thee: as is red of Sãson, & the prodigal sonne.

f The goods gotten by thy trauail.

g Although I was faithfully instructed in ỹ trueth, yet had I almoste fallen to vtter shame ad destruction, not with standing my good bringing vp in ỹ assemblie of the godlie.

h He teacheth vs vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours & to be beneficial to the godlie ỹ want.

i Distribute thẽ not to the wicked & infidelles, but reserue thẽ for thy self, thy familie & them that are of the houshold of faith.

k Thy children which shal come of thee in great abundãce. shewing ỹ God blesseth mariage and curseth whoredome.

l Which thoudideste marie in thy youth.

m He declareth that except his wife bothe in heart and in outward conuersation, not escape the iudgements of God.

n Because eare to Gods worde and be admonished.

1 Which thou dideste marie in thy youth. 'Or, go astray with a stranger? m He declareth that except man do ioyne to his wife bothe in heart and in outward conuersation, that he shal not escape the iudgements of God. n Because we will not giue eare to Gods worde and be admonished.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for suerties. 6 The slouthful and sluggish is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the worde of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

1 MY sonne, if thou be suertie for thy neighbour, & hast striken handes with the stranger,
2 Thou art a snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.
3 Do this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy self: seing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, go, and humble thy self, & solicit thy friends.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for another, according to ỹ rule of charitie, but that we consider for whome and after what sort, so that the creditour may not be defrauded.

4 Giue no ſlepe to thine eyes, nor ſlumber to thine eyelidde.
5 Deliuer th ſelf as a doe from the hād of the hunter, and as a birde from ý hand of the fouler.
6 ¶Go to[b] ý piſmire, ô ſluggard: beholde her waies, and be wiſe.
7 For ſhe hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,
8 Prepareth her meat in the ſommer, & [c] gathereth her fode in harueſt.
9 * How long wilt thou ſlepe, ô ſlug-gard? when wilt thou ariſe out of thy ſlepe?
10 Yet a litle ſlepe, a litle ſlumber, [c] a litle folding of the hands to ſlepe.
11 Therefore thy pouertie cometh as one that [d] trauaileth by the waie, & thy neceſsitie like [e] an armed man.
12 The vnthriftie man [f] & the wicked man walketh with a frowarde mouth.
13 He maketh a ſigne with his eyes: he ſignifieth with his fete: he [g] inſtructeth with his fingers.
14 Lewde things are in his heart: he ima-gineth euil at all times, and raiſeth vp contentions.
15 Therefore ſhal his deſtruction come ſpedely: he ſhalbe deſtroyed ſuddenly without recouerie.
16 ¶These ſix things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his ſoule abhorreth ſeuen:
17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that ſhede innocent blood, 18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterpriſes, [h] fete that be ſwift in running to miſchief,
19 A falſe witnes that ſpeaketh lyes, & him that raiſeth vp contentions among [i] brethren.
20 ¶My ſonne, kepe thy fathers commandement, and forſake not thy mothers inſtruction.
21 Binde them alway vpon thine [i] hart,
and tye them about thy necke.
22 It ſhal leade thee, when thou walkeſt:
it ſhal watch for thee, whē thou ſlepeſt, and when thou wakeſt, it ſhal talke with thee.
23 For the [k] commandement is a lanterne, Pſal. 119.
and inſtruction a light: and [l] corrections for inſtruction are the waie of life, 24 To kepe thee from the wicked woman & from the flatterie of the tongue of a ſtrange woman.
25 Deſire not her beautie in thine heart, nether let her take thee with her [m] eyeliddes.
26 For becauſe of the whoorish woman a man is broght to a morſel of bread, & a woman wil hunte for the precious life of man.
27 [n] Can a man take fyre in his boſome,
& his clothes not be burnt?
28 Or can a man go vpon coles, and his fete not be burnt?
29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, ſhal not be innocent, whoſoeuer toucheth her.
30 Men do not [o] deſpiſe a thief, when he ſtealeth, to ſatiffie his [p] ſoule, becauſe he is hungrie.
31 But if he be founde, he ſhal reſtore ſeuen folde, or he ſhal giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe.
32 But he that committeth adulterie [q] w a woman, he [r] is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: he that doeth it, deſtroyeth his owne ſoule.
33 He ſhal finde [q] a wounde and diſhonour, & his reproche ſhal neuer be put away.
34 For ielouſie is the rage of a man: therefore he wil not [r] ſpare in the day of vengeance.
35 He can not beare the ſight of anie raunſome: nether wil he conſent, though thou augment the giftes.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortacion to wiſdome and to the worde of God. 5 Which wil preſerue vs from the harlot, 6 Whoſe maners are deſcribed.

1 MY ſonne, kepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.
2 Kepe my commandements, & thou ſhalt liue, and mine inſtructiō as ý [a] apple of thine eyes.
3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.
4 Saie vnto wiſdome, Thou art my ſi-ſter: and call vnderſtanding thy kinſwo-
man,
5 That they maie kepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger ý is ſmothe in her wordes.
6 ¶[b] As I was in the windowe of mine
houſe, I loked through my windowe, 7 And I ſawe among the fooles, and con-ſidered among the children a yong man deſtitute of vnderſtanding, 8 Who paſſed through the ſtrete by her corner, and went toward her houſe, 9 In the twilight in the euening, when ý night began to be [c] blacke and darke.
10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots [n] behauiour, and [s] ſubtil in hart.
11 (She [d] is babling and lowde: whoſe fete can not abide in her houſe.
12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtretes, & lieth in waite at euerie corner)
13 So ſhe caught him & kiſſed him, [w] w an impudent face ſaid vnto him,

o He approueth not theft, but ſheweth that it is not ſo abomi-nable as whore-dome, forasmu-che as theft might be rede-med: but adulte-rie was a perpe-tual infamie, and death by ý Law of God.
p Meaning, for very neceſsitie.
q Ebr. faileth in heart.
q That is, death appointed by ý Law.
r He ſheweth ý man by nature ſeketh his death ý hathe abuſed his wife, and ſo concludeth that nether Gods Law nor ý law of nature admit-teth anye raūſo-me for ý adul-terie.
a By this diuer-ſitie of wordes he meaneth that nothing ought to be ſo dere vnto vs, as the worde of God, nor that we loke on any thing more, nor minde anything ſo muche.
b Salomon vſeth this parable to declare their fo-lie, ý ſuffer thē ſelues to be abu-ſed by harlottes.
c He ſheweth ý there was almoſt none ſo impu-dent, but they were afraid to be ſene, and alſo their owne conſciences did ac-cuſe thē, w̄ cau-ſed thē to ſeke ý night to couer their filthines.

Chap. 2, 18.

Chap. 1, 20.

a Salomon declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition, and that he can pretēd no ignorance, for as much as God calleth to all men by his worde, and by his workes to followe vertue and to flee from vice.

b Where ý people did moste resort, and ẅ was ý place of iustice.

c Meaning, that the worde of God is easie vnto all, that haue a desire vnto it, & which are not blinded by the prince of this worlde.

d That is, except a man haue wisdome, which is the true knowledge of God, he cā nether be prudent nor good counseler.

e So that he that doeth not hate euil feareth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honors, dignitie or riches come not of mās wisdome or industrie, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, studie the worde of God diligently, and with a desire to profite.

h Signifiing ý he chiefly meaneth the spirituall treasures and heauenlie riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgemēt, which is not directed by this wisdome.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie & eternitie of this wisdome, which he magnifieth and praiseth through this boke: meaning thereby ý eternal Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whome S. Iohn calleth the worde that was in the beginnig, Iohn. 1, 1.

17 I haue perfumed my bed ẅ myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fil of loue vntil the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance.

19 For mine housband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre of.

20 He hathe taken " with him a bagge of siluer, and wil come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yelde, & with her flattering lippes she entised him.

22 And he followed her straightwaies, as an g oxe that goeth to the slaughter, & h as a foole to the stockes for correction,

23 Til a darte strike through his liuer, as a birde hasteth to ý snare, not knowing that " he is in danger, 24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, ô children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hathe caused manie to fall downe wounded, and the i strong men are all slayne by her.

27 Her house is the waie *vnto ý graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdome declareth her excellēcie. 11 Riches. 15 Power 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth al to loue and followe her.

1 DOeth *not a wisdome crye? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce?

2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 She cryeth besides b the gates, before ý citie at the entrie of the dores,

4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voice to the children of men.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, and ye, ô fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I wil speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes, shal teache things that be right.

7 For my mouth shal speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardenes in them.

9 Thei are all c plaine to him ý wil vnderstand, and straight to them that wolde finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.

11 For wisdome is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdo ne dwell with d prudence, and I finde forthe knowledge and counsels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate e euil as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil waie: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I do hate.

14 I haue counsel and wisdome: I am vnderstanding, & I haue strength.

15 By me, Kings f reigne, and princes decree iustice.

16 By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: & thei that seke me g early, shal finde me.

18 Riches and honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteousnes.

19 My frute is better then golde, euen the fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the waie of righteousnes, & in the middes of the paths of i iudgement, 21 That I maie cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I wil fil their treasures.

22 The Lord hathe possessed me in the beginning of his waie: I was k before his workes of olde.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from ý beginning & before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abunding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: & before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was l there, when he set the compas vpon ý depe.

28 When he established ý cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the depe,

29 When he gaue his decree to ý sea, that the waters shulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the fundacions of the earth,

30 Then m was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delite reioycing alwaie before him, 31 And toke my n solace in ý compasse of o his earth: & my delite is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, ô childrē, vnto me: for blessed are thei that kepe my waies.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, & refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, paine, but a solace vnto ý wisdome of God.

& giuing attendance at ſ postes of my dores.
34 For he ſ findeth me, findeth life, and ſhal obteine fauour of the Lord.
35 But he that ſinneth againſt me, hurteth his owne ſoule: & all that hate me, loue death.

CHAP. IX.

2 Wiſdome calleth all to her feaſt. 7 The ſcorner wil not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the harlot.

WIſdome hathe buylt her [a]houſe, & hewen out her [b] ſeuen pillers.
She hathe killed her vitailes, drawen her wine, and [c] prepared her table.
She hathe ſet forthe her [d] maidens and cryeth vpon the higheſt places of the citie, ſaying, Whoſo is [e] ſimple, let him come hether, & to him that is deſtitute of wiſdome, ſhe ſaith, Come, & eat of my [f] meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.
Forſake your way, ye fooliſh, and ye ſhal liue: & walke in the waie of vnderſtanding.
He that reproueth a ſcorner, purchaſeth to him ſelf ſhame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth him ſelf [g] a blot.
Rebuke not a [h] ſcorner, leſt he hate thee: but rebuke a wiſe man, & he wil loue thee.
Giue admonition to the wiſe, and he wil be the wiſer: teache a righteous man, & he wil increaſe in learning.
The beginning of wiſdome is the feare of the Lord, & the knowledge of holy things is [i] vnderſtanding.
For thy dayes ſhalbe multiplied by me, and the yeres of thy life ſhalbe augmented.
If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt be wiſe for [k] thy ſelf, and if thou be a ſcorner, thou alone ſhalt ſuffre.
¶ A [l] fooliſh woman is trouble ſome: ſhe is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.
But ſhe ſitteth at the dore of her houſe on a ſeat in the hye places of the citie,
To call them that paſſe by the way, that go right on their way, ſaying,
Who ſo is ſimple, let him come hether, and to him that is deſtitute of wiſdome, ſhe ſaith alſo, Stolē waters are ſwete, and hid bread is pleaſant.
But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her gheſtes are in the depth of hel.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that followe vnto the thirtieth, the wiſe man exhorteth by diuers ſentences, which he calleth parables to followe vertue, and flee vice: and ſheweth alſo what profite cōmeth of wiſdome, & what hinderance proceadeth of fooliſhnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

1 A Wiſe* ſonne maketh a glad father: but a fooliſh ſonne is an heauines to his mother. Chap. 15. 20.
2 The treaſures of wickednes [a] profite nothing: but righteouſnes deliuereth frō death.
3 The Lord wil [b] not famiſh the ſoule of ſ righteous: but he caſteth away the ſubſtance of the wicked.
4 A[m] ſlouthful hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche.
5 He that gathereth in ſommer, is the ſonne of wiſdome: but he that ſlepeth in harueſt, is the ſonne of confuſion.
6 Bleſsings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie ſhal couer the mouth of [c] the wicked.
7 The memorial of the iuſte ſhalbe bleſſed: but the name of the wicked ſhal [d] rotte.
8 The wiſe in heart wil receiue commādemēts: but the fooliſh in [n] talke ſhalbe beaten.
9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh [o] boldely: but hē ſ peruerteth his waies, ſhalbe knowen.
10 He that [e] winketh with the eye, worketh ſorowe, and he that is [f] fooliſh in talke, ſhalbe beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a well ſpring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred ſtirreth vp contentions: * but loue coūereth all treſpaſſes.
13 In the lippes of him that hathe vnderſtanding wiſdome is foūde, and [g] a rod ſhalbe for the backe of him that is deſtiture of wiſdome.
14 Wiſe men laye vp knowledge: but the mouth of ſ fooles is a preſent deſtruction.
15 The riche mans goods are his [h] ſtrōg citie: but the feare of the nedie is their pouertie.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to ſinne.
17 He that regardeth inſtruction is in the way of life: but he that refuſeth correction, goeth out of the way.
18 He that diſſembleth hatred with lying

19 In manie wordes there can not want iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lippes, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iuste man is as fined siluer: but the hart of the wicked is litle worthe.

21 The lippes of the righteous do [i] fede manie: but fooles shal dye for want of wisdome.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde [k] no sorowes with it.

23 It is as a passe time to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdome is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shal come vpon him: but God wil grante the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirle winde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundacion.

26 As vinegre is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthful to the that [l] send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth ỹ dayes: but the yeres of ỹ wicked [m] shalbe diminished.

28 The pacient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shal perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to ỹ vpright man: but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shal [n] neuer be remoued: but the wicked shal not dwell in ỹ land.

31 The mouth of the iuste shalbe fruteful in wisdome: but ỹ tongue of ỹ frowarde shalbe cut out.

32 The lippes of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of ỹ wicked speaketh frowarde things.

k For they speake trueth and edifie manie by exhortatios, admonition and counsel.
k Meaning that all worldelie things bring care, & sorow, where as they ỹ feele the blessings of God, haue none.

2 When pride cometh, thē cometh [b] shame: but with the lowlie is wisdome.

3 The vprightenes of the iuste shal guide them: but the frowardnes of ỹ transgressers shal destroye them.

4 * Riches auaile not in ỹ day of wrath: but righteousnes deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousnes of the vpright shal direct his way: but the wicked shal fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousnes of the iuste shal deliuer them: but the transgressers shalbe taken in their owne wickednes.

Wisd. 5. 15.

7 * When a wicked man dyeth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shal perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, & ỹ wicked shal come in his [c] stead.

9 An [d] hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shalbe deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous ỹ citie [e] reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioye.

11 By the [e] blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalred: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdome: but a man of vnderstanding wil [f] kepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a sclanderer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, conceileth a matter.

14 Where no counsel is, the people fall: but where manie [g] counselers are, there is health.

15 He shal be sore vexed, that is suretie for a [h] stranger, and he [i] that hateth suretieship, is sure.

CHAP. XII.

1 HE that loueth instruction, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.
2 A good man getteth fauoure of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginacions wil he condemne.
3 A man can not be established by wickednes: but the a roote of the righteous shal not be moued.
4 A" verteous woman is the crowne of her housband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.
5 The thoghts of the iuste are right: but the counsels of the wicked are disceitful.
6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of ỹ righteous wil b deliuer them.
7 God ouerthroweth ỹ wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shal stand.
8 A man shalbe commended for his wisdome: but the froward of heart shalbe despised.
9 He that is despised, c and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth him self and lacketh bread.
10 A righteous man d regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel.
11 *He that tilleth his land, shal be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of n vnderstanding.
12 The wicked desireth the e net of euils: but the f roote of the righteous giueth frute.

7 Departe from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisdome of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnes of the fooles is deceit.

9 The foole maketh a mocke [f] of sinne: but amõg the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the [g] bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shal not medle with his ioye.

11 The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shal florish.

12 *There is a way which semeth right to man: but the ỹssues thereof are the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorowful, [h] and the end of that mirth is heauines.

14 The heart that declineth, [i] shalbe saciate with his owne wayes: but a good man shal departe from him.

15 The foolish wil beleue euerie thing: but the prudent wil consider his steppes.

16 A wise man feareth, and departeth from euil: but a foole rageth, and is careles.

17 He that is hastie to angre, committeth folie, and a [j] busie bodie is hated.

18 The foolish do inherite folie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge

19 The euil shal bowe before the good, and the wicked [k] at the gates of ỹ righteous.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the riche are manie.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hathe mercie on the poore, is blessed.

22 Do not they erre that imagine euil? But to thẽ that thinke on good things, shalbe mercie, and trueth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wise is their riches, & the folie of fooles is foolishnes.

25 A faithful witnes deliuereth soules, but a deceiuer speaketh lies.

26 In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shal haue hope.

27 The feare of ỹ Lord is as a well spring of life, to auoide the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the [l] people is the honour of a King, and for ỹ want of people cometh the destructiõ of the prince.

29 He that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdome: but he that is of an hastie minde, exalteth folie.

30 A sound heart is the life of the [m] flesh, but enuie is the rotting of the bones.

31 *He that oppresseth the poore, reproueth him that made him, but he honoreth him that hathe mercie on ỹ poore.

32 The wicked shalbe cast away for his malice:

3 The eyes of the Lord in euerie place beholde the euil and the good.

4 A wholsome tongue is as a tre of life: but the frowardnes thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous hathe muche treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is [a] trouble.

a For though thei haue muche, yet it is ful of trouble & care.

7 The lippes of ỹ wise do spread abrad knowledge: but the hart of the foolish doeth not so.

b That thing is abominable before God, wherewith the wicked thinke to be moste excellent, and whereby thei thinke moste to be accepted.

8 The [b] sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the praier of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteousnes.

1 THe [a] Kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters: he turneth it whethersoeuer it pleaseth him.
2 Euerie * way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.
3 * To do iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.
4 A hautie loke, and a proude hart, which is the [b] light of the wicked, is sinne.
5 The thoghts of the diligent do surely bring abundance: but [c] whosoeuer is hastie, cometh surely to pouertie.
6 *The gathering of treasures by a disceitful tongue is vanitie tossed to and fro of them that seke death.
7 The [d] robberie of the wicked shal destroye them: for thei haue refused to execute iudgement.
8 The way of some is peruerted and strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right.
9 *It is better to dwell in a corner of ỹ house toppe, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.
10 The soule of the wicked wisheth euil: and his neighbour hathe no fauour in his eyes.
11 [e] When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he wil receiue knowledge.
12 The righteous [f] teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euil.
13 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shal also crye and not be heard.
14 A [g] gift in secret pacifieth angre, and a gift in the bosome great wrath.
15 It is ioye to the iust to do iudgement: but destruction shalbe to the workers of iniquitie.
16 A man ỹ wandereth out of the way of wisdome, shal remaine in the congregacion of the dead.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THe wicked [a] flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bolde as a lyon.

2 For the transgression of the land [b] there are manie princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode.

4 They that forsake the Law, praise ỹ wicked: but thei that kepe the Law, set them selues against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seke the Lord, vnderstand all things.

6 * Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that peruerteth his waies, thogh he be riche. Chap. 16, 4

7 He that kepeth the law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but he that fedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie & interest, gathereth [c] them for him that wilbe merciful vnto thee poore. [c] For God wil take awaie the wicked vsurer, & giue his goods to him ỹ shal bestowe them wel.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his praier shalbe [d] abominable. [d] Because it is not of faith, ẅ is grounded of Gods word, or Law, ẅ ỹ wicked contemne.

10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euil way, shal fall into his owne pit, & the vpright shal inherit good things.

11 The riche man is wise in his owne cõceit: but the poore that hathe vnderstanding can trye [e] him: [e] And iudge ỹ he is not wise. Chap. 29, 2

12 *When righteous men reioyce, there is great glorie: but when the wicked come vp, the man [f] is tryed. [f] He is knowen by his doings to be wicked.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shal not prosper: but he that confesseth, & forsaketh them, shal haue mercie.

14 Blessed is the man that [g] feareth alwaye: but he that hardeneth his heart, shal fall into euil. [g] Which standeth in awe of God & is afraid to offend him.

15 As a roaring lyon, and an hungrie beare, so is [h] a wicked ruler ouer the poore people. [h] For he can neuer be satisfied, but euer oppreſseth and spoileth.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnes, shal prolong his daies.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a persone, shal flee vnto the graue, & [i] thei shal not stay him. [i] None shalbe able to deliuer him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shalbe saued: but he ỹ is froward in his waies, shal once fall.

19 *He that tilleth his land, shal be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the ydle, shal be filled with pouertie. Chap. 12, 11 Eccl. 20, 30

20 A faithful man shal abounde in blessings, & *he that maketh haste to be riche shal not be innocent. Chap. 12, 11 & 28, 22

21 To haue respect of persones is not good: for that man wil transgresse for a piece of [k] bread. [k] He wil be abused for nothing.

22 A man with a wicked [l] eye hasteth to riches, & knoweth not, that pouertie shal come vpon him. [l] Meaning him ỹ is couetous.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shal finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father and mother, & saith, it is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 He that is of a proude heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shal be [m] fat. [m] Shal haue all things in abundance.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdome, shalbe deliuered.

27 He that giueth vnto the poore, shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shal haue many curses.

28 *When the wicked rise vp, men hide thẽ selues: but whẽ thei perish, the righteous increase. Chap. 29, 2

CHAP XXIX.

1 A Man that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shal suddenly be destroyed and can not be cured.

2 *When the righteous [a] are in autoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. Chap. 28, 12. & 28 [a] Or, are increased.

3 A man that loueth wisdome, reioyceth his father: * but he that fedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. Luk. 15, 13

4 A King by iudgement mainteineth ỹ countrey: but a man receiuing giftes, destroieth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, [a] spreadeth a net for his steppes. [a] He ỹ giueth eare to ỹ flatterer is in danger as ỹ bird is before ỹ fouler.

6 In the transgression of an euil man is his [b] snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce. [b] He is euer readie to fall into ỹ snare ỹ he layeth for others.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornful men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with [c] a foolish man, whether he be angrie or laugh, there is no rest. [c] He can beare no admonition, in what sorte soeuer it is spoken.

10 Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iuste haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man kepeth it in til afterwarde.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked.

13 *The poore & the vsurer mete together, & ỹ Lord lighteneth bothe their eyes. Chap. 22, 2

14 *A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shalbe established for Chap. 20, 28 for euer.

15 The rodde and correctiō giue wisdome: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.
16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shal se their fall.
17 Correct thy sonne and he wil giue thee rest, and wil giue pleasures to thy soule.
18 [d] Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that kepeth the Law, is blessed.
19 A [e] seruant wil not be chastised with wordes: though he vnderstand, yet he wil not [g] answere.
20 Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him.
21 He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he wil be euen his sonne.
22 *An angrie man stirreth vp strife, & a furious man abundeth in trāsgression.
23 *The pride of a man shal bring him lowe: but the humble in spirit shal enioye glorie.
24 He that is partener with a thief, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, & declareth it not.
25 The feare of man bringeth a [f] snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shal be exalted.
26 Manie do seke the face of the ruler: but euerie mans [g] iudgement commeth from the Lord.
27 A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpright in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

1 THE prophecie which the man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to [b] Ithiel, & Vcal.
2 Surely I am more [c] fooliſh then anie man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.
3 For I haue not learned wisdome, nor atteined to the knowledge of holie thigs.
4 Who hathe ascended vp to [d] heauen, & descended? who hathe gathered the winde in his fists? who hathe bounde the waters in a garment? who hathe established all the ends of the worlde? what is his name, & what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tel?
5 *Euerie worde of God is pure: he is a shield to those, that trust in him.
6 *Put nothing vnto his wordes, lest he reproue thee, and thou be founde a lyer.
7 Two *things haue I required of thee: deny me them not before I dye.
8 Remoue farre from me vanitie and lies: geue me not pouertie, nor riches: fede me with foode conuenient for me,
9 Lest I be full, and denie thee, and say, [f] Who is the Lord? or lest I be poore & steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine.
10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, [g] when thou hast offended.
11 There is a generacion that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.
12 There is a generacion that are pure in there owne conceit, and yet are not washed from their filthines.
13 There is a generation, whose eyes are hautie, & their eye liddes are lifted vp.
14 There is a generacion, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as knyues to eat vp the afflicted out of the earth, & the poore from among men.
15 The horseleache hathe two [h] daughters which crie, Giue, giue. There be thre things that wil not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is ynough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauens of the valley picke it out, and the yong egles eat it.
18 There be thre things hid from me: yea, foure that I knowe not.
19 The way of an egle in the aire, the waie of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the middes of the sea, & the waie of a man with a maide.
20 Suche is the way also of an aduouterous woman: she eateth & [k] wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.
21 For thre things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it can not susteine it self.
22 For a seruant when he reigneth, & a foole when he is filled with meat, 23 For the hatefull woman, when she is maried, & for a handmaid that is [m] heire to her mastres.
24 These be foure smal things in the earth, yet thei are [n] wise and ful of wisdome.
25 The pismire a people not strong, yet prepare they their meat in sommer.
26 The conies a people not mightie, yet make they their houses in the rocke.
27 The grashopper hathe no King, yet go they forthe all by bandes.
28 The spider taketh holde [o] with her hands, & is in Kings palaces.
29 There be thre things that order wel their going: yea, foure are comelie in going b The doctrine, ẅ his mother Bathsheba taught him.

2 VVHat my sonne? and what the sonne of [c] my wombe? & what, ô sonne of my desires?
3 Giue not thy strength vnto womẽ, [d] nor thy waies, which is to destroy Kings.
4 It is not for Kings, ô Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for princes [e] strong drinke,
5 Lest he drinke, and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all ỹ children of affliction.
6 Giue ye strong drinke vnto him, that is readie to perish, and wine vnto them that haue grief of heart.
7 Let him drinke, that he may forget his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more.

ECCLESIASTES, OR the Preacher.

THE ARGVMENT.

SAlomon, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluacion, describeth the deceiuable vanities of this worlde, that man shulde not be addicted to anie thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenlie life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie & riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited ẅ God and shal inioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as muche as thei further vs to atteine to this heauenlie treasure, which is sure and permanent, and can not be founde in anie other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

CHAP. I.

All things in the vvorlde are ful of vanitie, and of none indurance. 13 All mans wisdome is but folie and grief.

THE wordes of the [a]Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

[b] Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

What remaineth vnto man in all his [c]trauail, wherin he suffreth vnder the sunne?

One generacion passeth, and another generacion succedeth: but the earth remaineth for [d]euer.

The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth.

The [e]winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuites.

All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not ful: for the riuers go vnto the place, [f]whence they returne, and go.

All things are ful of labour: man can not vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

What is it that hathe bene? that shalbe: & what is it that hathe bene done? that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne.

Is there anie thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe? it hathe bene alreadie in the olde time that was before vs.

There is no memorie of the former, nether shal there be a remembrance of the later that shalbe, with them that shal come after.

¶ [h]I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

And I haue giuen mine hart to search & finde out wisdome by all things that are done vnder the heaue̅ (this sore trauail hathe God giuen to the sonnes of men, [i] to humble them thereby)

I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, & beholde, all is vanitie & vexacion of the spirit.

That which is [k] croked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, can not be nombred.

I thoght in mine heart, & said, Beholde, I am become great, & excel in wisdome all the that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hathe seene muche wisdome and knowledge.

And I gaue mine hart to knowe wisdome & knowledge, [l] madnes & foolishnes: I knewe also that this is a vexacion of the spirit.

For in the multitude of wisdome is muche [m] grief: & he that increaseth knowledge encreaseth sorowe.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buyldings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 14 The wise & the foole haue bothe one end, touching the bodelie death.

I Said in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue [a]thee with ioye, therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things. & beholde, this also is vanitie.

I said of laughter, Thou art mad: & of ioye, What is this that thou doest?

I soght in mine heart "to giue my self to wine, & to lead mine heart in [b] wisdome. & to take holde of folie, til I might se where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they "enioye vnder the sunne: the whole number of the daies of their life.

I haue made my great workes: I haue buylt me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

I haue made me gardens & "orchardes, & planted in them trees of all frute.

I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe with trees.

I haue gotten seruants & maids, and had childrē borne in [c] house: also I had great possession of beues & shepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

I haue gathered vnto me also siluer & golde and the chief treasures of Kings & prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, & [d] delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman [e] taken captiue, & women taken captiues.

And I was great, and encreased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdome [f] remained with me.

And what soeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not frō them: I withdrew not mine heart from anie ioye: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: & this was my [g] portiō of all my trauail.

Then I loked on all my workes that mine hands had wroght, and on the trauail that I had labored to do: & beholde, all is vanitie and vexacion of spirit: & there is no profite vnder the sunne.

¶ And I turned to beholde [h] wisdome, and madnes & folie: (for who is the man that " wil come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)

Then I sawe that there is profite in my self whether it were better to followe owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, becaus he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitorie world.
b He condēneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in anie thing, but in God alone, seing that in this worlde all things are as vanitie & nothing.
c Salomon doeth not condēne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no ful contentation in anie thing vnder the heauen, nor in anie creature, for asmuche as all things are transitorie.
d One mā dieth after another, & the earth remaineth longest euē to the last daie, & yet is subiecte to corruption.
e By the sunne, winde & riuers he sheweth the greate labour & longest kathe an end, & therefore there can be no felicitie in this worlde. Eccl. 40. 11
f The sea cōpasseth all earth, filleth, the veines thereof, & powre out springs & riuers into the sea againe.
g He speaketh of times & seasons & things done in them, as thei haue bene in times past, so come thei to passe againe.
h He prooueth that if anie colde haue atteined to felicitie in this worlde by labour & studie, he chiefly shulde haue obteined it, because he had giftes & aydes of God there vnto aboue all other. i Man of nature hathe a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, & to teache him to depende onely vpon God. k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to go other wise then thei do nether can he nombre the faultes that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto no pleasure, wherin was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience.
m Wisdome and knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie & minde: for when a mā hathe atteined to the hieste yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

Chap. II.

a Salomon maketh this discours with him self, as though he wolde trye whether there were cōtentatiō in ease & pleasures.
" Eb drawe my flesh to wine.
b Albeit I gaue my self to pleasures, yet I thoght to kepe wisdome & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.
" Ebr. do.
" Ebr. paradises.
c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, which had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the masters.
d That is, what soeuer men take pleasure in.
e Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges. 5. 30. Some vnderstād by these wordes, noe women but instrumēts of musike.
f For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me.
g This was the frute of all my labour, a certeine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.
" Or compare with the King.
h I bethoght me of wisdome, or mine madnes.

wiſdome, more then in folie: as ſ light is more excellent then darkenes.
14 *For the wiſe mans i eyes are in his hee-ad, but the foole walketh in darkenes: yet I knowe alſo that the ſame k condition falleth to them all.
15 The I thoght in mine heart, It befal-leth vnto me, as it befalleth to the fo-le. Why therefore do I then labour to be more wiſe? And I ſaid in mine heart that it alſo is vanitie.
16 For there ſhalbe no remembrance of the wiſe, nor of the foole l for euer: for ſ ſ now is, in ſ dayes to come ſhal all be forgotten. And m how dyeth the wiſe man, as doeth the foole?
17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wroght vnder the ſunne is grie-uous vnto me: for all is vanitie, & vexa cion of the ſpirit.
18 I hated alſo all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the ſunne, which I ſhalleaue to the man ſ ſhalbe after me.
19 And who knoweth whether he ſhalbe wiſe or fooliſh? yet ſhal he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, & wherein I haue ſhewed my ſelf wiſe vnder ſ ſunne. This is alſo vanitie.
20 Therefore I went about to make mi ne heart n abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the ſunne.
21 For there is a man whoſe trauail is in wiſdome, and in knowledge, and in equi tie: yet to a man ſ hathe not trauailed herein, ſhal he o giue his porcio: this alſo is vanitie and a great grief.
22 For what hathe man of all his trauail & grief of his heart, wherein he hathe trauailed vnder the ſunne?
23 For all his dayes are ſorowes, & his tra uail grief: his heart alſo taketh not reſt in the night, which alſo is vanitie.
24 There is no profite to man: but that he eat, & drinke, and p delite his ſoule with ſ profite of his labour: I ſawe alſo this, that it was of the hand of God.
25 For who colde eat, & who colde haſte to q outward things more then I?
26 Surely to a man ſ is good in his ſight, God giueth wiſdome, & knowledge, &
ioye: but to the ſinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is alſo va nitie, and vexation of the ſpirit.

CHAP. III.

All things haue their time. 14 The wor-kes of God are perfite, and cauſe vs to fea re him 14 God ſhal iudge bothe the iuſte and iniuſte.

TO all things there is an a appointed time, and a time to euerie purpoſe vnder the heauen.
2 A time to be borne, & a time to dye:
a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that, which is planted.
3 A time to ſlay, & a time to heale: a time to breake downe, & a time to buylde.
4 A time to wepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.
5 A time to caſt away ſtones, & a time to gather ſtones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.
6 A time to ſeke, & a time to loſe: a time to kepe, and a time to caſt away.
7 A time to rent, & a time to ſowe: a ti me to kepe ſilence, & a time to ſpeake.
8 A time to loue, & a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
9 What profite hathe he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?
10 I haue ſene the trauail that God ha-the giuen to the ſonnes of men b to hum ble them thereby.
11 He hathe made euerie thing beautiful in his time: alſo he hathe ſet the c worlde in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hathe wroght frō ſ beginning euē to ſ end.
12 I knowe ſ there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, & to do good in his life.
13 And alſo that euerie man eateth and drinketh, & ſeeth ſ commoditie of all his labour, this is the d gift of God.
14 I knowe that whatſoeuer God ſhal do, it ſhalbe for e euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminiſh: for God hathe done it, that they ſhuide fe-are before him.
15 What is that that hathe bene? that is now: & that ſ ſhalbe, hathe now bene:
for God f requireth that which is paſt.
16 And moreouer I haue ſene vnder ſ ſunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iuſtice where was iniquitie.
17 I thoght in mine heart, God wil iud ge the iuſte & the wicked: for time is g there for euerie purpoſe and for eue-rie worke.
18 I conſidered in mine heart the ſtate of the children of men ſ God hath h purged them: yet to ſe to, they are in them ſelues as beaſts.
19 For the condition of the children of men, & the condition of beaſtes are eue as one i condition vnto them. As the o ne dyeth, ſo dyeth ſ other: for thei haue all one breath, & there is no excellencie of man aboue the beaſt: for all is vanitie.
20 All go to one place, & all was of the duſt, and all ſhal returne to the duſt.
21 Who k knoweth whether the ſpirit of man aſcendeth vpward, & the ſpirit of the beaſt deſcend downeward to the earth?
22 Therefore I ſe that there is nothing better then ſ a man ſhulde l reioyce in his affaires, becauſe that is his portion.
For who ſhal brig him to ſe what ſhal-be after him?

CHAP. III.

b Read Cha. 1, 13.
c God hathe gi-uen mā a deſire, & affection to ſe ke out ſ things of this worlde & to labour the-rein.
d Read Chap. 2, 24. and theſe places declare ſ we ſhulde do all things ſ ſobrie tie, & in ſ feare of God for aſmu che as he giueth not his giftes to ſ intent ſ they ſhulde be abuſed
e That is, man ſhal neuer be a-ble to let Gods worke but as he hathe determi-ned, ſo it ſhal come to paſſe.

h And made thē pure in their firſt creation.
i Man is not a-ble by his rea-ſon, and iudge-ment to put dif ference betwe-ne man & beaſt, as touching tho ſe things whe-reunto both are ſubiect: for ſ eye can not iudge anie other wiſe of a man being dead thē of a be-aſt, w is dead: yet by ſ worde of God & faith we eaſely knowe ſ diuerſitie as ver. 21.
k Meaning, ſ re aſon can not cō-preheд ſ w faith beleueth here.
l By the often re petition of this ſentēce, as Cha. 2, 24. & chap. 2, & chap. 3, 12. and 22. chap. 5, 17. & chap. 8. 15 he de-clareth ſ man by reaſon can comprehēd no-thing better in this life then to vſe ſ giftes of God ſoberly & cōfortably: for to knowe far-ther is no ſpecial gifte of God re-ueiled by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. Mens labours are ful of abuse & vanitie. 6 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A yung man poore, & wise is to be preferred to an olde King ỹ is a foole.

1 SO a I turned, & considered all ỹ oppressions that are wroght vnder the sunne, & beholde, ỹ teares of ỹ oppressed, and none comforteth them: & lo, ỹ strength is of the hand of them ỹ oppresse them, & none comforteth them.
2 Wherefore I praised ỹ b dead ẅ now are dead, aboue ỹ liuing, ẅ are yet a liue.
3 And I counte him c better thē them bothe, which hathe not yet bene: for he ha the not sene the euil workes which are wroght vnder the sunne.
4 Also I behelde all trauail, and all d perfection of workes that this is ỹ enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexacion of spirit.
5 The foole foldeth his hands, and e eateth vp his owne flesh.
6 Better is an handful with quietnes, thē two handfuls with labour & vexation of spirit.
7 Againe I returned, & sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.
8 There is one alone, & there is not a seconde, which hathe nether sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauail, nether can his eye be satisfied ẅ riches: nether doeth he thinke, For whome do I trauail & defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euil trauail.
9 f Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.
10 For if they fall, the one ẅil lift vp his fellow: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, & there is not a seconde to lift him vp.
11 Also if twó slepe together, then shal thei haue heat: but to one how shulde there be heat?
12 And if one ouercome him, two shal stāde against him: and a threfolde g coard is not easely broken.
13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde & foolish King, which wil no more be admonished.
14 For out of the h prison he cometh forthe to reigne: when as he that is i borne in his kingdome, is made poore.
15 I behelde all the liuing, ẅ walke vnder the sunne, k ẅ the seconde childe, ẅ shal stande vp in his place.
16 There is none l end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, & thei ỹ come after, shal not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexacion of spirit.
17 Take hede to thy m foote when thou entrest into the House of God, and be more nere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of n fooles: for thei knowe not that ther do euil.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightely, chiefely in God matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue ynough. 11 The labourers slepe is swete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented minde is the gift of God.

1 BE not a rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thig before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be b fewe.
2 For as a dreame cometh by the multitude of busines: so the vo ce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.
3 *When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles: paye therefore ỹ thou hast c vowed.
4 It is better ỹ thou shuldest not vowe, then that thou shuldest vowe and not paye it.
5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy d flesh to sinne: nether say before the e Angel, ỹ this is ignorance: wherefore shal God be angrie by thy vo ce, and destroye the worke of thine hands.
6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also manie wordes. but fear thou God.
7 If in a countrey ỹ seest the oppressiō of ỹ poore, & the defrauding of iudgement & iustice, be not astonied at ỹ matter: for he ỹ is f higher then ỹ highest, regardeth, & there be higher then they.
8 And the g abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King h also consisteth by the field that is tilled.
9 He ỹ loueth siluer, shal not be satisfied ẅ siluer, & he ỹ loueth riches shal-be without ỹ frute thereof: this also is vanitie.
10 When goods encrease, they are encreased that eat them: & what good cometh to the owners thereof, but ỹ beholding thereof with their eyes?
11 The slepe of him ỹ trauaileth, is swete, whether he eat litle or muche: but the i satietie of the riche wil not suffer him to slepe, 12 There is an euil sickenes that I haue sene vnder ỹ sunne: to wit, riches k reserued to ỹ owners thereof for their euil.
13 And these riches perish by euil trauail, & he begetteth a sonne, & in his hand is nothing.
14* As he came forthe of his mothers belly, he shal returne naked to go as he came, & shal beare away nothing of his labour, ẅ he hathe caused to passe by his hand.
15 And this also is an euil sickenes that in all pointes as he came, so shal he go, alse maketh here another discours ẅ him self concerning ỹ tyrannie of them ỹ oppressed ỹ poore.

b Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.
c He speaketh according to ỹ iudgement of ỹ flesh. ẅ can not abide to sele, or se troubles.
d The more profit ỹ ỹ worke is, ỹ more is it enuied of ỹ wicked.
e For idlenes he is compelled to destroye him self.
f For asmuche as when man is alone, he cā nether helpe him self nor others he sheweth ỹ men ought to liue in mutual societie to ỹ intent they may be profitable one to another, & ỹ their things may encrease, g By this prouerbe he declareth how necessarie it is, ỹ men shulde liue in societie.

m That is, with what affection ỹ comest to heare ỹ worde of God.
n Meaning, of ỹ wicked, ẅ thinke to please God ẅ ceremonies, & haue nether faith nor repentance.
a Ether in vowing or in praying: meaning ỹ we shulde vse all reuerence to God warde.
b He heareth thee not for thy manie wordes sak, or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith, and feruēt minde. Deut. 23. 21
c He speaketh of vowes, ẅ are approued by Gods worde, & serue to his glorie.
d Cause not thy self to sinne by vowing rashely: as thei do ẅ make a vowe to liue vnmaried, & suche like.
e That is, before Gods messenger when he shal examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance shulde be a iust excuse.
f Meaning ỹ God wil redresse these things, & therfore we must depend vpon him.

& what profite hathe he that he hathe trauailed for the [m]winde?
16 Also all his dayes he eateth in[n] darkenes with muche grief, and in his sorow and angre.
17 Beholde then, what I haue sene good, ẏ it is comelie to[o] eat, and to drinke, & to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne the whole nomber of ẏ dayes of his life, ẅ God giueth him: for this is his portion.
18 Also to euerie man to whome God hathe giuen riches and treasures, & giueth him power to eat thereof, and to take his parte, & to enioye his labour: this is the gift of God.
19 Surely he wil not muche remember the dayes of his[p] life, because God answereth to the ioye of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whome God hathe giuen riches, & not ẏ grace to vse the.

1 THere is an euil, ẅ I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is muche among men.
2 A man to whome God hathe giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all ẏ it desireth: but [a] God giueth him not power to eat thereof, but a strange man shal eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euil sickenes.
9 If a man beget an hundreth children & liue manie yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, & his soule be not[b] satisfied with good things, & he be not[c] buryed, I say that an vntimelie frute is better then he.
4 For[d] he cometh into vanitie & goeth into darkenes: & his name shalbe couered with darkenes.
5 Also he hathe not sene the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hathe more rest then the other.
6 And if he had liued a thousand yeres twise tolde, and had sene no good, shal not all go to one place?
7 All the labour of mā is for his mouth: yet the[e] soule is not filled.
8 For what hathe ẏ wise man more then ẏ foole? what hathe ẏ poore ẏ [f] knoweth how to walke before the liuing?
9 The[g] sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lustes: this also is vanitie & vexacion of spirit.
10 What is that that hathe bene? ẏ name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man: & he can not striue with him that is[h] stronger then he.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good & to auoide the contrarie.

SVrely there be manie things ẏ increase vanitie: & what auaileth it man?
2 For who knoweth what is [a] good for man in the life & in ẏ nomber of ẏ dayes of ẏ lyfe of his vanitie, seig he maketh them as a[a] shadow? For who can shewe vnto man what shalbe after him vnder the sunne?
3 *A good name is better then a good oynment and the day of[b] death, then the day ẏ one is borne.
4 It is better to go to the house of[c] mourning, then to go to ẏ house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: & ẏ liuing shal lay it to his heart.
5 Angre is better then laughter: for by a sad loke the heart is made better.
6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.
7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man shulde heare the song of fooles.
8 For like the noise of the[d] thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.
9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man [e] mad: & ẏ rewarde destroyeth ẏ heart.
10 The[f] end of a thing is better then ẏ beginning thereof, & ẏ pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.
11 Be not ẏ of an hastie spirit to be angrie: for angre resteth in ẏ bosome of fooles.
12 Say not ẏ, Why is it that the former daies were better then these? for ẏ doest not enquire[g] wisely of this thing.
13 Wisdome is good ẅ an[h] inheritance, & excellent to them that se the sunne.
14 For mā shal rest in ẏ shadowe of wisdome, & in ẏ shadowe of siluer: but ẏ excellencie of the knowledge of wisdome giueth life to the possessers thereof.
15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make[i] straight that which he hathe made croked?
16 In the day of wealth be of good cōfort, & in the day of affliction[k] consider: God also hathe made this contrary to that, to the intent that man shulde finde[k] nothing after him.
17 I haue sene all things in the daies of my vanitie: there is a iuste man ẏ perisheth in his[l] iustice, & there is a wicked man ẏ continueth long in his malice.
18 Be not thou iuste[m] ouermuche, neither make thy self ouer wise: wherefore shuldest thou be desolate?
19 Be not thou wicked[n] ouermuche, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shuldest thou perish not in thy time?
20 It is good that thou laie holde on [o] this but yet withdrawe not thine hād from[p] that: for he ẏ feareth God, shal come forthe of them all.
21 Wisdome shal strengthen the wise mā more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.
22 *Surely t[q]ere is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good & sinneth not.
23 Giue not thine[q] heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou do hēare heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For ofte times also thine heart knoweth ỹ thou likewise hast[q] cursed others.
25 All this haue I proued by wisdome: I thoght I wil be wise, but it went farre from me.
26 It is farre of, what maie[r] it be? and it is a profound depenes, who cā finde it?
27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire & to searche wisdome and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of folie, and the foolishnes of madnes, 28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes and snares, & her hands, as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered frō her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.
29 Beholde, saith the Preacher, this haue I founde, seking one by one to[s] finde the counte:
30 And yet my soule seketh, but I finde it not: I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde.
31 Onely lo, this haue I founde, ỹ God hathe made man righteous: but they haue soght manie[t] inuentions.

CHAP. VIII.

2 To obey princes and Magistrates, 17 The workes of God passe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretaciō of a thing? ỹ wisdome of a man doeth make his[a] face to shine: & the [b]strength of his face shalbe changed.
2 I aduertise thee to take hede to the [c]mouth of ỹ King, & to ỹ worde of the othe of God.
3 [d]Haste not to go forthe of his sight: stand not in an euil thing: for he wil do whatsoeuer pleaseth him.
4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?
5 He that kepeth the commandement, shal knowe none euil thing, and the heart of the wise shal knowe the [e] time & iudgement.
6 For to euerie purpose there is a time and iudgement: becausse the [f] miserie of man is great, vpon him.
7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tel him when it shalbe?
8 Man is not lord[g]ouer the spirit to reteine the spirit: nether hathe he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, nether shal wickednes deliuer the possessers thereof.
9 All this haue I sene, & haue giuen mine heart to euerie worke, wherin is wroght vnder the sunne, & I sawe a time ỹ man ruleth ouer man to his owne[h] hurt.
10 And likewise I sawe ỹ wicked buryed, & [i]they returned, & they ỹ came from the holie[k] place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.
11 Because sentence against an euil worke is not[l] executed spedely, therefore ỹ heart of the children of men is fully set in them to do euil.
12 Though a sinner do euil an hundreth times, & God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe ỹ it shalbe wel wt them ỹ feare the Lord, & do reuerence before him.
13 But it shal not be wel to the wicked, nether shal he prolōg his dayes: he shalbe like a shadowe, becausse he feareth not before God.
14 There is a vanitie, wherin is done vpon ỹ the earth, ỹ there be righteous men to whome it cometh according to ỹ worke of ỹ wicked: & there be wicked mē to whome it cometh accordig to ỹ worke of the iuste: I thoght also that this is vanitie.
15 And I praysed ioye: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the sunne, saue [n]to eat & drinke & to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hathe giuen him vnder the sunne.
16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdome, & to beholde the businesse that is done on earth, that nether day nor night the eyes of man take slepe,
17 Then I beholde ỹ whole worke of God, ỹ man can not finde out ỹ worke that is wroght vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seke it, and can not finde it: yea, & though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he can not finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can mā knowe whome God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdome excelleth strength

I HAue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuste, & the wise, and their workes are in ỹ hand of God: & no man knoweth ether loue or[a] hatred of all that is before them.
2 All things come alike to all: & the same conditiō is to the iuste & to ỹ wicked, to the good & to the pure, & to ỹ polluted, & to him ỹ sacrificeth, & to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.
3 This is euil among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one[b] condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is ful of euil, and mādnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, & after that, they go to the dead.
4 Surely whosoeuer is joyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a[c] liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.
5 For the liuing knowe ỹ they shal dye,

q Credit them not, nether care for them.

b In outward thigs as riches, & pouertie, sickenes, & helth there is no difference betwene ỹ godlie and ỹ wicked: but ỹ difference is ỹ ỹ godlie are assured by faith of Gods fauour & assistance.
c Ee noteth ỹ Epicures, & carnal men, wh made their belly their god, & had no pleasure but in this life, wishing rather to be an abiect, & vile persone in this life then a man of autoritie, & so to dye, wh is ment by ỹ dog, & lyon.

but ỹ dead knowe nothing at all: nether haue thei anie more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all ỹ is done vnder the sunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioye, and drinke thy wine with a chereful heart: for God now [d]accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be [e]white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 *Reioyce ẅ ỹ wife whome ỹ hast loued all the daies of the life of thy vanitie, ẅ God hathe giuen thee vnder ỹ sunne all ỹ daies of thy vanitie: for this is thy porcion in the life, & thy trauail wherein thou laboreſt vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shal finde to do, do it with all thy power: for there is nether worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdome in the graue whether thou goest.

11 I returned and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, nether yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and [f]chance cometh to them all.

12 For nether doeth man know his [g]time, but as the fishes, which are taken in an euil net, & as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euil time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also sene this wisdome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, & compassed it about, & buylded fortes against it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered ỹ citie by his wisdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, better is wisdome then strēgth: yet ỹ wisdome of ỹ poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdome then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth muche good.

d They flatter them selues to be in Gods fauour, becauſe they haue all things in abundance.
e Reioyce, be merry, and spare for no coste: th' speake ỹ wicked belligods.

CHAP. X.

The difference of foolishnes and wisdome 11 A sclanderer is like a serpent that can not be charmed. 19 Of foolish Kings, & dronken princes, 17 And of good Kings and princes.

1 DEad flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointement of the apotica rie: so doeth a litle folie him that is in estimation for wisdome, & for glorie.

2 The hart of [a]a wise man is at his right hand: but the hart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by ỹ way his heart faileth, and he [b] telleth vnto all that is he a foole.

4 If the [c]spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gētlenes pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euil that I haue sene vnder the sunne, as an [d] error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folie is set in great excellencie, and the [e]riche set in the lowe place.

7 I haue sene seruants on horses and princes walking as seruāts on the grounde.

8 *He that diggeth a pit, shal fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shal bite him.

9 He ỹ remoueth stones, shal hurt himself thereby, & he that cutteth wood, shalbe in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hathe not whet the edge, he must then put to more [f]strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure him self.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouthe is foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnes.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shalbe: & who cā tel him what shalbe after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the [g]citie.

16 Wo to thee, ô land, when thy King is a [h]child, and thy princes eat in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, ô land, when thy King is ỹ sunne [k]of nobles, & thy princes eat in time, for strength & not for dronkennes.

18 By slouthfulnes the roofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the ydlenes of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 Thei prepare bread for laughter, & wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thoght, nether curse the riche in thy bed chamber: for the [l]foule of the heauen shal cary the voice, & that ẅ hathe wings, shal declare the matter.

a So ỹ he doeth all things wel, & iustly, where as ỹ foole doeth the contrary.
b By his doings he bewraieth hi self.
c If thy superiour be angry ẅ thee, be thou discrete, & not moued.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doute of Gods prouidence. 8 All worldelie prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God wil iudge all.

1 Cast

That is, be liberal to ỹ poore & though it seme to be as a thing ventred on the sea, yet it shal bring thee profite.

1 CAst thy bread vpon the[a] waters: for after manie daies thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a porcion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euil shalbe vpon the earth.

bAs the cloudes ỹ are ful, powre out raine, so the riche ỹ haue abundance, must distribute it liberally.

3 If the [b]cloudes be ful, thei wil powre forthe raine vpon the earth: and if the [c]tre do fal towarde the South, or toward the North, in the place that ỹ tre falleth, there it shalbe.

c He exhorteth to be liberal, while we liue: for after there is no power.

4 He that obserueth the[d] winde shal not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shal not reape.

d He ỹ feareth inconueniences, when necessitie requireth, shal neuer do is duetie.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do growe in the wombe of her that is ẅ childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

e Be not weary of wel doings

6 In the morning sowe thy sede, and in the euening let not thine hand [e]rest: for thou knowest not whether shal prosper, this or [f] ỹ, or whether bothe shalbe a like good.

f That is, ẅ of thy workes are moste agreable to God.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: & it is a good thing to the eyes to se the sunne.

8 Though a man liue manie yeres, & in them all he reioyce, yet he shal remẽber the daies of [g] darkenes, because they are manie, all that cometh is vanitie.

g That is of affliction & trouble.

9 [h] Reioyce, ô yong man, in thy youth, and let thine hart chere thee in ỹ daies of thy youth, and walke in the waies of thine heart: and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God wil bring thee to iudgement.

h He derideth thẽ ỹ set their delite in worldelie pleasures, as though God wolde not call them to an accounte.

10 Therefore take away [i] griefout of thine heart, and cause euil[k] to departe frõ thy flesh: for childehode & youth are vanitie.

i To wit, angre & enuie.

k Meaning, carnal lustes wherunto youth is giuen.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth and not to differre til age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisdome is the gift of God & consisteth in fearing him and keping his cõmandements.

1 REmember now thy Creator in the daies of thy youth, whiles the euil daies come not, nor ỹ yeres approche, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the [a] cloudes returne after the raine:

a Before thou come to a continual miserie: for when ỹ cloudes remaine after ỹ raine, mãs grief is increased.

3 When the [b] kepers of the house shal tremble, and the [c] strong men shal bowe them selues, and the[d] grinders shal cease, because they are fewe, and they waxe darke that[e] loke out by the windowes:

b The hands ẅ kepe the bodie.

c The legs.

d The tethe.

e The eyes.

4 And the[f] dores shal be shut without by the base sounde of the grinding, & he shal rise vp at the voyce of the[g] birde: & all the[i] daughters of singing shal be abased.

f The lippes, or mouth.

g When ỹ chawes shal scarse open & not be able to chewe no more.

h He shal not be able to slepe.

5 Also they shalbe afraied of the [k] hie thing, and feare shalbe in [l] the way, and the almonde tre shal [m] florish, and the [n] grashopper shalbe a burden, and concupiscence shalbe driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners go about in the strete.

i That is, the winde pipes, or the eares shalbe deafe & not able to heare singig.

k To climbe hie because of their weakenes, or thei stoupe downe, as though they were afraid lest anie thing shulde hit them.

l Thei shal tremble as thei go, as though thei were afraied.

m Their head shalbe as white as the blossomes of an almonde tre.

6 Whiles the[o] siluer corde is not legthened, nor the golden[p] ewer broken, nor the[q] pitcher broken at the[r] wel, nor the [s] wheele broken at the[t] cisterne.

n Thei shalbe able to beare nothing.

o Meaning the marowe of the backe bone & ỹ sinewes.

p The litle skinne ỹ couereth ỹ braine, ẅ is in colour like gold.

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the[v] spirit returne to God that gaue it.

q That is, ỹ vaines.

r Meaning, ỹ liuer.

8 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forthe, and prepared manie parables.

s Which is the head.

t That is, ỹ heart, out of the ẅ ỹ head draweth the powers of life.

10 The Preacher soght to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of trueth.

11 The wordes of the wise are like goades, and like nailes [x] fastened by the masters of the assembles, which are giuen by one [y] pastour.

12 And of other things besides these, my sonne, take thou hede: for there is none end in making manie [z] bokes: and muche reading is a wearines of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the end of all: feare God & kepe his commandements: for this is the whole duetie of man.

14 For God wil bring euerie worke vnto iudgement, with euerie secret thing, whether it be good or euil.

v The soule incontinently ether goeth to ioy or torment, & sleepeth not as the wicked imagine.

x Which are well applied by ỹ ministers, whome he calleth masters.

y That is, by God.

z These things can not be comprehended in bokes, or learned by studie, but God must instruct the heart that thou maiest onely knowe ỹ wisdome is the true felicitie, & the way therunto is to feare God.

AN EXCELLENT SONG

which was Salomons.

"Ebr. a song of songs: so called because it is ỹ chiefest of those 1005, which Salomon made as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this Song, Salomon by moste swete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ the true Salomon and King of peace, & the faithful soule or his Church, which he hathe sanctifi d & appointed to be his spouse, holy, chast & without reprehension. So ti at here is declared the singu lar loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, & his great & excellent benefites wherewith he doeth enriche her of his pure bountie and grace without anie of her deserving. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, & not to be forsaken for anie spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mystical communication of the spiritual loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church. 6 The domestical enemies that persecute the Church.

1 [a]SET him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.
2 Because of the [b]sauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the [c]virgines loue thee.
3 [d]Drawe me: we wil runne after thee: ỹ King hathe broght me into his [e]chambers: we wil reioyce & be glad in thee: we wil remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee.
4 I am [f]blacke, ô daughters of Ierusalē, but comelie, as ỹ tabernacles of [g]Kedar, & as the [h]curtines of Salomon.
5 Regarde ye me not because I am [i]blacke: for ỹ [k]sunne hathe loked vpon me. The [l] sonnes of my mother were angrie against me: thei made me the keper of the vines: but I [m]kept not mine owne vine.
6 Shewe me, [n]o thou, whome my soule loueth, where thou fedest, where thou liest at noone, for why shulde I be as she that turneth aside to ỹ flockes of [o]thy companions?
7 [p]If thou knowe not, ô thou the faireſt among women, get thee forthe by the stepts of the flocke, and fede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepherdes.
8 I haue compared thee, ô my loue, to the troupe of horses in the [q] charets of Pharaoh.
9 Thy chekes are comelie ẅ rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.
10 We wil make thee borders of golde with studdes of siluer.
11 [r]Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenarde gaue the smel thereof.
12 My welbeloued is as a budle of myrrhe vnto me: he shal lye betwene my [s]breastes.
13 My welbeloued is as a cluſtre of cāphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.
14 My loue, beholde, thou art [t]faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the dooues.
15 My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our [v]bed is grene the beames of our house are cedres, and the rafters are of ashe.

a This is spokē in ỹ persone of ỹ Church, or of the faithful soule, inflamed ẅ the desire of Christ, whome she loueth.
b The feling of thy great benefites
c They ỹare pure in heart in conuersation d The faithful confesse ỹ they can not come to Christ except they be drawen e Meaning, ỹ secret ioye ỹ is not known to the worlde.
f The Church confesseth her spots & sinne, but hathe confidence in ỹ fauour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ishmaels sonne, of whome came ỹ Arabians ỹ dwelt in tentes.
h Which within were all set ẅ precious stones & iewels.
i Consider not ỹ Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature through sinne, & afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren, whulde haue moste fauoured me.
m She confesseth her owne negligence.
n The spouse feling her faute, fleeth to her housband onely for succour.
o Whome ỹ hast called to ỹ dignitie of pastores, and thei set forthe their owne dreames in stead of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them ỹare ignorant, to go to ỹ pastors to learne.
q For thy spiritual beautie & excellencie there was no worldelie treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth ỹ she is admitted to ỹ cōpanie of Christ.
s He shal be moste deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Churche & commendeth her beautie u That is, ỹ heart of ỹ faithful where in Christ dwelleth by his Spirit.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church desireth to rest Vnder the shadowe of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to ỹ dooue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

1 I Am the rose of the field, & the lilie of the valleis.
2 Like a lilie among the thornes, so is my [a]loue among the daughters.
3 [b]Like the apple tre among the trees of the forest: so is my welbeloued amōg the sonnes of men: vnder his shadowe had I delite, and sate downe: and his frute was swete vnto my mouth.
4 He broght me into the wine celler, & loue was his banner ouer me.
5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.
6 His left hand is vnder mine head, & his right hand doeth imbrace me.
7 [c]I charge you, ô daughters of Ierusalem, [d]by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please.
8 [e]It is the voice of my welbeloued: beholde he cometh leaping by the mountaines, & skipping by the hilles.
9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: lo, he [f]standeth behinde our wall looking forthe of ỹ windowes, shewing him selfe through the [g] grates.
10 My welbeloued spake & said vnto me: Arise, my loue, my faire one, & come thy way.
11 For beholde, [h]winter is past: the raine

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things
b The spouse testifieth her great desire toward her housband, but her strength faileth her. and therefore she desireth to be comforted, & felt it e Christ chargeth them ẅ haue to do in the Church, as it were by a solēne othe, ỹ they trouble not the quietnes thereof
d This is spokē of Christ who toke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e For asmuche as his diuinitie was hid vnder ỹ cloke of our flesh.
f So ỹ we can not haue ful knowledge of him in this life.
g That is sinne & error is driue backe by the comming of Christ, as is here described by ỹ spring time, whē all thigs florish ne is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth, ỹ time of the singing of birdes is come: and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.
13 The fig tre hathe broght forthe her yong figges: & the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.
14 My doue, that art in the [h] holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe me thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is swete, & thy sight comelie.
15 Take vs the foxes, the[i] litle foxes, ẅ destroy the vines: for our vines haue smale grapes.
16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he fedeth among the lilies, 17 Vntil the day breake, & the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued & be like a[k] roe, or a yong hart vpon ỹ mountaines of Bether.

h Thou ỹ art ashamed of thy sinnes, come & shewe thy self vnto me.
i Suppresse ỹ heretikes whiles they are yong, ỹ is, when their beginne to shewe their malice & destroy ỹ vine of the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her housband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wildernes.

1 In my bed by [a] night I soght him that my soule loued: I soght him, but I founde him not.
2 I wil rise therefore now, and go about in the citie, by the stretes, & by the open places, & wil [b] seke him that my soule loueth: I soght him, but I founde him not.
3 The [c] watchemen that went about ỹ citie, founde me: to whome I said, Haue you sene him whome my soule loueth?
4 When I had past a litle from them, then I founde him whome my soule loued: I toke holde on him and left him not, til I had broght him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her ỹ conceiued me.
5 [d] I charge you, ô daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of ỹ field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntil she please.
6 Who is she that commeth vp out of ỹ [e] wildernes like pillers of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, & with all the [ff] spices of the marchant?
7 Beholde his[f] bed, which is Salomons: threscore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.
8 Thei all handle the sworde, & are expert in warre, euerie one hathe his sworde vpon his thigh for the feare [g] by night.
9 King Salomon made him selfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.
10 He made the pillers thereof of siluer, & the pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.
11 Come forthe, ye [h] daughters of Zion, & beholde the King Salomon with the [i] crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

a The Church by night, ỹ is in troubles seketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towardes her.

1 Beholde, thou art[a] faire, my loue beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues: among thy lockes thine heere is like the[b] flocke of goates, ẅ lo ke downe frõ ỹ mountaine of Gilead.
2 Thy teethe are like a flocke of sheep in good ordre: which go vp from the washing: which euerie one bring out twinnes, & none is baren among them.
3 Thy lippes are like a threde of skarlet, and thy talke is comelie: thy tẽples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.
4 Thy necke is as ỹ towre of Dauid buylt for defense: a thousand shields hang therein, & all the targates of the strõg men.
5 Thy two [c] breastes are as two yong roes that are twinnes, feding among ỹ lilies.
6 Vntil the day breake, and ỹ shadowes flee away, I wil go into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.
7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.
8 [d] Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, & loke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from ỹ dennes of the lyons & from the mountaines of the leopardes.
9 My [e] sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast woũded mine heart with one of thine[f] eyes, & with a chaine of thy necke.
10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? how muche better is thy loue thẽ wine? and the sauour of thine oinmẽts them all spices?
11 Thy[g] lippes, my spouse, droppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, & the sauour of thy garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.
12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, & a fountaine sealed vp.
13 Thy plantes are as an orcharde of pomegranates with swete frutes, as camphire, spikenarde, 14 Euen spikenarde, & safran, calamus,

15 hO fountaine of the gardens, ô well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

i She desireth Christ to cõforte her, and to powre ỹ graces of his Spirit vpon her, ẅ Spirit is ment by the North & South winde.

16 Arise, ôi North, and come ô South, & blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flowe out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant frute.

CHAP. V.

2 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his Voyce. 6 She confesseth her nakednes. 10 She praiseth Christ her housband.

1 I Am come into my a garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe ẅ my spice: I ate mine honie combe with mine honie, I dranke my wine with my milke: eat, ô friends, drinke, and make you mery, ô welbeloued.

a The garden signifieth the kingdome of Christ where he prepareth ỹ banket for his elect.

2 b I slepe but mine hart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my dooue, my vndefiled: for mine head is ful of dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the c night.

b The spouse saieth ỹ she is troubled ẅ the cares of worldly things, ẅ is met by sleping.

c Declaring the long patience of ỹ Lord toward sinners.

3 I haue put of my d coate, how shal I put it on? I haue washed my fete, how shal I defile them?

d The spouse confesseth her nakednes, and ỹ of her self she hathe nothing: or seing ỹ she is once made cleane, she promiseth not to defile her self againe.

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the dore, & e mine hart was affectioned toward him.

e Ebr. My bowels were moued towards him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, & mine hands did droppe downe myrrhe, & my f fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handels of the barre.

f The spouse ẅ shulde be anointed of Christ, shal not finde hir if she thinke to anoint him with her good workes.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine hart was gone when he did speake: I soght him, but I colde not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The g watchemen that went about ỹ citie, founde me: they smote me & wounded me: the watchemen of the walles toke away my vaile from me.

g These are the false teachers, ẅ wounde ỹ conscience ẅ their traditions.

8 I charge you, h ô daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tel him that I am sicke of loue.

h She asketh of them ẅ are godlie (for asmuche as ỹ law & salvation shulde come out of Zion & Ierusalem) ỹ they wolde direct her to Christ.

9 h O the fairest among women. what is thy welbeloued more thẽ another welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more thẽ another louer, ỹ ỹ doest so chargevs?

h Thus say the of Ierusalem.

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddy, the chiefest of ten thousand.

i She describeth Christ to be of perfite beautie, & comelines.

11 His i head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, & blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like dooues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt ẅ milke, & remaine by the ful vessels.

13 His chekes are as a bed of spices, & as swete flowres, & his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of golde set with the k chrysolite his bellie like white yuorie couered with saphirs.

k Ebr. Tarshish

15 His legges are as pillers of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedres.

16 His mouth is as swete things, and he is wholy delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, ô daughters of Ierusalem.

17 l O the fairest among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone? whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seke him with thee?

l Hearing of ỹ excellencie of Christ, ỹ faithful desire to knowe how to finde him.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church assureth her selfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The praises of the Church. 8 She is but one and vndefiled.

1 MY welbeloued is gone downe into his a garden to the beds of spices, to fede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

a That is, is cõuersant here in earth among mẽ

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who fedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful, my loue, as b Tirzah, comelie as Ierusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

b Which was a faire & strõg citie, 1. King 14, 17.

4 c Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome me: a thine heere is like a flocke of goats, which loke downe from Gilead.

c This declareth ỹ exceding loue of Christ toward his Church. Chap. 4, 1

5 Thy tethe are like a flocke of shepe, which go vp from the washing, which euerie one bring out twins, and none is baren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy lockes, as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are d threscore Quenes & fourescore concubines, and of the dameseles without nomber.

d Meaning, ỹ the giftes are infinite ẅ Christ giueth to his Church: or ỹ his faithful are manie in nomber.

8 But my dooue is alone, & my vndefiled, she is the one he daughter of her mother, and she is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue sene her & counted her blessed: euen the Quenes and ỹ concubines, & they haue praised her.

e He shewth ỹ beginning of ỹ Church was smale, but it grewe vp to a great multitude.

9 e Who is she that loketh forthe as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as ỹ sunne, terrible as an armie with banners?

10 I went downe to the f garden of nuttes, to se the frutes of the valley, to se if ỹ vine budded, & if the pomegranates florished.

f Hi ran as swift as ỹ nobles of my people in their charetes.

11 g I knewe nothing, my soule set me as the charets of my noble people.

g O ye people of Ierusalem: for Ierusalem was called Shalem, ẅ signifieth peace.

12 Returne, returne, ô Shulamite, returne: returne that we may beholde thee. ẅ hat shal you se in ỹ Shulamite but as the companie of an armie?

CHAP. VII.

The beautie of the Church in all her members. 10 She is assured of Christs loue towardes her.

Chap. VII.

a He describeth the comelie beautie of the Church in euerie parte, & is to be vnderstand spiritually.

1 HOw beautiful are thy[a] goings with shoes, ô princes daughter: the iointes of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workeman.

2 Thy nauel is as a rounde cuppe that wanteth not lickour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies.

b Read Chap. 4, 3 [b]Thy two breastes are as two yong roes that are twinnes.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like ỹ fish pooles in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that loketh toward Damascus.

5 Thine head vpō thee is as skarlet, and the bushe of thine head like purple: the King is tyed[c] in the[*] rafters.

c He desireth to come nere thee and to be in thy companie. 6 How faire art thou, and how pleasant art thou, ô my loue, in pleasures?

*Or, galeries. 7 This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breastes like clusters.

8 I said, I wil go vp into the palme tre, I wil take holde of her boughes: thy breastes shal now be like the clusters of the vine: and the sauour of thy nose like apples,

9 And the rouse of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, & causeth the lippes of the ancient to speake.

d This the spouse speaketh. 10 [d]I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward me.

e If the people ỹ are called to Christ, brig forthe anie frute. 11 Come, my welbeloued, let vs go forthe into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

12 Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs se if the[e] vine florish, whether it hathe budded the smale grape, or whether the pomegranates florish: there wil I giue thee my loue.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a smel, & in our gates are all swete things, newe & olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

The Church wil be taught by Christ. 3 She is vpholden by him. 6 The vehement loue wherewith Christ loueth her. 11 She is the vine that bringeth forth frute to the spiritual Salomon, which is Iesus Christ.

1 OH[a] that thou weres as my brother that sucked the breastes of my mother: I wolde finde thee without, I wolde kisse thee, then thei shulde not despise[*] thee.

a The Church called of ỹ Gentiles, speaketh thus to ỹ Church of Ierusalem. *Or, me.

2 I wil lead thee & bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teache me: & I wil cause thee to drinke spiced wine, & newe wine of the pomegranate.

b Read Chap. 2, 6. 3 [b]His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, & his right hand shal embrace me.

c Read Chap. 3, 5. 4 [c]I charge you, ô daughters of Ierusalem, that you stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wildernes, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raised thee vp vnder an apple tre: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she conceiued that bare thee.

d The spouse desireth Christ to be ioyned in perpetual loue with him. 6 [d]Set me as a seale on thine hart, & as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruel as ỹ graue: the coles thereof are fyrie coles, & a vehement flame.

7 Muche water can not quenche loue, nether can the floods drowne it: if a mā shulde giue all the substance of his house for loue, they wolde greatly contemne it.

e The Iewish Church speaketh this of the Church of the Gentiles. f If she be sure & fast, she is mete for the husband to dwel in. g The Church promiseth fidelitie & constancie. 8 [e]We haue a litle sister, & she hathe no breastes: what shal we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for?

9 [f]If she be a walle, we wil buylde vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a dore, we wil kepe her in with bordes of cedre.

10 [g]I am a walle & my breastes are as towres: thē was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

h This is the vineyarde of the Lord hired out, Mat. 22, 33. 11 [h]Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: he gaue the vineyard vnto kepers: euerie one bringeth for the frute thereof a thousand pieces of siluer.

12 But my vineyarde which is mine, is before me: to thee, ô Salomon, appertaineth a thousand pieces of siluer, & two thousand to thē that kepe ỹ frute thereof.

i Christ dwelleth in his Church whose voyce ỹ faithful heare. 13 O thou that dwellest in the[i] gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.

k The Church desireth Christ ỹ if he depart frō thē, yet that he wolde haste to helpe them in their troubles. 14 O my welbeloued, [k]flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong hart vpon the mountaines of spices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

The office of a prophet.

GOd, according to his promes Deut.18,15. that he wolde neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hathe from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof thei had a special reuelation, but also to interpret & declare the Law, and to applie particularly the doctrine, conteined briefly therein, to the vtilitie & profite of those, to whome thei thoght it chiefly to appertein, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to thre things, which were the grounde of their doctrine. First to the doctrine conteined briefly in the two tables: secondely to the promises & threatenings of the Law: & thirdely, to the covenant of grace & reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto thei neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, thei applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for anie care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their sauegarde by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation they haue more clearely intreated it then Moses, & set forth the more lively Iesus Christ, in whome this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophetes, and was moste diligent to set out the same, with moste vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe that the disease of the people required. He declareth also manie notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as moste principal pointes conteined in this boke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certeine daies that thei had stand vpon the Temple dore (for the maner of the Prophetes was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certeine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa.8,1. & Habak.2,2.) the Priests toke it downe and reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bokes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his persone and time, he was of the Kings stocke: for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agre, and prophecied more then 64 yeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whome he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophetes this one thing among other is to be obserued, that thei speake of things to come as thogh thei were now past, because of the certeintie thereof, and that thei coulde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsel, and so reueiled them to his Prophetes.

The maner of publishing and registring the prophetes doctrine.

That a noble mon.

The time of his prophecie.

One chief thing to be obserued in reading of the prophetes.

CHAP. I.

Isaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbernes, that nether for benefites nor punishment wolde amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 And of the restitution thereof.

1 [a] A vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, [b] he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the daies of [c] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz & Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

2 Heare, ô [d] heauens, and hearken, ô earth: for the Lord hathe said, I haue nourished and broght vp [e] children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The [f] oxe knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters cryb, but Israel hathe not knowen: my people hathe not vnderstand.

4 Ah, sinful nacion, a people laden with iniquitie: a [g] sede of the wicked, corrupt children: thei haue forsaken the Lord: thei haue prouoked the [h] holy one of Israel to ager: they are gone backwarde.

5 Wherefore shulde ye be [i] smitten anie more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole [k] head is sicke, and the whole heart is heaure.

6 From the [l] sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, & swelling, and sores ful of a That is, a reuelation or prophecie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared him selfe to his seruats in olde time, as Nomb.12,6. & therefore ý prophetes were called Seers, 1.Sam.9,9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely: for in this boke are prophecies concerning other nacions also.

c Called also Azariah 2.King.15,1. of these Kings read 2.King. frō Cha.14. vnto Cha.21, & 2.Chro. fro Chap.25. vnto.33.

d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumme creatures, which were more prompte to obey Gods worde, as Deu 32,1.

e He declareth his great mercie towarde the Iewes, for asmuche as he chose thē aboue all other nations to be his people & children, as Deu.10,15.

f The moste brute and dul beasts do more acknowledge their duetie toward their masters, thē my people do toward me, of whome thei haue receiued benefits without comparison.

g Thei were not onely wicked, as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euil exāple infected others.

9 Except ỹ Lord of hostes p had reserued vnto vs, euen a smale remnant: we shulde haue bene q as Sodom, & shulde haue bene like vnto Gomorah.
10 Heare ỹ worde of the Lord, ô r princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, ô people of Gomorah.
11 What haue I to do with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith ỹ Lord? I am ful of the burnt offrings of rams, & of ỹ fat of fed beastes: and I s desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.
12 When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courtes?
13 Bring no mo oblacions, t in vaine: incense is an abominacion vnto me: I can not suffer your newe moones, nor sabbaths, nor solemne daies (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.
14 My soule hateth your v newe moones & your appointed feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am weary to beare them.
15 And when you shal stretch out your hands I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make manie prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are ful x of blood.
16 y Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euil of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to do euil.
17 Learne to z do wel: seke iudgemēt, relieue ỹ oppressed: iudge the fatherles & defend the widowe.
18 Come now, a & let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were, as crimsin they shalbe made b white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shal be as woll.
19 If ye c consent and obey, ye shal eat the good things of the land.
20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sworde: for ỹ mouth of the Lord hathe spoken it.

2 In that day shal the [d] budde of ẏ Lord be beautiful and glorious, and the frute of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zion, and he that shal remaine in Ierusalem, shal be called holie, and euerie one shalbe [e] written among the liuing in Ierusalem,

4 When the Lord shal wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, & purge the [f] blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirit of [g] iudgement, & by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shal creat vpon euerie place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, [h] a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fyre by night: for vpon all the [i] glorie shalbe a defense.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadowe in the day for the heat, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme [k] & for the raine.

forthe grapes, & it bringeth forthe wilde grapes?

5 And now I wil tel you what I wil do to my vineyard: I [g] wil take away the hedge thereof, & it ſhal be eaten vp: I wil breake ý wall thereof, & it ſhal be troden downe.

6 And I wil lay it waſte: it ſhal not be cut, nor digged, but briers, & thornes ſhal growe vp: I wil alſo commande ý cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 ¶ Surely the vineyarde of the Lord of hoſtes is the houſe of Iſrael, and the men of Iudah are his pleaſant plant, and he loked for [h] iudgement: but beholde oppreſsion: for righteouſnes, but beholde a crying.

8 Wo vnto thē that ioyne houſe to houſe, and lay field to field, til there be no [k] place, that ye may be placed by your ſelues in the middes of the earth.

9 This is in mine [l] eares, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes. Surely manie houſes ſhalbe deſolate, euen great, & fayre without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines ſhal yelde one [m] bath, & the ſede of an [n] homer ſhal yelde an [o] ephah.

11 ¶ Wo vnto them, that [p] riſe vp early to followe drunkennes, and to them that continue vntil [q] night, til the wine do inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their fealtes: but they regarde not the [r] worke of the Lord, nether conſider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people [s] is gone into captiuitie, becauſe they had [t] no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famiſhed, & the multitude thereof is dryed vp with thirſt.

14 Therefore [v] hel hathe inlarged it ſelf, & hathe opened his mouth, without meaſure, and their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, ſhal deſcende into it.

15 And man ſhalbe broght downe, and man ſhalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proude ſhalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hoſtes ſhalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holie God ſhalbe ſanctified in iuſtice.

17 Then ſhal [x] the lambes fede after their maner, and the ſtrangers ſhal eat the deſolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Wo vnto them, that drawe iniquitie with [y] cordes of vanitie, and ſinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which ſay, [z] Let him make ſpede: let him haſten his worke, that we may ſe it: & let the counſel of the holie one of Iſrael drawe nere and come, that we may knowe it.

20 Wo vnto them that ſpeake good of euil, [a] and euil of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for ſwete, and ſwete for ſowre.

21 Wo vnto them that are [b] wiſe in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne ſight.

22 Wo vnto them that are [c] mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are ſtrōg to poure in ſtrong drinke:

23 Which iuſtifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteouſnes of ý righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fyre deuoureth the ſtubble, and as the chaffe is conſumed of the flame: ſo their [d] roote ſhalbe as rottennes and their budde ſhal riſe vp like duſt, becauſe they haue caſt of the Law of the Lord of hoſtes, and contemned the worde of the holie one of Iſrael.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, & he hathe ſtretched out his [e] hand vpon them, and hathe ſmitten thē that the mountaines did tremble: and their karcaſes were torne in the middes of the ſtretes, & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was ſtretched out ſtil.

26 And he wil lift vp a ſigne [f] vnto the nations a farre, and wil hiſſe vnto them from the end of the earth: & beholde, they ſhal come haſtely with ſpede.

27 None ſhal [g] faint nor fall among thē, none ſhal ſlumber nor ſlepe, nether ſhal the girdle of his loynes be loſed, nor ý latchet of his ſhoes be broken:

28 Whoſe arrowes ſhalbe ſharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horſe hooues ſhalbe thoght like flint, & his wheles like a whirlewinde.

29 His roaring ſhalbe like a lyon, and he ſhal roare like lyons whelpes: they ſhal [i] roare, and lay holde of the pray: they ſhal take it away, and none ſhal deliuer it.

30 And in that day they ſhal roare vpon them, as ý roaring of the ſea, & if [k] they loke vnto the earth, beholde darkenes, and ſorow, and the light ſhalbe darkened in their [l] ſkie.

k The Iewes ſhal finde no ſuccour.

l In the land of Iudah.

IN the yere of the death of King Vzziah, [a] I sawe also the Lord sitting vpon an [b] high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower [c] partes thereof filled the temple.

2 The Seraphims [d] stode vpon it: euerie one had six wings: with twaine he couered his [e] face, and with twaine he couered his [f] fete, and with twaine he did [g] flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and said, [h] Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole [i] worlde is ful of his glorie.

4 And the lintels of the dore chekes [k] moued at ỹ voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, [l] Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue sene the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the [m] altar with the tongs.

7 And he touched my mouth, & said, Lo, this hathe touched thy lippes, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away, and thy [n] sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? And who shal go for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, [o] Ye shal heare in dede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shal plainly se, & not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they se with their eyes, & heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, [p] how long? And he answered, Vntil the cities be wasted without inhabitat, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the middes of the land.

13 But yet in it shalbe [q] a tenth, and shal returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme [r] or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holie sede shalbe the substance thereof.

a God sheweth not him self to man in his maiestie, but according as mās capacitie is able to comprehend him: that is by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist sawe the holie Gost in the forme of a doue.

f Whereby was declared ỹ man was not able to se the brightnes of God in them.

g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

h This oft repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels can not satisfie them selues in praising God, to teache vs that in all our liues we shulde giue our selues to the continual praise of God.

i His glorie doeth not onely appeare in ỹ heaues, but through all the worlde, and therefore all creatures are bounde to praise him.

k Which things were to confirme the prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindenes that shulde come vpon the Iewes.

l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortal creature, and therefore had more nede to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more nere that man approcheth to God, the more doeth he know his owne sinne, & corruption.

m Of the burnt offrings where the fyre neuer went out.

n This declareth that man can not rendre true obedience to God, til he haue purged vs.

o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God wil not immediatly take away his worde, but he wil cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his wil, and be saued, hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duetie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardned, Mat. 13, 14 act. 28, 26. rom. 11, 8.

p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glorie, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth parte. or as some write, it was reuelled to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kings shulde come before their captiuitie, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah.

r For the fewenes they shal seme to be eaten vp: yet they shal after florish as a tre, which in winter loseth his leaues, and semeth to be dead, yet in sommer is fresh, and grene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

1 AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the King of [a] Aram came vp and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he colde not ouercome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of [b] Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with [c] Ephraim: therefore his heart was [d] moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to mete Ahaz (thou and [e] Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of ỹ conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take hede, & be stil: feare not, nether be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking [f] firebrandes, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hathe taken wicked counsel against thee, & Ephraim, & Romaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs go vp against Iudah, & let vs waken them vp, and make a breche therein for vs, and set a King in ỹ middes thereof, euen the sonne of [g] Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand, nether shal it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and with in fiue & [h] threscore yere, Ephraim shalbe destroied from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shal not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske [i] a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth or in the height aboue.

2. King. 16, 5.

* Or, Syria.

a To wit, the seconde time: for in the first battel Ahaz was ouercome.

b Meaning, the Kings house.

c That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greateste, Gene. 48, 19.

d For feare.

e That is to say, The rest shal returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie, that the rest of the people shulde returne out of their captiuitie f Which haue but a litle smoke and shal quickely be quenched.

g Which was an Israelite & as semeth, enemie to the house of Dauid.

h Counting frō ỹ fiue & twentieth yere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites shulde be led into perpetual captiuitie, w thing came to pase within twentie yere after ỹ Isaiah did this message.

i For the confirmation of this thing, ỹ thine enemies shalbe destroyed & ỹ preserued.

12 But Ahaz said, I wil not aske, nether wil I [k] tempt the Lord.
13 Then he said Heare you now, ô house of Dauid, Is it a smale thing for you to grieue [l] men, that ye wil also grieue my God?
14 Therefore the Lord [m] him self wil giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shal conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shal call his name [n] Immanuel.
15 [n] Butter and honie shal he eat, til he haue knowledge to refuse the euil, & to chuse the good.
16 For afore ý [o] childe shal haue knowledge to eschewe the euil, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of bothe her kings.
17 The Lord shal bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the daies that haue not come from the daie that [p] Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of [q] Asshur.
18 And in that day shal the Lord hisse for the [r] flie that is at the vttermoste parte of the floods of Egypt, & for the bee ẅ is in the land of Asshur, 19 And thei shal come and shal light all in the desolate valleis, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all busshie places.
20 In that day shal the Lord shaue with a raser that is hired, euen by thē beyondē the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, ý head and the heere of the [t] fete, and it shal consume the beard.
21 And in the same day shal a man [v] nourish a yong kowe, and two shepe.
22 And for the [x] abundance of milke, ý they shal giue, he shal eat butter: for butter and honie shal euerie one eat, ẅ is left within the land.
23 And at the same day euerie place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briers & for thornes.
24 With arowes and with [y] bowe shal one come thether: because all the land shal be briers and thornes.
25 But on [z] all the mountaines, ẅ shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shal not come thether the feare of briers & thornes: but they shalbe for the sending oute of bullockes & for the treading of shepe.

k Not to beleue Gods worde without a signe is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offreth it for the aide & helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebel against him.
l You thinke you haue to do wt̄ me, when ye cōtem-ne Gods messen-gers: but it is God, against whome you bend your selues.
m For as muche as thou art vn worthy, the Lord for his owne promes sake wil giue a signe ẅ shalbe ý Christ the Sauiour of his Church & ý effect of all signes & miracles shalbe reuealed.
n Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to hī, that is bothe God and man.
n Meaning, that Christ is not o-nely God, but man also, becau-se he shal be nourished as o-ther men, vntil ý age of discretiō.
o Not meaning Christ, but anie childe: or before ý childe can come to the ye-res of discretion, the kings of Sa-maria and Syria shalbe destroied.
p Since the ti-me that ý twe-lue tribes rebel-led vnder Ro-boam.
q In whome ý hast put thy trust
r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason ý cō-tinent is hote & moiste, it is ful of flies, as Assy-ria is ful of bees.
s Signifying, that no place shalbe fre from the.
t That is, that which is from the belly downeward: meaning, ý he wolde destroy both, great & smale.
u He that before had a great nomber of cattel, shalbe content with one kowe & two shepe.
x The nomber of men shalbe so smale, that a fewe beastes shalbe able to nourish all abundantly.
y As thei that go to se-ke wilde beastes among the busshes.
z The mountaines con-trarie to their wonte, shalbe tilled by suche as shal flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel & Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stombling to the wicked. 19 The worde of God must be inquired at.

1 MOreouer, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a [a] great role, and write in it [b] with a mans penne, Make spe-de to the spoyle: haste to the pray.
2 Then I toke vnto me [c] faithful witnesses to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.
3 After, I came vnto the [d] Propheteſſe, ẅ conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, [n] Mahershalal hash-baz.
4 For before ý [e] childe shal haue knowledge to crye, My father, and my mother, [f] he shal take away the riches of Damascus and the spoile of Samaria, before the King of Asshur.
5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,
6 Because this people hathe refused the waters of [g] Shiloah that runne softely, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,
7 Now therefore beholde, ý Lord bringeth vp vpon them ý waters of [h] ý Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glorie, and he shal come vp vpon all their riuers, & go ouer all their bankes,
8 And shal breake into Iudah, & shal ouerflowe and passe through, & shal come vp to the [i] necke, & the stretching out of his wings shal fil the breadth of thy land, ô [k] Immanuel.
9 Gather together on heapes, ô ye [l] people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreis: girde your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: girde your selues, & you shalbe broken in pieces.
10 Take counsel together, yet it shalbe broght to nought: pronounce a decre, yet shal it not stand: for God is with vs.
11 For the Lord spake thus to me in taking [m] of mine hand, & taught me, that I shulde not walke in the way of this people, saying,
12 Say ye not, A [n] confederacie to all them, to whome this people saith a cōfederacie, nether feare you [o] their feare, nor be afraied of them.
13 [p] Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,
14 And he shalbe as a [q] Sanctuarie: but as a stom-

a That ý maiest write in great letters to ý in-tent it may be more easely red.
b Meaning, after the commune fa-cion: because all men might read it.
c Because the thing was of great importan-ce, he toke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people, when he set this vpon ý dore of the tem-ple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2. Kig 16. 11.
d Meaning, to his wife, & this was done in a vi sion.
n Or, make spe-de to the spoi-le: haste to the pray.
e Before anie childe be able to speake.
f That is, the ar-mie of Assyria.
g Which was a fountaine at the fote of mount Zion, out of the which rā a sma-le riuer through the citie: mea-ning that they of Iudah, distru-sting their owne power, ẅ was smale, desired such power and riches as they sawe in Syria and Israel.
h That is, ý As-syrians, ẅ dwel beyōde Euphra-tes.
i It shalbe rea-dy to drowne them.
k He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in who-me the faithful were comforted, and who wolde not suffer his Churche to be destroied vtter-ly.
l To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyri-ans, Egyptians, Syrians &c. m To encourage me that I shulde not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.
n Consent not ye that are godlie, to ý league & frind-ship that this people seke with strangers & idolaters.
o Mea-ning, that thei shulde not feare the thing that thei feared, ẅ haue no hope in God.
p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently loking for his helpe, and fearing to do anie thing contrarie to his wil.
q He wil defend you which are his elect, & reiect all the rest, ẅ is ment of Christ against who-me the Iewes shuld stomble and fall, Luk. 2, 34. rom. 9, 33. 1. pet. 2, 7.

a stombling stone & as a rocke to fall vpon, to bothe the houses of Israel, & as a snare & as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And manie among them shal stomble, and shal fall and shal be broken & shal be snared & shalbe taken.

16 [r] Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I wil wait vpon the Lord that hathe hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I wil loke for him.

18 Beholde I, and the [s] children whome the Lord hathe giuen me, are as signes & as wonders in Israel, [t] by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mout Zion.

19 And when thei shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the southsaiers, [w] whisper and murmur, [x] Shulde not a people enquire at their God? from the [y] liuing to the dead?

20 To the [z] Lawe, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: it is becaufe there is no [a] light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted & famished, shal go to and fro in [b] it: & when he shalbe hungrie, he shal euen freat him self, [c] and curse his King and his gods, & shal loke vpwarde.

22 And when he shal loke to the earth, beholde trouble, & [d] darkenes, vexacion & anguish, and he is driuen to darkenes.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, kepe my worde sure sealed in your hearts.

s Meaning, them that were willing to heare and obeie the worde of God, whome the worlde hated as though thei were monsters and not worthie to liue.

t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing colde come vnto them, but by the wil of the Lord.

w Answer the wicked thus, Shulde not Gods people seke suc cour onely at him?

x That is, wil thei refuse to be taught of the prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan.

y Seke remedie in the worde of God where his wil is declared?

z Thei haue no knowledge, but are blinde leaders of the blinde.

a That is, in Iudah, where thei shulde haue had rest, if thei had not thus grieuously offended God.

b In whome afore thei put their trust.

c Thei shal thinke that heauen and earth & all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophecie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

a He comforteth i the Churche againe after these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glorie in Messiah.

b Wherewith Israel was punished, first by Tiglathpilesar, [w] was a light scourge in respect of that which thei suffred afterward by Shalmanesor, who caried the Israelites awaie captiues.

YEt [a] the darkenes shal not be according to the affliction, [b] that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when he was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyonde Iorden in Galile of [c] the Gentiles.

2 The people that [d] walked in darkenes, haue sene a great [e] light: thei that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hathe the [f] light shined.

c Where as the Iewes & Gentiles dwelt together by reason of those twentie cities, which Salomon gaue to Hyram.

d Which were captiues in Babylon: & the prophet speaketh of that thing, which shulde come to passe threscore yeres after, as though it were nowe done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie & deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerice by Christ through ý preaching of ý Gospel, Mat. 4, 15

3 Thou hast [g] multiplied the nation, & not increased their ioye: thei haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in haruest, & as men reioyce when they diuide a spoile.

4 For [h] the yoke of their burden, & the staffe of their shulder & the rodde of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euerie battel of the warriour is with noise, & with tumbling of garmets in blood: but this shalbe [i] with burning and deuouring of fyre.

6 For vnto vs a Childe is borne, & vnto vs a sonne is giuen: & the gouernement is vpon his shulder, & he shal call his name Wonderful, Counseller, The mightie God, The euerlasting [k] Father, The prince of peace,

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shal haue none end: he shal sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from hence forthe, euen for euer: [l] the zeale of the Lord of hostes wil performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hathe sent a worde into Iaakob, and it hathe lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shal knowe euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that saie in the pride & presumption of the heart,

10 The [n] brickes are fallen, but we wil buylde it with hewen stones: the wilde figtrees are cut downe, but we wil change them into cedres.

11 Neuertheles the Lord wil raise vp [o] aduersaries of Rezin against him, & ioine his enemies together.

12 Aram before, & [ý] Philistims behind, and thei shal deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is stretched out stil.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, nether do thei seke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore wil the Lord cut of from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one daie.

15 The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: & the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and thei that are led by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shal the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, nether wil he haue compasion of their fatherles and of their widowes: for euerie one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euerie mouth speaketh folie: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is stretched out stil.

g Their nomber was greater when thei went into captiuitie then when thei returned, but their ioye was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.

h Thou gauest them perfite ioye, by deliuering them & by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruel bondage, as thou didest deliuer them by Gidion from the Midianites, Iudg. 7, 22.

i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, [w] he hathe deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by the coming of Christ, of whome he prophecieth in the next verse.

k The autor of eternitie, and by whome ý Church and euerie member thereof shal be preserued for euer, and haue immortal life.

l His singular loue and care for his elect.

m This is another prophecie against them of Samaria, [w] were mockers & contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weake, when ý enemie ouercame vs, but we wil make our selues so strong, that we wil nether care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatenings.

o Rezin King of Syriah, who was in league [w] Israel, was slaine by the Assyrias, after whose death Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on ý other side were assailed by the Philistims.

p Wickednes as a bellowse kindleth the fyre of Gods wrath, w̄ consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

18 For wickednes[p] burneth as a fyre: it deuoureth the briers & the thornes & wil kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and thei shal mounte vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shal the land be darkened, and the people shalbe as the meat of the fyre: no mā shal[q] spare his brother.

¶ Thogh ther were no foren enemie, yet thei shal destroy one another.

r Their griedines shalbe in satiable, so that one brother shal eat vp another, as though he shulde eat his owne flesh.

20 And he shal snatche at the right hād, & be hungrie: & he shal eat on the left hand, and shal not be satisfied: euerie one shal eat the[r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh, Ephraim: & Ephraim Manasseh: and thei bothe shalbe against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is stretched out stil.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawe makers. 5 God wil punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroie them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

1 WO vnto them that decre wicked decrees, & [a] write grieuous things, a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentēce of oppresse of poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, w̄ were the chief cause of mischief, shulde be first punished.

2 To kepe backe the poore frō iudgement, and to take awaie the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes maie be their praie, and that thei maie spoile the fatherles.

3 What wil ye do now in the daie of visitation, & of destruction, which shal come from [b] farre? to whome wil ye flee for helpe? and where wil ye leaue your [c] glorie?

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches & autoritie, y thei maie be safe, and that ye maie receiue thē againe.

4 [d] Without me euerie one shal fall among them that are bounde, & thei shal fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is stretched out stil.

d Because thei haue forsaken me, some shal go into captiuitie, & the rest shalbe slaine.

5 ¶ O [e] Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vēgeance.

6 I wil send [f] him to a dissembling natiō, and I wil giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take y spoile & to take the praie, and to treade them vnder fete like the myre in the strete.

f That is, the Assyrians against y Iewes, which are but hypocrites: & in this sixt and seuenth verse is declared y difference of the worke of God & of the wicked in one verie thing and acte: for Gods intention is to chastice them for their amendement, & the Assyrians purpose is to destroie them to enriche them selues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuil.

7 But he thinketh not so, nether doeth his heart esteme it so: but he imagineth to destroye and to cut of not a fewe nacions.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes all together Kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

g Seing that I haue ouercome, assweel one citie as another, so that none colde resist, shal I Ierusalem be able to escape mine handes?

10 Like as mine hand hathe founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria.

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, & to the idoles thereof, so do to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hathe accomplished [h] all his worke vpō mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visit the frute of the proude heart [i] of the King of Assshur, and his glorious and proude lokes, h When he hathe sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) the wil he burne the roddes.

i Meaning, of Sancherib.

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures & haue pulled downe the inhabitants, like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hathe founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shal the [k] axe boast it self against him that heweth therewith? or shal the sawe exalt it self against him that moueth it? as if the rod shulde lift vp it self against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe shulde exalt it self, as it were no wood.

k Here we se y no creature is able to do anie thig, but as God appointeth him, & that they are all but his instruments to do his worke, thogh y intentions be diuerse, as vers. 6.

16 Therefore shal the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men, leanenes, and vnder his glorie he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fyre.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a [l] fyre, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shal burne, & deuoure [m] his thornes and his briers in one day:

l Meaning, that God is a light to cōfort his people, & a fyre to burne his enemies.

m That is, y Assyrians.

18 And shal consume the glorie of his forest, & of his fruteful fields bothe soule [n] and flesh: and he shalbe as the fainting of a standerd bearer.

n To wit, bodie and soule vtterly.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tel them.

o When the battel is lost and the standerd taken.

20 ¶ And at that day shal the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay e no more vpon him that smote them, but shal [p] stay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in trueth.

p This is y end of Gods plagues towards his, to bring them to him and to forsake all trust in others.

21 The remnant shal returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God.

22 For thogh thy people, ô Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shal the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shal ouerflowe with righteousnes.

q This smale nomber, w̄ semed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decre is saued, shalbe suffer God wil destroye this land as he hathe determined, & after saue a smale portiō sufficient to fil al the worlde with righteousnes.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shal make the consumption, euen [r] determined ned, in the middes of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraied of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shal lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of [f] Egypt.
25 But yet a very litle time, and ỹ wrath shalbe cõsumed, & mine angre in their destruction.
26 And the Lord of hostes shal raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of [t] Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the [v] Sea, so he wil lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.
27 And at that day shal his burden be taken away from of thy shulder, & his yoke from of thy necke: & the yoke shalbe destroyed because of [x] the anointing.
28 He is come [y] to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shal he lay vp his armour.
29 They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in ỹ lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraied: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.
30 Lift vp thy voice, ô daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, ô poore Anathoth.
31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered thẽ selues together.
32 Yet there is a time that he wil stay at Nob: he shal lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hil of Ierusalem.
33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shal cut of the [z] bough with feare, and thei of high stature shalbe cut of, and the hie shalbe humbled.
34 And he shal cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, & Lebanon shal haue a mightie fall.

f As the Egyptians did punish thee.

t Read Chap. 9, 4.
v Whẽ the Israelites passed through by the lifting vp of Moses rod, & ỹ enemies were drowned, Exod. 14, 28.
x Because of the promes made to that kingdome, whereby Christs kingdome was perfigured.
y He describeth by what way the Assyrians shulde come against Ierusalem to confirme the faithful, when it shulde come to passe, ỹ as their plague was come so shulde thei be deliuered.

z Feare & destruction shal come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shal all be led awaie captiues.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Isai. 2 His vertues and kingdome. 6 The frutes of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spiritual captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth ỹ our true deliuerance must come by Christ for as Dauid came out of Isai a man without dignitie: so Christ shulde come of a poore carpenters house as out of a deadstocke, Cha. 53, 2.

BVt there shal come a [a] rod for the of the stocke of Isai, & a grafe shal growe out of his rootes.
2 And the Spirit of the Lord shal rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdome & vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsel & strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,
3 And shal make him prudent in ỹ feare of the Lord: for he shal not iudge after the sight of his eyes, nether reproue by the hearing of his eares.
4 But with rig teousnes shal he iudge the poore, and with equitie shal he reproue for the meke of the earth: and he shal [b] smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, & with the breath of his lippes shal he slaye the wicked.
5 And iustice shalbe the girdle of his loynes, & faithfulnes the girdle of his raines.
6 The [c] wolfe also shal dwell with ỹ lambe, and the leoparde shal lye with ỹ kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shal lead them.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

1 FOr [a] the Lord wil haue compassion of Iaakób, and wil yet chuse Israel, and cause thē to rest in their owne land: and ý stranger [b] shal ioyne him self vnto them, and they shal cleaue to ý house of Iaakób.

2 And the people shal receiue them & bring them to their owne place, & the house of Israel shal possesse them in the land of the Lord, for [c] seruants & handmaids: & they shal take them prisoners, whose captiues thei were, & haue rule ouer their oppressors.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shal giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, where in thou dideſt serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, How hathe the oppressor ceased? and the golde thirstie Babel rested?

5 The Lord hathe broken the rodde of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers:

6 Which smote ý people in angre with a continual plague, & ruled the nations in wrath: if anie were persecuted, he did [d] not let.

7 The whole worlde is at [e] rest & is quiet: they sing for ioye.

8 Also ý fyrre trees reioyced of thee, & the cedres of Lebanō, saying, Since thou art laide downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneth is moued for thee to [f] mete thee at thy comming, raising vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hathe raised frō their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All thei shal crye, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is broght downe to the graue, & the sounde of thy violes: the worme [g] is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, ô [h] Lucifer, sonne of the morning? & cut downe to the grounde, which dideſt cast lottes vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saideſt in thine heart, I wil ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I wil sit also vpon the mount of the Congregacion in ý sides of the [i] North.

14 I wil ascend aboue ý height of the cloudes, & I wil be like the moste high.

15 But thou shalt be broght downe to ý graue, to the sides of the pit. Matth. 11. 23

16 Thei that se thee, shal [k] loke vpon thee & consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, & that did shake the kingdomes?

17 He made the worlde as a wilderne, and destroied the cities thereof, & opened not [l] the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nacions, euen they all slepe in glorie, euerie one in his owne house.

19 But thou art [m] cast out of thy graue like an abominable brāche: like ý raimēt of those that are slaine, & thrust thorowe with a sworde, which go downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder fete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in ý graue because ý hast destroied thine owne land, & slaine thy people: the sede of the wicked shal not be renoumed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the worlde with enemies:

22 ¶ For I wil rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and wil cut of from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephewe, saith the Lord:

23 And I wil make it a possession to the [o] hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I wil swepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hathe sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shal it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shal stand:

25 [o] That I wil breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines wil I treade him vnder fote: so that his yoke shal departe from [p] them, and his burden shal be taken from of their shulder.

26 This is the counsel that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nacions, 27 Because the Lord of hostes hathe determined it, & who shal disanul it? & his hand is stretched out, and who shal turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yere that King Ahaz dyed, was this [q] burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole [r] Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents roote shal come forth a cockatrise, & ý frute thereof shalbe a fyrie flyig serpēt.

3 In their stretes shal they be girded with sackecloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their stretes euerie one shal howle, and come downe with weping.

4 And Heshbon shal crye, & Elealeh: their voyce shalbe heard vnto Iahaz: therefore ſ warriers of Moab shal showte: the soule of euerie one shal lament in him ſelf.

5 Mine [f] heart shal crye for Moab: his fugitiues shal flee vnto Zoar, [g] an heiffer of thre yere olde: for they shal go vp with weping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they [h] shal raise vp a crye of destruction.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

1 SEnd [a] ye a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernes, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a birde that [b] fleeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shal be at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsel, execute iudgement: [c] make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewraye not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwel with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extorcioner [d] shal end: the destroyer shalbe consumed, & the oppressour shal cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shal the throne be prepared, [e] and he shal sit vpon it in stedfastnes, in ſ tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seking iudgement, and hasting iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab (he is verie proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignacion, but his [f] lies shal not be so.

7 Therefore shal Moab howle vnto Moab: euerie one shal howle: for the fundacions of Kid-hareseth shal ye mourne, yet thei shalbe [g] striken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbon are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmah: [h] the lords of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto [i] Iaazer: they wandred in the wildernes: her goodlie branches stretched out them ſelues, & went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil [k] I wepe with the weping of Iaazer, & of ſ vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I wil make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer frutes, and vpon thy harueſt [l] a showting is fallen, c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.

3 The municion also shal cease from d Ephraim, & the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shalbe as the e glorie of ỹ children of Israel, saith the Lord of hostes.

d It semeth that ỹ prophet wolde comfort the Church in declaring the destruction of these two Kings, of Syria & Israel, when as they had conspired ỹ ouerthrowe of Iudah.

4 And in that day the glorie of f Iaakob shalbe impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shal be made leane.

e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude, and alliance & other nacions: therefore he saith that they shal be brought downe & the Syrians also.

5 And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth g the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of h Rephaim.

n As the Lord threteneth ỹ wicked in his Law Leuit. 26, 16.

12 o Ah, the multitude of manie people, they shal make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shal make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shal make a sounde like ỹ noyse of manie waters: but God shal p rebuke them, and they shal flee farre of, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewinde.

14 And lo, in the euening there is q trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the porcion of them that spoile vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

o The prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague ỹ was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in nomber, and gathered of many nacions.

p He addeth this for the consolatiõ of the faithful, which were in Israel.

q He compareth the enemies the Assyrians to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church: 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

1 OH, the a land shadowing ẅ wings, which is beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia, a He meaneth that parte of Ethiopia, which lieth toward the sea, which was so ful of shippes that the scales (which he compareth to wigs) semed to shadow the sea.

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of b redes vpon the waters, saying, c Go, ye swift messengers, to a nacion that is scatred abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible d people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nacion by litle and litle, euen troden vnder fote, whose land the e floods haue spoiled.

b Which in those countreis were great: insomuche as they made shippes of them for swiftenes.

c This may be taken that they sent other to comforte the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength that the Iewes shulde not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, & promised them aide to go against Iudah.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the worlde and dwellers in the earth shal se when f he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shal heare.

d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nacions afraid of the like, as God threatened, Deut 28,

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I wil g rest & beholde in my tabernacle, as h ỹ heat drying vp the raine, & as a cloude of dewe in the heat of harueste.

5 For afore the harueste when the floure is finished, & the frute is riping in the floure, then he shal cut downe the branches with hookes, and shal take away, & cut of the boughs.

6 They shal be left together vnto ỹ foules of the mountaines, and to the i beastes of the earth: for the foule shal sommer vpon it, and euerie beast of the earth shal winter vpon it.

7 At that time shal a k present be broght vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scatred abroad, and spoiled, and g I wil stay a while from punishing the wicked.

h Which two seasons are moste profitable for the riping of frutes: whereby he meaneth, that he wil seme to fauour them, & giue them abundance for a time, but he wil suddenly cut them of.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

1 THe [a] burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord [b] rideth vpō a swift cloude, & shal come into Egypt, & the idoles of Egypt shal be moued at his presēce, & the hart of Egypt shal melt in the middes of her.

2 And I wil set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euerie one shal [c] fight against his brother, and euerie one against his neighbour, citie against citie, & kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the [d] spirit of Egypt shal faile in ỹ middes of her, and I wil destroye their counsel, and they shal seke at the idoles, & at the sorcerers, & at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at ỹ south-sayers.

4 And I wil deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruel lords, and a mightie King shal rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

5 Then the waters of the sea shal [e] faile, & the riuer shal be dryed vp, and wasted.

6 And the riuers [f] shal go farre away: the riuers of defense shalbe emptyed & dryed vp: the redes & flagges shalbe cut downe.

7 The grasse in ỹ riuer, and at the [g] head of the riuers, and all that groweth by ỹ riuers, shal wither, & be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shal [h] morne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shal lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flax of diuers sortes, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nettes.

10 For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make ponds, shalbe heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of [i] Zoan are fooles: the counsel of the wise counselers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I [k] am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of ỹ ancient Kings?

12 Where are now thy wise mē, that they may tel thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hathe determined against Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen ỹ [m] corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hathe mingled amōg them the spirit [n] of errours: and thei haue caused Egypt to erre in euerie worke thereof, as a dronken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Nether shal there be anie worke in Egypt, which the head maie [o] do, nor the taile, the branche nor the rush.

16 In that daie shal Egypt be like vnto women: for it shalbe afraide & feare because of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shalbe a feare [p] vnto Egypt: euerie one that maketh mencion of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of the counsel the Lord of hostes, which he hathe determined vpon it.

18 In that daie shal fiue cities in the land of Egypt [q] speake the language of Canaan, and shal [r] sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shalbe called ỹ citie of [s] destruction:

19 In that daie shal the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and [t] a piller by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shalbe for a signe and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for thei shal crye vnto ỹ Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shal send them [v] a Sauiour and a great man, and shal deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shalbe knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shal knowe the Lord in that daie, and do [x] sacrifice & oblacion, & shal vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shal smite Egypt, he shal smite & heale it: for he shal returne vnto the Lord, and he shalbe intreated of them and shal heale them.

23 In that daie shal there be a path from [y] Egypt to Asshur, & Asshur shal come into Egypt, & Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shal worship with Asshur.

24 In that daie shal Israel be the third [w] Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shal blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and a Read Chap. 13, 1.

b Because ỹ Egyptians trusted in the defense of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, & in the valiātnes of their mē, ỹ Lord sheweth that he wil come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloude, & that their idoles shal tremble at his comming, & that mens hearts shal faint.

c As he caused ỹ Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kil one another, whē thei came to destroye ỹ Church of God, 2. Chro. 20, 22. chap. 49. 26.

d Meaning, their policie, and wisdome.

e He sheweth ỹ the sea & Nilus their great riuer, whereby thei thoght thē selues most sure, shulde not be able to defend them from his angre, but that he wolde send ỹ Assyrians among them that shulde kepe them vnder as sclaues.

f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as thogh they were so manie riuers.

g The Ebrewe worde is mouth, whereby they meane ỹ spring, out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.

o Nether ỹ great nor the smale, ỹ strong nor the weake.

p Considering ỹ through their occcasion ỹ Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, & were therefore now punished, they shal feare lest ỹ like light vpon them.

q Shal make one confession of faith with the people of God: by ỹ speache of Canaan meanig, the lāgage, wherein God was then serued.

r Shal renounce their superstitions & protest to serue God a right.

s Meaning, of six cities fiue shulde serue God, & the sixt remaine in their wickednes: & so of the sixt parte there shulde be but one lost.

t There shalbe euident signes & tokens, ỹ Gods religion is there: which maner of speach is taken of ỹ patriarkes and anciēt times, when God had not as yet appointed a place, and ful maner how he wolde be worshiped.

v This declareth that this prophecie shulde be accomplished in the time of Christ.

x By these ceremonies he comprehendeth the spiritual seruice vnder Christ.

y By these two nacions, which were then chief enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles, & the Iewes shulde be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and shulde be all one folde vnder Christ their shepherd.

Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP XX.

The thre yeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the thre yeres going naked of Isaiah.

1 IN the yere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Asdod, (when [c] Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had foght against Asshod, and taken it.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, and lose the [d] sacke clothe from thy loynes, and put of thy shoe from thy fote. And he did so, walking naked and barefote.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hathe walked naked, & barefote thre yeres, as a signe & wondre vpon Egypt, & Ethiopia,

4 So shal the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both e yong mē & olde men, naked and barefote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shal feare, and be ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt [f] their glorie.

6 Then shal the inhabitant of this [g] yle saye in that day, Beholde, suche is our expectation, whether we fled for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and how shal we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXI.

Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

1 THe burden of [a] the desert sea. As ỹ whirlwindes in the South vse to passe from the wildernes, so shal it [b] come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous visiõ was shewed vnto me, The [c] transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Go vp [d] Elam, besiege Media. I haue caused all the mourning [e] thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my [f] loynes filled with sorow: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, & I was amased when I sawe it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearfulnes troubled me: the night [g] of my pleasures hathe he turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watche in the watche towre: eat, drinke: [h] arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.

6 For thus hathe the [i] Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tel what he seeth.

7 And he sawe a charet with two horsemen: [k] a charet of an asse, & a charet of a camel: and he hearkened & toke diligent hede.

8 And he cryed, A [l] lyon: my lord, I stād continually vpon the watch towre in ỹ day time, and I am set in my watch euerie night:

9 And beholde, this mans charet cometh with two horsemen. And [m] he answered and said, * Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hathe he broken vnto the grounde.

10 O [n] my threshing, and the [o] corne of my floore. That ẅ I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burden of [o] Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of [p] Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The [q] morning cometh, & also the night. If ye wil aske, enquire: returne & come.

13 ¶ The burden against Arabia: In [r] the forest of Arabia shal ye tary all night, euen in the waies of Dedanim.

14 O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forthe [s] water to mete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawen swordes, euen from the drawen sworde, and from the bent bowe, and from ỹ grieuousnes of warre.

16 For thus hathe ỹ Lord said vnto me, Yet a yere [t] according to the yeres of an [v] hyreling, & all the glorie of Kedar shal fayle.

17 And the residue of the nomber of the strong archers of the sonnes of [x] Kedar shalbe fewe: for the Lord God of Israel hathe spoken it.

a On the sea side betwene Iudea, & Chaldea was a wildernes, whereby he meaneth Chaldea.
b That is, ỹ ruine of Babylon by the Medes, and persians.
c The Assyrians and Chaldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shal be ouercome of ỹ Medes & persians, and this he prophecied an hundreth yere before it came to passe.
d By Elam, he meaneth ỹ persians.
e Because thei shal fynde no succour, they shal mourne no more, or, haue caused them to cease mourning, whome Babylon had afflicted.
f This the prophet speaketh in the persone of the Babylonians.

q He describeth the vnquietnes of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ran to and fro to enquire newes.
r For feare, the Arabians shal flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way thei shal take.
s Signifying that for feare they shal not tary to eat or drinke.
t He appointeth them respit for one yere onely and then they shulde be destroyed.
v Read Chap. 16, 14.
x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatening against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

1 THe burden of the [a] valley of vision. What [b] aileth thee now that thou a Meaning, Iudea, ẅ was compassed about ẅ mountaines, and was called ỹ valley of visiõs, because of ỹ Prophetes, ẅ were alwaies there, whome thei name'd Seers.

b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house toppes for feare of their enemies.

art wholy gone vp vnto the house toppes?

2 Thou that art ful of [c] noise, a citie ful of brute, a ioyous citie: thy slaine men shal not be slaine [d] with sworde, nor dye in battel.

3 All thy princes shal flee together from the bowe: thei shal be [e] bound: all that shalbe founde in thee, shalbe bounde together, which haue fled from [f] farre.

4 [f] Therefore said I, Turne away from me: I wil wepe [g] bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, & of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a [h] crying vnto ỹ mountaines.

6 ¶ And Elam [i] bare the quiuer in a mãs charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

7 And thy chief valleis were ful of charets, & the horsemen set them selues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the [k] couering of Iudah: & thou dideſt loke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And ye haue sene [l] the breaches of ỹ citie of Dauid: for thei were manie, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye nombred the houses [m] of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall, 11 And haue also made a ditch betwene the two walles, for the [n] waters of the olde poole, and haue not loked vnto the maker [o] thereof, nether had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weping & mourning, & to baldnes and girding with sackecloth.

13 And beholde, ioye and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing shepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, [p] eating and drinking: for to morowe we shal dye.

14 And it was declared in the eares of ỹ Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shal not be purged frõ you, til ye dye, saith the Lord God of hostes.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Go, get thee to that [q] treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, & say, 16 What hast thou to do here? and whome hast thou [r] here? that thou shuldeſt here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he ỹ heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitacion [s] for him self in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord wil carye thee awaye with a great captiuitie, and wil surely couer thee.

18 He wil surely rolle & turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou dye, and there the charets of thy glorie shalbe the [t] shame of thy lords house.

19 And I wil dryue thee from thy station, & out of thy dwelling wil he destroy thee.

20 And in that day wil I [v] call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments wil I clothe him, & with thy girdle wil I strengthen him: thy power also wil I commit into his hand, and he shalbe a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the [x] keye of the house of Dauid wil I laie vpon his shoulder: so he shal open & no man shal shut: and he shal shut, and no man shal open.

23 And I wil fasten him as a [y] naile in a sure place, and he shalbe for the throne of glorie to his fathers house.

24 And thei shal hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie [z] all smale vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euẽ to all the instruments of musike.

25 In that daie, saith the Lord of hostes, shal the [a] naile, that is fastened in the sure place, departe & shal be broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shalbe cut of: for the Lord hathe spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prophecie against Tyrus. 17 A promise that it shal be restored.

1 THe [a] burden of Tyrus. Howle, ye shippes of [b] Tarshish: for [c] it is destroied, so that there is none house: none shal come from the land of [d] Chittim: it is [e] reueiled vnto them.

2 Be stil, ye that dwell in the yles: ỹ marchants of Zidon, & such as passe ouer the sea, haue [f] replenished thee.

3 The [g] sede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, & the harueſt of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the [h] sea hathe spoken, euen the strength of ỹ sea, saying, I haue not trauailed, nor brought forthe children, nether nourished yong men p In stead of repentance ye were ioyful & made great chere, contemning the admonitions of the prophetes, saying, Let vs eat and drinke: for our propheres say, that we shal dye to morowe.

q Because ỹ Ebrew worde doeth also signifie one that doeth nourish & cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, ỹ this wicked man did nourish secret frendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians, to betrey the Church and to prouide for him self against all dangers: in the meane season he packe craftely & gat of ỹ best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the hieſt.

r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing.

s Where as he thoght to make his name immortal by his famous sepulchre, he dyed moste miserably amõg the Assirians.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient daies: her owne fete shal lead her a farre of to be a sojourner.

8 Who hathe decreed this against Tyrus (that [m] crowneth men) whose marchats are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde?

9 The Lord of hostes hathe decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the [n] daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon ỹ sea: he shoke the kingdomes: the Lord hathe giuen a commandement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroye ỹ power thereof.

12 And he said, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: [o] ô virgin [p] daughter of Zidon: rise vp, go ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Beholde the land of the Chaldeans: this was no people: [q] Asshur founded it by the inhabitats of the wildernes: thei set vp the towres thereof: they raised the palaces thereof & he [r] broght it to ruine.

14 Howle ye shippes of Tarshish, for your [s] strength is destroyed.

15 And in that daie shal Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeres (according to the yeres of one King) at the end of [t] seuentie yeres shal Tyrus [v] sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe, & go about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) [x] make swete melodie, sing mo songs ỹ thou maiest be remembred.

17 And at the end of seuentie yeres shal the Lord visite Tyrus, & she shal returne to her [y] wages, and shal commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the worlde.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shal be [z] holie vnto the Lord: it shal not be laied vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shal be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

k Because these two countreis were ioined in league together.

y Thogh she haue bene chastised of the Lord, yet she shal returne to her olde wicked practises, & for gaine shal giue her self to all mens lusts like an harlot.
z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, & turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaine vnto the true worshiping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophecie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued, shal praise the Lord.

1 BEholde, the Lord maketh the [a] earth emptie, & he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, & scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shalbe like people, like [b] priest, & like seruant, like master, like maide, like mastresse, like byer, like seller, like lender, like borower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hathe spoken this worde.

4 The earth lameteth and fadeth away: the worlde is febled & decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for thei transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hathe the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and fewe men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hathe no might: all that were of mery heart, do mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them ỹ drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken downe: euerie house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in ỹ stretes: all ioye is darkened: the [g] mirth of the worlde is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolacion, & the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shal it be in the middes of the earth, among the people, [h] as ỹ shaking of an oliue tre, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shal lift vp their voyce: thei shal shoute for the magnificence of ỹ Lord: they shal reioyce from [i] the sea.

15 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the a This propheeie is as a conclusion of that, which hatne bene threatened to the Iewes & other nacions frō the 13. Chap. & therefore by the earth he meaneth those Iāds, which were before named.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them, which were not of Aarons familie, & so signifieth also a mā of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8, 18. & 20, 25. 1. chro. 18, 17. & by these wordes the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shalbe neither religion, order nor policie, Hosea. 4, 9.
c That is, rendreth not her frute for the sinne of ỹ people, whome ỹ earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.
d Writen in the Law, as Leui 26, 14. deut. 28, 16.
thus ỹ Prophetes vsed to applie particularly the menaces, and promises ẅ are general in ỹ Law.
e With heat and drought, or els, that they were consumed ẅ the fyre of Gods wrath.
f Which as it was without order, so now shalde it be broght to desolacion & confusion: and this was not onely ment of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.
g Because pleasures shulde cease: He comforteth the faithful, declaring that in this great desolacion the Lord wil assemble his Church, which shal praise his name, as Chap. 10, 22.
h He comforteth the Lord wil as Chap. 10, 22.
i From the vtmost coastes of the worlde, where the Gospel shal be preached, as vers. 16.

valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost parte of ỹ earth we haue hearde praises, euen glorie to ỹ [k] Iuste, & I said, [l] My leanenes, my leanenes, wo is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, ỹ transgressors haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, ô inhabitant of the earth.

18 And he that fleeth from the noise of the feare, shal fall into the pit: & he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe take in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the fundacions of ỹ earth do shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued excedingly.

20 The earth shal rele to & fro like a dronken man, and shalbe remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shalbe heauie vpon it: so that it shal fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shal the Lord [n] visite the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the Kings of the worlde that are vpon the earth.

22 And thei shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and thei shalbe shut vp in the prison, & after manie daies shal thei be [o] visited.

23 [p] Then the moone shalbe abasshed, & the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shal reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glorie shalbe before his ancient men.

CHAP. XXV.

A thankesgiuing to God in that that he sheweth him self iudge of the worlde, by punishing the wicked & maintening the godlie.

O Lord, thou [a] art my God: I wil exalte thee, I wil praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of olde, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a [b] citie an heap, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of strangers of a citie, it shal neuer be buylt.

3 Therefore shal the [d] mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nacions shal feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the nedie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blast [e] of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noise of the strangers, [f] as the heat in a drye place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as [g] the heat in the shadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this [h] mountaine shal the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, & of fat things ful of marowe, of wines fined & purified.

7 And he wil destroye in this mountaine [i] the couering that coureth all people, & the vaile that is spred vpon all nacions.

8 He wil destroye death for euer: and ỹ Lord God wil [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hathe spoken it.

9 And in that day shal men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we wil reioyce & be ioyful in his saluacion.

10 For in this mountaine shal the hãd of the Lord rest, and [l] Moab shalbe thresshed vnder him, euen as strawe is thresshed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And he shal stretch out his hand in ỹ middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and ẅ the strength of his hands shal he bring downe their pride.

12 The defense also of the height of thy walles shal he bring downe & lay lowe, & cast them to the grounde, euen vnto the dust.

a Thus ỹ prophet giueth thãkes to God, because he wil bring vnder subiection these nacions by his corrections, & make them of his Church, ẅ before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, ẅ haue bene thine enemies.

c That is, a place where as all vagabondes may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a wolde not knowe thee, shal by thy corrections feare & glorifie thee.

d The arrogant and proude, ẅ before palace.

e The rage of ỹ wicked is furious, til God breake ỹ force thereof.

f Meaning, ỹ as the heat is abated by the raine, so shal God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloude shadoweth from ỹ heat of ỹ sunne, so shal God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godlie.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, ẅ shulde vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and ỹ Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costely banket, as Mat. 22, 2.

i Meaning that ignorance and blindnes, whereby we are kept backe frõ Christ.

k He wil take away all occasiõs of sorow & fil his with perfite ioye, Reuel. 7, 17. & 21, 4.

l By Moab are ment all the enemies of his Church.

m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chr. which semeth to 2549, and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48, 2 haue bene a plentiful place of corne. Chap. 10, 31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithful, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluacion of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shal [a] this song be sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: [b] saluacion shal God set for walles & bulwarkes.

2 [c] Open ye the gates that the righteous nacion, which kepeth the trueth, may entre in.

3 By an assured [d] purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, becawse thei trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euer more.

5 For he wil bring downe them that dwell on hie: [e] the hie citie he wil abase: euen vnto the grounde wil he cast it a This song was made to comfort the faithful, when their captiuitie shulde come, assuring thẽ also of their deliuerance, for ỹ ẅ they shulde sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shalbe sufficient for vs.

c He assureth the godlie to returne after the captiuitie of Ierusalem.

d Thou hast decreed so, & thy purpose can not be changed.

e There is no power so hie, that can let God, when he wil deliuer his.

k Meaning, to God, who wil publish his Gospel through all ỹ worlde.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of my Church, bothe by fore enemies & domestical. Some read, my secret, my secrets ỹ is, it was reuealed to the prophet, that the good shulde be preserued & ỹ wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath, and vengeance shulde be ouer & vnder them: so that thei should not escape no more then thei did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mightie, but God wil visite him ẅ his roddes.

o Not with his roddes, as vers. 21, but shalbe comforted.

p Whẽ God shal restore his Church, ỹ glorie thereof shal so shine and his ministers (ẅ are called his anciẽt men) ỹ the sunne and the moone shal be darke in comparison thereof.

downe and bring it vnto dust.

f God wil set ỹ poore afflicted ouer ỹ power of the wicked.

6 The fote shal treade it downe, euen ỹ fete of the[f] poore, & the steps of ỹ nedie.

7 The way of the iuste is righteousnes: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iust.

g We haue constantly abid in ỹ aduersities wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.

8 Also we, ô Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy[g] iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, & to ỹ remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me wil I seke thee in the morning: for seing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde shal learne [h] righteousnes.

h Meaning, ỹ by afflictions men shal learne to feare God.

i The wicked though God shewe them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer ỹ better.

10 Let mercy[i] be shewed to ỹ wicked, yet he wil not learne righteousnes, in ỹ land of vprightnes wil he do wickedly, and wil not beholde the maiestie of the Lord.

k Through enuie & indignatiõ against thy people.

l The fyre and vengeance, wherewith ỹ doest destroye thine enemies.

11 O Lord they wil not beholde thine hie hand: but thei shal se it, and be cõfounded with[k] the zeale of the people, & ỹ fyre of thine[l] enemies shal deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs ỹ wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wroght all our workes for vs.

m The Babylonians, wh haue not gouerned according to thy worde.

13 O Lord our God, other[m] lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we wil remember thee onely, & thy Name.

n Meaning, ỹ ỹ reprobat, euen in this life shal haue ỹ beginning of euerlasting death.

14 The[n] dead shal not liue, nether shal ỹ dead arise, because thou hast visited & scattered them, & destroyed all their memorie.

o To wit, ỹ compame of the faithful by the calling of the Gentiles.

15 Thou hast increased [o] the nacion, ô Lord: thou hast encreased the nacion: ỹ art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

p That is, the faithful by thy rodde were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

16 Lord, in trouble haue thei [p] visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

q To wit, in extreme sorowe.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth nere to the trauail, is in sorow, & cryeth in her peines, so haue we bene in thy[q] sight, ô Lord.

r Our sorowes had none end, nether did we enioye ỹ comfort, ỹ we loked for.

18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne in peine, as though we shulde haue broght forthe [r] winde: there was no helpe in the earth, nether did the inhabitants of the worlde fal.

s The wicked & men without religion were not destroyed.

t He cõforteth ỹ faithful in their afflictiõs, shewing them ỹ euen in death they shal haue life: & ỹ they shulde moste certeinly rise to glorie: the contrarie shulde come to the wicked, as vers. 14.

19 ¶[t] Thy dead men shal liue: euen with my bodie shal thei rise. Awake, & sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy[v] dewe is as the dewe of herbes, & the earth shal cast out the dead.

v As herbes, dead in winter, florish againe by the raine in ỹ spring time, so they that lie in the dust, shal rise vp to ioye when they fele the dewe of Gods grace.

x He exhorteth the faithful to be pacient in their afflictions, & to waite vpon Gods worke.

20 Come, my people: [x] entre thou into thy chambers, and shutte thy dores after thee: hide thy self for a very litle while, vntil the indignacion passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shal disclose her[y] blood, and shal no more hide her slayne.

y The earth shal vomit and cast out the innocent blood, wh it hath drũke, ỹ it may cryo for vengeance against ỹ wicked

CHAP XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 And of ỹ ioye of ỹ Church for their deliuerance.

1 IN that[a] day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie[b] sworde shal visite Liuiathan, that perceing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that croked serpent, & he shal slay the dragon that is in the sea.

a At ỹ time appointed.

b That is, by his mightie power and by his worde. He prophecieth here of the destruction of Satan & his kingdome vnder ỹ name of Liuiathan, Asshur & Egypte. Meaning, of ỹ best wine, wh this vineyarde, ỹ is ỹ Church, shulde bring forthe as moste agreable to the Lord.

2 In that day sing of the vineyarde [c] of red wine.

3 I the Lord do kepe it: I wil water it euery moment: lest anie assaile it, I wil kepe it night and day.

4 Angre[d] is not in me: who wolde set ỹ briers and the thornes against me in battel? I wolde go through them, I wolde burne them together.

5 Or wil he[e] fele my strength, that he may make peace with me, & be at one with me?

c He therefore he wil destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, & can not be angrie & it, but wisheth ỹ he may powre his angre vpon the wicked infideles, whome he meaneth by briers & thornes.

d Here after, Iaakob shal take rote: Israel shal florish and growe, and the worlde shal be filled with frute.

e He maruleth, ỹ Israel wil not come by gentlenes, except God make them to fele his roddes, & so bring thẽ vnto him.

6 [f] Here after, Iaakob shal take rote: Israel shal florish and growe, and the worlde shal be filled with frute.

7 Hath he smitten [g] him as he smote those that smote him? or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them ỹ were slayne by him?

f Thogh I afflict & diminish my people for a time, yet shal ỹ rote spring againe & bring forthe in great abundance.

g He sheweth ỹ God punished his in mercie, & his enemies in iustice.

8 In[h] measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

h That is, ỹ wilt not destroye the rote of thy Church, thogh ỹ branches thereof seme to perish by the sharpe wiude of affliction.

9 By this therefore shal the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the [i] frute, the taking away of his sinne: whe he shal make all the stones of the altars as chalke stones, broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor ful reconciliacion to God, til the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monumẽts thereof destroyed.

10 Yet the[k] defensed citie shalbe desolate, & the habitacion shalbe forsaken, & left like a wildernes. There shal the calfe fede, and there shal he lie, & consume the branches thereof.

k Notwithstanding his fauour ỹ he wil shewe them after, yet Ierusalem shalbe destroyed, and grasse for cattel shal growe in it.

11 When the boughs of it are dryed, they shalbe broken: the [l] women come, & set them on fyre: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shal not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shal haue no mercie on them.

l God shal not haue nede of mightie enemies: for the verie women shal do it, to their great shame.

12 And in that day shal the Lord thresh

m He shal destroy all frō Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.
n In ỹ time of Cyrus, by whome they shulde be deliuered: but this was chiefly accōplished vnder Christ.

from the chanel of the m Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered one by one, o children of Israel.
13 In that day also shal the great trumpe be n blowen, and they shal come, which perished in the land of Assur: & they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shal worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride & dronkennes of Israel. 9 The vntowardnes of them that shulde learne the worde of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Chap. XXVIII.
a Meaning, the proude kingdome of the Israelites, w were dronken with worldely prosperitie.
b Because ỹ Israelites for the most parte dwelt in plentiful valleis, he meaneth here by ỹ valley of them, ỹ had abundāce of worldelie prosperitie, & were, as it were, crowned therewith, as w garlands.
c He semeth to meane the Assyrians, by whome ỹ ten tribes were caryed away.
d Which is not of long continuāce, but is sone ripe, & first eaten.
e signifying, ỹ the faithful, w put not their trust in anie worldely prosperitie, but made God their glorie, shalbe preserued.
f He wil giue counsel to ỹ gouernour, & strēgth to ỹ captaine, to driue ỹ enemies in at their owne gates.
g Meaning, ỹ hypocrites, w were among them, & were all together corrupt in life & doctrine, w is here ment by dronkenn's & vomiting.
h For there was none that was able to vnderstād anie good doctrine: but were foolish, & as vnmete at yōg babes.
i They must haue one thing oft times told.

VVO to the a crowne of pride, the dronkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the b valley of them that be fat, & are ouercome with wine.
2 Beholde, the Lord hathe a mightie and c strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, & a whirlwinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the grounde mightely.
3 They shalbe troden vnder fote, euen ỹ crowne and the pride of the dronkards of Ephraim.
4 For his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the vallei of them that be fat, and as d ỹ hastie fruite afore sommer, which when he that loketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand he eateth it.
5 In that day shal the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the e residue of his people:
6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, & for f strēgth vnto them that turne away the battel to the gate.
7 But g thei haue erred because of wine, & are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest & the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp w wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: thei faile in vision: thei stomble in iudgement.
8 For all their tables are ful of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.
9 h Whome shal he teache knowledge? and whome shal he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weined from the milke and drawen from the breasts.
10 For i precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle.
11 For with a stammering k tongue & w a strange language shal he speake vnto this people.
12 Vnto whome l he said, m This is ỹ rest: n giue rest to him that is wearie: & this is the refreshing, but thei wolde not heare.
13 Therefore shal the worde of the o Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle, that they may go, and fall backe warde, and be broken and be snared and be taken.
14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scorneful men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.
15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a p couenant with death, & with hell are we at agrement: thogh a scourge runne ouer, & passe through, it shal not come at vs: for we haue made q falshode our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid,
16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil lay in Ziō a stone, a r tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure fundacion. He that beleueth, s shal not make haste.
17 Iudgement also wil I laye to the rule, & t righteousnes to the balance, and the u haile shal swepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shal ouerflowe x ỹ secret place.
18 And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, & your agrement with hel shal not stand: when a scourge shal returne ouer and passe through, then shal ye be trodde downe by it.
19 Whē it passeth ouer, it shal take you away: for it shal passe through euerie morning in the day, and in the night, and there shalbe onely y feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.
20 For the bed is z streict that it can not suffise, and the couering narowe ỹ one can not wrap him self.
21 For the Lord shal stand as in mount a Perazim: he shalbe wrath as in ỹ valley b of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.
22 Now therefore be no mockers, lest your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.
23 Hearken ye, & heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speache.
24 Doeth the plow mā plow all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, and breake the clottes of his grounde?
25 When he hathe made it c plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cum-k Let one teache what he can yet they shal no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strāge language.

l That is, ỹ prophet, whome God shulde send.
m This is ỹ doctrine, whereupon ye oght to stay & rest.
n Shewe to them that are wearie and haue nede of rest, what is the true rest.
o Because thei wil not receiue the worde of God, when it is offred, it cometh of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, ỹ they care not for it, as before Chap. 6.9.
p They thoght they had shiftes to auoid Gods iudgements, and that they colde escape thogh all other perished.
q Though ỹ prophetes condemned their idoles, & vaine trust, of falshode, & vanitie, yet ỹ wicked thoght in them selues that thei wolde trust in these things.
r That is, Christ, by whome all ỹ buylding must be tryed, and vpholden, psal. 118, 22. mat. 21, 42 act. 4, 11, rom. 9, 33. 1. pet. 2, 5.
s He shalbe quiet, and seke none other remedies, but be cōtēt w Christ.
t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement, and iustice shal reigne.
u Gods corrections and affliction.
x Affliction shal discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to them selues.
y Terrour & destructiō shal make you to learne that, w exhortations & gentlenes colde not bring you vnto.
z Your affliction shalbe so sore, ỹ you are not able to endure it.

for his labour, so hathe ỹ Lord for his vēgeace: for he punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sorte and some after another, so ỹ his chosen sede is beaten, & tryed, but not broke, as are ỹ wicked cummin, & cast in wheat by measure, & ỹ appointed barly & rye in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teache him.
27 For fitches shal not be threshed with a threshing instrument, nether shal a cart whele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.
28 Bread corne when it is threshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, nether doeth the whele of his cart stil make a noyse, nether wil he breake it with the teethe thereof.
29 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderful in counsel, & excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

1 AH[a] altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere: [b] let them kil lambes.
2 But I wil bring the altar into distres, and there shalbe heauines & sorow, and it shalbe vnto me like[c] an altar.
3 And I wil beseige thee as a circle, & fight against the on a mount, & wil cast vp ramparts against thee.
4 So shalt thou be hũbled, & shalt speake out of the [d] grounde, and thy speache shal be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shalbe out of the grounde like him that hathe a spirit of diuinatiõ, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.
5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy [e] strangers shal be like smale dust, & the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe ỹ passeth away, and it shalbe in a momẽt, euen suddenly.
6 Thou shalt be visited of ỹ Lord of hostes with thundre, and shaking, & a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fyre.
7 And the [f] multitude of all the nacions ỹ fight against ỹ altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night euen all they that make the warre against it, & strõg holds against it, and lay seige vnto it.
8 And it shalbe like as an hungrie man dreameth, and beholde, [g] he eateth: & when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and lo he is drinking, & when he awaketh, behold, he is faynte, and his soule lõgeth: so shal the multitude of all nacions be ỹ fight against mount Zion.
9 [h] Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, & make you blinde they are dronken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.
10 For the Lord hathe couered you [i] a spirit of slomber, & hathe shut vp your eyes: the Prophetes, and your chief Seers hathe he couered.
11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a boke that is sealed, which they deliuer to one that can read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. Then shal he say, I can [k] not: for it is sealed.
12 And the boke is giuen vnto him that can not read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And he shal say, I can not read.
13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people [l] come nere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue removed their heart far from me, and their [m] feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I wil againe do a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdome of their wisemen shal [n] perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.
15 Wo vnto them that [o] seke depe to hide their counsel from the Lord: for their workes are in darknes, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?
16 Your turning of diuises shal it not be estemed [p] as the potters clay? for shal ỹ worke say of him that made it, He made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that facioned it, He had none vnderstanding?
17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shalbe [q] turned into Carmel? & Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?
18 And in that day shal the deafe heare ỹ wordes of the boke, & ỹ eyes of ỹ blind shal se out of obscuritie, and out of darkenes.
19 The meke in the Lord shal receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shal reioyce in the holie one of Israel.
20 For the cruel man shal cease, and the scorneful shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut of:
21 Which made a mã to sinne in ỹ [r] worde, & toke him in a snare: & reproued them in the gate, and made the iuste to fall without cause.
22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen he that redemed Abraham, Iaakob shal not now be confounded, nether now shal his face be pale.
23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they shal sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakob, & shal feare the God of Israel.
24 Then they that erred in spirit, [s] shal haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shal learne doctrine.

a The Ebrewe worde Ariel signifieth the lyõ of God, & signifieth ỹ altar, because the altar semed to deuoure the sacrifice ỹ was offred to God, as Ezek. 43,16.
b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shal not last long.
c Your citie shal be ful of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.
d Thy speache shalbe no more so loftie, but abased, & low as the very charmers, ware in lowe places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarse be heard.
e Thine hired souldiers, in whome ỹ trustest, shalbe destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlewinde.
f The enemies ỹ I wil bring to destroye thee, & that ỹ thou makest thy vaine ernst, shal come at vnwares, euẽ as a dreame in ỹ night. Some read, as if this were a comfort to the Church for ỹ destruction of their enemies.
g That is, he thinketh that he eateth.
h Muse hereon as long as ye list yet shal ye finde nothing, but occasion to beasoned: for your prophetes are blinde, and therefore can not sight you.
i Meaning, that it is all a like, either to read, or not to read, except God open ỹ heart to vnderstand.
k Because their are hypocrites & not syncere in heart, as Mat. 15, 8.
l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, & not by my worde.
m Meaning, that where as God is not worshiped according to his worde, bothe magistrates, and ministers are but fooles, & without vnderstanding.
n This is spoke of them, which in heart despised Gods worde & mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.
o For all your craft, saith the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine hands no more then the claye, ỹ is in the potters hands, hathe power to deliuer it self.
p Shal there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of ỹ it shalbe then, may be taken, as a forest, as Cha. 32,15. & thus he speaketh to cõfort ỹ faithful.
q They ỹ went about to finde faute w ỹ prophetes wordes, and wolde not abide admonitions, but wolde intangle them and bring them into danger.
r Signifying, ỹ except God giue vnderstanding, & knowledge, man can not but stil erre, and murmure against him.
s That is, he shal learne to feare God.

mured, shal learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, and sought helpe of the Egyptians. 10 Despising the Prophetes. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shal come vpon them. 18 But offreth mercie to the repentante.

1 WO to the [a] rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forthe to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in ỹ shadowe of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shalbe your shame, and the trust in the shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shalbe all ashamed of the people that can not profite them, nor helpe nor do them good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The [d] burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shal come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fyrie flying serpent against thē that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that can not profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, & thei shal helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] is to sit stil.

8 Now go, & write [g] it before them in a table, and note it in a boke that it may be for the [h] last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lyīg children, & children that wolde not [i] heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, Se not: & to the Prophetes, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie [k] errours.

11 Departe out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holie one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holie one of Israel, Because you haue cast of this worde, and trust in [l] violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breache that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde [m] a sheard to take fyre out of the herth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the [n] Lord God, the holie one of Israel, In rest and quietnes shal ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye wolde not.

16 For ye haue said, No but we wil flee away vpō [o] horses. Therfore shal ye flee. We wil ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shal your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shal flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shal ye flee, til ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the [p] top of a mountaine, & as a beakē vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore wil the Lord waite, ỹ he may haue [q] mercy vpon you, & therefore wil he be exalted, ỹ he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is ỹ God of [r] iudgement. Blessed are all thei that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shal dwell in Zion, & in Ierusalem: thou shalt wepe no more: he wil certeinly haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy crye: when he heareth thee, he wil answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hathe giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and ỹ water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shal se thy [s] raine.

21 And thine eares shal heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, [t] walke ye in it, whē thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to ỹ left.

22 And ye shal [u] pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, & cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, [v] Get thee hence.

23 Then shal he giue raine vnto thy sede, when thou shalt sowe the grounde, & bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in ỹ day shal thy cattel be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that til the grounde, shal eat cleane prouendre, which is winowed with the shouel and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euerie hie [x] mountaine, and vpon euerie hie hil shal there be riuers & streames of waters, in ỹ day of the great slaughter when the towers shal fall.

a Who contrarie to their promes take not me for their protectour & contrarie to my commandement, seke help at strangers.

b They seke shiftes to cloke their doings, & not godlie meanes.

c The chief of Israel went into Egypt in ambassie to seke helpe, and abode at these cities.

d That is, a heauy sentence or prophecie against ỹ beasts ỹ caried their treasures into Egypt, by ỹ wildernes, w was South from Iudah: signifiig ỹ if ỹ bestes shulde not be spared ỹ men shulde be punished muche more grieuously e To wit, to Ierusalem.

f And not to come to & fro to seke helpe.

g That is, this prophecie.

h That it may be a witnes, against them for all posteritie.

i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because thei wolde not heare the worde of God, but delited to be slat tered and led in errour.

k Threaten vs not by ỹ worde of God, nether be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in ỹ name of ỹ Lord, Ier. 11.21. l Meaning, in their stubbernes against God, and the admonitions of his Prophetes.

m Signifiing, ỹ ỹ destruction of ỹ wicked shalbe without recouerie.

n Oft times by his Prophetes he put you in remembrance of this, ỹ you shulde onely depēd on him, o We wil trust to escape by our horses.

p Where as all the trees are cut downe saue two or thre to make masses.

q He commendeth ỹ great mercies of God who w pacience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.

r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderatiō in the same, as Ier. 10.24, & 30, 11.

s Or, instruction.

t God shal direct all thy wayes, & appoint thee how to go either hether or thether.

u Ye shal cast away your idoles, w you haue made of golde, & siluer w all ỹ belongeth vnto them, as a moste filthy thing and polluted.

v She wing that there can be no true repentance except both in heart and dede we shewe our selues enemies to idolatrie.

x By these diuerse maners of speache he sheweth ỹ the felicitie of the Church shalbe so great, ỹ none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

26 Moreouer

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone ſhalbe as the light of the y ſunne, and the light of the ſunne ſhal be ſeuen folde, and like of the light ſeuen dayes in the day that the Lord ſhal binde vp the breache of his people, and heale ſ ſtroke of their wounde.

27 Beholde, a the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are ful of indignacion, and his tongue is as a deuouring fyre.

28 And his Spirit is as a riuer ſ ouerfloweth vp to ſ necke: it diuideth a ſodre, to fanne the nacions with the fanne of a vanitie, and there ſhalbe a bridle to cauſe them to erre in the chawes of ſ people.

29 But there ſhalbe a ſong vnto you as in b ſ night, when a ſolemne feaſt is kept: & gladnes of heart, as he ſ cometh w a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Iſrael.

30 And the Lord ſhal cauſe his glorious voyce to be heard, & ſhal declare the lighting downe of his arme with ſ angre of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fyre, with ſcattering and tempeſt, and haile ſtones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord ſhal Aſſhur be deſtroyed, which ſmote with the c rodde.

32 And in euerie place that the ſtaffe ſhal paſſe, it ſhal d cleaue faſt, which the Lord ſhal lay vpon him with e tabrets and harpes: and with battels, & lifting vp of hands ſhal he fight f againſt it.

33 For g Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the h King: he hathe made it i depe and large: the burning thereof is fyre and muche wood: ſ breth of the Lord, like a riuer of brimſtone, doeth kindle it.

y When the Church ſhalbe reſtored, ſ glorie thereof ſhal paſſe ſeuen times ſ brightnes of the ſunne: for by the ſunne & moone, w are two excellent creatures, he ſheweth what ſhalbe the glorie of the children of God in the kingdome of Chriſt.

z This threatning is againſt ſ Aſſyrians, the chief enemies of ſ people of God.

a To driue thee to nothing: and thus God conſumeth the wicked by ſ meanes, whereby he cleanſeth his.

CHAP. XXXI.

He curſeth them that forſake God, and ſeke for the helpe of men.

1 WO vnto them that a go downe into Egypt for helpe, and ſtay vpon horſes and truſt in charettes, becauſe they are manie: & in horſemē, becauſe they be very ſtrong: but thei loke not vnto the holie one of Iſrael, nor ſeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is b wiſeſt: therefore he wil bring euil, and not turne backe his worde, but he wil ariſe againſt the houſe of the wicked, and againſt the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, & not God, & their horſes fleſh and not ſpirit: and when the Lord ſhal ſtretche out his hand, the d helper ſhal fall, and he that is holpen ſhall fall, and they ſhal altogether faile.

4 For thus hathe the Lord ſpoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpon his praie, againſt whome if a multitude of ſhepherds be called, he wil not be afraide at their voyce, nether wil humble him ſelf at their noiſe: ſo ſhal the Lord of hoſtes come f downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hil thereof.

5 As birdes that flie, ſo ſhal the Lord of hoſtes defend Ieruſalem by defending & deliuering, by paſsing through & preſeruing it.

6 O ye children of Iſrael, turne againe, in aſmuche as ye are f ſunken depe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euerie man ſhal g caſt out his idoles of ſiluer, & his idoles of golde, w your hands haue made you, euen a ſinne.

8 Then ſhal Aſſhur fall by h the ſworde, not of man, nether ſhal the ſworde of man deuoure him, and he ſhal flie from the ſworde, and his yong men ſhal faint.

9 And he ſhal go for feare to his i towre, and his princes ſhal be afraide of the ſtandart, ſaith the Lord, whoſe k fyre is in Zion, and his fornace in Ieruſalem.

a Meaning, be. the ſ Egyptians & ſ Iſraelites.

b He ſheweth ſ Iewes, ſ if thei wolde put their truſt in him, he is ſo able, that none can reſiſt his power: and ſo careful ouer them as a bird ouer her yong, w euer flieth about them for their defence: w ſimilitude the Scripture vſeth in diuerſe places, as Deut. 32. 11. matt. 23, 37.

f He toucheth their cōſcience ſ thei might earneſtly fele their grieuous ſinnes and ſo truely repēt, for aſmuche as now thei are almoſt drownde and paſt recouerie.

g By theſe frutes your repentance ſhalbe knowen, as Chap. 2, 18.

CHAP XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers & officers deſcribed by the gouernement of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Chriſt.

1 BEholde, a a King ſhal reigne in iuſtice, and the princes ſhal rule b in iudgement.

2 And that man ſhalbe as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempeſt: as riuers of waters in a drye place, & as the ſhadowe of a great rocke in c a wearie land.

3 The eyes of d the ſeing ſhal not be ſhut, and the eares of them that heare, ſhal hearken.

4 And the heart of the fooliſh ſhal vnderſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtutters ſhalbe ready to ſpeake diſtinctly.

5 A e nigarde ſhal no more be called liberal, nor the churle riche.

6 But the nigarde wil ſpeake of nigardnes, and his heart wil worke iniquity, & vſe hypocriſie, & ſpeake falſe things againſt the Lord, to make emptie the ſoule of the hungrie, & cauſe the drinke of the thirſtie to faile.

a This prophecie is of Hezekiah who was a figure of Chriſt & therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iuſtice is meant an vpright gouernement, both in policie and religion.

c Where men are wearie w trauēling, for lacke of water.

d He promiſeth to giue the true light, w is the pure doctrine of Gods worde, & vnderſtanding, & zele of the ſame, contrarie to the threatenings againſt ſ wicked, Chap. 6, 9, & 29, 10.

e Vice ſhal no more be called vertue nor vertue eſtemed by power, and riches.

c And knoweth their craftie entrepriſes & wil bring all to naught tie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he diuiseth wicked counsels, to vndo the poore with lying wordes: and to speake against the poore in iudge-ment.
8 But the liberal man wil diuise of liberal things, and he wil continue his liberalitie.
9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease:
heare my voyce, ye [f] careles daughters:
hearken to my wordes.
10 Ye women, that are careles, shalbe in feare [g] aboue a yere in dayes: [h] for the vintage shal faile, & the gathering shal come no more.
11 Ye women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, ô ye careles women: put of the clothes: make bare, and girde sacke clothe vpon the loynes.
12 Men shal lament for the [i] teates, euen for the pleasant fields, & for the frute-full vine.
13 Vpon the land of my people shal gro-we thornes & briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the citie of reioycing, 14 Because the palace shalbe forsaken,
and the [l] noyse of the citie shalbe left:
the towre & fortereſſe shal be dennes for euer, & the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, 15 Vntil the [k] Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruteful field, & the [l] plenteous field be counted as a foreſt.
16 And iudgement shal dwell in the desert, & iustice shal remaine in the frute-full field.
17 And the worke of iustice shalbe peace, euen the worke of iustice & quietnes, and assurance for euer.
18 And my people shal dwell in the tabernacle of peace and in sure dwellings, & in safe resting places.
19 When it haileth, it shal fall on the forest, and the [m] citie shalbe set in the lowe place.
20 Blessed are ye [n] that sowe vpon all waters, and [o] driue thether the fete of ŷ oxe and the asse.

f He propheci-eth of suche calamitie to come, that thei wil not spare ŷ women & children, and therefore willeth them to take hede and prouide.
g Meaning, that the affliction shulde continue long, and when one yere were past, yet they shulde loke for newe plagues.
h God wil take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him:
to wit, abundance of worldly goods.
i By the teates
he meaneth the plentiful fieldes, whereby mé are nourished, as children with the teate: or the mothers for so-row, & leanenes shal lacke mil-ke.
l Or, multitude.
k That is, when the Church shal be restored: thus the Prophetes
after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godlie, lest they shulde
faint.
l The field ŵ is now fruteful, shalbe but as a baren foreſt in comparison of that it shalbe then, as Chap. 29, 17. which shalbe fulfilled in Christs time: for then they that were before as the baren wildernes, being regenerat, shalbe fruteful, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shal bring forthe frutes in such abundance, that their former life shal seme but as a wildernes, where no frutes were. m They shal not nede to buylde it in hie places for feare of the enemie: for God wil defend it and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground & wel watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vſe.
o The fields shal be so rancke, that they shal send out their cattel to eat vp the first croppe, which abundance shalbe signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whome God hathe punished his Church.

1 WO to thee that [a] spoileſt, and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, and thei did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt [b] cease to spoile, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, [c] they shal do wickedly against thee.
2 [d] O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast [e] their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.
3 At the noise of the tumult, the [f] people fled: at thine [g] exalting the nations were scatered.
4 And your spoile shal be gathered like the gathering of [h] caterpillers: and [i] he shal go against him like the leaping of grashoppers.
5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on hie: he hathe filled Zion with iudge-ment and iustice.
6 And there shalbe stabilitie of [k] thy times, strength, saluacion, wisdome & knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure.
7 Beholde, [l] their messengers shal crye without, and the [m] ambassadours of peace shal wepe bitterly.
8 The [n] paths are waste: the waifaring man ceaseth: he hathe broken the couenant: he hathe contemned the cities: he regarded no man.
9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen do wne:
[o] Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.
10 Now wil I [p] arise, saith the Lord: now wil I be exalted, now wil I lift vp my self.
11 ¶ Ye shal conceiue chaffe, & bring for-the stubble: the fyre of your breth shal deuoure you.
12 And the people shalbe as the burning of lime: & as the thornes cut vp, shal they be burnt in the fyre.
13 Heare, ye that are [r] farre of, what I haue done, & ye that are nere, knowe my power.
14 The [s] sinners in Zion are afraied: a feare is come vpon the h pocrites: who Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

1 NOw [a] in the [b] fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strōg cities of Iudah, and toke them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stode by the conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forthe vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the [c] steward of the house, and Shebna [d] the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And [e] Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tel you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trusteſt?

5 I saie, [f] Surely I haue eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the warre: on whome then doest thou trust, ỹ thou rebellest against me?

6 Lo thou trusteſt in this broken staffe of rede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it wil go into his hand, and perce it: so is [g] Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me. We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah toke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shal worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Asshur, & I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy parte to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou [m] despise anie captaine of the [h] leest of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, [i] Go vp against this land & destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna & Ioah vnto Rabshaketh, [k] Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hathe my master sent me to thy master, & to thee to speake these wordes, and not to ỹ mē that sit on the wall? that thei may eat their owne doung, & drinke their owne [n] pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stode, & cryed with a loude voyce in ỹ Iewes lāguage, & said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the King. Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

15 Nether let Hezekiah make you to trust

a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a scale & confirmation of the doctrine afore, bothe for ỹ threatnings & promises: to wit, ỹ God wold suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length wolde send deliuerace. b Whe he had abolished superstitiō, & idolatri, & restored religiō, yet God wolde exercise his Church to trye their faith & patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophecied. Chap. 22, 20 d This declareth ỹ there were se we godlie to be founde in the Kings house, when he was driuen to send this wicked mā in suche a weighrie matter.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make [l] appointmēt with me, and come out to me, that euerie man may eat of his owne vine, and euerie man of his owne figtre, and drinke euerie man the water of his owne well,

17 Til I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, 18 Lest Hezekiah disceiue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hathe anie of the gods of the nacions deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of [m] Hamath, and of Arpad? Where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hathe deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord shulde deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they [n] kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Thē came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah [w] rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshaketh.

Hezekiah asketh counsel of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs praier. 36 The armie of Saneherib is slayne of the Angel. 38 And he himself of his owne sonnes.

AND* when the King Hezekiah heard it, he [a] rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth & came into ỹ House of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim the steward of ỹ house, and Shebna the chanceller, with the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackeclothe vnto [b] Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulacion & of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the [c] birth, & there is no strength to bring forthe.

4 If so be ỹ Lord thy God hathe [d] heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whome the King of Asshur his master hathe sent to raile on the liuing God, & to reprocho him with wordes which the Lord thy God hathe heard, then [e] lift thou vp thy praier for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraied of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, & he shal heare a [f] noise, and returne to his owne land, and I wil cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne land.

8 ¶So Rabshakeh returned, and founde ỹ King of Asshur fighting against [g] Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God [h] deceiue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shal not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, & shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nacions deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as [i] Gozan, and [k] Haran, & Rezeph, and the children of Eden, ẅ were at Telassar?

14 ¶So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and red it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spred it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah praied vnto ỹ Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which [l] dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen & the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, ô Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, ô Lord, and se, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hathe sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

22 This is the worde that the Lord hathe spokē against him, O [o] virgine, daughter of Zion, he hathe despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: ô daughter of Ierusalem, he hathe shaken his head at thee.

23 Whome hast thou railed on & blasphemed? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, & lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the [p] holy one of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanō, and wil cut downe the hie cedres thereof, and the faire fyrre trees thereof, and I wil go vp to the heights of his toppe & to the forest of his fruteful places.

25 I haue digged [q] & dronke the waters, & with the plat of my fete haue I dryed all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, [r] and haue formed it long agoe? & shulde I now bring it, that it shulde be destroyed, and layed on ruinous heapes, as cities defensed?

27 Whose inhabitants [s] haue smale power, & are afraied & confounded: thei are like the grasse of the field and grene herbe, or grasse on the house toppes, or corne blasted [t] afore it be growen.

28 But I knowe thy dwelling, & thy [t] going out, and thy comming in, & thy furie against me.

29 Because thou rageste against me, and thy tumultes come vp vnto mine eares, therefore wil I put mine [v] hoke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lippes, & wil bring thee backe againe the same way thou [x] camest.

30 And this shalbe a [y] signe vnto thee, o Hezekiah, Thou shalt eat this yere suche as groweth of it self: and the [z] secōd yere, suche things as grow without sowing: and in the third yere, sow ye and reape, & plant vineyardes, & eat the frute thereof.

31 And [a] the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shal againe take roote downeward and beare frute vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shal go a remnant, & thei that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shal do this.

33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the King of Asshur, He shal not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shal returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 For I wil defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, & for my seruant [b] Dauids sake.

36 ¶* Then the Angel of the Lord wēt out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth, foure score, and siue thousande: so when they arose early in ý morning, beholde, thei were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib King of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at [c] Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the temple worshiping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech & Sharezer his sonnes slewe him with ý sworde, and they escaped into the land of [d] Ararat: and [d] Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

13 I rekened [l] to the morning: but he brake all my bones like a lyon frõ daie to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane [m] or a swalow, so did I chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eies were lift vpon hie: ô Lord, [n] it hathe oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shal I saie? [o] for he hathe said it to me, and he hathe done it: I shal walke [p] weakely all my yeres in ỹ bitternes of my soule.

16 O Lord, [q] to them that ouerliue them, & to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shalbe knowen, that thou causedst me to [r] slepe and hast giuen life to me.

17 Beholde, for [s] felicitie I had bitter grief, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my [t] sinnes behinde thy backe.

18 For [v] the graue can not confesse thee: death can not praise thee: thei that go downe into the pit, can not hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shal confesse thee, as I do this day, the father to the [x] children shal declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we wil sing my song all the dayes of [y] our life in the House of the Lord.

21 Then said Isaiah, Take a lumpe of drye figges and [z] laie it vpon the boile, and he shal recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah [a] had said, What is ỹ signe, that I shal go vp into the House of the Lord?

e He doeth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest & quietnes from the Assyrians, who might haue reuenged their irarmieo reuenge their former discomfiture d For Hezekiah had asked for ỹ confirmacion of his faith a signe, as vers. 22. and 2. King. 20, 8. whereunto he was moued by ỹ singular mocion of Gods Spirit.

e Read 2. King 20, 10, f He left this song of his lamẽtacion & thankesgiuing to all posteritie, as a monument of his owne infirmitie & thankeful heart for Gods benefites, as Dauid did, psal 51.

g At what time it was tolde me, ỹ I shulde dye.

h I shal no more praise the Lord here in his Temple among the faithful: thus God suffreth his deareste children to want his consolacion for a time, ỹ his grace afterward may the more appeare when their sele their owne weakenes.

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.

k That is, in one day, or shortly.

l Ouer night I thoght ỹ I shulde liue til morning, but my pangs in ỹ night perswaded me ỹ contrarie: he sheweth the horrour, that the faithful haue when they apprehend Gods iudgement against their sinne.

m I was so oppreset with sorowe, that I was not able to vtter my wordes, but onely to grone & sigh.

n To wit, sorow, and grief bothe of bodie and minde.

o God hathe declared by his Prophet that I shal dye, and therefore I wil yelde vnto him.

p I shal haue no release, but continual sorowes whiles I liue.

q They that shal ouerliue the men that are now aliue, and all they that are in these yeres shal acknowledge this benefite.

r That after that thou hadest condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life.

s Where as I thoght to haue liued in rest and ease, being deliuered from mine enemie, I had grief vpon grief.

t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, & Gods fauour the a thousand liues

v For a smuche as God hathe placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godlie take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, either be cause that they semed vnworthie for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, seing that there is so fewe in earth, that do regarde it, as psal. 6, 5. & 115, 17.

x All posteritie shal acknowledge, and according to their dewey toward their childrẽ shal instruct them in thy graces, & mercies toward me.

y He sheweth what is ỹ vse of the Congregacion & Church: to wit, to giue ỹ Lord thankes foe his benefites.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued, because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

AT* the same time, [a] Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent [b] letters, & a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was [c] glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, & the precious ointement, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come frõ a farre countrey vn to me, from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue [d] they sene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they sene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes,

6 Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntil this day, shalbe [e] caryed to Babel: nothing shalbe left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shal procede out of thee, & which thou shalt beget, shal they take away, & they shalbe [f] eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.

8 [g] Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

In festo Dedi. Iohis Baptistæ.

1 a This is a consolacion for the Church, assuring them that they shalbe neuer destitute of Prophetes, whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that they were, & those also that shulde come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, & to assure them of their deliuerance bothe of body and soule.

2 b The time of her affliction. c Meaning, sufficient as chap. 61, 7. & full correction, or double grace, where as she deserued double punishment.

13 Who hathe instructed the Spirit of ỹ Lord? or warī his counselour or taught him?

14 Of whome toke he counsel, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgemēt? or taught him knowledge, & shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Beholde, the nations are as a droppe of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: beholde, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fyre, nor the beastes thereof sufficient for a burnt offring.

17 All nations before him are as t nothing, and they are coūted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whome then v wil ye liken God? or what similitude wil ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldesmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldesmith maketh siluer plates.

20 Doeth not x the poore chuse out a tre that wil not rotte, for an oblatiō? he seketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shal not be moued.

21 Knowe ye nothing? haue ye not heard it? hathe it not bene tolde you from ỹ beginning? haue ye not vnderstand it by the z fundacion of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of ỹ earth, & the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, he stretcheth out the heaues, as a curtaine, & spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke toke no roote in the earth: for he did euen a blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirle winde wil take them away as stubble.

25 To whome now wil ye liken me, that I shulde be like him, saith the holie one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and beholde, who hathe created these things, and bringeth b out their armies by nomber, and calleth them all by names? by the greatnes of his power & mightie strēgth nothing faileth.

27 Why saiest thou, ô Iaakob, and speakest ô Israel, c My waye is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God.

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hathe created the d ends of the earth? he nether fainteth, nor is weary: there is no searching of his e vnderstanding.

f He sheweth Gods infinite wisdome for the same end & purpose.

t He speaketh all this to the intent that they shulde nether feare man nor put their trust in anie, saue onely in God.

29 But he giueth strēgth vnto him that fainteth, & vnto him that hathe no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 [f] Euen the yong men shal faint, & be wearie, and the yong men shal stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord, shal renue their strength: they shal lift vp the wings as the egles: they shal runne, & not be wearie, & they shal walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

Gods mercie in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEpe [a] silence before me, ô ylands, and let the people [b] renue their strēgth: let them come nere, & let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from the East, & called him to his fote? and gaue the nacions before him, and subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sworde, and as scatred stubble vnto his bowe.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his fete.

4 Who hathe wroght & done it? he that calleth the [d] generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the [e] first, and [g] the last I am the same.

5 The yles sawe it, & did [f] feare, & the ends of the earth were abashed, drewe nere, and [g] came.

6 Euerie man helped his neighbour and said to his brother, [h] Be strong.

7 So the workeman comforted [i] founder & he that smote [g] the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, & he fastened it with nailes that it shulde not be moued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my [l] seruant, and thou Iaakob, whome I haue chosen, the sede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called the before the chief thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I wil [k] strēgthen thee, and helpe thee, and wil [k] susteine thee with the [k] right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, & they that striue [g] thee, shal perish.

12 Thou shalt seke them & shalt not [l] finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shalbe as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of naught.

13 For I the Lord thy God wil holde thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I wil helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme, Iaakob, & ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, saith the Lord & thy redemer the holie one of Israel.

15 Beholde, I wil make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teethe: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, & bring them to poudre, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, & the winde shal carye them away, & the whirlwinde shal scater them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, & shalt glorie in the holy one of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the nedie seke water, and there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord wil heare them: I the God of Israel wil not forsake them)

18 I wil open riuers in the toppes of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I wil make the wildernes as a poole of water, & the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I wil set in the wildernes the cedre, the shittah tre, & the myrre tre and the pine tre, & I wil set in the wildernes the fyrre tre, the elme & the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them se and knowe, & let them consider and vnderstand together that the hand of the Lord hathe done this, and [q] holie one of Israel [q] hathe created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forthe your strong reasons, saith [q] King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them forthe, & let the tel vs what shal come: let them shewe [q] former things what they be, that we may consider them, and knowe the later end of them: ether declare vs things for to come.

23 Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, do good or do euil, that we may declare it, and beholde it together.

24 Beholde, ye are of no value and your making is of naught: man hathe [f] chosen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp [t] from the North, and he shal come: from the East sunne shal [v] he call vpon my Name, and shal come vpon [x] princes as vpon clave, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the fote.

p God wil rather change the order of nature, thē they shulde want anie thing that cry to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby [y] they shal lacke nothing by the way, whē they returne from Babylō.
q That is, hathe appointed, & determined that it shal come so to passe.
r He biddeth the idolaters to proue their religiō, and to bring forthe their idoles, [y] they may be tryed whether thei knowe all things, and can do all things: [w] if they can not do, he cōcludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

26 Who hathe declared from the beginning, that we may knowe? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your wordes.

27 I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, beholde [z] them: and I wil giue to Ierusalem [a] one that shal bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none, & when I enquired of them, there was no counselour, & when I demanded of them, thei answered not a worde.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde & confusion.

CHAP. XLII.

The obedience & humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the worlde. 11 The vocatiō of the Gentiles.

BEholde, [a] my seruant: [b] I wil stay vpon him: mine elect, in whome my soule [c] deliteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shal bring forthe [d] iudgemēt to the Gentiles.

2 He shal not [e] crye, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the strete.

3 A [f] bruised rede shal he not breake, and [g] smoking flax shal he not quenche: he shal bring forthe iudgement in [h] trueth.

4 He shal not faile nor be discouraged til he haue [i] set iudgement in the earth: and the [k] yles shal wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spred them abrode: he that stretched forthe the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breth vnto the people vpon it, & spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in [l] righteousnes, & wil holde [m] thine hand, and I wil kepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, & for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou maiest open the eies of the blinde, & bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenes, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my [o] glorie wil I not giue to another, nether my praise to grauen images.

9 Beholde, the former things are [p] come to passe, and newe things do I declare: before they come forthe, I tel you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, and his praise from the end of the earth: ye that go downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wildernes and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the townes that [q] Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, & declare his praise in the ylandes.

13 The Lord shal go forthe as a [r] gyant: he shal stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shal shoute and crye, & shal preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene stil & refrained my self: now wil I crye like a [s] trauailing woman: I wil destroye and deuoure at once.

15 I wil make waste mountaines, & hilles, & drye vp all their herbes, and I wil make the floods ylandes, and I wil drye vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I wil bring the [t] blinde by a way, that they knew not, & leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I wil make darkenes light before them, & croked things streight. These things wil I do vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shalbe turned backe: they shalbe greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde, that ye may se.

19 Who is blinde but my [v] seruant? or deafe as my [x] messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the [y] perfite, & blinde as the Lords seruant?

20 Seing manie things, but thou kepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake that he may magnifie the Law, & exalt it.

22 But this people is [z] robbed & spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dongeons, & they shalbe hid in prison houses: thei shalbe for a pray, & none shal deliuer: a spoile, & none shal say, [a] Restore.

23 Who among you shal hearke to [o] this, & take hede, and heare for [b] afterwardes?

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoile, & Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they wolde not walke in his wayes, nether be obedient vnto his Law.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

1 BVt now thus saith the Lord, [a] that created thee, ô Iaakob: and he that formed thee, ô Israel, [b] Feare not: for I haue redemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the [c] waters, I wil be with thee, & through the floods, that thei do not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the verie fyre, thou shalt not be burnt, nether shal the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because ý waast precious in my sight, & thou wast honorable, & I loued thee, therefore wil I giue [e] man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am w thee: I wil bring thy sede from the [f] East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I wil saie to the North, Giue: and to ý South, Kepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the endes of the earth.

7 Euerie one shalbe called by my [g] Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him.

8 I wil bring forthe ý blinde people, & thei shal haue eyes, & the deafe, & they shal haue eares.

9 Let all the nacions be gathered [h] together, & let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this and shewe vs former things? let them bring forthe their [i] witnesses, ý thei maie be iustified: but let them [k] heare, and saie, It is trueth.

10 You [l] are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant, whome I haue chosen: therefore ye shal knowe & beleue me & ye shal vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, nether shal there be after me.

11 I, euen I, am ý Lord, & beside me there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, & I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am: and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I wil do it, and who shal let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord your redemer, ý holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and [n] broght it downe: they are all fugitiues and the Chaldeās crye in [o] the shippes.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, ý creator of Israel, your King, 16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh away in [p] the Sea, and a path in ý mighty [q] waters.

17 When he [r] bringeth out the [s] charet, & horse, the armie & the power lie together, & shal not rise: thei are extinct, & quenched as towe.

18 Remember ye not the former things, nether regarde the things of olde.

19 Beholde, I do a newe thing: nowe shal it come forthe: shal you not knowe it? I wil euen make a waie in the [t] desert and floods in the wildernes.

20 The wilde [v] beasts shal honour me, the dragons & the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert & floods in the wildernes to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my self: thei shal shewe forthe my praise.

22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon me, ô Iaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me, ô Israel.

23 Thou [z] hast not broght me the shepe of thy burnt offrings, nether hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offring, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boghtest me no swete [a] sauour with monie, nether hast thou made me drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me [b] to serue with thy sinnes: & wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 I, euen I, am he that putteth awaie thine iniquities for mine owne sake, & wil not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in [c] remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maiest be iustified.

27 Thy [d] first father hathe sinned, & thy [e] teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue [f] prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, & haue geuen Iaakob to the curse, & Israel to reproches.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The Lord promiseth comfort & that he wil assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlines of idolaters.

1 YEt now heare, ô Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whome I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, ô Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, [b] whome I haue chosen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon [c] the thirstie, & floods vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy sede, & my blessing vpon thy buddes,

4 And thei [d] shal growe as among the grasse, & as the willowes by the riuer of waters.

5 One shal say, I am the Lords: another [e] shal be called by the name of Iaakob: & another shal subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name him self by [f] name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel & his redemer, the Lord of hostes, [f] I am the first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shal [g] call, & shal declare it, and set [h] it in order before me, since I appointed the [i] ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let [k] them shewe vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, nether be afraied: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? [l] you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not.

9 All thei that make an image, are vanitie and [m] their delectable things shal nothing profite: & thei are their owne witnesses, [n] that thei se not nor knowe: therefore thei shalbe confounded.

10 Who hathe made [o] a god, or molten an image, that is [p] profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the [q] felowship thereof, shalbe confounded: for [r] workemen them selues are mē: let them all be gathered together, and [r] stand vp, yet thei shal feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it [s] hammers, & worketh it with the strēgth of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, & is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreieth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it maie remaine in [t] an house.

14 He wil hewe him downe cedres, and take the pine tre and the oke, & taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a fyrre tre, & [y] raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he wil take thereof and [x] warme him self: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshipeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fyre, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth him self and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fyre.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and praieth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 Thei haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: [y] for God hathe shut their eyes that thei can not se, and their hearts, [y] thei can not vnderstand.

19 And none [z] considereth in his heart, nether is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to saie, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fyre, & haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, & shal I make the residue thereof an abomination? shal I bowe to the stocke of a tre?

20 He fedeth [z] of asshes: a seduced heart hathe deceiued him that he can not deliuer his soule, nor say, Is their not a lye in my right hand?

21 [a] Remembre these (ô Iaakob & Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: ô Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put awaie thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redemed thee.

---

a He created & chose thee from the beginning of his owne mercie, and before ỹ coldest merite anie thing.

b Whome God accepteth as righteous: or w hadest occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation.

c Because man of him self is as ỹ drye and baren land, he promiseth to moisten him with ỹ waters of his holy Spirit. Ioel. 2, 28. Ioh. 7, 38. a&. 2, 17.

d That is, thy children & posteritie shal increase wonderfully after their deliuerance fró Babylon.

e By this diuersitie of speache he meaneth one thing that is, ỹ the people shalbe holy & receiue ỹ true religion of God, as Psal. 87, 5 f I am alwaies like my self, that is, merciful toward my Church and moste able to mainteine it, as chap. 41, 4, & 48, 12. reuel. 1, 17. & 22, 13.

g And appoint them that shal deliuer the Church.

h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to procede herein. i God calleth ỹ Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternal election. k Meaning, their idoles. l Read Chap. 45. 10. m Whatsoeuer thei bestowe vpon their idoles to make thē to seme glorious. n That is, the idolaters seing their idoles blindenes, and seing that thei are not able to helpe them, must confesse that thei haue no power. o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be estemed as God, is moste detestable. p Whereby appeareth their blasphemie, which call images the bokes of laitie, seing that thei are not onely here called vnprofitable, but Chap. 41, 24 abominable: and Ierem. 10, 15. calleth them the worke of errors, iere. 10, 15. Habak. 2 lying teacher. 2, 18.

q That is, which by any way cōsent ether to ỹ making or worshipping.

r signifying, that the multitude shal not then saue the idolaters, when God wil take vengeance, although thei excuse hem selues thereby among men.

s He describeth the raging affection of ỹ idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set forthe their deuotiō toward their idoles.

t To place it in some Temple.

u He setteth forth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, w thogh thei se by dailie experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of ỹ matter whereof thei are made, yet thei refuse the one parte & make a god of ỹ other, as the papists make their cake, god and ỹ rest of their idoles.

x That is, he eether maketh a table or trenchers.

y The prophet glueth here an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible ỹ anie shulde be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hathe blinded their eyes, & hardened their hearts.

z Ebr. turneth

z He is abused as one that wold eat ashes, thinking to satisfie his hungre.

a Shewing that mans heart is most enclined to idolatrie, & therefore he warneth his people by these examples, ỹ thei shulde not cleaue to anie but to ỹ liuing God when thei shulde be among the idolaters.

b Reioice,

23 [b] Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hathe done it: shoute, ye lower partes of the earth: brast forthe into praises, ye mountaines, ô foreſt and euerie tre therein: for the Lord hathe redemed Iaakob and wilbe glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer & he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spred out the heauens alone, & stretched oute the earth by my self.

25 I destroye the [c] tokens of the soothsaiers and make them that coniecture, fooles, & turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

26 ¶He confirmeth the worde of his [d] seruant and performeth the counsel of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, ye shalbe buylt vp, and I wil repaire the decaied places thereof.

27 He saith to the [e] depe, Be drye and I wil dryeup thy floods.

28 He saith to [f] Cyrus, Thou art my shepherd: & he shal reforme all my desire, saying also to Ieruſalem, Thou shalt be buylt: and to the Temple, Thy fundacion shalbe surely laied.

b He sheweth ỹ the worke of ỹ Lord toward his people shalbe so great that the insensible creatures shalbe moued therewith.

c He armeth thẽ against ỹ soothsayers of Babylon, which wolde haue borne them in hand, ỹ thei knew by ỹ starres that God wolde not deliuer them, & that Babylon shulde stand.

d Of Isaiah & the rest of his Prophetes, w did assure ỹ Church of Gods fauour & deliuerance.

e He sheweth ỹ Gods worke shulde be no leisse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he broght them out of Egypt through ỹ Sea.

f To assure thẽ of their deliuerance, he nameth the persone, by whome it shulde be more then an hundreth yere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus.
9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus saith the Lord vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anointed, whose right hand I haue holden [c] to subdue nations before him: therefore wil I weaken the loynes of Kings & open ỹ dores before him, & the gates shal not be shut.

2 I wil go before thee & make the [d] croked streight: I wil breake the brasen dores, & burst the yron barres.

3 And I wil giue thee the treasures of darkenes, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maiest [e] knowe that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruants [f] sake, and Israel mine elect, I wil euen call thee by thy name & name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I [g] girded thee though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That thei maie knowe from the rising of the sunne & from the West, that there is none besides me, I am ỹ Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the [h] light and creat darkenes: I make peace & creat euil: I ỹ Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heauẽs, send the dewe from aboue, & let the cloudes drop downe [i] righteousnes: let the earth open, and let saluacion & iustice growe forthe: let it bring them forthe together: I the Lord haue [k] created him.

9 [l] Wo be vnto him that striueth w̃ his maker, the potsherd w̃ the potsherds of the earth: shal the claie saie to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, [m] it hathe none hands?

10 Wo vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou broght forthe?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me [n] of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning ỹ workes of mine hãds: commande you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their [o] armie.

13 I haue raised [p] hĩ vp in righteousnes, & I wil direct all his waies: he shal buylde my citie, and he shal let go my captiues, not [q] for price nor reward, saith ỹ Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour [r] of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, & of the Sabeans, men of stature shal come vnto thee, & thei shalbe [s] thine: thei shal followe thee, and shal go in chaines: they shal fall downe before thee, and make supplicacion vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely thou, ô God, [t] hidest thy self, ô God the Sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shal go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shalbe saued in the Lord, w̃ an euerlasting saluacion: ye shal not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God him self, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that thei shulde abide, he nameth ỹ persone and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus shulde execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after another sort thẽ he called Dauid.

c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.

d I wil take away all impediments and letters.

e Not that Cyrus did knowe God to worship hi aright, but he had a certeine particular knowledge, as profane men may haue, of his power, & so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.

f Not for anie thing, that is in thee, or for thy worthines.

g I haue giuen thee strength, power & autoritie.

h I send peace & warre, prosperitie & aduersitie, as Amos. 3, 6.

i He comforteth the Iewes as if he wolde say, though when ye loke to the heauens and earth for succour, ye se nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet I wil cause thẽ to bring forth moste certeine tokens of your deliuerance, & of the performance of my promes, which is ment by righteousnes.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse & purpose.

l Hereby he bridleth their impaciencie, which in aduersitie & trouble murmure against God and wil not tarie his pleasure: willing that mã shulde matche with his like & not contend against God.

m That is, it is nor perfitely made.

n In stead of murmuring, humble your selues and aske what ye wil for the consolation of my children, and you shalbe sure of it, as ye are of these things w̃ are at your commandement. Some read it with an interrogatiõ, and make it the application of the similitude.

o That is, ỹ starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shewe by him the faithfulnes of my promes in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely & without rãsome, or any grieuous condicion.

r These people were tributaries to the Persians, & so King Arrahshashte gaue this money towarde ỹ buylding of the Temple. Ezra. 7, 21.

s Where as to fore thei were thine enemies, thei shal now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Iewes to paciencie, though their deliuerance be differred for a time: shewing that they shulde not repent their long pacience, but the wicked and idolaters shalbe destroied.

v To wit, of mã, but chiefly of his Church.
x As do the false gods, ẅ giue vncertaine answers.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, nether x in a place of darkenes in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the sede of Iaakob, Seke you me: I the Lord do speake righteousnes, & declare righteous things.
20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw nere together, y ye abiect of ẏ Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that can not saue them.
21 Tel ye and bring them, & let them take counsel together, who hathe declared this from the beginning? or hathe tolde it of olde? Haue not I ẏ Lord? & there is none other God beside me, a iust God, & a Sauiour: there is none beside me.
22 Loke vnto me, and ye shal be saued: all z the ends of the earth shal be saued: for I am God, and there is none other.
23 I haue sworne by my self: the worde is gone out of my mouth in a righteousnes, and shal not returne, That euerie b knee shal bowe vnto me, & euery tongue shal sweare by me.
24 Surely c he shal say, In the Lord haue I righteousnes and strength: he shal come vnto him, and all that d prouoke him, shal be ashamed.
25 The whole sede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of ẏ their idoles. 3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideracion of his wordes.

a These were ẏ chief idoles of Babylon.
b Because thei were of golde & siluer ẏ Medes & persians caryed them away.
c The beasts ẏ caryed the idoles, fel downe vnder their burden.
d He derideth ẏ idoles, ẅ had nether soule, nor sense.
e He sheweth ẏ difference betwene the idoles and ẏ true God: for thei must be caryed of others, but God him self caryeth his, as Deut. 32,11.
f Seing I haue begotten you, I wil nourish and preserue you for euer.

BEl is bowed downe: a Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the b beastes, and vpon the cattel: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.
2 c They are bowed downe, & fallen together: for thei colde not rid them of ẏ burden, & their d soule is gone into captiuitie.
3 Heare ye me, ô house of Iaakob, & all that remaine of the house of Israel, ẅ are c borne of me from the wombe, and broght vp of me from the birth.
4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I wil beare you vntil ẏ hore heeres: I haue made you: I wil also beare you, and I wil carye you f & I wil deliuer you.
5 ¶ To whome wil ye make me like, or make me equal, or e compare me, that I shulde be like him?
6 They drawe golde out of the bagge and weigh siluer in the balance, and hyre a goldsmith to make a god of it, & they bowe downe, and worship it.
7 They beare it vpõ the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, & can not remoue from his place. Thogh one crye vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulacion.
8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe h to minde, ô you transgressers.
9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,
10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsel shal stand, & I wil do whatsoeuer I wil.
11 I call a i birde from the East, & ẏ mã of my k counsel from far: as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I wil do it.
12 Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from l iustice.
13 I bring m nere my iustice: it shal not be farre of, and my saluacion shal not tary: for I wil giue saluacion in Zion, & my glorie vnto Israel.

g For very shame, & hide thy self.
h Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.
i That is, Cyrus, ẅ shal come, as swift as a birde & fight against Babylon. k Him by whome I haue appointed to execute that, ẅ I haue determined.
l Which by your incredulitie wolde let ẏ performance of my promes.
m He sheweth ẏ mans incredulitie can not abolish ẏ promes of God, Rom.3,3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the cause wherefore.

a Which hast liued in wealth, & wantonnes, and hast not yet bene ouercome by any enemie.
b Thy gouernement shalbe taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be broght to moste vile seruitude: for to turne the mille was ẏ office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride shalbe made vile, euen frõ the head tõ the fote.
e I wil vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.
f The Israelites shal confesse, ẏ the Lord doeth this for his Church sake.
g The people of God, seing their owne calamitie & the florishing estate of the Babylonias, shulde be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore be describeth the original of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the moste that can be spoken in their commendacion is but to proue them vile, Bar. 6,25.
h Thei gements thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he wolde vtterly cast them of, and therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou dideſt increase it.

1 COme downe and sit in the duſt: ô a virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the grounde: there is no b throne, ô daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tendre and delicate.
2 Take the mille stones, & c grinde meale: loose thy lockes: d make bare the fete: vncouer the legge, & passe through the floods.
3 Thy filthines shalbe discouered, & thy shame shalbe sene: I wil take vengeance, and I wil not mete thee as a e man.
4 f Our redemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel.
5 g Sit stil, and get thee into darkenes, ô daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes.
6 I was wrath with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou dideſt shewe them no h mercie, but thou dideſt lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidest, I shalbe a ladie for euer, so that thou didest not set thy mind de to these things, nether didest thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, & dwellest careles, She saith in her heart, I am and none els: I shal not sit as a widdow, nether shal knowe the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowehead: they shal come vpon thee in their [i] perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinacions, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednes: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy [k] wisdome & thy knowledge, thei haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shal euil come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shal fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shal come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy sothesayers (with whome thou hast [l] wearied thy self from thy youth) if so be thou maiest haue profite, or if so be thou maiest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, ỹ starre gasers, & pronosticatours stād vp, & saue thee from these things, ỹ shal come vpon thee.

14 Beholde, they shalbe as stubble: the fyre shal burne them: thei shal not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles [m] to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whome thou hast wearied thee, euē thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne [v] quarter: none shal saue thee.

i So that thy punishment shalbe so great, as is possible to be imagined.

k Thou didest thinke ỹ thine owne wisdome & policie wolde haue saued thee.

l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing, but in God, condemning also suche vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude the people and to bring them from depending onely in God.

m They shal vtterly perish and no parte of them remaine.

n They shal flee euery one to ỹ place, which he thoght by his speculacions to be moste sure: but ỹ shal deceiue them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued.
11 The Lord alone wil be worshipped.
20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

1 HEare ye this, ô house of Iaakob, ỹ are [a] called by the name of Israel, and are come out of [b] the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mencion of ỹ God of Israel, but not in trueth, nor in righteousnes.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and staie them selues [c] vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is ỹ Lord of hostes.

hipocrysye

a He detecteth their hypocrisie, which vāted themselues to be Israelites & were not so in dede.

b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.

c They make a shew, as though they wolde haue none other God.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, & I shewed [d] them: I did them suddenly, & they came to passe.

4 Because I knewe, that [e] thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy browe brasse.

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed [f] it thee, lest thou shuldest say, Mine idole hathe done thē, & my carued image, & my molten image hathe commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, beholde all this, & wil not ye [g] declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euē now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shuldest say, Beholde, I [h] knewe them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, nether didest knowe them, nether yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou woldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the [i] wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I differ my wrath, and for my praise wil I refraine it from thee, [k] that I cut thee not of.

10 Beholde, I haue fined thee, but [l] not as siluer: I haue [m] chosen thee in ỹ fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I do it: for how shulde my Name [n] be polluted? [o] surely I wil not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, ô Iaakob & Israel, my called, [p] I am, I am ỹ first, & I am ỹ last.

13 Surely mine hād hathe layed the fundacion of the earth, & my right hand hathe spanned the heauens: when I call them, [q] they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hathe declared these things? The Lord hathe loued [r] him: he wil do his wil in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue broght him, and his waie shal prosper.

16 Come nere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from ỹ [s] beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his spirit hathe [t] sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer, the Holie one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teache thee [v] to profite, & lead thee by the waie, that thou shuldest go.

18 Oh that thou hadest hearkened to my d He sheweth ỹ thei colde not accuse him in anie thing, for asmuche as he had performed what soeuer he had promised.

e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubbernes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.

f How ỹ shuldest be deliuered out of Babylon.

g Wil he not acknowledge this my benefite & declare it vnto others.

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, lest thei shuld attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdome.

i From the time that I broght thee out of Egypt: for ỹ deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my fre mercie that I did chuse thee: so is it my fre mercie that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakenes and infirmitie: for in siluer there is some purenes, but in vs there is nothing, but drosse.

m I toke thee out of the fornace where thou shuldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyneth ỹ saluation of his & his owne honour: so ỹ they can not perish, but his glorie shulde be diminished, as Deut. 32, 27.

o Read Cha. 42, 8 p Read. 41, 4.

q To obey me, & to do whatsoeuer I commāde them.

r Meaning, Cyrus, whome he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my self to your fathers.

t Thus the prophet speaketh for him self, & to assure thē of these thigs.

v What things shal do thee good, commandements, then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy sede also had bene as the sande, and the frute of thy bodie like the grauel thereof: his [x] name shulde not haue bene cut of nor destroied before me.

20 [y] Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from ỹ Chaldeans, with a voice of ioye: tel and declare this: shewe it forthe to the end of the earth: saye ye, The Lord hathe redmed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And thei [z] were not thirstie: he led them through the wildernes: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and ỹ water gushed out.

22 There is no [a] peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.
y After ỹ he had forewarned thē of their captiuitie, and of ỹ cause thereof, he sheweth thē the great ioye, that shal come of their deliuerance.
z He sheweth ỹ it shalbe as easy to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.
a Thus he speaketh that ỹ wicked hypocrites shulde not abuse Gods promes in whome was neither faith, nor repentance, as Chap. 57, 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

The Lord exhorteth all nacions to beleue his promises. & Christ is the saluacio of all that beleue, and wil deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

1 HEare ye me, ô yles, & hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hathe called [a] me from [b] the wombe, and made mencion of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hathe made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sworde: vnder the shadowe of his hand hathe he [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shafte & hid me in his quiuer,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, [e] Israel, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue [f] labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, ỹ I maie bring Iaakob againe to hī (though Israel be not gathered, [g] yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a smale thing ỹ thou shuldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I wil also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluacion vnto the end of the worlde.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redemer of Israel, & his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [i] seruant of rulers, Kings shal se, and [k] arise, and princes shal worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful: & ỹ Holie one of Israel, which hathe chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluacion haue I helped thee: and I wil preserue thee, and wil giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people, that thou maiest raise vp the [n] earth, and obteine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the [o] prisoners, Go forthe: and to them that are in darkenes, Shewe your selues: they shal fede in ỹ wayes, & their [p] pastures shalbe in all the toppes of the hilles.

10 They shal not be hungrie, nether shal thei be thirstie, nether shal the heat smite them nor the sunne: for he that hathe compassion [q] on them, shal lead them: euen to the springs of waters shal he driue them.

11 And I wil make all my mountaines, as a way, & my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shal come from farre: & lo, these from the North and from ỹ West, and these from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, ô [s] heauens: and be ioyful, ô earth: braste forthe in to praise, ô mountaines: for God hathe comforted his people, & wil haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hathe [t] forsaken me, and my Lord hathe forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? thogh they shulde forget, yet wil I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine [v] hands: thy [x] walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy buylders make [y] haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about & beholde: all these gather them selues together & come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely [z] put them all vpon thee as a garment, & gird thy self with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, & thy waste places, & thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them that shal dwell in it, & thei that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barennes shal say againe in thine eares, The place is straict for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hathe begotten me these, seing I am baren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? & who hathe nourished a This is spokē in the persone of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises shulde come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him shulde be performed.

b This is ment of the time, that Christ shulde be manifested to ỹ worlde, as Psal. 2, 7.
c By the sworde, and shafte, he signifieth ỹ vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.
d God hathe taken me to his protection & defence: this chiefly is ment of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his worde.
e By Israel is ment Christ, & all the body of the faithful as the members & their head.
f Thus Christ in his members complaineth, ỹ his labour, and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented, that his doings are approued of God.
g Thogh the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God wil approue my ministerie.
h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42, 6. act. 13, 47. luk. 2, 31.
i Meaning, the Iewes whome tyrants kept in bondage.
k The benefit of their deliuerance shalbe so great, ỹ great, & smale shal acknowledge it, & reuerence God for it.
l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he wolde shew his mercie toward it, 2. Cor. 6, 2.
m Meaning, Christ alone.
n Signifying, that before Christ renue the earth by his worde, there is nothing, but confusion & disorder.
o To them that are in the prison of sinne, & death.
p Beīg in Christs protection, they shalbe safe against all dangers, & fre from the feare of the enemies.
q Meaning, that there shulde be nothing in their way from Babylon, that shulde hinder or hurt them: but this is accōplished spiritually.
r Meaning, the South countrey so ỹ Christ shal deliuer his from all the partes of the worlde.
s Read Chap. 44, 23.
t He obiecteth what ỹ faithful might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort thē, with a moste proper similitude, and ful of consolation.
v Because I wolde not forget thee.
x Meaning, that good order of policie & discipline.
y I haue a continual care to buylde thee vp againe, & to destroye thine enemies.
z He sheweth what are ỹ ornaments of the Church: to haue manie children, & are assembled by ỹ worde of God & gouerned by his Spirit.

rished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles and set vp my standart to the people, & they shal bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shalbe caryed vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shalbe thy nourcing fathers, and Quenes shalbe thy nources: thei shal worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy fete, & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shal not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shal the praie be [d] taken from the mightie: or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shalbe taken awaie: & the praie of the tyrant shalbe deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, & I wil saue thy children, 26 And wil fede them that spoile thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shalbe drunken with their owne blood, as with swete wine: & all flesh shal knowe that I the Lord am thy Sauiour & thy redemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

a He sheweth, ỹ Christ wil not onely gather this great nomber of ỹ Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.
b Meaning, that Kings shalbe cõuerted to ỹ Gospel and bestow their power, & autoritie for the preseruation of the Church.
c Being ioyned with ỹ Church, they shal humble them selues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.
d He maketh this as an obiection, as though ỹ Chaldeans were strong, & had thẽ in iuste possession.
e This is, ỹ answer to their obiection, ỹ none is stronger then the Lord, neither hathe a more iuste title vnto them.
f I wil cause thẽ to destroye one another, as Iud. 7, 22. 2. chro. 20, 23. chap. 19, 2.

CHAP. L.

The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience & victorie.

THus saith the Lord, Where is that [a] bil of your mothers diuorcement, [b] whome I haue cast of? or who is the creditour [c] to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressiõs is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, & there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so [e] shortened, that it can not helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? beholde, at my rebuke I dryve vp the Sea: I make ỹ floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, & dyeth for thirste.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, & make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hathe giuen [g] me a tongue of the learned, that I shulde knowe to minister a worde in time to him that is [h] weary: he wil raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he wil waken mine eare to heare, [i] as the learned.

5 The Lord God hathe opened mine eare & I was not rebellious, nether turned I backe.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea. 2, 2.
b Which shulde declare, that I haue cut her of: meaning, ỹ they colde shewe none.
c Signifying that he solde them not for anie det or pouertie, but that they solde them selues to sinnes to bie their owne lustes, & pleasures.
d He came by his Prophetes & ministers, but thei wolde not beleue their doctrine and conuert.
e Am I not able to helpe you, as I haue holpe ỹ your fathers of olde, when I dryed vp ỹ red Sea, & killed ỹ fish in ỹ riuers, & also afterwarde in Iorden. f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exo. 10, 21. g The prophet doth represente here the persone & charge of them ỹ are iustely called to ỹ ministerie of Gods worde. h To hi ỹ is oppressed by affliction & miserie. i As they ỹ are taught, & made mete by hi.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the [k] smiters, and my chekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God wil helpe me, therefore shal I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shal not be ashamed.

8 He is nere that iustifieth me: who wil contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God wil helpe me: who is he that can cõdemne me? lo, thei shal waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shal eat them vp.

10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, & hathe no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, & stay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kindle [m] a fyre, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fyre, and in ỹ sparkes ỹ ye haue kindled. This shal ye haue of mine hand: ye shal lie downe in sorowe.

k I did not shrinke from God for anie persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can loke for none other recompence of ỹ wicked but after this sorte, and also what is their cõfort.
l Shewing ỹ it is a rare thing that anie shulde obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them frõ hel to heauen.
m You haue soght consolatiõ by your owne deuises, & haue refused the light, and consolation, ẅ God hathe offred: therefore ye shal remaine in sorowe, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, & her deliuerance.

1 HEare me, ye [a] that follow after righteousnes, & ye that seke the Lord: loke vnto the [b] rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, & blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shal comfort Zion: he shal comfort all her desolations, and he shal make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of ỹ Lord: ioye and gladnes shalbe founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, ô my people: for a [d] Law shal procede from me, and I wil bring forthe my iudgement, for the light of the people.

5 My [e] righteousnes is nere: my saluacion goeth forthe, and mine [f] armes shal iudge the people: the yles shal waite for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and loke vpon the earth beneth: for the [g] heauens shal vanish away like smoke, and the earth shal waxe olde like a garment, and thei that dwell therein, shal perish in like maner: but my saluacion shalbe for euer, & my righteousnes shal not be abolished.

a He comforteth the Church, that thei shulde not be discouraged for their smale nomber.
b That is, to Abraham, of whome ye were begotten, & to Sarah, of whome ye were borne.
c As plentiful as paradise, Genes. 2, 9.
d I wil rule, & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.
e The time, ỹ I wil accomplish my promes.
f My power, and strength.
g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes & mutatiõs of all things, & how he wil preserue his Church in the middes of all these daungers.

7 Hearke vnto me, ye that know righteouſnes, the people in whoſe heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproche of men, nether be ye afraied of their rebukes.

8 For the mothe ſhal eat them vp like a garment, and the worme ſhal eat them like woll: but my righteouſnes ſhal be for euer, and my ſaluacion from generacion to generacion.

9 Riſe vp, riſe vp, and put on ſtrength, ô arme of the Lord: riſe vp, as [h] in ỹ olde time in the generacions of the worlde. Art not thou the ſame, that haſt cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon.

10 Art not thou the ſame, which hath dryed the Sea, euen the waters of ỹ great depe, making the depth of the Sea away for the redemed to paſſe ouer?

11 Therefore the redemed of the Lord ſhal [l] returne, and come with ioye vnto Zion, and euerlaſting ioye ſhalbe vpon their head: they ſhal obteine ioye, & gladnes: & ſorowe and mourning ſhal flee away.

12 I, euen I, am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou ſhuldeſt feare a mortal man, and the ſonne of man, ẅ ſhalbe made as graſſe?

13 And forgetteſt the Lord thy maker, ỹ hathe ſpred out the heauens, and laide ỹ fundacions of the earth? and haſt feared continually all the day, becauſe of the rage of the oppreſſour, which is ready to deſtroye? Ẅ here is now the rage of ỹ oppreſſour?

14 The captiue [m] haſteneth to be looſed, and that he ſhulde not dye in the pit, nor that his bread ſhulde faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea, when his waues roared: ỹ Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy [n] mouthe, and haue defended thee in ỹ ſhadow of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and laye the fundacion of the earth, & ſay vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, A wake & ſtand vp, ô Ieruſalẽ, which haſt drunke at ỹ hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou haſt drunken the dregges of the cup of trẽbling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all ỹ ſonnes, whome ſhe hathe broght forthe: there is none that taketh her by ỹ hand of all the ſonnes that ſhe hathe broght vp.

19 Theſe two [q] things are come vnto thee: who wil lament thee? deſolation and deſtruction, and famine, and the ſworde: by whome ſhal I comforte thee.

20 Thy ſonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the ſtretes as a wilde bulle in a net, and are ful of the wrath of the Lord, & rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miſerable and drunken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people. Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hãd the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou ſhalt drinke it no more.

23 But I wil put it into their hand that ſpoile thee: which haue ſaid to thy ſoule, Bowe downe, that we may go ouer, and thou haſt laid thy bodie as the ground, and as the ſtrete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A conſolation to the people of God. 7 Of the meſſingers thereof.

1 ARiſe, ariſe: put on thy ſtrength, ô Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, ô Ieruſalem, the holy citie: for hence forthe there ſhal no [a] more come into thee the vncircumciſed and ỹ vncleane.

2 Shake thy ſelf from the [b] duſt: ariſe, & ſit downe, ô Ieruſalem: looſe the bandes of thy necke, ô thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye were ſolde for [c] naught: therefore ſhal ye be redemed without money.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God, My people went [d] downe afore time into Egypt to ſoiourne there, and Aſſhur [e] oppreſſed them without cauſe.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, ſaith the Lord, that my people is take away for naught, and thei that rule ouer thẽ, make them to howle, ſaith the Lord? & my Name all the day cõtinually is [f] blaſphemed?

6 Therefore my people ſhal knowe my Name: therefore thei ſhal knowe in that day, that I am he that do ſpeake: beholde, it is I.

7 How [g] beautiful vpon the mountaines are the fete of him, that declareth & publiſheth peace? that declareth good tidings, & publiſheth ſaluacion, ſaying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth?

8 [h] The voice of thy watchemen ſhalbe heard: thei ſhal lift vp their voyce, and ſhoute together: for they ſhal ſe eye to eye, when the Lord ſhal bring againe Zion.

9 O ye deſolate places of Ieruſalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hathe comforted his people: he hathe redemed Ieruſalem.

k To wit, Pharaoh, Eze. 29, 3.

m He comforteth them by ỹ ſhort time of their baniſhmẽt for in ſeuentie yeres they were reſtored, & the greateſt empire of the worlde deſtroyed.

n Meaning, of Iſaiah, and of all true miniſters, who are defended by his protection.

o That all thigs may be reſtored in heauen, and earth, Epheſ. 1, 10.

p Thou haſt bene iuſtely puniſhed and ſufficiently, as Chap. 40, and this puniſhement in the elect is by meaſure, & accordig as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iuſt vengeance of God to driue them to an inſenſiblenes & madnes, as Iere. 25, 15.

q Whereof ỹ one as outward, as of ỹ things ỹ come to the body: as warre & famine: & the other is inward, & appertaineth to ỹ minde: that is, to be without cõfort: therefore he ſaith, how ſhalt thou be comforted.

r But ẅ trouble & feare.

a No wicked tyrant, ẅ ſhal ſubuert Gods true religion, & oppreſſe the conſciences.

c The Babylonians paied nothing to me for you: therefore I wil take you againe without ranſome.

d When Iaakob went thether in time of famine.

e The Egytians might pretend ſome cauſe to oppreſſe my people becauſe thei went thether & remained among them, but ỹ Aſſyrians haue no title to excuſe their tyrannie by: and therefore wil I puniſh thẽ more then I did the Egyptians.

f To wit, by the wicked ẅ thinke ỹ I haue no power to deliuer them.

g Signifying ỹ the ioye & good tidings of their deliuerance ſhulde make their affliction in the meane time moy, as Nah. 1, 15.

h Watchmen, ſhal publiſh this thy deliuerance: this was begon vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra & Nehemiah, but was accompliſhed vnder Chriſt.

re eaſy: but this is chiefly ment of the ſpiritual rom. 10, 15.

l The prophets which are thy watchmen,

10 The Lord hathe made [l] bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shal se the saluacion of our God.

11 [k] Departe, departe ye: go out frō thence and touche no vncleane thing: go out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that [l] beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shal not go out [m] with haste, nor departe by fleing away: but ỹ Lord wil go before you, and the God of Israel wil gather you together.

13 Beholde, my [n] seruant shal prosper: he shalbe exalted and extolled, & be very hie.

14 As manie were astonied at thee (his visage was so [o] deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) so [p] shal he sprincle manie nations: ỹ Kings shal shut their [q] mouthes at him: for ỹ which had not bene tolde them, shal they se, & that [r] they had not heard, shal they vnderstand.

l As ready to smite his enemies & to deliuer his people.

m As your fathers did out of Egypt.
n Meaning, Christ by whome our spiritual deliuerance shulde be wroght, whereof this was a figure.
o In the corrupt iudgement of man Christ in his person was not esteemed.
p He shal spread his word through manie nations.
q In signe of reuerence, and as being astonished at his excellencie.
r By the preaching of the Gospel.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose worde fewe wil beleue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnes, 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

1 WHo [a] wil beleue our report? and to whome is the [b] arme of the Lord reueiled?

2 But he shal growe vp before him as a branche, & as a [c] roote out of a drye [d] grounde: he hathe nether forme nor beautie: when we shal se him, there shalbe no forme that we shulde desire him.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man ful of sorowes and hathe experience of [e] infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised & we estemed him not.

4 Surely he hathe borne our infirmities, & caried [f] our sorowes: yet we did iudge him, as [g] plagued, and smitten of God, & humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the [h] chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like shepe haue gone astraie: we haue turned euerie one to his owne way, and the Lord hathe layed vpon him ỹ [i] iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed & he was afflicted, yet did he not [k] open his mouth: he is broght as a shepe to the slaughter, and as a shepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken out from [l] prison, and from iudgement: [m] & who shal declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 [n] And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, thogh he had done no wickednes, nether was anie deceite in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord wolde breake him, & make him subiect to infirmities: when [o] he shal make his soule an offring for sinne, he shal se his sede & shal prolong his daies, and the wil of the Lord shal prosper in his hand.

11 He shal se of the [p] trauaile of his soule, & shalbe satisfied: by his Knowledge shal my [q] righteous seruant iustifie manie: for he shal beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore wil I giue him a portion with the great, and he shal deuide the spoyle with the strong, because he [r] hathe powred out his soule vnto death: & he was counted with the transgressers, and he bare the sinne [s] of many, and praied for the trespassers.

a The prophet sheweth, that verie fewe shal receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, 1 Joh. 12, 38 rom. 10, 16.
b Meaning that none can beleue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holie Spirit.
c The beginning of Christs kingdome shalbe smale, and contemptible in the sight of mā, but it shal growe wonderfully, & florish before God.
d Read Chap. 13, 1.
e Which was by Gods singular prouidence for the comforte of sinners, Ebr. 4, 15.
f That is, the punishment due to our sinnes: for the which he hathe both suffred, & made satisfaction, Mat. 8, 27, 1 pet. 2, 24.
g We iudged euil, thinking that he was punished for his owne sinnes, & not for ours.
h He was chastised for our reconciliation, 1. Cor. 15, 3.
i Meaning, ỹ punishement of our iniquitie, & not the faute it self.
k But willingly, & paciently obeyed his fathers appointement, Mat. 26. 63. act. 8, 32.
l From the crosse, and graue after that he was condemned.
m Thogh he dyed for sinne, yet after his resurrection he shal liue for euer, & this his death is to restore life to his members, Rom 6. 9.
n God the Father deliuered him into ỹ hāds of the wicked, & to the powers of the worlde to do w̄ him what they wolde.
o Christ by offring vp him self shal giue life to his Church, & so cause them to liue w̄ him for euer.
p That is, the frute & effect of his labour, w̄ iustifie by faith q Christ shal through his worde, where as Moses colde not iustifie by the Lawe.
r Becausse he humbled him self, therefore he shalbe exalted to glorie, phil. 2, 7.
s That is, in all that beleue in him.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Mo of the Gentiles shal beleue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whome afterward he sheweth mercie.

1 REioyce, ô [a] baren that didest not beare: breake forthe into ioye & reioyce, thou that didest not trauaile with childe: for the [b] desolate hathe mo children then the maried wife, saith the Lord.

2 [c] Enlarge the place of thy tentes, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitacions: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make faste thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right

Chap. LIIII.
a After that he hathe declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, becausse it shulde sele the frute of the same, & calleth her baren, becausse that in the captiuitie she was as a widowe without hope to haue anie children.
b The Church in this her affliction, & captiuitie shal bring forth mo children then when she was at libertie: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering that shulde come of her. Her deliuerance vnder childe hode, & therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.

hand and on the left, and thy sede shal possesse the Gentiles & dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, nether shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, ỹ shalt forget the shame of thy [d] youth, & shalt not remember the reproche of thy [e] widowhead anie more.

5 For he that [e] made thee, is thine housband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redemer the holie one of Israel, shalbe called the God of the whole [g] worlde.

6 For the Lord hathe called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a [h] yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion wil I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine angre, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but ẅ euerlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redemer.

9 For this is vnto me as the [i] waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah shulde no more go ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I wolde not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shal remoue and the hilles shal fall downe: but my mercie shal not depart from thee, nether shal the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hathe compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort beholde, I wil lay thy stones with [k] the carbuncle, and lay thy fundacion with saphirs, 12 And I wil make thy windowes of [l] emeraudes, and thy gates [l] shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shal be [l] taught of the Lord, and muche peace shalbe to thy children.

14 In [m] righteousnes shalt thou be established, & be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shal not come nere thee.

15 Beholde, the enemie shal gather himself, but without me: whosoeuer shal gather him self in thee, [o] against thee, shal fall.

16 Beholde, I haue created the [p] smith that bloweth the coles in the fyre, and him that bringeth forthe an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroye.

17 [q] But all the weapons that are made against thee, shal not prosper: and euerie tongue that shal rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is ỹ heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnes is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans 12 The ioy of the faithful.

1 HO, euerie one that [a] thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue [b] no siluer, come, bie and eat: come, I saie, bie [c] wine and milke without siluer and without monei.

2 Wherefore do ye laie out siluer & not for bread? [d] & your labour without beig satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, & eat that which is good, & let your soule delite in [e] fatnes.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shal liue, and I wil make an euerlasting couenãt with you, euen the [f] sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue [g] him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, [h] and a nation that knewe not thee, shal runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holie one of Israel: for he hathe glorified thee.

6 Seke ye the Lord while he maie [i] be founde: call ye vpon him while he is nere.

7 Let the wicked [k] forsake his waies, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is verie readie to forgiue.

8 For my [l] thoghts are not your thoghts nether are your waies my waies, saith ỹ Lord.

9 For as the heauens are hier them the earth [l], so are my waies hier then your waies, and my thoghts aboue your thoghts.

10 Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thether, but watereth the earth & maketh it to bring forthe and budde, ỹ it maie giue sede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shal my [m] worde be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shal not returne vnto me voyde, but it shal accomplish that ẅ I wil, and it shal prosper in the thing where to I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shal go out with ioye, & be led forthe with peace: the [n] mountaines and the hils shal breake forthe

An exhortacion to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against Shepherds that deuoure their flocke.

THus saith the Lord, [a] Kepe iudgement & do iustice: for my saluacio is at hand to come & my [b] righteousnes to be reueiled.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which laieth holde on it: he that kepeth the [c] Sabbath & polluteth it not, and kepeth his hand from doing anie euil.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which [d] is ioyned to the Lord, speake & say, The Lord hathe surely separat me from his people: nether let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drye tre.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, ‡ kepe my Sabbaths, & chuse the thing that pleaseth me, & take holde of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine [e] House and within my walles, a place and a [f] name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I wil giue them an euerlasting name, that shal not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euerie one that kepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not & imbraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, & make them ioyful in mine House of praier: their burnt [f] offrings and their sacrifices shalbe accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shalbe called an house of praier for [h] all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scatered of Israel, Yet wil I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye [i] beastes of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their [k] watchemen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: thei are all domme doggs: thei can not barke: thei lie & slepe and delite in sleping.

11 And these gredie doggs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepherds can not vnderstand: for they all loke to their owne way, euerie one for his aduantage, & for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I wil bring wine, and we wil fil our selues with strong drinke, and to [l] morowe shalbe as this daie, & muche more abundant.

b Which I wil declare toward you & powre into your hearts by my Spirit.

c Vnder ‡ Sabbath he comprehendeth ‡ whole seruice of God & true religion.

d Let none thinke him self vnmete to receiue ‡ graces of the Lord: for ‡ Lord wil take awaie all impediments, & wil forsake none ẅ wil kepe his true religion & beleue in him.

e Meaning, in his Church.

f Thei shalbe called after my people & be of ‡ same religiō: yea vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithful shalbe greater then the Iewes were at ‡ time.

g Hereby he meaneth ‡ spiritual seruice of God, to whome ‡ faithful offer continual thankesgiuing, yea them selues and all that they haue as a liuely & acceptable sacrifice.

h Not onely for ‡ Iewes but for all others. Mat. 21,13.

i Meaning, ‡ enemies of the Church, as ‡ Babylonians, Assyrians, &c thus he speaketh to feare ‡ hypocrites & to assure the faithful, ‡ whē this cometh, thei may knowe it was told them before.

k He sheweth that his affliction shal come through ‡ faute of ‡ gouernours, Propheres & pastors, whose ignorāce, negligēce, auarice & obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against thē.

l We are welyee and tomorowe shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare ‡ plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortacions ẅ were made them in ‡ Name of God.

a From the plague ‡ is at hand, & also because God wil punish ‡ wicked.

b The soule of ‡ righteous shal be in ioye and their bodie shal rest in the grane vnto the time of ‡ resurrection, because thei walked before the Lord.

c He threateneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of ‡ name of Gods people derided Gods worde & his promises: boasting openly that thei were ‡ children of Abraham, but because they were not faithful & obedient as Abraham was he calleth them bastards, & ‡ children of sorcerers, ẅ forsoke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

11 And whome didest thou reuerence or feare, seing thou hast n lied vnto me, & hast not remembred me, nether set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long o time? therefore thou feareste not me.

12 I wil declare thy p righteousnes & thy workes, and thei shal not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee, but the winde shal q take them all away: vanitie shal pul them awaie: but he that trusteth in me, shal inherit the land, and shal possesse mine holie Mountaine,

14 r And he shal saie, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the waie: take vp the stombling blockes out of the waie of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holie one, I dwell in the hie and holie place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I wil not contende for euer, nether wil I be alwaies wrath, s for ỹ spirit shulde faile before me: and I haue made the breathe.

17 For his wicked t couetousnes I am angrie with him, & haue smiten him: I hid me & was angrie, yet he went awaie, & turned after ỹ waie of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his waies, and wil x heale him: I wil leade him also, & restore cōfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I creat the x frute of the lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are y farre of, and to them that are nere, saith the Lord: for I wil heale him.

20 But the wicked are like ỹ raging sea, that can z not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt.

Chap. LVIII.

a The Lord thus speaketh to the prophet, willing him to vse all diligence & feaeritie to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They wil seme to worship me & haue outward holines.

CRye a loud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet: and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes.

2 Yet thei b seke me daily, & wil know me my waies, euen as a nacion that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: thei aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil drawe nere vnto God, saying,

3 c Wherefore haue we fasted, & thou seeest it not? we haue punished our selues, & thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you wil seke d your wil, and require all your dettes.

4 Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednes: ye shal not fast as ỹ do to day, to make your voyce be e heard aboue.

5 Is it suche a fast, that I haue chosen ỹ a man shulde afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bulle rush, and to lie downe in sackecloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take of the heauy burdens, & to let the oppressed go fre, and that ye breake euery f yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy self from g thine owne flesh?

8 Then shal thy h light breake forthe as the morning, and thine health shal growe spedely: thy i righteousnes shal go before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shal embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shal answer: thou shalt crye and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forthe of the k finger, and wicked speaking.

10 If thou l powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: thē shal thy light spring out in ỹ m darkenes, and thy darkenes shalbe as the none day.

11 And the Lord shal guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a warred garden, & like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shalbe of thee, ỹ shal buylde the olde n waste places: thou shalt raise vp the fundacions for manie generacions, & thou shalt be called the repairer of the breache & the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou o turne away thy fote from ỹ Sabbath, from doing thy wil on mine holy day, & call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrat it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seking thine owne wil, nor speaking a vaine worde, e Thei are profitable to no purpoſe.

6 Their webbes ſhalbe no garment, nether ſhal they couer them ſelues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, & the worke of cruelties is in their hands.

7 Their fete runne to euil, and they make haſte to ſhed innocent blood: their thoghts are wicked thoghts: deſolacion & deſtruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they knowe not, & there is none equitie in their goings: thei haue made them croked paths: whoſoeuer goeth therein, ſhal not knowe peace.

f That is, Gods vengeãce to puniſh our enemies.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement farre from vs, nether doth [g] iuſtice come nere vnto vs: we waite for light, but lo, it is darkenes, for brightnes: but we walke in darkenes.

g Gods protection to defend vs.

h We are altogether deſtitute of counſel and can finde no end of our miſeries.

10 We grope for the wall like the [h] blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we ſtomble at the none day as in ſ twilight: we are in ſolitarie places, as dead men.

i We expreſſe our ſorowes by outwarde ſignes, ſome more ſome leſſe.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: we loke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

k This confeſſion is general to ſ Church to obteine remiſſion of ſinnes, & ſ Prophetes did not exempt thẽ ſelues from the ſame.

12 For our treſpaces are manie before thee, and our [k] ſinnes teſtifie againſt vs: for our treſpaces are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities.

13 In treſpacing & lying againſt ſ Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, & haue ſpoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceauing and vttering out of the heart falſe [l] matters.

l To wit, againſt our neighbours.

14 Therefore [m] iudgemẽt is turned backeward, and iuſtice ſtandeth farre of: for trueth is fallen in the ſtrete, and equitie can not enter.

m There is nether iuſtice nor vprightnes among men.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euil, maketh him ſelf [n] a pray: and when the Lord ſawe it, it diſpleaſed him, that there was no iudgement.

n The wicked wil deſtroye him.

16 And when he ſaw that there was no man, he wondred that none wolde offer him ſelf. ° Therefore his arme did [p] ſaue it, & his righteouſnes it ſelf did ſuſteine it.

o Meaning, to do iuſtice and to remedie ſ things ſ were ſo farre out of order.

p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it ſelf, & did not ſeke aide of any other.

17 For he put on righteouſnes, as an habergeon, and an [q] helmet of ſaluacion vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, & was clad with zeale as a cloke.

q Signifying that God hathe all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, & to puniſh their enemies, ẅ dwel in diuers places, & beyonde ſ ſea.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduerſaries with a recompence to his enemies: he wil fully repaire the [r] ylands.

r He ſheweth ſ there ſhalbe great affliction in ſ Church, but God wil euer deliuer his.

19 So ſhal they feare the Name of the Lord from the Weſt, and his glorie from the riſing of the ſunne: for the enemie ſhal [t] come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord ſhal chaſe him away.

t Whereby he declareth that ſ true deliuerance from ſinne & Satan belõgeth to none, but to ſ childrẽ of God, whome he iuſtifieth.

20 And the Redemer ſhal come vnto Zion, and vnto [u] them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, ſaith the Lord.

u Becauſe ſ doctrine is made profitable by ſ vertue of ſ Spirit, he ioyneth ſ one with the other, and promiſeth to giue thẽ bothe to his Church for euer.

21 And I wil make this my couenant ẅ them, ſaith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, & my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, [v] ſhal not departe out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſede, nor out of the mouth of the ſede of thy ſede, ſaith the Lord, frõ hence forthe euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

1 The Gentiles ſhal come to the knowledge of the Goſpel. 8 Thei ſhal come to the Church in abundance. 16 They ſhal haue abundance, thogh they ſuffer for a time.

1 ARiſe, [a] Ieruſalem: be bright, for thy light is come, & the glorie of the Lord is riſen vpon thee.

Chap. 1. X.

a The time of thy proſperitie and felicitie: where as ſpeaking of Babylon he commanded her to go downe, Chap. 47. 1.

2 For beholde, darkenes ſhal couer the [b] earth, and groſſe darkenes the people: but the Lord ſhal ariſe vpon thee, & his glorie ſhalbe ſene vpon thee.

b Signifying, ſ all men are in darkenes til God giue them ſ light of his Spirit, & that this light ſhineth to none but to thoſe that are in his Church.

3 And the Gentiles ſhal walke in [c] thy light, & Kings at the brightnes of thy riſing vp.

c Meaning, that Iudea ſhulde be as the morning ſtarre and that the Gentiles ſhulde receiue light of her.

4 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about, and beholde: all [d] theſe are gathered, and come to thee: thy ſonnes ſhal come from farre, & thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt se and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied [e] & enlarged, because the multitude of ỹ sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shal come vnto thee.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shal couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shal come: they shal bring golde and incense, and shewe forthe the praises of the Lord.

7 All the shepe [g] of Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: ỹ rams of Nebaioth shal serue thee: thei shal come vp to be accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I wil beautifie the house of my glorie.

8 Who are these [i] that flee like a cloude, & as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shal waite for me, and the shippes [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning that thei may bring thy sonnes from farre, & their siluer, and their golde [l] them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, & to ỹ holy one of Israel, because he hathe glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of stragers shal buylde vp thy walles, and their [l] Kings shal minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compasion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shal be open continually: nether day nor night shal they be shut that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and ỹ their Kings may be brought.

12 For the nacion and the [m] kingdome, that wil not serue thee, shal perish: and those nacions shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The [n] glorie of Lebanon shal come vnto thee, ỹ fyrre tree, ỹ elme & ỹ boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I wil glorifie the place of my [o] fete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shal come and bowe vnto thee: & all thei ỹ despised thee, shal fall [p] downe at the soles of thy fete: & they shal call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken & hated: so that no man went by thee, I wil make thee an eternal glorie, and a ioye from generacion to generacion.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of ỹ Gentiles, and shalt sucke the [q] breasts of Kings: & thou shalt knowe, that I ỹ Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse wil I bring golde, & for yron wil I bring siluer, & for wood brasse, & for stones yron. I wil also make thy gouernement [r] peace, & thine exactours righteousnes.

18 Violence shal no more be heard of in thy land, nether desolacion, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call [s] saluacion, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, nether shal the brightnes of the [t] moone shine vnto thee: for ỹ Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God thy glorie.

20 Thy sunne shal neuer go downe, nether shal thy moone be hid. for the Lord shal be thine euerlasting light, & ỹ dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shalbe al righteous: thei shal possesse the land for euer, the [v] graffe of my planting shalbe ỹ worke of mine hands, that I maie be glorified.

22 A litle one shal become as a [x] thousand, & a smale one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecyeth that Christ shalbe anointed and sent to preache. 10 The ioye of the faithful.

1 THe * Spirit of the Lord God is [a] vpon me, therefore hathe the Lord anointed me: he hathe sent me to preache good tidings vnto ỹ poore, to binde vp the [b] broken hearted, to preache libertie to the [c] captiues, & to them ỹ are bounde, the opening of the prison,

2 To preache the [d] acceptable yere of ỹ Lord, and the daie of [e] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for [f] ashes, ỹ oyle of ioye for mourning, the garment of gladnes for the spirit of heauines, that thei might be called [g] trees of righteousnes, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And thei shal buylde the olde wast places, & raise vp the former desolations, & thei shal repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many [h] generations.

5 And the strangers shal [i] stande and fede your shepe, & the sonnes of ỹ stranger shalbe your plowe mē & dressers of your vines

6 But ye shalbe named [k] the Priests of ỹ Lord, & men shal saie vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shal eat the [l] riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie.

7 For your shame you shal receiue [m] dou-

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God ſhal diſtroy his enemies for his Churches ſake. 7 Gods benefites towards his Church.

1 WHo is this that commeth a from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparel & walketh in his great ſtrength: b I ſpeake in righteouſnes, & am mightie to ſaue.
2 c Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine preſſe?
3 I haue troden the wine preſſe alone, & of all people there was none with me: for I wil tread them in mine angre, and tread them vnder fote in my wrath, and their blood ſhalbe ſprincled vpon my garmentes, and I wil ſtaine all my raiment.
4 For the daie of vengeance is in mine heart, & the d yere of my redemed is come.
5 And I loked, and there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to vphold: therefore mine owne e arme helped me, and my wrath it ſelf ſuſteined me.
6 Therefore I wil treade downe ſ people in my wrath, and make them drunken in dede the vengeance, which my prophetes a This prophecie is againſt ſ Idumeans, and enemies which perſecuted the Church, on whome God wil take vengeance, and is here ſet forthe all bloody after that he hathe deſtroyed them in Bozrah, ſ chief citie of the Idumeans: for theſe were their greateſt enemies, and vnder the title of circumciſiō, and the kinred of Abrahā claimed to thē ſelues ſ chief religion, and hated ſ true worſhippers, pſal. 137, 7.

b God anſwereth them that aſked this queſtion, Who is this? &c. & ſaith, Ye ſe now performed c Another queſtion, to the which the Lord anſwereth. d Shewing, that when God puniſheth his enemies, it is for ſ profite and deliuerance of his Church. e God ſheweth that he hathe no nede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuſe to do their duetie through negligence, and ingratitude, yet he himſelf wil deliuer his Church and puniſh the enemies, read chap. 59, 16. f I wil ſo aſtoniſh them, and make them ſo giddy, that they ſhal not knowe, which way to go.

kenᵉ in mine indignation, and wil bring downe their ſtrength to the earth.

7 g I wil remembre the mercies of the Lord & the praiſes of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hathe giuen vs, and for the great goodnes towarde the houſe of Iſrael, ẅ he hathe giuen thē according to his tendre loue, & according to his great mercies.

8 For he ſaid, Surely thei are my h people, children that wil not lie: ſo he was their ſauiour.

9 In all their troubles he was i troubled, & the Angel k of his preſence ſaued thē: in his loue and in his mercie he redemed them, and he bare them and caried them all waies continually.

10 But thei rebelled and vexed his holie Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie & he foght againſt them.

11 Then he l remembred the olde time of Moſes and his people, ſaying, Where is he that broght them vp out of the Sea with the m ſhepherd of his ſhepe? where is he that put his holie Spirit within n him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moſes with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make him ſelf an euerlaſting Name.

13 He led them through the depe, as an o horſe in the wildernes, that thei ſhulde not ſtomble, 14 As the beaſt goeth downe into ſ valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them reſt: ſo dideſt thou lead thy people, to make thy ſelf a glorious Name.

15 p Loke downe from heauen, & behold de from the dwelling place of thine holines, & of thy glorie. Where is thy q zeale & thy ſtrength, the multitude of thy mercies, & of thy compaſsions? they are reſtrained from r me.

16 Doutles thou art our Father: though ſ Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Iſrael knowe vs not, yet thou, ô Lord, art our Father, & our redemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why haſt t thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? & hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy ſeruants ſake, & for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holines haue poſſeſſed it, but a litle x while: for our aduerſaries haue trodē downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue bene as they, ouer ẅ whome ỹ neuer bareſt rule, and vpon whome thy Name was not called.

g The prophet ſpeaketh this to moue ſ people to remember Gods benefites in times paſt, ſ they may be cōfirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuſe them to be mine, that they ſhulde be holy, and not deceiue mine expectation.

i He bare their and griefs as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witnes of Gods preſence: & this may be referred to Chriſt, to whome belongeth the office of ſaluation.

l That is, ſ people of Iſrael being afflicted, called to remembrāce Gods benefites, which he hadbeſtowed vpon their fathers in times paſt.

m Meaning, Moſes.

n That is, in Moſes that he might wel gouerne ſ people: ſome referre this giuing of ſ Spirit to ſ people.

o Peaceably and gently, as an horſe is led to his paſture.

p Hauing declared Gods benefites ſhewed to their foreſathers, he turneth him ſelf to God by prayer, deſiring him to continue ſ ſame graces toward them.

q Thy great affection ẅthout bareſts towards vs.

r Meaning from the whole bodieof ſ Church.

ſ Thogh Abraham wolde refuſe vs to be his childrē, yet thou wilt not refuſe to be our father.

t By taking away thy holie Spirit from vs, by whome we were gouerned, and ſo for our ingratitude dideſt deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiſcence, & dideſt puniſh ſinne by ſinne according to thy iuſte iudgement.

v Meaning, for ſ couenants ſake made to Abraham, Izhak & Iaakob his ſeruants.

x That is, in reſpect of ſ promes, ẅ is perpetual: albeit thei had now poſſeſſed the Iād of Canaā, a thouſād, & foure hūdreth yeres: & thus they lamēt, to moue God rather to remēber his couenāt thē to puniſh their ſinnes.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the ſinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteouſnes is like a filthy cloth.

1 OH, that thou woldeſt a breake the heauens, & come downe, & that ſ mountaines might melt at thy preſence?

2 As the melting fyre burned, as ſ fyre cauſed b the waters to boile, (that thou mighteſt declare thy Name to thy aduerſaries) the people did tremble at thy preſence.

3 When thou dideſt terrible things, ẅ we looked not for, thou cameſt downe, and the mountaines melted at thy preſence.

4 For ſince the beginning of ſ worlde they haue not c heard nor vnderſtand ẅ the eare, nether hathe the eye ſene another God beſide thee, which doeth ſo to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou dideſt mete him, d that reioyced in thee, and did iuſtely: they remembred thee in thy e wayes: beholde, thou art angrie, for we haue ſinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we g ſhal be ſaued.

6 But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing, & all our h righteouſnes is as filthy cloutes, & we all do fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, nether that ſtirreth vp him ſelf to take holde of thee: for thou haſt hid thy face from vs, & haſt conſumed vs becauſe of our iniquities.

8 But now, ô Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angrie, ô Lord, k aboue meaſure, nether remember iniquitie for euer: lo, we beſeche thee beholde, we are all thy people.

10 l Thine holie cities lye waſte: Zion is a wildernes, & Ieruſalem a deſert.

11 The Houſe of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, m where our fathers praiſed thee, is burnt vp with fyre, and all our pleaſant things are waſted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy ſelf ſtil n at theſe things, ô Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace & afflict vs aboue meaſure?

a The prophete continueth his prayer, deſiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mightie power as he did in mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raine, haile, fyre, thunder, and lightenings.

c S. paul vſeth the ſame kinde of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueling at Gods great benefite ſhewed to his Church by the preaching of ſ Goſpel.

d Thou ſhewedſt fauour toward our fathers, when thei truſted in thee, and walked after thy commādements.

e Thei conſidered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, ẅ he calleth ſ waies of the Lord.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.

h We are iuſtely puniſhed and broght into captiuitie, becauſe we haue prouoked thee to angre, and thogh we wolde excuſe our ſelues, yet our righteouſnes, & beſt vertues are before thee as before thee as vile cloutes, or, (as ſome read) like the menſtruous clothes of a woman.

i Albeit, o Lord, by thy iuſte iudgement thou maieſt vtterly deſtroye vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hathe pleaſed thee to adopt vs to be thy children.

k For ſo the fleſh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly ſend ſuccor.

l Which were dedicat to thy ſeruice and to call vpon thy Name.

m Wherein we reioyced and worſhiped thee.

n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie? thogh our ſinnes haue deſerued this, yet thou wilt not ſuffer thy glorie thus to be diminiſhed.

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrifieeth in [d] gardens, and burneth incense vpon [e] brickes.
4 Which remaine among the [f] graues, & lodge in the deserts, which eat [g] swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.
5 Which say, [h] Stand aparte, come not nere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath & a fyre that [i] burneth all the day.
6 Behold, it is [k] writen before me: I wil not kepe silence, but wil rendre it & recompense it into their bosome.
7 Your iniquities & ỹ iniquities of your fathers shalbe [l] together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon ỹ mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon ỹ hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome.
8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is founde in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so wil I do for my seruāts sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.
9 But I wil bring a sede out of Iaakob, & out of Iudah, ỹ shal enherit my mountaine: and mine elect shal inherit it, and my seruants shal dwell there.
10 And Sharon [n] shalbe a shepe folde, & the valley of Achor shalbe a resting place for the cattel of my people, that haue sought me.
11 But ye are thei that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holie Mountaine, & haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, & furnish ỹ drinke offrings vnto the nomber.
12 Therefore wil I [p] nomber you to the sworde, and all you shal bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, & ye did not answer: I [q] spake, & ye heard not, but did euil in my sight and did chuse ỹ thing which I wolde not.
13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shal [r] eat, and ye shalbe hungrie: beholde, my seruants shal drinke, & ye shal be thirstie: beholde, my seruantes shal reioyce, & ye shalbe ashamed.
14 Beholde, my seruants shal sing for ioye of heart, and ye shal crye for sorowe of heart, and shal howle for vexation of minde.
15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lord God shal slaie you and call his seruants by [t] another name.
16 He that shal blesse in the [v] earth, shal blesse him self in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shal sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shal surely hide them selues from mine eyes.
17 For lo, I wil creat [y] newe heauens and a newe earth: and the former shal not be remembred nor come into minde.
18 But be you glad & reioyce for euer in the things that I shal creat: for behold, I wil creat Ierusalem as a reioycing & her people as a ioye, 19 And I wil reioyce in Ierusalem, & ioye in my people, & the voice of weping shalbe no more heard in her, nor ỹ voice of crying.
20 There shalbe no more there a childe of yeres, nor an olde man that hathe [z] not filled his daies: for he that shalbe an hundreth yeres olde, shal dye as a yong man: but the sinner being [a] an hundreth yeres olde shalbe accursed.
21 And thei shal [b] buylde houses and inhabit them, & they shal plant vineyardes, and eat the frute of them.
22 Thei shal not buylde, and another inhabit: thei shal not plant, and another eat: for as the daies of the tre are the daies of my people, and mine elect shal inioye in olde age the worke of their hands.
23 Thei shal not labour in vaine, nor bring forthe in feare: for thei are the sede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buddes with them.
24 Yea, before thei call, I wil answer, and whiles thei speake, I wil heare.
25 The [c] wolfe & the lambe shal fede together, and the lion shal eat strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shalbe his meat. Thei shal no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holie Mountaine, saith the Lord.

a Meaning, the Gentiles, which knew not God, shulde seke after hī when he had moued their hearts ẅ his holy Spirit, Ro. 10, 20.
b He sheweth ỹ cause of ỹ reiection of the Iewes, because they wolde not obey him for anie admonition of his prophetes, by whome he called them continually and stretched out his hand to drawe them.
c He sheweth ỹ to delite in our owne fantasies & the declining from God & the beginning of all superstition & idolatrie.
d Which were dedicat to idoles.
e Meaning their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.
f To consult ẅ spirits & to cō iure deuils ẅ was forbidden, Deut. 18, 11.
g Which was contrarie to Gods commandement, Leu. 11, 7. deut. 14, 8.
h He sheweth ỹ hypocrisie is euer ioyned with pride & contēpt of others.
i Their punishment shal ouer haoe end.
k So that ỹ remēbrance thereof can not be forgotten.
l Shalbe bothe punished togethers: & this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers fautes: to wit, when ỹ same fautes or like are founde in them.
m That is, it is profitable vnto them, that God wil not destroy ỹ faithful brāches of his vineyard when he destroieth the rotē stockes, that is the hypocrites.
n Which was a plentiful place in Iudea to fede shepe, as Achor was for cattel.
o By the multitude & nomber he meaneth their innumerable idolts, of whome they thoght they colde neuer haue ynough.
p Seing you can not nomber your gods, I wil nomber you with the sworde.
q By my Prophetes, whome ye wolde not obey.
r By these wordes, Eat & drinke, he meaneth the blessed life of the faithful, ẅ haue al wayes consolacion, & ful contentement of all things in their God, thogh somes times they lacke these corporal things.
s Meaning, ỹ he wolde call the Gentiles, who shulde abhorre, euen the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake.
t Then by ỹ name of ỹ Iewes.
v By blessing, & by sweraring, is ment the praising of God for his benefites, & the true worshiping of him, ẅ shal not be onely in Iudea, but through all the worlde.
x I wil no more suffer my Church to be desolate as in times past.
y I wil so alter and change the state of my Church, ỹ it shal seme to dwel in a newe worlde.
z Meaning, in this wonderful restauracion of ỹ Church there shulde be no weakenes of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all shulde be fresh, and florishing: & this is accomplished in the heauenlie Ierusalem, whē all sinnes shal cease and ỹ teares shalbe wiped away.
a Whereby he sheweth that ỹ infideles & vnrepentant sinners haue no parte of this benediction.
b He proposeth to the faithful the blessings, ẅ are conteined in the Law, and so vnder temporal things comprehendeth ỹ spiritual promises.
c Read Cha. 11, 6.

ked is euerlasting.

Act.7,48.

a My maiestie is so great ẏ it filleth both heauen & earth & therefore cā not be included in a temple like an idole: cōdemning hereby their vaine confidence, ẅ trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

b Seing ẏ bothe the Temple and the things therein ẅ the sacrifices were made & done by his appointmēt, he sheweth that he hathe no nede thereof, & ẏ he can be without them psal. 50,10.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, ẅ receiueth my doctrine ẅ reuerence & feare.

d Because ẏ Iewes thoght thēselues holy by offring of their sacrifices, & in the meane season had nether faith nor repētance, God sheweth ẏ he doeth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doeth the sacrifices of the heathen who offred men, doggs and swine to their idoles ẅ things were expresselȳ forbidden in the Law.

e I wil discouer their wickednes & hypocrisie, wherewith thei thinke to blinde mine eies, to all the worlde.

f He incouraageth the faithful by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites and hated them ẏ feare God.

g The enemies shal shortely heare a more terrible voyce, euen fyre & slaughter, seing thei wolde not heare ẏ gentle voyce of the prophets ẅ called them to repentance.

h Meaning, ẏ the restauration of ẏ Church shulde be so sudden & contrarie to all mens opinion: as whē a woman is deliuered before she loke for it, and ẏ without peine in trauail.

i This shal passe ẏ capacitie of man to se suche a multitude ẏ shal come vp at once, meaning vnder ẏ preaching of ẏ Gospel whereof thei ẏ came vp out of Babylō, were a figure.

k Declaring hereby, ẏ as by his power, & prouidēce a womā trauaileth & is deliuered: so hathe he power to brīg forth his Church at his time appointed.

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefites that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

m I wil giue her felicitie, & prosperitie in great abundance.

n Read Chap. 60,16.

o Ye shalbe cherished, as her derelie beloued children.

p Ye shal haue newe strength & newe beautie.

q This vengeāce God begā to execute at the destruction of Babylon, & hathe euer continued it against the enemies of his Church, and wil do til ẏ last day, ẅ shalbe ẏ accomplishmēt thereof.

r Meaning, the hypocrites.

s Whereby are ment thē ẏ did maliciously transgresse the Law, by eating beasts forbidde, euen to ẏ mouse, ẅ abhorreth nature.

t The Gentiles shalbe partakers of ẏ glorie, ẅ before I shewed to ẏ Iewes.

v I wil marke these ẏ I chuse ẏ they perish not ẅ the rest of ẏ infidcles: whereby he alludeth to the marking of the postes of his people, whome he preserued, Exod. 12,7.

x I wil scatter ẏ rest of ẏ Iewes, ẅ escape destruction, into diuers nations.

y That is, Cilicia.

z Meaning, Africa.

a To wit, Lidia, or Asia minor. Signifying, the Parthians.

b Italie.

c Grecia.

d Meaning, the Apostles, disciples, & others which he did first chuse of the Iewes to preache vnto the Gentiles.

e That is, the Gentiles, which by faith shalbe made the children of Abraham as you are.

f Whereby he meaneth, that no necessarie meanes shal want when God shal call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Gospel.

g Where to preache his worde.

h To wit, of the Gentiles, as he did Luke, Timothie & Tite first, and others after.

i Hereby he signifieth the kingdome of Christ wherein his Church shal be renued, and where as before there were appointed seasons to sacrifice: in this there shalbe one continual Sabbath so that all times and seasons, shalbe mete.

1 THus saith the Lord, * The a heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestole: where is that house that ye wil buylde vnto me? & where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hathe mine hand made, b and all these things haue bene, saith the Lord: & to him wil I loke, euen to him, that is poore, and of c a contrite spirit & trembleth at my wordes.

3 He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he d slew a man: he that sacrificeth a shepe, as if he cutte of a dogges necke: he that offreth an oblation, as if he offred swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, thei haue chosen their owne waies, and their soule deliteth in their abominacions.

4 Therefore wil I e chuse out their delusions, and I wil bring their feare vpon thē, because I called, & none wolde answer: I spake & they wolde not heare: but they did euil in my sight, and chose the things which I wolde not.

5 Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye ẏ tremble at his f worde, Your brethren ẏ hated you, & cast you out for my Names sake, said: Let ẏ Lord be glorified: but he shal appeare to your ioye, and thei shalbe ashamed.

6 g A voyce soundeth from the citie, euē a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenceth his enemies fully.

7 Before h she trauailed, she broght forthe: and before her peine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hathe heard such a thing? who hathe sene suche things? shal the earth be broght forthe in one i day? or shal a nation be borne at once? for assone as Zion trauailed, she broght forthe her children.

9 Shal I k cause to trauaile, & not bring forthe? shal I cause to bring forthe and shalbe baren, saith thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioye with her, all ye that mourne for her,

11 That ye may sucke l & be satisfied ẅ the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delited with the brightnes of her glorie.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold e, I wil extend m peace ouer her like a flood & the glorie of the n Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shal ye sucke, ye shal be o borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfu vpon her knees.

13 As one whome his mother cōforteth, so wil I comforte you, & ye shalbe comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye se this, your heart shal reioyce, and your p bones shal florish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shal be knowen among his seruants, and his indignacion against his enemies.

15 For beholde, the Lord wil come ẅ fyre, & his charets like a whirlewinde, that he may q recompence his angre with wrath, & his indignacion with the flame of fyre.

16 For the Lord wil iudge with fyre, and with his sworde all flesh, & the slaine of the Lord shalbe manie.

17 They that sanctifie r themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tre in the middes eating s swines flesh, & suche abomination, euen ẏ mouse, shalbe consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I wil visit their workes, and their imaginations: for it shal come that I wil gather all nacions, and tongues, & thei shal come, and se my t glorie.

19 And I wil set a v signe among them, & wil send those that x escape of them, vnto the nacions of y Tarshish, z Pul, and a Lud, & to them that drawe the b bowe, to c Tubal and d Iauan, yles a farre of, that haue not heard my fame, nether haue sene my glorie, & e thei shal declare my glorie among the Gentiles.

20 And they shal bring all your f brethrē for an offring vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon g horses, and in charets, & in horse litters, & vpon mules, and swift beasts, to Ierusalem mine holie Moūtaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel offer in a cleane vessel in the House of the Lord.

21 And I wil take of them for h Priests, & for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the newe i heauens, & the newe earth which I wil make, shal remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shal your sede and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and k As he hathe declared ỹ felicitie that shalbe within the Church for the comfort of the godlie, so doeth he shewe what horrible calamitie shal come to the wicked, that are out of the Church.

from Sabbath to Sabbath shal all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shal go forthe, & loke vpon the k carkeises of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shal not dye, neither shal their fyre be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring vnto all flesh.

l Meaning, a continual torment of conscience, which shal euer gnawe them & neuer suffer them to be at rest, Mark. 9, 44. m This is the iuste recompence for the wicked, which contemning God and his worde, shalbe by Gods iuste iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be he that founde out the boke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and moste eudent reuelations of prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophecie, that is, in the thirteenth yere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yere vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeres: vnto the time that they were caryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourty yere, besides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this boke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ieruſalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatrie, couetousnes, subtiltie, cruelties, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolacion of the Church, reueileth the iuste time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubberne and obstinate, when the Prophetes do admonish them moste plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophetes and minsters of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted & rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdely, though God shewe his iuste iudgement against the wicked, yet wil he euer shewe him self a preserver of his Church, and when all meanes seme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then wil he declare him self victorious in preseruing his.

Ieremie prophecied very yonge.

Three things in the prophecie of Ieremie chiefly to be considered.

CHAP. I.

a In what time Ieremiah prophecied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, & is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ieruſalem. 17 He cōmandeth him to preache his worde without feare.

1 THE[a] wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of [b] Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at [c] Anathoth in ỹ land of Beniamin.

2 To whome ỹ [d] worde of the Lord came in the daies of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yere of his reigne:

3 And also in the daies of Iehoiakim the [e] sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto ỹ end of the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto ỹ carying awaie of Ieruſalem captiue in the fifte [f] moneth.

4 Then ỹ worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I [g] formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, & ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the [h] nations.

6 Then said I, [i] Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Saie not, I am a childe: for thou shalt go to all that I shal send thee, and whatsoeuer I commande thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand & [k] touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this daie haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to a That is, ỹ sermons and propheties.

b Which is thoght to be he that founde the booke of the Law vnder King Iosiah, 2. King. 22, 8.
c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ieruſalem, and belonged to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21, 18.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuche as he did not presume of him self to preache and prophecie, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephewe of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths and therefore is not mencioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer. f Of the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar.

g The Scripture vseth this maner of speache to declare, that God hathe appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa. 49, 1. gal. 1, 15.
h For Ieremiah did not onely prophecie against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, and other nations.
i Considering ỹ great iudgemēts of God, which according to his threatnings shulde come vpon the worlde, he was moued with a certeine compassion vn on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise suche a charge, as Isa. 6, 11. exod. 11, 8. 4, 1. k Which declareth, that God maketh them mete, and assureth them, whome he calleth to set forthe his glorie giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Exod. 4, 12. Isa. 6, 7. l He sheweth, what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his worde haue power to beat downe whatsoeuer listeth it self vp against God: & to plant & assure ỹ humble, & suche as giue the selues to the obedience of Gods worde. 2. Cor. 10, 4. Ebr. 4, 12. and these are the keyes which Christ hathe left to loose, and binde, Mat. 18, 18.

destroy and throwe downe, to buylde, & to plant.

11 After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I se a [m] rod of an almonde tre.

12 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou hast sene aright: for I wil haste my worde to performe it.

13 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me the seconde time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I se a seething [n] pot loking out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto me, Out of the [o] North shal a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For lo, I wil call all the families of ỹ kingdomes of the North, saith ỹ Lord, and thei shal come, and euerie one shal set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I wil declare vnto thē my [p] iudgements touching all the wickednes of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshiped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commande thee: be not afrayed of their faces, lest I [q] destroye thee before them.

18 For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an [r] yron piller & walles of brasse against the whole land, against the Kings of Iudah, & against ỹ princes thereof, against ỹ Priests thereof and against the people of the land.

19 For they shal fight against thee, but thei shal not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

m He ioyneth ỹ signe with the worde for a more ample confirmation: signifying by ỹ rod of the almond tre, which first budderth, ỹ hastie comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.

n Signifying, ỹ the Caldeans, & Assyrians shuld be as a pot to seethe ỹ Iewes, which boyled in their pleasures, and lustes.

o Syria & Assyria were North ward in respect of Ierusalem, where the Caldeans dominiō.

p I wil giue thē charge and power to execute my vengeance against ỹ idolaters, which haue forsaken me for their idoles.

q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their duetie faithfully, ether for feare of mā, or for anie other cause, 1. Cor. 9, 16.

r Signifying on the one parte, ỹ the more ỹ Satan, & the worlde rage against Gods ministers, the more presēt wil he be to help them, Iosh. 1, 5. ebr. 13, 5. and on the other parte, that thei are vtterly vnmete to serue God, and his Church, which are afraide, and do not resist wickednes, whatsoeuer danger depende thereon, Isa. 50, 7. ezek. 3, 8.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the Priests and false prophetes. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

2 MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Go, and cry in the eares of Ierusalem, saiyng, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, ẅ the [a] kindenes of thy youth & the loue of thy mariage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes [b] in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was as a thing [c] halowed vnto ỹ Lord, & his first frutes: all they [d] that eat it, shal offend: euil shal come vpon thē, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the worde of the Lord, ô house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, ỹ they are gone [e] farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become [f] vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lord that broght vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through the wildernes, through a desert, and waste land, through a drye land, and [g] by the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I broght you into a plentiful countrey, to eat the frute thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled [h] my land, & made mine heritage an abominacion.

8 The Priests said not, [i] Where is the Lord? and they that shulde minister the [k] Law, knewe me not: the [l] pastours also offended against me, and the prophetes prophecied in [m] Baal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I wil yet [n] plead with you, saith the Lord, & I wil plead with your childrens children.

10 For go ye to the yles of [o] Chittim, & beholde, and send vnto [p] Kedar, and take diligent hede, and se whether there be suche things.

11 Hathe ante nation chāged their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their [q] glorie, for that ẅ doeth not [r] profite.

12 O ye [s] heauens, be astonied at this: be afraied and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me [t] the founraine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israel a [v] seruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The [x] lyons roared vpon him & yelled, a According to ỹ grace, and fauour, ẅ I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and maried thee to my self, Ezek. 16, 3.

b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

c Chosen aboue all other to serue the Lord onely, and ỹ first offred to ỹ Lord of all other nations.

e That is, fallen to moste vile idolatrie.

f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blinde & insensible as the idoles, that thei serue.

l Meaning, the princes and ministers: signifying that all estates were corrupt.

m That is, spake vaine thigs, and broght the people from ỹ true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was ỹ chief idole of ỹ Moabites, are meut all idoles.

n Signifying, ỹ he wolde not as he might, streight way condēne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed, and repent.

o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.

p Vnto Arabia.

q That is, God which is their glorie, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reprouing the Iewes, that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities.

r Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, psal. 106, 36.

s He sheweth, that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods worde, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himself, and so fall to their owne inuencions and vaine confidence, and procure to them selues destruction. Ioa. 2, 8. zach. 10, 2.

v Haue I ordered them like seruants, and not like derelie beloued children? Exo. 4, 22. therefore it is their faut onely, ỹ the enemie spoile them.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie ỹ thei worship the idoles but ỹ they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.
i He compareth the idoles to these beastes, because they neuer cease rūning to and fro: for bothe valleis, and hils are ful of their idolatrie.
k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as she runneth, she can take her winde at euerie occasion.
l That is, when she is with fole, and therefore the hunters waite their time: so thogh thou canst not be turned backe now from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shalbe at the ful, God wil meete with thee.
m Hereby he warneth them that thei shulde not go into strange countreis to seke helpe: for thei shuld but spend their labour, and hurt them selues, which is here ment by the bare fote and thirst, Isa 57,10.

16 Also the children of [z] Noph & Tahapanes haue [a] broken thine head.
17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy self, because thou hast forsaken ỹ Lord thy God, when he [b] led thee by the way?
18 And what hast thou now to do in the way of [c] Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of ỹ [d] Riuer?
19 Thine owne wickednes shal [e] correct thee, & thy turnings backe shal reproue thee: knowe therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, & ỹ my feare is not in thee, saith ỹ Lord God of hostes.
20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, & burst thy bonds, & thou saidest, [f] I wil no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hilles, & vnder all grene trees.
21 Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose [22] plants were all natural: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?
22 Thogh thou wash thee with [g] nitre, & take thee muche sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saithe ỹ Lord God.
23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, nether haue I [h] followed Baalim? beholde thy wayes in ỹ valley, & knowe, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift [i] dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.
24 And as a wilde [k] asse, vsed to the wildernes, that snoffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all thei that seke her, wil not weary them selues, but wil finde her in her [l] moneth.
25 Kepe thou thy fete from [m] barenes, & thy throte from thrist: but thou saidest desperatly, No, for I haue loued strangers, & them wil I followe.
26 As the [n] theefe is ashamed, when he is founde, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their Kings, their princes and their Priests, and their Prophetes, 27 Saying to a tre, Thou art my [o] father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, & helpe vs.
28 But where are thy gods, ỹ thou hast made thee? let them arise, if thei cā helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according [p] to the nomber of thy cities, are thy gods, ô Iudah.
29 Wherefore wil [q] ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, saieth the Lord.
30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your [r] owne sworde hathe deuoured your Propheteslike a destroying lyon.
31 O generacion, take hede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a [s] wildernes vnto Israel? or a land of darkenes? Wherefore saith my people then, We are [t] lords, we wil come no more vnto thee?
32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without nomber.
33 Why doest thou prepare thy way, to [v] seke amitie? euen therefore wil I teache thee, that thy waies are wickednes.
34 Also in thy [x] wings is founde ỹ blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not founde it in holes, but vpon all these places.
35 Yet thou saist, Because I am giltles, surely his wrath shal turne from me: beholde, I wil entre with thee into judgement, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned.
36 Why runnest thou about so muche to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, [y] as thou art confounded of Asshur.
37 For thou shalt go forthe from thence, and thine hands vpon [z] thine head, because the Lord hathe reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiseth the restitucion of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

1 THey [a] say, If a man put away his wife, & she go from him, and become another mans, shal he returne againe vnto her? shal not this land [b] be polluted? but thou hast plaied ỹ harlot with many [c] louers: yet [d] turne againe to me, saith the Lord.
2 Lift vp thine eies vnto the high places, & beholde, where ỹ hast not plaied ye harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the [e] Arabian in the wildernes: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, & with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the [f] latter raine came not, and thou hadde[s]t a [g] whores forheade: thou woldest not be ashamed.

4 Didest thou not stil crye [h] vnto me, Thou art my father, & the guide of my youth?

5 Wil he kepe his angre for euer? wil he reserue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euil, euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto me, in ye daies of Iosiah ye King, Hast thou sene what this rebel [i] Israel hathe done? for she hathe gone vp vpō euery high mountaine, & vnder euery grene tre, & there plaied the harlot.

7 And I said, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe.

8 When I sawe, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had plaied the harlot, I cast [k] her away, and gaue her a byl of deuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afrayed, but she went also, & plaied the harlot.

9 So that for the [l] lightnes of her whoredome she hathe euen defiled ye land: for she hathe committed fornication wt stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheles for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hathe not returned vnto me with [m] her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hathe [n] iustified her self more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Go and crye these wordes towarde [o] ye North and saie, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, & I wil not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, & I wil not alway kepe mine angre.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God and hast [p] scatered thy waies to ye strange gods vnder euerie grene tre, but ye wolde not obeye my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith ye Lord, for I am your Lord, & I wil take you one of a citie, & two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zion,

15 And I wil giue you pastours according to mine heart, wt shal fede you wt knowledge & vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased and multiplied in ye land, in those daies, saith ye Lord, thei shal say no more, The [q] Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shal come no more to minde, nether shal they remember it, nether shal they visit it, for that shalbe no more done.

17 At that time they shal call Ierusalem, [r] The throne of the Lord, and all the nacions shalbe gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence forthe they shal followe no more the hardenes of their wicked heart.

18 In those daies the house of Iudah shal walke with the house of Israel, and thei shal come together out of the land of the [s] North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children & giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, & said, Thou shalt call me saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her [t] husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, o house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 [v] A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weping and supplications of the children of Israel: for thei haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne & I wil heale your rebellions. [x] Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art ye Lord our God.

23 Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hathe deuoured our [y] fathers labour, from our youth their shepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, & our shame couereth vs: [z] for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we & our fathers from oure youth: euen vnto this day, & haue not obeied the voyce of ye Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophecied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

1 O Israel, if thou returne, [a] returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominacions out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt [b] sweare, The Lord liueth, in trueth, in iudgement, & in righteousnes, teousnes, and the nacions shalbe blessed in him, and shal glorie in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem, c He willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and the wicked affectiõ & worldelie respectes out of their heare, ỹ the true sede of Gods worde may be sowen therein, Hose.10, 12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut. 10, 16. rom. 2, 29. col. 2, 11.

4 Breake vp c your fallow grounde, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forthe like fyre, & burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your inuentions.

d He warneth them of ỹ great dangers ỹ shal come vpon thẽ by the Caldeis, except they repent, and turne to the Lord.

5 d Declare in Iudah, and shewe forthe in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crye, and gather together, & say, Assemble your selues, and let vs go into strong cities.

e He speaketh this to admonish them of ỹ great dager whe euery man shal prepare to saue him self, but it shalbe to late, 2. King. 25, 4.

6 Set vp the standart in Zion: e prepare to flee, & stay not: for I wil bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

f Meaning Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babylõ 2. King. 24, 1.

7 f Lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, & gone forthe of his place to lay thy land waste, & thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with sackecloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

g That is, ỹ false prophetes ẅ still prophecied peace and securitie.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord, ỹ heart of the King shal perish, & the heart of the princes and the Priests shalbe astonished, and the g Prophetes shal wonder.

h By the false prophetes, ẅ promised peace and tranquilitie: & thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubernes by causing them to hearken vnto lies ẅ wolde not beleue thy trueth 2. King. 27, 23 ezek. 14, 9 2. thess. 2, 11.

10 Then said I, Ah Lord God, surely ỹ hast h deceiued this people & Ierusalẽ, saying, Ye shal haue peace, and ỹ sworde perceth vnto the heart.

i The North winde whereby he meaneth Nebuchad-nezzar.

11 At ỹ time shal it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A drye i winde in the hie places of ỹ wildernes cometh toward the daughter of my people, but nether k to fan nor to clense.

k Neither ỹ sharpenes of my worde shal make them to repent.

12 A mightie winde shal come vnto me from those places, & now wil I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he shal come vp as the l cloudes, and his charets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then egles. m Wo vnto vs, for we are destroied.

m This is spoken in the persone of all the people who in their affliction shulde crye thus.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou maiest be saued: how long shal thy wicked thoghts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

p Which kepe the frutes so streitly, ỹ nothing can come in nor out: so shulde the Babylonians compasse Iudah.

18 Thy waies and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, suche is thy wickednes: therefore it shalbe bitter, therefore it shal perce vnto thine hart.

19 My bely, q my bely, I am peined, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I can not be styl: for my soule hathe heard the sounde of the trumpet, & the alarme of the battel.

q He sheweth ỹ true ministers are liuely touched with ỹ calamities of ỹ Church, so that all ỹ partes of their bodie fele ỹ grief of their heart, albeit ỹ zeale to Gode glorie thei pronounce his iudgements against the people.

20 Destruction vpon destructiõ is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my r tentes destroyed, & my curteines in a moment.

r Meaning the cities, ẅ were as easely cast downe as a tent.

21 How long shal I se the standart, & heare the sounde of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, thei haue not knowen me: thei are foolish childrẽ, & haue none vnderstanding: s thei are wise to do euil, but to do wel thei haue no knowledge.

s Their wisdome and policie tende to their owne destruction, & pulleth them frõ God.

23 I haue loked vpon the earth, and lo, it was without forme and t voide: and to the heauens, and thei had no light.

t By these maner of speaches he sheweth the horrible destruction that shulde come vpon ỹ land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of ỹ people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tydings, seing ỹ the insensible creatures are moued therewith, as if ỹ order of nature shulde be changed, Isa. 13, 10. & 24, 23. eze. 32, 7. ioel. 2, 31. & 3, 15.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and lo, they trembled and all the hilles shooke.

25 I beheld, and lo, there was no man, & all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and lo, ỹ fruteful place was a wildernes, and all their cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of ỹ Lord, & by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hathe the Lord said, The whole lãd shalbe desolate: yet wil I u not make a ful end.

u But for his mercie sake he wil reserue him selfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa. 2, 9.

28 Therefore shal the earth mourne, & the heauens aboue shalbe darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thoght it, and wil not repent, nether wil I turne backe from it.

x Nether thy ceremonies nor riche giftes shal deliuer thee.

29 The whole citie shal flee, for ỹ noise of the horsmen and bowe men: thei shal go into thickets, & clime vp vpon the rockes: euerie citie shalbe forsaken, & not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou do? Thogh thou x clotheste thy self with skarlet, thogh thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, thogh thou painteste thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy self in vaine: for thy louers wil abhorre thee & seke thy life.

y As the Prophetes were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so thei declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isa. 22, 4. chap. 9.

CHAP. V.

In Iudah no righteous man found nether among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroied of the Caldeans.

1 RVnne to & fro by the stretes of Ierusalem, and beholde now, & knowe, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seketh the trueth, and I wil spare[a] it.

2 For thogh thei say, The[b] Lord liueth, yet do thei sweare falsely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eies vpon the [c]trueth? thou hast[d] strikē them, but thei haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but thei haue refused to receiue correction: thei haue made their faces harder then a stone, & haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I said, Surely thei are poore, they are foolish, for thei knowe not ỹ way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I wil get me vnto the [e]great men, and wil speake vnto thē: for thei haue knowen the way of the Lord, & the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes.

6 Wherefore [f]a lion out of the forest shal slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernes shal destroye them: a leoparde shal watche ouer their cities: euerie one that goeth out thence, shalbe torne in pieces, because their trespaces are many, and their rebellions are encreased.

7 How shulde I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, & [g]sworne by them ỹ are no gods: thogh I fed them to the ful, yet thei committed adulterie, & assembled them selues by companies in the harlottes houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euerie man * neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shal I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? Shal not my soule be auenged on suche a nation, as this?

10 [h]Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a ful end: take away their batilments, for thei are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespaced against me, saith the Lord.

12 Thei haue [k]denied the Lord, & said, It is not he, nether shal the plague come vpō vs, nether shal we se sworde nor famine.

13 And the Prophetes shalbe as [l] winde, and the worde is [m]not in them: thus shal it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes; Because ye speake suche wordes, beholde, I wil put my wordes [n] in to thy mouth, like a fyre, and this people shal be as wodde, and it shal deuoure them.

15 Lo, I wil bring a nation vpon you[o] frō far, ô house of Israel, saith the Lord, ẅ is a mightie nacion, and an ancient nacion, a nacion whose liguage thou knowest not, nether vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an [p] open sepulchre: thei are all very strong.

17 And thei shal eat thine haruest & thy bread: thei shal deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: thei shal eat vp thy shepe and thy bullockes: thei shal eat thy vines & thy figtrees: thei shal destroie with the sworde thy fensed cities, wherein thou dideste truste.

18 Neuertheles at those daies, saith the Lord, I wil not make a ful end of [q]you.

19 And when * ye shal saie, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt [r] thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shal ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob & publish it in Iudah, saying, Ieremiah is commanded to shewe vnto the people the worde of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The euils that shal come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophetes. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they shulde obeye his worde.

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords House & crye this worde there, and saie, Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye of Iudah that entre in at these gates to worshiped the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, ſ God of Israel,* Amend your waies and your workes, and I wil let you dwell in this place.

4 Truste not in [a] lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend & redresse your waies and your workes: if you execute iudgement betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherles and the widdowe and shed no innocent blood in this place, nether walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then [b] will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Beholde, you truste in lying wordes, that can not profite.

9 Wil you steale, murder and commit adulterie and sweare falsely & burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whome ye knowe not?

10 And come & stand before me in this House, whereupō my Name is called, & saie, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

r Forasmuche as none can saue him self by his owne labour or anie worldlie meanes, he sheweth ỹ it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but ỹ we trust in the Lord, & reioyce in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1.31. 2. cor. 10, 17.

s These thre pointes are necessarie to knowe aright: his mercie wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked, and his iustice, whereby he defendeth, and mainteineth the faithful.

CHAP. X.

2 The confellacions of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknes of idoles, & of the power of God. 21 Their pastours are become brute beasts.

1 HEare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, ô house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraide for the [a] signes of heauen, thogh ỹ heathen be afraide of suche.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations & coniunctions of starres, and planets, & haue no power of them

For the [b] customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tre out of ỹ forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe.

selues, but are gouerned by him, and their secret motions and influences are not knowen to man, and therefore there can be no certeine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18, 9. b Meaning not onely in ỹ obseruation of the starres, but their lawes & ceremonies, whereby they cōfirme their idolatrie, & is forbidde, Deu. 12, 30.

4 And another decketh it [c] with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tre, but speake not: they are borne because they can not go: feare them not, for they can not do euil, nether can they do good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, ô Lord: [d] thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who wolde not feare thee, ô King of nations? for to thee apperteineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of ỹ Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether thei dote, and are foolish: for ỹ stocke is [e] doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are broght from Tarshish, and golde [f] from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blewe silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his angre the earth shal tremble, & ỹ nations cā not abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shal you say vnto them, The gods [g] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shal perish from ỹ earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 He hathe made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdome, & hathe stretched out ỹ heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from ỹ ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forthe the winde out of his treasures.

14 Euerie man is a [h] beast by his owne knowledge: euerie founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehode, & there is no breth therein.

15 They are vanitie, & the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shal perish.

16 The [i] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, & Israel is the rod of his inheritance: ỹ Lord of hostes is his Name.

17 ¶ [k] Gather vp thy wares out of ỹ land ô thou that dwellest in the strong place.

c The prophetes vse thus plainely & simply to set forthe the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of ỹ, whereunto their corrupt nature is moste subiect, read Isa 44.12.

d He teacheth ỹ people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hathe all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: & herein he sheweth thē not onely ỹ euil ỹ they ought to eschew but the good, & they ought to follow Reuel 15, 4.

e Because ỹ people thought that to haue images was a meane to serue God & to bring them to ỹ knowledge of him, he sheweth ỹ nothing more displeaseth God nor bringeth man in no greater errors and ignorance of God: & therefore he calleth thē the doctrine of vanitie, ỹ worke of errors, ver 15, & Habak. 2.18. calleth them ỹ teachers of lies: contrarie to ỹ wicked opinion, ỹ thei are ỹ bokes of ỹ laye people.

f Where as they founde ỹ best golde: shewing, ỹ thei thogh nothing to deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1. Kin. 9, 28.

g This declareth ỹ all, ỹ hathe bene in this Chapter spoke of idoles, was to arme the Iewes when they shulde be in Caldea among the idolaters, & now & one sentence he instructeth them to protest their owne religion against ỹ idolaters, & how to answer thē to their shame & shulde exhorte thē to idolatrie, & therefore he writeth this sentence in ỹ Caldeans tongue for a memorial, where as all the rest of his writing is Ebrewe.

h The more ỹ man thinketh to do anie thing wel by his owne wisdome, & not as God instructeth him, ỹ more doeth he prouehim self to be a vile beast.

i By these wordes, Portion & rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, ỹ God shulde be all sufficient for them, & ỹ their felicitie consisted in him alone, & therefore thei ought to renounce all other helpes, & succours as of idoles, &c. Deut. 32, 9. psal. 16, 5.

k The Prophet willeth ỹ Iewes to prepare thē selues to this captivitie, shewing ỹ it was now at hād, ỹ they shulde sele ỹ things, whereof he had tolde thē.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, at this time I wil throwe as with a sling ỹ inhabitans of the land, and wil trouble them, and they shal finde it so.

19 Wo is me for my destruction, & my grieuous plague: but I thoght, Yet it [l] is my sorowe, and I wil beare it.

20 [m] My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my courtaines.

21 For the pastors [n] are become beastes, and haue not soght the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: & all the flockes of their pastures are scatered.

22 Beholde, the noise of the brute is come, & a great cõmotion out of ỹ [o] North cõtrey, to make the cities of Iudah desolate, & a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I knowe, that [p] the way of mã is not in him self, nether is it in man to walke & to direct his steps.

24 O Lord, correct me, but with [q] iudgement, not in thine angre, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out [r] thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eatẽ vp Iaakob & deuoured him & consumed him, and haue made his habitacion desolate.

l It is my iuste plague & therefore I wil take it pacietly: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue them selues toward God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shal lament.

n The gouernours and ministers.

o Read Chap. 4, 15.

p He speaketh this, because ỹ Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedechiahs rebellion, he turned his power to go against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21, 21. therefore ỹ Prophet faith, ỹ this was ỹ Lords direction.

q Considering that God had reueiled vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7, 16, he onely prayeth, that he wolde punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth, in measure. Cha. 27, 8. measuring his roddes by their infirmitie, 1. Cor. 10, 13. for here by iudgement is ment not onely the punishment, but also the mereciful moderacion of the same, as Chap. 30, 11. r For as muche as God can not onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that he vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, he praieth that his glorie may fully appeare bothe in the one & the other, psal. 79, 6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the wordes of Gods couenant. 10 The people of Iudah, following the steppes of their fathers, worshippe strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to praie for them.

1 THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenãt, & speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith ỹ Lord God of Israel, [a] Curſed be ỹ man that obeieth not the wordes of this couenant,

4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I broght them out of ỹ land of Egypt, from the yrõ fornace, saiyng, Obey my voyce, and do according to all these things, which I commãde you: so shal ye be my people, and I wil be your God,

5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, [w] floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered [b] I & said, So be it, ô Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Crye all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the stretes of Ieruſalem, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and do them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I broght them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuertheles they wolde not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in ỹ stubbernes of his wicked [d] heart: therefore I wil bring vpon them all the [e] wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but thei did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is founde among the men of Iudah, & among the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, [w] refused to heare my wordes: & they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, & ỹ house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon them, which they shal not be able to escape, and thogh they crye vnto me, [g] I wil not heare them.

12 Then shal the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem go, and crye vnto the gods vnto whome thei offer incense, but they shal not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 [h] For according to the nomber of thy cities were thy gods, ô Iudah, and according to the nomber of the stretes of Ieruſalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray [i] for this people, nether lift vp a crye, or prayer for them: for when thei crye vnto me in their trouble, I wil not heare them.

15 What shulde my [k] beloued tary in mine house, seing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euil, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A grene oliue tre, faire, & of goodlie frute: but with [m] noise and great tumult he hathe set fyre vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hathe pronounced a plague against thee, a He calleth ỹ Iewes to ỹ consideracion of Gods mercies, who freli chose thẽ made a couenant of eternal felicitie w them, & how he euer performed it on his behalf, & how they euer shewed them selues rebellious and ingrate toward him and brake it on their parte, and so are subiect to the curse of the Law' Deut. 2, 16.

b Thus he speaketh in ỹ person of ỹ people, w agreed to the couenant.

thee, (for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah) which thei haue done against them selues to prouoke me to angre in offring incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hathe taught me, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst me [n] their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is broght to the slaughter, and I knewe not that thei had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs [o] destroye the tre with the frute thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lord of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and tryest the reines & the heart, let me se thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seke thy life, & say, [r] Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, ỳ thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil visit them: the yong men shal dye by the sworde: their sonnes & their daughters shal dye by famine, 23 And none of them shal remaine: for I wil bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yere of their visitacion.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet maruelleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nacions, that troubled Iudah.

1 O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art [a] righteous: yet let me talke ẅ thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the waye of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in welth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: thei growe, & bring forthe frute: thou art nere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

3 But thou, Lord knowest me: thou hast sene me, and tryed mine heart toward thee: pul them out like shepe for the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for ỳ day of slaughter.

4 How long shal the land mourne, and ỳ herbes of euery field wither. for ỳ wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed and the byrdes, because they said, [e] He wil not se our last end.

5 If thou hast runne with the [f] fotemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how cāst thou matche thy self with horses? & if thou thoghtest thy self safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen thei haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, & they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, thogh they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken [g] mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the derelie beloued of my soule into the hāds of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a [h] lyon in the forest: it cryeth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shal mine heritage be vnto me, as a birde [i] of diuerse colours? are not ỳ birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my [k] vineyarde, and troden my porcion vnder fote: of my pleasant porcion they haue made a desolate wildernes.

11 They haue laid it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no mā setteth his minde on [l] it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernes: for the sworde of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shal haue peace.

13 [m] They haue sowen wheat, and reaped thornes: they were [n] sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of [o] your frutes, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euil [p] neighbours, that touche the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite. Beholde, I wil plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

Chap. XII.

a The prophet confesseth God to be iuste in all his doings, although mā be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.

b This question hathe bene alway a great tentacio to ỳ godlie, to se ỳ wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his dere children in aduersitie, as Iob 21, 7. psal 37, 1. 73, 1. Haba 1, 3.

c They professe God in mouthe, but denie him in heart, which is here ment by the reines, Isa. 29, 13. mat. 15, 8.

d The Ebrewe worde is, Sanctifie thē, meaning, that God wolde be sanctified in ỳ destruction of ỳ wicked, to whome God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterwarde they shulde the more fele his heauy iudgement when they lacke their riches, ẅ were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie & his promises, they flattered them selues as though God wolde euer be merciful, & not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened them selues in sinne, til at length ỳ beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubbernes in rebellio against God.

f Some thinke ỳ God reproueth Ieremiah in ỳ, that he wolde reason ẅ him, saying, ỳ if he were not able to matche ẅ mē that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by ỳ fote men, meane thē of Anathoth, & by the horse men them of Ierusalem, ẅ shulde trouble the prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

1 THus saith the Lord vnto me, Go, and bye thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I boght the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the seconde time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast boght, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, & hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many daies, the Lord said vnto me, Arise, go toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I cõmanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, & toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner wil I destroye the pride of Iudah, & the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, & walke after ỹ stubbernes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a mã, so haue I tyed to me ỹ whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that thei might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glorie, but thei wolde not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt saie vnto them this worde, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euerie u bottel shalbe filled with wine, and thei shal saie vnto thee, Do we not knowe ỹ euerie bottle shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil fill all ỹ inhabitants of this land, euen the King that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests and the Prophetes and all ỹ inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennes.

14 And I x wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I wil not spare, I wil not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroie them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hathe spoken it.

16 Giue glorie to the Lord your God before he bring d darkenes, and or euer your fete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you loke for e light, he turne it into the shadowe of death & make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye wil not heare this, my soule shal f wepe in secret for your pride, & mine eye shal wepe & drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried awaie captiue.

18 Saie vnto the g King and to ỹ Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for ỹ crowne of your glorie shal come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them: all Iudah shalbe caried awaie captiue: it shalbe wholy caried awaie captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North, where is the i flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautiful flocke.

21 What wilt thou saie, when he shal visit thee? (for thou hast k taught them to be captaines & as chief ouer thee) shal not sorow take thee as a woman in trauail?

22 And if thou saie in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts l discouered & thy heles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More chãge his skin? or the leopard his spottes? then maie ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euil.

24 Therefore wil I scatre them, as the stubble that is takẽ awaie with ỹ South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the parte of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me & trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that shulde come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithful people are not heard. 12 Of prayer fasting, and of false prophetes that seduce the people.

THe worde of the Lord ý came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a dearth.
2 Iudah hathe mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene
b broght to heauines vnto the grounde, and the crye of Ierusalem goeth vp.
3 And their nobles haue sent their in-feriours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed & confounded, and c couered their heads.
4 For the grounde was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmẽ were ashamed, & couered their heades.
5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsoke d it, because there was no grasse.
6 And the wilde asses did stand in ý high places, and drewe in their winde like e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.
7 f O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellios are manie, we sinned against thee.
8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a g stranger in the land, as one ý passeth by to tarie for a night?
9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that can not helpe?
yet thou, ô Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.
10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wandre:
they haue not refrained their fete, therefore the Lord hathe no delite in them:
but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes.
11 Then said the Lord vnto me, i Thou shalt not praye to do this people good.
12 When they fast, I wil not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offring, and an oblation, I wil not accept them:
but I wil consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by ý pestilence.
13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, be-holde, the k Prophetes say vnto them, Ye shal not se the sworde, nether shal famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place.
14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The Prophetes prophecie lies in my Name.
* I haue not sent them, nether did I cō-mande them, nether spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, & de-ceitfulnes of their owne heart.
15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophetes that prophecie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sworde & famine shal those Prophetes be consumed.
16 And the people to whome these Pro-pheetes do prophecie, shalbe cast out in the stretes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sworde, & there shalbe none to burye them, bothe they, & their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them.
17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop dow-ne l teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.
18 For if I go into the field, beholde the slaine with the sworde: & if I entre into the citie, beholde them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring m into a land that they know not.
19 Hast thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hathe thy soule abhorred Zion? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We looked for peace, & there is no good, & for the time of health, & be-holde trouble.
20 We o acknowledge, ô Lord, our wickednes & the iniquitie of our fathers:
for we haue sinned against thee.
21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.
22 Are there anie among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showers? is it not thou, ô Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

a Which came for lacke of raine, as ver. 4.
b The worde signifieth to be made blacke, & so is here taken for extreme sorowe.
c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe.
d Meaning, that the brute beasts for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, contrarie to nature, & to go seke water, ẅ they colde not finde.
e Which are so hote of nature, ý thei can not be couled ẅ drinking of water, but stil gape for the aire to refresh them.
f He sheweth ý onely way to remedie Gods plagues, ẅ is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, & returning to him by repentance.
g That taketh no care for vs.
h As one ý hathe the strength to helpe, & yet is afraid to put to his hands.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord wolde heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroye them with foure plagues.

1 THē said ý Lord vnto me, a Though Moses & Samuel stode before me, yet mine affection colde not be toward

Chap. 23. 21. & 27. 21. & 29. 8.

l The false prophetes promised peace, & assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares, & repentance for their affliction, ẅ is at hand, as Chap. 9. 1. lamēt. 1. 16. & 2. 18.
m Bothe hie, & lowe shalbe led captiues into Babylon.
n Though ý Prophet knew that God had cast of the multitude, ẅ were hypocrites, and bastard children, yet he was assured that for his promes sake he wolde haue stil a Church, for the ẅ he prayeth.
o He teacheth ý Church a forme of prayer, to humble the selues to God by true repentance, ẅ is ý onelie meane to auoide this famine, ẅ was the beginning of Gods plagues.
p Meaning their idoles, read Cha. 10, 15.
a Meaning, ý if there were anie man liuing moued ẅ so great zeale toward ý people, as were these two, yet ý the wolde not grante this requeste, forasmuche as he had determined the contrarie, Exek. 14. 14.

this people: cast them out of my sight, & let them departe.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shal we departe? then tel them, Thus saith the Lord, * Suche as are appointed to death, vnto death: & suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde, & suche as are for the famine to the famine, and suche as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

Zach. 11 9.

3 And I wil appointe ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the [b] doggs to teare in pieces, & the foules of the heauen, & the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroye.

b The dogs, birdes & beastes shulde deuoure them, that were slaine.

4 I wil [c] scater them also in all kingdomes of the earth, [d] because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

c The words signifieth to remoue to & fro for feare, & vnquietnes of conscience, as did Kain.

d Not that the people was punished for the Kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2. King. 21, 9.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpon thee, ô Ierusalem? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shal go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith ỹ Lord, & gone backwarde: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroye thee: for I [e] am wearie with repenting.

e That is, I wil not call backe my plagues, or spare thee anie more.

7 And I wil scatre them with the [f] fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, & destroyed my people, yet they wolde not returne frō their wayes.

f Meaning, ỹ cities.

8 Their widdowes [g] are increased by me aboue the sand of the sea: I haue broght vpon them, & against the [h] assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at none day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and [i] spedely.

g Because I had slaine their housbands.

h Or, mother.

i Or fearefully.

9 She that hathe borne [k] seuen, hathe bene made weake: her heart hathe failed: the sunne hathe failed [l] her, whiles it was day: she hathe bene cōfounded, & ashamed, and the residue of them wil I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith the Lord.

k She that had manie, lost all her children.

l She was destroyed in the middes of her prosperitie.

10 ¶ [m] Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither [n] lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euerie one doeth curse me.

m These are the prophets wordes, complaining of ỹ obstinacie of ỹ people, & ỹ he was reserued to so wicked a time wherein also he sheweth what is ỹ condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all ỹ worlde against them, though thei giue none occasion.

11 The Lord said, [o] Surely thy remnant shal haue welth: surely I wil cause thine enemie to intreat thee in the time of trouble and in the time of affliction.

n Which is an occasion.

o Which is an occasion of contention & hatred.

12 Shal the [p] yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from ỹ North?

p In this perplexitie the Lord conforted me, & said that my last dayes shulde be quiet: & by ỹ enemie he meaneth here, Nebuzardā ỹ captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiah ỹ choise either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whether he wolde: or by ỹ enemie he meaneth ỹ Iewes, wh shulde afterward knowe Ieremiahs fidelitie, & therefore fauour him.

13 Thy substance & thy treasures wil I giue to be spoiled without [q] gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.

q Or, ransome.

14 And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fyre is kindled in mine angre, which shal burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remembre me, & visit me, and reuenge me of my [r] persecuters: take me not awaie in the continuance of thine angre: knowe that for thy sake I haue suffred rebuke.

r He speaketh not this for desire of reuēgeance, but wishing ỹ God wolde deliuer his Church of them whome he knewe to be hardened, & incorrigible.

16 Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did [s] eat them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioye & reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, ô Lord God of hostes.

s I receiued thē wt as great ioye as he that is assamished eateth meat.

17 I sate not in the assemblie of ỹ mockers, nether did I reioyce, but sate alone [t] because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

t I had nothing ado with ỹ wicked contemners of thy worde, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what ỹ faithful shulde do when thei se tokens of Gods angre.

18 Why is mine heauines continual? & my plague desperate & can not be healed? why art thou vnto me [u] as a lyer, and as waters that faile.

u And hast not assisted me according to thy promes? wherei appeareth, ỹ in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, wh through impacience is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20, 8.

19 Therefore thus saith ỹ Lord, If thou [x] returne, then wil I bring thee againe, & thou shalt stand before me: & if thou take awaie the [y] precious from the vile, thou shalt be [z] according to my worde: let them returne [a] vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

x If thou forget these carnal cōsiderations, & faithfully execute thy charge.

y That is, seke to winne the good from the bad.

z To wit, as my mouth hathe pronounced Chap. 1, 18. & as here followeth vers. 20.

20 And I wil make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, [b] and thei shal fight against thee, but thei shal not [c] preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee & to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

a Conforme not thy self to their wickednes, but let thē followe thy godlie example.

b I wil arme thee wt an inuincible strength & constācie, so that all ỹ powers of ỹ worlde shal not ouercome thee.

c They shal not ouercome thee.

21 And I wil deliuer thee out of ỹ hand of the wicked, and I wil redeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marie, sheweth him what shulde be the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 19 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 THe worde of ỹ Lord came also vnto me, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take [a] thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

a Chap. XVI. Meaning, that ỹ affliction shulde be so horrible in Ierusalē, ỹ wife, & children shulde but increase his sorowe.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning ỹ sonnes, and concerning the daughters ỹ are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land.

4 Thei shal dye of deaths & diseases: thei thei shal not be lamented, nether shal thei be buryed, but thei shalbe as dongue vpon the earth, and thei shalbe consumed by the sworde, and by famine, and their carkeises shalbe meat for ỹ foules of the heauen, and for the beastes of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, [b]Entre not into the house of mourning, nether go to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.

6 Bothe the great, & the smale shal dye in this land: thei shal not be buryed, nether shal men lament for them, [c]nor cut them selues, nor make them selues bald for them.

7 Thei shal not stretche out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, nether shal thei giue thē ỹ [d] cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting to sit with them to eat & to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your daies the voice of mirth, & the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, & thei shal saie vnto thee, *Wherefore hathe ỹ Lord pronoūced all this great plague against vs? or what is [e] our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, & haue serued thē, & worshiped them, & haue forsakē me, & haue not kept my Law.

12 (*And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euerie one after the stubbernes of his wicked heart, and wil not heare me)

13 Therefore wil I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, nether you, nor your fathers, & there shal ye serue other gods daie and night: for I wil shewe you no grace.

14 *Beholde, therefore, saith the Lord, ỹ daies come that it shal no more be said, The Lord liueth, which broght vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

15 But the Lord liueth ỹ broght vp the children of Israel [f] from the land of the North, and from all ỹ lāds where he had scatered them, & I wil bring thē againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Beholde, saith the Lord, I wil send out many [g] fishers, and thei shal fish them, & after, wil I send out many hūters, & thei shal hunt them from euerie mountaine and from euerie hill, and out of ỹ caues of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes are vpō all their waies: thei are not hid from my face, nether is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I wil recompence their iniquitie and their sinne double, becaus they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie [h] carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my [i] force, & my strength & my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shal come vnto thee from the ends of the worlde, and shal say, Surely our fathers haue inherited [k] lies, & vanitie, wherein there was no profite, 20 Shal a man make gods vnto him self, & they are no gods?

21 Beholde, therefore I wil this once [l] teache them: I wil shewe them mine hād & my power, & thei shal know that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardnes of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mās heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keping of the Sabbath commanded.

1 THe sinne of Iudah is [a] writen with a penne of yron & with the point of a diamonde, & grauen vpon the [b] table of their heart, & vpon the hornes of your [c] altars.

2 [d] They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the grene trees vpon the hie hilles.

3 [e] O my mountaine in the field I wil giue thy substance, & all thy treasures to be spoiled, for ỹ sinne of thy high places through out all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, ỹ and in thee shalbe a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, & I wil cause thee to serue thine enemies in the lād, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindled a fyre in mine angre, which shal burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, [g] Cursed be the mā that trusteth in mā, & maketh flesh k Our fathers were most vile idolaters: therefore it cometh onely of Gods mercie, that he performeth his promes, & hathe not vtterly cast vs of.

l They shal once againe feele my power, & mercie for their deliuerance, that thei may learne to worship me.

a The remembrance of their contēpt of God can not passe, albeit for a time he deferre ỹ punishment, for it shalbe manifest to me & Angels.

b In stead of the Law of God, thei haue writen idolatrie & all abominations in their heart.

7 Blessed be the man, that trusteth in ỹ Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 h For he shalbe as a tre that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out here rootes by the riuer, and shal not fel when the heat cometh, but her leaf shalbe grene, and shal not care for the yere of drought, nether shal cease from yelding frute.

9 i The heart is deceitful and wicked aboue all things, who can knowe it?

11 k As the partryche gathereth the yōg, which she hathe not broght forthe: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shal leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shalbe a foole.

12 As a glorious throne l exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shalbe confounded: thei that departe from thee, shalbe written m in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, ô Lord, and I shalbe whole: n saue me, and I shal be saued: for thou art my praise.

15 Beholde, o they say vnto me, Where is the worde of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But p I haue not thrust in my self for a pastor after thee, nether haue I desired the daye of miserie, thou knowest: that ẅ came out of my lippes, was right before thee.

17 Be not q terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraied, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, r & destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hathe the Lord said vnto me, Go, and stand in the s gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which thei go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that entre in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take hede to your soules, and beare no burden in the t Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Nether carye forthe burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: nether do ye anie worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, nether inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe & wolde not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if ye wil heare me, saith the Lord, & beare no burden through ỹ gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then shal the Kings and the princes entre in at the gates of this citie, and shal sit * vpon the throne of Dauid, and shal ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, bothe thei and their princes, the mē of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shal remaine for euer.

26 And thei shal come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shal bring burnt offrings, & sacrifices, and meat offrings, and incense, & shal bring sacrifice of praise into the House of the Lord.

27 But if ye wil not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath daie, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath daie, then wil I kindle a fyre in the gates thereof, and it shal deuoure the places of Ierusalem, and it shal not be quenched.

sel, as semed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, can not I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord? beholde, as the claie is in the potters had, so are you in mine hand, ô house of Israel.

7 I wil speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, & to roote it out and to destroie it.

8 But if this nation, against whome I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I wil [b] repent of the plague that I thoght to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nacion, and concerning a kingdome to buylde it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight & heare not my voice, I wil repent of the good that I thoght to do for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold e, I prepare a plague for you, & purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euerie one from his euil waie, and make your waies and your workes good.

12 But thei said [c] desperatly, Surely we wil walke after our owne imaginacions & do euerie man after the stubbernes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard suche things? the virgine of Israel hathe done verie filthily.

14 Wil a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of ſ field? [d] or shal ſ colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hathe forgotten me, & haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Trophetes haue caused thē to stumble in their waies from the [e] ancient waies to walke in the paths and waie that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate & a perpetual derision, so that euerie one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head,

17 I wil scattre them with an East winde before the enemie: I wil shewe them the backe, and [f] not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Law [g] shal not perish from the Priest, nor counsel from ſ wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the [h] tongue, and let vs not giue hede to any of his wordes.

19 Hearken vnto me, ô Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shal euil be recompenced for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remembre that I stode before thee, to speake good for them and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, [i] deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widdowes: and let their housbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sworde in the battel.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my fete.

23 Yet Lord thou knoweſt all their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, nether put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowē before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine angre.

b When ſ Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not ſ he doeth contrary to that which he hathe ordeined in his secret counsel: but whē he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, ſ threatening (w euer conteineth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this ſ Scripture calleth repentāce in God, because it ſo appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men ſ had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne self wil.

d As no man ſ hathe thirst, refuseth fresh cōduit waters ẅ he hathe at home, to go & seke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seke for helpe & succour at strangers and leaue God, which was present with them.

e That is, ſ way of trueth, which God had taught by his Law, read chap. 6, 16.

f I wil shewe mine angre & not my fauour toward them.

g This argumēt the wicked haue euer vsed against the seruants of God. The Church can not erre: we are the Church, and therefore whosoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to dye, 1. King. 22, 24. chap. 7, 4. & 26, 2. mala. 2, 4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holie Gost.

h Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shalbe beleued.

i Seing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which greue daily more & more, ſ Prophet being moued ẅ Gods Spirit, without any carnal affection praieth for their destruction, because he knew ſ it shulde tend to Gods glorie, & profite of his Church. ẅ

CHAP. XIX.

He prophecieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the worde of God.

1 THus said the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen bottel of a pottel, and take of the ancients of the people, and of ſ ancients of the Priests,

2 And go forthe vnto the vallei of Benhinnom, which is by the entrie of the [k] East gate: & thou shalt preache there ſ wordes, that I shal tel thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare yet the worde of the Lord, ô [a] Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith ſ Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shal [b] tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome nether they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buylt the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fyre for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I [c] commanded not, nor spake it, nether came it into my minde) k Or, gate of the Sunne.

a By Kings here and in other places are ment counsellours & gouernours of the people: ẅ he called ſ Ancients, ver. 4.

b Read of this phrase, 1. Sam. 3, 11.

c Whereby is declared ſ what so euer is not commanded by Gods word touching his seruice, is against his worde.

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith ỹ Lord, that this place shal no more be called [d] Topheth, nor the vallei of Benhinnom, but the vallei of slaughter.

[d] Read Chap. 7, 31. & 2. king. 23, 10. Isa, 30, 33.

7 And I wil bring the counsel of Iudah & Ierusalem to noght in this place, and I wil cause them to fall by ỹ sworde before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seke their liues: & their carkeises wil I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

Chap. 18, 16. & 49, 33. & 50, 13.

8 *And I wil make this citie desolate & an hissing, so that euerie one ỹ passeth thereby, shalbe astonished & hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

The destruction of Ierusalem prophesied.

Deut. 28, 53. Lament. 4, 10.

9 *And I wil fede them with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euerie one shal eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and streitnes, wherewith their enemies that seke their liues, shal holde them streit.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottle in the sight of the mẽ that go with thee,

11 And shalt saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so wil I breake this people & this citie, as one breaketh a [c] potters vessel, that can not be made whole againe, & thei shal bury e them in Topheth til there be no place to burye.

Psal. 2. 9.

[e] This visible signe was to cõfirme them touching the assurãce of this plague, ẅ the Lord threatened by his prophet.

12 Thus wil I do vnto this place, saith the Lord, & to the inhabitans thereof, & I wil make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the [f] houses vpon whose [g] roofes thei haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauẽ, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

[f] He noteth the great rage of the idolaters, ẅ left no place fre frõ their abominations, in somuche as they polluted their owne houses therewith, as we se yet among the papistes.

[g] Read Deut. 22, 8.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stode in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and wolde not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the worde of God. 3 He prophecieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He cõplaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preache the worde.

Passhur the priest smiteth Ieremiah, & putteth him in the stockes.

VVHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, ỹ Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the House of ỹ Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the [a] stockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamin which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hathe not called thy name Pashur, but [b] Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy self, & to all thy friends, and thei shal fall by the sworde of their enemies, & thine eyes shal beholde it, and I wil giue all Iudah into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal carie them captiue into Babel, & shal slaie them ẅ the sworde.

5 Moreouer I wil deliuer all ỹ substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shal spoyle them, and take them awaie and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, & all that dwell in thine house, shal go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there ỹ shalt dye, & shalt be buryed there, thou & all thy [b] friends, to whome thou hast prophecied lies.

[a] Thus we se ỹ the thing ẅ neither the King, nor the princes nor the people durst entreprise against the Prophet of God, this priest as a chief instrument of Satan first attempted, read Chap. 18, 18.

[b] Or, feare rounde aboute.

Pashurs name changed.

The prophet wrestleth with the wicked iudgements of God, whe thei se not their labours to profite, & also fele their owne weaknes, read cha. 5 18

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am [c] deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast [d] preuailed: I am in derision daiely: euerie one mocketh me.

[b] Which haue suffred them selues tobe abused by thy false prophecies.

[c] Herein appeareth ỹ impacãcie, ẅ often times ouercometh the seruants of God, whe thei se not their labours to profite, & also fele their owne weaknes, read cha. 5 18

[d] Thou dideste thrust me forth to this worke against my wil.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrõg, and proclaimed [e] desolation: therefore the worde of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daiely.

[e] He sheweth ỹ he did his office in ỹ he reproued ỹ people of their vices & threatened thẽ ẅ Gods iudgements: but because he was derided & persecuted for this, he was discouraged & thoght to haue ceased to preache, saue ỹ Gods Spirit did force him thereunto.

9 Then I said, I wil not make mencion of him, nor speak e any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine hearte as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, & I colde nor stay.

[f] Thus the enemies conferred together to knowe what they had heard him say, that they might accuse him thereof, read Isa. 29, 21.

10 For I had heard the railing of many, & feare on euerie side. [f] Declare, said thei, & we wil declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shal preuaile against him, & we shal execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 [g] But the Lord is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecuters shal be ouerthrowen, and shal not preuaile, & shal be greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shal neuer be forgotten.

[g] Here he sheweth how his faith did striue against tentation and sought to the Lord for strength. 1. Sam. 16, 7. 1. chro. 28, 9 psal. 7, 10. chap. 11, 20. & 17, 10.

12 ✝ But, ô Lord of hostes, that tryest the righteous, & seest the reines & the heart, let me se thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hathe deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

h How ſ childre of God are ouercome i this battel of ſ flesh and ſ Spirit, and into what inconueniences thei fall til God raise thē vp againe, read Iob. 3, 1. & chap. 15, 10.

14 ¶ h Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: & let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man childe is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

i Alluding to ſ destruction of Sodom and Gomorah, Gen. 19, 25.

16 And let that man be as the i cities, ẅ the Lord hathe ouer turned and repented not: & let him heare the crye in the morning, and the showting at noone tide,

17 Because he hathe not slayne me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetual k conception.

k Meaning, that the frute thereof might neuer come to profite.

18 How is it, that I came forthe of the wombe, to se labour and sorowe, that my daies shulde be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He prophecieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the citie burned.

1 THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him Passhur, the sonne of Malchiah, & Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be ſ the Lord wil deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

a Not that the King was touched with repentance of his sinnes & so sought to God, as did Hezekiah when he sent to Isaiah, 2. King. 19, 1. Isa. 37, 2. but because the prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exod. 9, 28.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shal you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Beholde, I wil b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, & I wil assemble them into the middes of this citie.

b To wit from your enemies to destroye your selues.

5 And I my self wil fight against you ẅ an out stretched hand, and with a mighty arme, euen in angre and in wrath, and in great indignacion.

6 And I wil smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man, and beast: thei shal dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I wil deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and suche as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hād of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shal not spare them, nether haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the c way of life, & the way of d death.

c By yeldig your selues to Nebuchadnezzar.

d By resisting hī. Chap. 38, 2.

9 *He that abideth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde and by the famine, & by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, & falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shal liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a e pray.

e As a thing recouered frō extreme danger. Chap. 37, 2. & 38, 18, & 45, 5.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euil and not for good, saith ſ Lord: it shal be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fyre.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of ſ King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith ſ Lord, * Execute iudgement f in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of ſ hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fyre and burne, that none can quēche it, because of the wickednes of your workes. Chap. 22, 3.

f Be diligent to do iustice.

13 Beholde, I come against thee, g ô inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of ſ plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shal come downe against vs? or who shal enter into our habitacions?

g Meaning, Ierusalem, which was buylded parte on ſ hill & parte in ſ valley. & was compassed about ẅ mountaines.

14 But I wil visite you according to the frute of your workes, saith the Lord, & I wil kindle a fyre h in the forest thereof, and it shal deuoure rounde about it.

h That is, in the houses thereof, ẅ stode as thicke as trees in ſ forest.

CHAP. XXII.

He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteousnes. 9 Why Ierusalem is broght into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophecied.

1 THus said the Lord, Go downe to ſ house of the King of Iudah, & speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the worde of ſ Lord, ô King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord, * Execute ye iudgement and a righteousnes, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherles, nor the widowe: do no violence, nor shede innocent blood in this place. Chap. 21, 12.

a This was his ordinarie maner of preaching before ſ Kings frō Iosiah vnto Zedekiah, ẅ was about fourtie yeres.

4 For if ye do this thing, then shal the Kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people. Chap. 17, 25.

5 But if ye wil not heare these wordes, I g Signifying that they shulde lose their King: for Iehoiachim went forth to mete Nebuchad-nezzar & yelded himself and was caryed into Babylon, 2. King. 24. 12.

h Whome some thinke to be Iehoiachin & that Iosiah was his grand father: but as semeth, this was Iehoiakim, as vers. 18.

i By bribes & extorsion.

k Meaning, Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition & superfluitie, but was content with mediocritie and did onely delite in setting forthe Gods glorie & to do iustice to all.

l For euery one shal haue ynough to lament for him self.

m Not honorably amonge his fathers, but as carions are cast in a hole because their stinke shulde not infect, read 2. King. 24. 9. Iosephus Antiq. 10, 8. writeth that Ieconie slewe him & commanded him to be cast before the citie & commanded him to be cast before the walles vnburyed.

n To call to the Assyrians for helpe.

o For this was the way out of Iudeah to Assyria: whereby is ment that all helpes shulde faile: for the Caldeans haue subduced bothe them and the Egyptians.

b sweare by my self saith ỹ Lord, that this House shalbe waste.

6 For thus hathe the Lord spoken vpō the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanō, yet surely I wil make thee a wildernes & cities not inhabited,

7 And I wil d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and thei shal cut downe thy chief e cedre trees, and cast them in the fyre.

8 f And many nacions shal passe by this citie, & thei shal say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hathe the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shal they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of ỹ Lord their God, and worshiped other gods & serued them.

10 ¶ Wepe not for the dead, & be not moued for them, but wepe for him g that goeth out: for he shal returne no more, nor se his natiue countrey.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shal not returne thether, 12 But he shal dye in the place, whether they haue led him captiue, and shal se this land no more.

13 ¶ Wo vnto him ỹ buyldeth his house by i vnrighteousnes, & his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I wil buylde me a wide house and large chambers: so he wil make him self large windowes, and siling with cedre and painte them with vermelon.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy self in cedre? did not thy k father eat and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 ¶ When he iudged the cause of the afflicted & ỹ poore, he prospered: was not this, because he knewe me, saith ỹ Lord?

17 But thine eies and thine heart are onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, & for oppression, and for destruction, euen to do this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, Thei shal not lamēt him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: nether shal they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 He shalbe buryed as an asse l is buryed, euen drawen and cast forthe without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Go vp to m Lebanon, & crye: showte in n Bashan & crye by the passages:

for all thy louers are destroied.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidst, I wil not heare: this hathe bene thy maner from thy youth that thou woldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shal fede all thy pastors, p & thy louers shal go into captiuitie: & then shalt thou be ashamed & confounded of all thy wickednes.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon: and makest thy nest in ỹ q cedres, how beautiful shalt ỹ be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauail?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah ỹ sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet wolde I plucke thee thence.

25 And I wil giue thee into the hand of them that seke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I wil cause thē to cary thee away, & thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, & there shal ye dye.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shal not returne thether.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? Wherefore are thei caryed away, he and his sede, & cast out into a land that they knowe not?

29 O s earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this t man destitute of children, a man that shal not prosper in his dayes: for there shalbe no man of his sede that shal prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

Against false Pastors. 5 A prophecie of the great Pastor Iesus Christ.

1 WO be vnto a the Pastors that destroie and scatter b the shepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the Pastors that c fede my people, Ye haue scattred my flocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited thē: beholde, I wil visite you for the wickednes of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I wil gather the d remnant of my shepe out of all countreys, whether I had driuen them, and wil bring them againe to their foldes, and they shal growe & encrease.

p Bothe thy gouernours & they that shulde helpe thee, shal vanish away as wind.

q Thou that art buylt of the faire cedre trees of Lebanon.

r Who was called Iokoiachin or Ieconiah, whome he calleth here Coniah in cōtempt, who though his kingdome colde neuer departe from him, because he came of the stocke of Dauid, and therefore for the promes sake colde not be taken from his house: but he abused Gods promes, & therefore was iustely deprined of the kingdome.

s He sheweth ỹ all posteritie shalbe witnesses of this iuste plague as though it were registred for perpetual memorie.

t Not that he had no children (for after he begate Salathiel in the captiuitie, Mat. 1, 12) but ỹ none shulde reigne after him as King.

Chap. XXIII.

a Meaning, the princes, gouernours & false prophetes, as Ezek. 34, 2.

b For the which I haue especial care and haue prepared good pastures for thē.

c Whose charge is to fede ỹ flocke, but they eat the frute thereof, Ezeck. 34, 3.

d Thus ỹ prophets euer vse to mixt ỹ promises with the threatnings, lest the godlie shulde be to muche beaten downe, and therefore he sheweth how God wil gather his Church after this dispersion.

4 And

4 And I wil set vp shepherdes ouer thē, which shal fede them: and they shal dread no more nor be afraid, neither shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Beholde, The daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil raise vnto Dauid a righteous[c] branche, & a King shal reigne, & prosper, and shal execute iudgement, & iustice in the earth.

6 In his daies * Iudah shalbe saued, & Israel shal dwell safely, and this is the name whereby thei shal call him, * The Lord our righteousnes.

7 Therefore behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that thei shal no more say, The [f] Lord liueth, which brought vp the childrē of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the sede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey & from all contreys where I had scattered them, & thei shal dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the [g] Prophetes, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whome wine hathe ["] ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes.

10 For the land is ful of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of ſ wildernes are dryed vp, and their [h] course is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For bothe the prophet and the Priest [i] do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I founde in mine [i] House, saith ſ Lord.

12 Wherefore their waie shalbe vnto thē as sliperie waies in the darknes: thei shal be driuen forthe and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen ſ yere of their visitacion, saith ſ Lord.

13 And I haue sene foolishnes in ſ Prophetes of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal & caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue sene also in the Prophetes of Ieruſalem [k] filthines: thei commit adulterie & walke in lies: thei strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: thei are all vnto [l] me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophetes, Behold, I wil fede them with [m] wormewood, & make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophetes of Ieruſalem is wickednes gone forthe into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, & teache you vanitie: thei speake the visiō of their owne [n] heart & not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 Thei saie stil vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye [o] shal haue peace: & thei saie vnto euerie one that walketh after the stubbernes of his owne heart, No euil shal come vpon you.

18 For [p] who hathe stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hathe perceiued & heard his worde? Who hathe marked his worde and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forthe in his wrath, & a violēt whirlwinde shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The angre of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and til he haue performed ſ thoghts of his heart: in the latter daies ye [q] shal vnderstand it plainely.

21 *I haue not sent these Prophetes, saith the Lord, yet thei ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet thei prophecied.

22 But if thei had stand in my counsel, and [r] had declared my wordes to my people, then they shulde haue turned them from their euil waie, and from ſ wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God [t] farre of?

24 Can anie hide him self in secret places, that I shal not se him, saith ſ Lord? Do not I fil heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophetes said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I [t] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? ["] Do the Prophetes delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke thei to cause [v] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, [w] thei tel euerie man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hathe a dreame, let him [x] tel a dreame, and he that hathe my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: [y] what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my worde euen like a fyre, saith the Lord? and like an hammer, ſ breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith ſ Lord, that [z] steale my worde euerie one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, which haue swete tongues, and saye, [a] He saith.

32 Beholde, I wil come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, & do tel them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, & I send them not, nor commāded thē: therefore thei brig no profite vnto

Epist. Dauid as Christ.

c This prophecie is of the restitution of the Church in ſ time of Iesus Christ, who is ſ true branche, read Isa. 11, 1. & 45, 8. chap. 33, 15. dani. 9, 24. Deut. 33, 28. chap. 33, 16.

f Read Chap. 16, 15.

g Meaning, the false prophets w deceiue the people: wherein appeareth his great loue toward his nacio, read Chap. 14, 15.

" Ebr passed ouer or troubled.

h They runne head long to wickednes, and seke vaine help.

i Or, are hypocrites.

i My Temple is ful of their idolatrie and superstitions.

k They which shulde haue profited by my rodes against Samaria, are become whorse then they.

l Though to the worlde they seme holy fathers, yet I deteſt thē as I did these abominable cities.

m Read Chap. 8, 14.

n Or, hypocrisie.

n Which thei haue inuented of their owne braine.

o Read Chap. 6, 14. & 8, 11.

p Thus thei did deride Ieremiah as though ſ worde of God were not reuciled vnto him: so also spake Zedekiah to Michah, 1. King. 22, 24.

q Bothe ſ God hathe sent me, and ſ my wordes shal be true. Chap. 14 13. & 27, 21. & 29, 8.

r He sheweth ſ difference betwene the true Prophetes & ſ false, betwene ſ hireling and the true minister.

s Do not I se your falsehode, howsoeuer you cloke it, & whersoeuer you commit it?

t I haue a prophecie reuciled vnto me, as Nombr. 12, 6.

" Ebr. Is it in the heart of the prophetes?

v He sheweth that Satan raiseth vp false prophetes to bring the people from God.

x Let the false prophet declare ſ it is his owne fantasie, & not sclander my worde as though it were a cloke to couer his lyes.

y Meaning, ſ it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to abstaine from lies, & to speake the worde of God: but ſ there be iudgement in alledging it, & ſ it may appeare to be applied to ſ same purpose ſ it was spoken, Ezek. 3, 17. 1. cor. 2, 17. & 4, 2. 2. tim. 2. 15. 1. pet. 4, 11.

z Which set forthe in my Name ſ which I haue not commanded.

a To wit, the Lord.

this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or ỹ Prophet, or a Priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the [b] burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

34 And the Prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shal say, The [c] burden of ỹ Lord, I wil euen visit euerie suche one, & his house.

35 Thus shal ye say euerie one to his neighbour, and euerie one to his brother, What hathe the Lord answered? & what hathe the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shal ye mẽcion no more: for euerie mans [d] worde shal be his burden: for ye haue peruerted the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hathe the Lord answered thee? & what hathe the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shal not say, The burden of the Lord,

39 Therefore beholde I, euen I, wil vterly [f] forget you, and I wil forsake you, & the citie that I giue you & your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, 40 And wil bring * an euerlasting reproche vpon you, & a perpetual shame which shal neuer be forgotten.

b The prophetes called their threatenings Gods burden, ẅ the sinners were not able to sustein: therefore ỹ wicked in deriding ỹ worde, wolde aske of ỹ prophetes, what was ỹ burden, as though thei wolde say, You seke nothing els, but to lay burdens on our shulders: and thus thei reiected the worde of God, as a grieuous burde.

c Because this worde was brought to contẽpt & derisiõ, he wil teache them another maner of speache, and wil cause this worde Burde to cease, and teache thẽ to aske ẅ reuerence, What saith the Lord?

d The thing ẅ they mocke & contemne shall come vpõ them.

[f] Or, take you away.

Chap. 20, 11.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges. 5 Signifieth that parte of the people shulde be broght againe from captiuitie. 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people shulde be caryed away.

1 THe Lord shewed me, & beholde, two [a] baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, & cunning mẽ of Ierusalem, & had broght them to Babel.

2 One basket had verie good figges, euẽ like the figges that are first ripe: & the other basket had verie noghtie figges which colde not be eaten, thei were so euil.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: ỹ good figges verie good, & the noghtie verie noghtie, which can not be eaten, thei are so euil.

4 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a The good figgs signified the that were gone into captiuitie, & so saued their lifs, as chap. 21, 8. & ỹ noghty figges thẽ ỹ remained, ẅ were yet subiect to the sworde, famine and pestilence.

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so wil I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to be good, whome I haue sent out of this [b] place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil buylde them, and not destroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I wil giue them [c] an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my people, & I wil be their God: for they shal returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 * And as the noghtie figges which can not be eatẽ, they are so euil (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, & them that dwell [d] in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of ỹ earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commune talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shal cast them.

10 And I wil send the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence among them, til they be consumed out of the land, ỹ I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

b Whereby he approueth the yelding of Ieconiah, & his companie, because thei obeied the prophet, who exhorteth them thereunto.

c Which declareth that man of him selfe can knowe nothing, til God giue the heart and vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophecieth that thei shalbe in captiuitie seuentie yeres, 12 And that after the seuẽtie yeres the Babylonians shulde be destroyed. 14 The destruction of all nations is prophecied.

1 THe worde that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the [a] fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, & to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Ammon King of Iudah, euen vnto [b] this daye (that is, the thre & twẽtieth yere) the worde of the Lord hathe come vnto me, & I haue spoken vnto you [c] rising early and speaking, but ye wolde not heare.

4 And the Lord hathe sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophetes, rising early & sending them, but ye wolde not heare, nor encline your eares to obeie.

5 Thei [d] said, Turne againe now euerie one from his euil waie, and from ỹ wickednes of your inuẽtiõs, & ye shal dwell in ỹ land that ỹ Lord hathe giuen vnto you, & to your fathers for euer & euer.

6 And a That is, in the third yere accõplished, & in the beginning of ỹ fourth: for thogh Nebuchad-nezzar began to reigne in the end of ỹ thirde yere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yere is not here counted, because it was almost expired, Dan. 1, 1. Which was the fift yere & the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

c That is, I haue spared no diligence or labour. Chap. 7, 13.

d He sheweth ỹ the Prophets wholly ẅ one consent did labour to pul the people from these vices, ẅ then reigned: to wit, frõ idolatrie, & the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were conteined. 2. King. 17, 13 chap. 18, 11 & 35, 15, Ionah. 3, 8.

6 And go not after other gods to serue them & to worship them, and prouoke me not to angre with the workes of your hands, & I wil not punish you.
7 Neuertheles ye wolde not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to angre with the workes of your hads to your owne hurt.
8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, 9 Beholde, I wil send and take to me all the [e]families of the North, saith ỹ Lord, & Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my [f] seruant, and wil bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, & against all these nations [g] rounde about, and wil destroye them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continual desolation.
10 *Moreouer [n] I wil take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride, the noise of the [h] millestones, and the light of the candle.
11 And this whole land shal be desolate, and an astonishment, & these nacions shal serue the King of Babel seuenty yeres.
12 And when the [i] seuentie yeres are accomplished, I wil visite [k] the King of Babel and that nacion, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of ỹ Caldeans, and wil make it a perpetual desolation, 13 And I wil bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronoūced against it, euen all that is writen in this boke, ẅ Ieremiah hathe prophecied against all nations.
14 For many nacions, and great Kings shal euen [l] serue them selues of thē: thus wil I recompence them according to their dedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.
15 For thus hathe the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, [m] Take the cup of wine of this mine indignacion at mine hād, & cause all the nacions, to whome I send thee, to drinke it.
16 And they shal drinke, and be moued & be madde, because of the sworde, that I wil send among them.
17 Then toke I the cuppe at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me:
18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and ỹ princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, [n] as appeareth this day:
19 Pharaoh also, King of Egypt, and his seruates, & his princes, & all his people:
20 And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the land [o] of Vz: and all the Kings of the land of the Philistims, & [p] Ashkelon, and Azzah, & Ekron, and ỹ remnant of Ashdod:
21 [q] Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,
22 And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all ỹ Kings of Zidon, & the Kings of ỹ [r] Yles, that are beyonde the sea,
23 And Dedan, and [s] Tema, & Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners, 24 And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the [t] desert,
25 And all the Kings of Zimri, and all ỹ Kings of [v] Elam, and all the Kings of the Medes.
26 And all the Kings of the North farre, and nere one to another, & all ỹ kingdomes of the worlde, ẅ are vpō ỹ earth, & the King of [x] Sheshach shal drinke after them.
27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I wil send amōg you.
28 ¶ But if thei refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, ye shal certeinly drinke.
29 For lo, [x] I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, & shulde you go free? Ye shal not go quite: for I wil call for a sworde vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.
30 Therefore prophecie thou against thē all these wordes, and saie vnto them, *The Lord shal roare from aboue, and thrust out his voice frō his holie habitacion: he shal roare vpō his habitaciō, & crye aloude, as thei that presse the grapes against all the inhabitants of ỹ earth.
31 The sounde shal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hathe a controuersie ẅ the nations, and wil entre into iudgement with all flesh, & he wil giue them that are wicked, to ỹ sworde, saith the Lord.
32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, a plague shal go forthe from nation to nation, and a* great whirlewinde shalbe raised vp from the coastes of the earth, 33 And [y] the slaine of the Lord shalbe at that daie, from one end of ỹ earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: thei shal not be mourned, nether gathered nor buryed, but shalbe as the dongue vpon the grounde.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Ieremiah mouth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false Prophetes and Priestes and broght to iudgement. 23 Vriiah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrarie to the wil of God.

1 IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stād in the [a] court of the Lords house, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the wordes that I command thee to speake: kepe not [b] a worde backe.

3 If so be they wil hearken, and turne euerie man from his euil way, that I may [c] repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruāts the Prophetes, whome I sent vnto you, bothe rising vp early, and sending them, and wil not obeie, them,

6 Then wil I make this House like [d] Shiloh, and wil make this citie [e] a curse to all the nacions of the earth.

7 So the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

8 Now whē Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all [y] people, then the Priestes, and the Prophetes, & all the people toke him, and said, Thou shalt dye the death.

9 Why hast [y] prophecied in [y] Name of the Lord, saying, This [f] House shalbe like Shiloh, & this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? & all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord:

10 And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, thei came vp from the Kings house into the House of [y] Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of the [g] newe gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the Prophetes vnto the princes, & to all [y] people, saying, ” This man is worthie to dye: for he hathe prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Thē spake Ieremiah vnto all [y] princes, & to all [y] people, saying, The Lord hathe [h] sent me to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your waies & your workes, & heare the voice of the Lord your God, [y] the Lord may repent him of the plague, [y] he hathe pronounced against you.

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hāds: do with me as ye thinke good & right.

15 But knowe ye for certeine, [y] if ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitāts thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all [y] people vnto the Priests & to the Prophetes, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hathe spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certeine of [y] Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, & spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith [y] Lord of hostes, Zio shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the [i] House shalbe as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, & prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the [k] plague, that he had pronounced against them? thus might we procure great euil against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriiah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, & all the princes heard his wordes, [y] King soght to slaie him. But when Vriiah heard it, he was afraied

d Read Chap. 7, 12.

e So [y] whē they wolde curse any, thei shal say, God do to thee as to Ierusalem.

Michah 1. 1. & 3, 12.

i That is, of the House of the Lord: to wit, Zio, and these examples the godlie alledged to deliuer Ieremiah out of [y] Priests hāds whose rage els wold not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

afraied and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king l sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certeine with him into Egypt.

23 And thei fet Vriiah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slewe him with the sworde & m cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam n the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah ỹ thei shulde not giue him into the hand of ỹ people to put him to death.

l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who cānot abide to heare Gods worde declared, but persecute ỹ ministers thereof, and yet in ỹ end they preuaile nothing but prouoke Gods iudgements so muche the more.

m As in the first Hezekiahs exāple is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his housholde.

n Which declareth that nothing colde haue appeased their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ieremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were here, whereby thei are monished to be subiectes vnto Nebuchad-nezzar. 9 He warneth the people & the Kings & rulers that thei beleue not false Prophetes.

1 IN the beginning of the reigne of a Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying.

2 Thus saith ỹ Lord to me, Make thee b bondes, and yokes, and put them vpō thy necke,

3 And send them to the King of Edom, & to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the King of Iudah,

4 And commande them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shal ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the grounde, by my great power, & by my outstretched arme, & haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my c seruant, and ỹ beastes of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shal serue him, and his d sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntil ỹ verie time of his land come also: then manie nations and great Kings shal e serue them selues of him.

8 And the nation & kingdome which wil not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that wil not put their necke vnder the yoke of ỹ King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntil I haue wholy giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your Prophetes nor your southsaiers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters nor your sorcerers, which saie vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the King of Babel.

10 For thei prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, & that I shulde cast you out, and you shulde perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, & serue him, those will I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and thei shal occupie it and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him & his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why wil ye dye, thou, & thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by ỹ pestilence, as the Lord hathe spoken against the nation, that wil not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophetes, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shal not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and ỹ ye might perish, both ye, & the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you. Chap.14.13. & 23.21. & 29.8.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priestes, & to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not ỹ wordes of your Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, saying, Beholde, *the vessels of the House of ỹ Lord shal now shortely be f broght againe from Babel, for they prophecie a lie vnto you. Chap.28.3.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, ỹ ye may liue: wherefore shulde this citie be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lord be with them, let them g intreat the Lord of hostes that the vessels, which are lett in the House of the Lord, & in the house of the King of Iudah, & at Ierusalem, go not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, cōcerning the * pillers, and concerning ỹ sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

b By suche signes the Prophetes vsed some times to cōfirme their prophecies, which not withstanding they colde not do of them selues, but in asmuche as they had a reuelatiō for the same, Isa. 20,2. and therefore the false prophetes to get more credit did vse also suche visible signes, but they had no reuelatiō, 1. CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The falſe prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

1 AND that ſame yere in the beginning of the a reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the b fourth yere, and in the fift moneth Hananiah ſ ſonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of c Gibeon, ſpake to me in the Houſe of the Lord in ſ preſence of the Prieſts, and of all ſ people, and ſaid, a Whē Ieremiah began to beare theſe bondes & yokes.

b After that the land had reſted, as Leu. 25, 1. deu. 15, 1.
c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to ſ ſonnes of Aaron, Ioſh. 21, 17.

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 "Within two yeres ſpace I wil bring into this place all the veſſels of ſ Lords Houſe, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel toke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

" Ebr. two yeres of daies.

Hananiah a flattering and pleasing prophet.

4 And I wil bring againe to this place Ieconiah the ſonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caryed away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, ſaith the Lord: for I wil breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah ſaid vnto the d Prophet Hananiah in the preſence of the Prieſts, & in the preſence of all the people that ſtode in the Houſe of the Lord.

d He was ſo eſteemed, though he was a falſe prophet.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah ſaid, So be it: the e Lord ſo do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou haſt prophecied to reſtore the veſſels of the Lords Houſe, and all that is caried captiue from Babel into this place.

e That is, I wolde wiſh the ſame for Gods honour, & welthe of my people, but he hathe appointed the contrarie.

7 But heare thou now this worde that I wil ſpeake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophetes that haue bene before me and before thee in time paſt, f prophecied againſt manie countreis, and againſt great kingdomes, of warre, & of plagues, and of peſtilence.

f Meaning, that the Prophetes ſ did either denoūce warre or peace, were tryed either true or falſe by ſ ſucceſſe of their prophecies: Albeit God maketh to come to paſſe ſome time that ſ falſe prophet ſpeaketh, to trye ſ faith of his. Deut. 13, 3.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet ſhall come to paſſe, then ſhall ſ Prophet be knowen that the Lord hathe truely ſent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet toke ſ yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and g brake it.

g This declareth the impudencie of ſ wicked hirelings, ẅ haue no zeale to the trueth, but are led ẅ ambition to get ſ fauour of men, & therefore cā not abide any, ſ might diſcredit them, but burſt forthe into rages, and cōtrarie to their owne conciencē, paſſe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, ſo ſ thei may maintein their eſtimation.

11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Euen ſo wil I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the ſpace of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) ſaying, 13 Go, & tel Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood: but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, I haue put a h yoke of yron vpon the necke of all theſe natiōs, that they may ſerue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for thei ſhal ſerue him, & I haue giuen him the i beaſts of ſ field alſo.

h That is, a hard, and cruel ſeruitude.

i Signifying, that all ſhulde be his, as Dan. 2, 38.

15 Then ſaid the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, ſ Lord hathe not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lye.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil caſt thee from of the earth: this yere thou ſhalt dye, becauſe thou haſt ſpoken rebelliouſly againſt the Lord.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He propheciet h their returne after ſeuentie yeres. 16 He propheciet the deſtruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ieruſalem. 21 He threateneth the propheres that ſeduce the people. 25 The death of Semeiah is propheciet.

1 NOw theſe are the wordes of ſ l boke that Ieremiah the Prophet ſent from Ieruſalem vnto a the reſidue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Prieſts, and to the Prophetes, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzar had caryed away captiue from Ieruſalem to Babel.

kiah (whome Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hathe the Lord of hostes ſ God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue[d] caused to be caried away captiues from Ieruſalem vnto Babel,

5 Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes, and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to housbands, that they may beare sonnes & & daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seke the prosperitie of the citie, whether I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and [e]pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shal you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophetes, & your sothesayers that be among you, deceiue you, nether giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babel, I wil visit you, and performe my good promes toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe the thoghts, that I haue thoght towardes you, saith the Lord, euen the thoghts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shal you crye vnto me, and ye shal go and pray vnto me, and I wil heare you,

13 And ye shal seke me and finde me, because ye shal seke me with all [f] your heart.

14 And I wil be founde of you, saith the Lord, and I wil turne away your captiuitie, and I wil gather you from all the nations & from all the places, whether I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and wil bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hathe raised vs vp [g] Prophetes in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saieth the Lord of ſ King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, & of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forthe with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil send vpon them ſ [h] sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, & wil make them like vile [i] figges, that can not be eaten, they are so noghtie.

18 And I wil persecute them with the sworde, with the famine, & with ſ pestilence: & I wil make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, & [k] a curſſe, & astonishment & an hissing, and a reproche among all the nations whether I haue cast them,

19 Because thei haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophetes, [l] rising vp earely, & sending them, but ye wolde not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the worde of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ieruſalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, ſ God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, & of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I wil deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, & he shal slaye them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shal take vp this curſſe against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt [m] in the fyre, 23 Because they haue committed[n] vilenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, & testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the [o] Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, ſ God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all ſ people, that are at Ieruſalem, & to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hathe made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that ye shulde be officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth & maketh him self a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest red this lettre in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies. 18 And comforteth the Church.

1 THe wor , that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a [a] boke.

a Because thei shulde be assured & their posteritie confirmed in ỹ hope of this deliuerance promised.

3 For lo the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I wil restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, & they shal possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

b He sheweth ỹ before that this deliuerance shal come, ỹ Caldeās shulde be extremely afflicted by their enemies, & ỹ they shulde be in suche perplexitie & sorow as a woman in her trauail, as Isa. 13. 8.

6 Demande now & beholde, if man trauail with childe? wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauail, & all faces are turned into a palenes?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none bathe bene like it: it is euē the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shal he be deliuered from it.

c Meaning, ỹ the time of their captiuitie shulde be grieuous.

8 For in that [d] day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil breake [e] his yoke from of thy necke, and breake thy bondes, & strangers shal no more serue them selues [f] of him.

d When I shal visit Babylon.

e Of the King of Babylon.

f To wit, of Iaakob.

9 But they shal serue ỹ Lord their God, & [g] Dauid their King, whome I wil raise vp vnto them.

g That is, Messiah, ỹ shulde come of ỹ stocke of Dauid, according to ỹ flesh & shulde be ỹ true pastor, as Ezek. 34. 23. who is set forth & his kingdome ỹ shulde be euerlasting in ỹ persone of Dauid, Hos. 3. 5.

10 Therefore feare not, ô my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lord, nether be afraied, ô Israel: for lo, I wil deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy sede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iaakob shal turne againe, & shalbe in rest and prosperitie & none shal make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee, though I vtterly destroy all ỹ nacions where I haue scattered thee: yet wil I not vtterly destroy thee, but I wil correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee of.

h Read Cha. 10. 24.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wounde is dolorous.

i Meaning, that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliuer them, but that it must be ỹ worke of God.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medecines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: thei seke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wounde of an enemie, & with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

k The Assyrias & Egyptians whome thou didest entertein w̄ giftes, who left thee in thine affliction.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 [l] Therefore all they ỹ deuoure thee, shalbe deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shal go into captiuitie: & they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoyled, & all thei that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed.

l Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his, who doeth not destroye them for their sinnes, but correct & chastise them, til he haue purged & pardoned them, & so burneth ỹ roddes by the w̄ he did punish them, Isa. 33. 1.

17 For I wil restore helth vnto thee, & I wil heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whome no man seketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tentes, and haue compassiō on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe buyled vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shal remaine after the maner thereof.

m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple shulde be restored to their former state.

19 And out of them shal procede [n] thanksgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I wil multiplie them, and thei shal not be fewe: I wil also glorifie them, and they shal not be diminished.

n He sheweth how the people shal w̄ praise & thanksgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

20 Their children also shalbe as a fore time, and their congregacion shalbe established before me: & I wil visite all that vexe them.

21 And their [o] noble ruler shalbe of the selues, and their gouernour shal procede from the middes of them, and I wil cause him to drawe nere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his [p] heart to come vnto me, saith ỹ Lord?

o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was ỹ figure of Christ, in whome this was accomplished.

p Signifying, that Christ doeth willingly submit him self to ỹ obedience of God his Father.

22 And ye shalbe my people, and I wil be your God.

23 Beholde, [q] the tempest of the Lord goeth forthe with wrath: the whirlwinde that hangeth ouer, shal light vpon the head of the wicked.

q Lest ỹ wicked hypocrites shulde flatter them selues with these promises, the prophet sheweth what shalbe their portion.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shal not returne, vntil he haue done, and vntil he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the [r] latter daies ye shal vnderstand it.

r Whē this Messiah & deliuerer is sent.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne turne from Babylon, 23 And the spiritual ioye of the faithful in the Church.

AT the [a] same time, saith the Lord, wil I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shalbe my people.

Thus saith the Lord, The people [ẅ] [b] escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wildernes: [c] he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

The Lord hathe appeared vnto me [d] of olde, say they: [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.

Againe I wil buylde thee, and [ÿ] shalt be buylded, ô virgine Israel: thou shalt stil [f] be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forthe in [ẏ] dance of them that be ioyful.

Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of [g] Samaria, and the planters that plant them, [h] shal make them commune.

For the daies shal come that the [i] watchemen vpon the mount of Ephraim shal crye, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto [k] Zion to the Lord our God.

For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iaakob, and shoute for ioye among the chief of the [l] Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

Beholde, I wil bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, & her that is deliuered also: a great companie shal returne hether.

They shal come [m] weping, and [ẅ] mercie wil I bring them againe: I will leade them by [ẏ] riuers of [n] water in a straight way, wherein they shal not stumble: for I am a Father to Israel, and Ephraim is [o] my first borne.

¶ Heare the worde of the Lord, ô ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles a farre of, & say, He that scattered Israel, wil gather him and wil kepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

For the Lord hathe redemed Iaakob, & ransomed him from the hand [p] of him that was stronger then he.

Therefore they shal come, and reioyce in the light of Zion, and shal runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for the [q] wheat and for the wine, & for the oyle, and for the increase of shepe, and bullockes: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and thei shal haue no more sorow.

Then shal the virgine reioyce in the [r] dance, and the yong men, & the olde mẽ together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioye, and wil comforte them, & giue them ioye for their sorowes.

And I wil repleniſh the soule of the Priests [ẅ] [f] fatnes, & my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weping, [t] Rahel weping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because thei were not.

Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and thei shal come againe from the land of the enemie:

And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shal come againe to their owne borders.

I haue heard [v] Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected mẽ, and I was chastised as an [x] vntamed calfe: [y] conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

Surely after that I conuerted, I repẽted: & after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my [z] thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare [ẏ] reproche of my youth.

Is Ephraim [a] my dere sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I stil [b] remembred him: therefore my bowelles are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him: saith [ẏ] Lord.

[a] Set thee vp [c] signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart towarde the path & waie, that thou hast walked: turne againe, ô virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

How long wilt thou go astraie, ô thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hathe created [d] a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shal compasse a man.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [ẏ] God of Israel, Yet shal thei saie this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, ô habitation of iustice & holie mountaine.

And Iudah shal dwell in it, & all the cities thereof together, the husband-g Because [ẏ] Israelites, [ẅ] were [ẏ] ten tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstand vnder the kingdome of Christ, [ẅ] was [ẏ] restauracion of the true Israel.

l He sheweth what shalbe the concorde & loue of all vnder the Gospel, where none shalbe refused for their infirmities: & euery one shal exhort one another to imbrace it.

m That is, lamenting their sinnes, [ẅ] had not giuen eare to [ẏ] prophetes, & therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercie, Chap. 50, 4. Some take it that they shulde weepe for ioy.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon thē, to plucke vp & to roote out, & to throwe downe, and to destroye, and to plague them, so will I watche ouer them, to buylde and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shal they say no more, The fathers haue [g] eaten a sowre grape, & the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euerie one shal dye for his owne iniquitie: euerie man that eateth ỹ sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 ¶ Beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil make a [h] newe couenāt with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I toke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenāt they [i] brake, although I was an housband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shalbe the couenant that I wil make with the house of Israel, After [k] those daies, saith the Lord, I wil put my Law in their inwarde partes, & write it in their hearts, & wil be their God, and thei shalbe my people.

34 And thei shal [l] teache nomore euerie man his neighbour and euerie man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for they shal all knowe me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and wil remember their sinnes nomore.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth [m] the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances departe out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shal the sede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, [n] or the fundacions of the earth be searched out beneth, then wil I cast of all the sede of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the [o] citie shalbe buylt to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shal go forthe in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, & shal compasse about to Goath.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because he propheciedthat the citie shulde be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth, that the people shulde come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

1 THe worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eightenth yere of Nebuchadnezzar.

2 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophecie, & say, Thus saith the Lord, * Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shal take it?

4 And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shal not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the hands of the King of Babel, and shal speake with him mouthe to mouthe, & his eyes shal behold his face,

5 And he shal lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shal he be, vntil [b] I visite him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shal not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The worde of ỹ Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shal come vnto thee & saie, [c] Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the [d] title by kinred appertaineth vnto thee [d] to bye it.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my e field, I praie thee, ẏ is in Anathoth, which is in the countrei of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

9 And I boght the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen f shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writ it in the boke and signed it, & toke witnesses, and weighed him ẏ siluer in the balances.

11 So I toke the boke of the possession, being sealed g according to the Law, and custome, with the boke that was open,

12 And I gaue the boke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, writen in the boke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, ẏ God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this boke of the possession, bothe that is sealed, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessel, that thei maie continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses & fields, and vineyardes shalbe possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶Now when I had deliuered the boke of the possession vnto Baruch, ẏ sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

17 Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing * hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompencest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their i children after them: ô God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsel, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euerie one according to his waies, & according to the frute of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, & in Israel and among all men: and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie,

21 And hast broght thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and w wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou didest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeied not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sworde, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said vnto me, ô Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for siluer, & take witnesses: for the citie shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all m flesh: is there anie thing to hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he shal take it.

29 And the Caldeans shal come & fight against this citie, and set fyre on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooses they haue offred incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto angre.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euil before me from their n youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hathe bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, & of my wrath, from ẏ daye, that they buylt it, euen vnto this daie, that I shulde remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke me to angre, euen they, their Kings, their princes, their Priests, and their Prophetes, & the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto me ẏ backe & not the face: thogh I taught them, o rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelties towarde their seruants.

THE worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, & all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, & all people fought against Ieruſalem, & against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith The Lord God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, & tel him, Thus saith ý Lord, Behold, *I wil giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fyre,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, & deliuered into his hand, and thine eies shal beholde the face of the King of Babel, and he shal speke with thee mouthe to mouthe, and thou shalt go to Babel.

4 Yet heare the worde of ý Lord, ô Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by ý sworde,

5 But thou shalt dye in [b] peace: & according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shal thei burne odours for thee, and thei shal lament thee, saying Oh [c] lord: for I haue pronounced the worde, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ieruſalem,

7 (When ý King of Babels hoste fought against Ieruſalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, & against Azekiah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ieruſalem, [d] to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That euerie man shulde let his [e] seruāt go fre, & euerie man his handmaide, ẅ was an Ebrue or an Ebrueſſe, & that none shulde serue him selue of thē, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, & all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euerie one shulde let his seruant go fre, and euerie one his handmaide, and that none shulde serue them selues of them any more, thei obeied & let them go.

11 But afterwarde thei [”] repented & caused the seruants & the handmaids, whome thei had let go fre to returne & helde them in subiection as seruants and handmaides.

12 Therefore the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith ý Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of [o] seruants, saying,

14 *At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go,

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, & thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

[k] THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the daies [a] of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

2 Go vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, & speake vnto them, & bring them into the House of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then toke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, & his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I broght them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keper of the [n] treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of ỹ house of the Rechabites, pottes ful of wine, and cuppes, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But thei said, We wil drinke no wine: for [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, [f] Ye shal drinke no wine, nether you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Nether shal ye buylde house, nor sowe sede, nor plãt vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye shal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeied the voice of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hathe charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, nether we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Nether buylde we houses for vs to dwell in, nether haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor sede.

12 Thẽ came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that he commanded his sonnes, ỹ thei shulde drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers cõmandement: not withstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising early, & speaking, but ye wolde not obeie me.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah enditeth, the boke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the boke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fyre. 28 There is another writen at the commandement of the Lord.

a Read Cha. 25, 1.

1 AND in the fourth [a] yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde vnto Ieremiah frō the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roole or boke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, & against Iudah, and against all the nacions, from the daie that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the daies of Iosiah vnto this daie.

3 It maie be that the house of Iudah wil heare of all the euil, which I determined to do vnto them that thei may returne euerie mā from his euil waie, that I maie forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch ẏ sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roole or boke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, [d] & can not go into the House of the Lord.

6 Therefore go thou, and read the roole wherein thou hast writē at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon ẏ [e] fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that thei wil [f] pray before the Lord, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for the angre & the wrath, that the Lord hathe declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah ẏ Prophet commanded him, reading in ẏ boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in ẏ ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then red Baruch in the boke ẏ wordes of Ieremiah in the House of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the [h] newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then he wēt downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, & Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch red in the boke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, ẏ sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou hast red in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And thei said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Baruch red it in their audience.

16 Now when thei had heard all the worh Which is the east gate of the Temple.

i The godlie were afraid, seing God so offended, & ỹ wicked were astonied for ỹ horror of ỹ punishment.

des, they were i afraied bothe one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We wil certifie the King of all these wordes.

17 And thei examined Baruch, saying, Tel vs now, how dideſt thou write all these wordes at his mouth.

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the boke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Baruch, Go, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be.

k Thei ỹ were godlie among ỹ princes, gaue this counsel, by whose meanes it is like ỹ Ieremiah was deliuered: for thei knewe the rage of ỹ King and of ỹ wicked to be suche that they colde not escape without danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And thei went into the King to the court, but thei laied vp the roole in the chambre of Elishama the Chancellour & tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roole, & he toke it out of Elishama ỹ Chancellors chambre, and Iehudi red it in ỹ audience of the King, and in the audiẽce of all the princes, which stode beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winter house, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

l Which conteined parte of November & parte of Decembet.

23 And whẽ Iehudi had red thre, or foure sides, he cut it with ỹ penknife & cast it into the fyre, that was on ỹ herth vntil all the roole was consumed in the fyre, that was on the herth.

24 Yet thei were not afraid, nor rent m their garments, nether the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

m Shewing that ỹ wicked in stead of repenting, when thei heare Gods iudgemẽts grow into farther malice against him and his worde.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besoght the King, ỹ he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

n Thus we se ỹ continual care, ỹ God hathe euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, & Seraiah ỹ sonne of Azriel, & Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, & Ieremiah the Prophet, but ỹ Lord n hid them.

o Thogh ỹ wicked thinke to haue abolished ỹ wordes of God, when they haue burnt the boke thereof: yet this declareth ỹ God wil not onely raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abũdance to their condemnation, as vers 32.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roole and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roole and write in it all the former wordes ỹ were in the first roole which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah h the burnt, p These are Iehoiakims wordes.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roole, saying, p Why hast thou writen therein, saying, that ỹ King of Babel shal certeinly come and destroye this land, and shal take thence both man and beast?

q Thogh Iehoiachin his sonne succeded him, yet because he reigned but thre moneths, it was estemed as no reigne.

31 And I wil visite him and his sede, and his seruantes for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitans of Ierusalem, & vpon the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Ieremiah another roole, & gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the boke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fyre, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

3 And Zedekiah the King c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudah, ỹ sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forthe to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shal come againe, & fight against this citie, and take it & burne it with fyre.

9 Thus saith ỹ Lord, " Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely departe from vs: for thei shal not departe.

" Or, lift not vp your mindes.

10 For thogh ye had smiten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wouded men among them, yet shulde euery man rise vp vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fyre.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalē to go into the [f] land of Beniamin, separating him self thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Beniamin, there was a chief officer, whose name was Iriiah, ỹ sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he toke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou "flee-est to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he wolde not heare him: so Iriiah toke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry ẅ Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the [h] prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dongeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and toke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah said vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your Prophetes, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shal not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, ô my lord the King: let my prayer "be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they shulde put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they shulde giue him daiely a piece of bread out of the bakers strete vntil all the [i] bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dongeon. 14 At the request of Ebed-melech the king commanded Ieremiah to be brought forthe of the dongeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the king how he might escape death.

1 THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan and Gedaliah ỹ sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, & Pashhur the sonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spokē vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shal dye by ỹ sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forthe to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shal haue his life for [b] a pray, and shal liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shal surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shal take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto the King, We beseche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he [d] weakeneth the hands of ỹ men of warre [c] that remaine in this citie, & the hands of all ỹ people, in speaking suche wordes vnto thē: for this man seketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the King said, Behold, he is in your hands, for the King can deme [d] you nothing.

6 Then toke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dongeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, ỹ was in the court of ỹ prison: & they let downe Ieremiah with coards: & in ỹ dongeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the "blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dongeon (then the King sate in the [e] gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, [f] these men haue done euil in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whome they haue cast into the dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men" with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech toke the men ẅ him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, & let them downe by coardes into ỹ dongeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges & worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene ỹ coardes. And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah ẅ coardes and toke him vp out of ỹ dongeon, and
